Would you apply for work at one of the industrial or commercial businesses that could be developed as a result of the road?

Yes

No

Maybe

Other comments?

Access by road into the area would bring increased activity that would damage terrain, increase trash, and while not all people are inconsiderate there are those few that would be. Those few would ruin the beauty and serenity of the land.

Comparing public notice from Feb. meeting vs upcoming March meeting, it feels like nearing the final act of a bait-and-switch by the project developers. It seems this project aims to garner public support with the prospects of a public access road only to limit it to private industrial use after approval. Can MSB/AIDEA be explicitly clear on the intention of this road, if they are willing to make it public access for everyone?

That does not seem like an $8M dollar question to me. Of course a mining company does not want "their" haul road congested with recreational traffic. But the state corporations have a duty to benefit all Alaskans, and have enough forethought to foster comprehensive development of the area for all Alaskans, which means the smaller but more numerous industries that go along with private property development, recreation, hunting, fishing, and small-scale mining which can coexist with influential, publicly-traded mining companies.

South central, and Alaska at large has a significant access deficiency despite the incredible amount of public lands. This project could synergize resource development with creating recreational and tourism opportunities in the state.

Don't compromise the quality of our natural, recreational areas without the compromise of increased, more equitable access for all Alaskans.

one of the most unique experiences in life is flying out of Lake hood to hunt this remote region. A road will lead to progress (mining or development) which will eventually ruin this extremely unique area remaining in the world.

This is an opportunity to open up Alaska to Alaskans for residential, recreational and commercial. We need more state land in private ownership - open the road!

This road is important for economic sustainability of AK, and access to mineral development that may be providing important, strategic, and critical minerals that will be crucial to make transition from fossil-fuel dominant energy & transportation supply. This is also a necessary process to become more energy & critical minerals independent relating to state & national security.

The Mat-Su Borough is unable or unwilling to maintain existing roads and make them usable year round. For example, the simple expedient of using "gates" on snow plows to keep driveway access to roads open for emergency vehicles and getting to work on time is specifically not done. The Borough has wasted millions of dollars on projects that were not properly planned, such as the railroad bed to (almost) Pt. McKenzie, a Wasilla bypass that stops at KGB Road instead of bypassing Wasilla, a plethora of subsidized farms that haven't panned out, and the infamous ferry. All of these projects mostly benefited a few landowners and out-of-state based construction companies, such as Granite, but have done little for Alaskans. The West Susitna Road is another boondoggle that will benefit a few foreign or alien companies. It is already contemplated that public access will be denied, which will create enormous enforcement problems both by government and through private litigation and, practically speaking, public access will happen whether allowed or not. Take a look at the McKenzie railroad bed: it is used regularly by recreational vehicles. To be useful for a railroad, it will have to be substantially rebuilt.

I am all for opening up access to Alaska's remote areas. Restricting this road to the public, especially if public tax money is used, would be bad business and would put a sour taste in many Alaskans.

This road is going to impact everything that makes living in Alaska great hunting, fishing, and untouched land and is already in process of being built so what we have to say obviously does not matter to the matsush borough assembly members who themselves have no idea what is going on with this road I myself find this embarrassing knowing that I voted someone in to assembly that has no idea of how to do their job

This is PUBLIC land, crossing PUBLIC water. If PUBLIC money supports this road, then it MUST BE PUBLIC ACCESS. Enough of this scheme to use our wealth to subsidize private enterprise. If the mines want to keep people off their claims, then they can put up fences AT THEIR OWN EXPENSE and only on their claims.

There needs to be more research and cost/benefit analysis before any work is done on this access. What are we getting for this road? What's the status of the resource exploration? If the road is built, who can use it? Who maintains it, and for whom?

This area was built with a remote experience intended. The level of crime alone should prohibit this expansion. Hunting and fishing in this area is already restricted increasing accessibility will just kill it.

Alaska needs more public road access to enjoy the outdoor activities which is why most people to Alaska. Airplanes and boats are a great way to get into the back country but many Alaskans can't afford that luxury. I lived in Alaska 42 years and recently move to Nevada, getting old. I have always dreamed to have better access to my remote parcel on the Yetna river. If not for me but for my family.

This proposed project would sadly be another example of AIDEA misusing public (i.e. taxpayers') money. How many more hair-brained projects will it take before they start doing a more thorough job vetting the outcomes? This 100 mile road and the 156 river, creek, wetlands crossing would create a maintenance nightmare and would require significant public dollars to keep passable for vehicles. The State should NOT be in the business of building roads to access mining claims for private companies. Let free enterprise play its role and if a company thinks they can make money from our natural resources extraction then THEY should pay for all cost incurred, including access roads, it should not fall on public money to support private enterprises.

Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably of which is roads, is a key recurring theme when looking at the challenges facing future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain remains paramount to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step. Access to the West-Susitna region has long been a stated goal to expand the Mat-Su Borough's tax-based and economic and recreational opportunities.

Curious, what other options were looked at? Starting the road in Willow or even further north coming out of Petersville? Alternate route could potentially be shorter and less water crossings. I understand closer to the port, but how can you also access the rail to make simpler?

I find it odd that you note that there is opportunity for further comment during the environmental review process. So I assume that you have already decided to proceed with that process. If that is the case, what exactly is the point of this public input? It feels like you are pretending that this input matters when in fact you have already reached your decision.

1. This will destroy wilderness-based businesses. 2. We need to keep large areas of Alaska as wildlife corridors as habitat changes and as the southern homes of migratory birds and animals is increasingly paved over or too rapidly changed with climate change. 3. We don't need gold and silver mines. Copper, yes, but not gold and silver.

I would support an industrial road like at Pogo mine or the ambler access but not for public use. The mining companies using the road should pay for the maintenance and over time the construction like the other 2 roads i mentioned.

This proposed road is a horrible waste of tax dollars being used! yes! it will bring in some work for our economy, but more from out of state workers and those workers not keeping the money in the state of Alaska. The road will not be "open" to public much like the railway through the mat-Su that ruined a lot of hunting grounds people depended on for years. So without saying more i think its a waste to our tax dollars will not bring in enough money to our state when said and done and its a huge impact on the environment which will never be restored i'm 100% against this stupid road to load the pockets of a mining company!

The impacts of the road do not seem thought out. Who is paying for this road to be constructed, and maintained? How will the numerous wetland areas be effected? It seems that this is just being constructed for corporations without regard to the repercussions. If further development is allowed in the future along this new road corridor then this will create an array of additional issues. I do not support this project.

I am totally against this road project. The Matanuska Susitna Borough and the State of Alaska is once again in the process of throwing the residences finances down the drain. There is little to no Alaska public sediment for this project and yet big brothers are bound and determined to undermine the public resident sentiment. To my understanding, the State and Mat-Su Borough have teamed with Nova Minerals (not even an American company) to move this project forward. Nova Minerals is listed on the Grey Market Over the Counter market. It is a micro-Cap stock and has a Market Capitalization of $101M. If this company fails residents will again no doubt pay for it. This market is Extremely illiquid with the least number of regulations making this company a maximum high-risk adventure. This has all the merits and ideas of the. Mat-Su Borough high speed ferry, the de-funked Port Mackenzie and now the sale of the conveyer system there, the Railroad spur to (nowhere) the port that is now just a very long idel gravel pit, the dairy business and farms. I could go on and on....

On the virtual public meetings there was talk of:

- Beetle kill timber harvest – Beetle kill is now, would be on ground & rotted before road is completed
- Public access - No commitment on who gets to use what parts of road
- Other mining activities – Don't have any other prospects at this point
- Road maintenance – Don't know who will do it
- Who will pay for the road – Don't know that yet, but my bet is Alaskan residents just like all the other Boondoggles?
- Ruining then Last Frontier

Please, lets back out of this now and save our funds for other needed projects!

As a lifelong Alaskan I don't want to see our lands destroyed by miss use. But Alaska doesn't have very much land that is accessible to the average person and since our road system is very limited. I think this road would be a great asset to Alaska!

This would obviously be in Boone for the local economy. I do believe there needs to be more oversight regarding who profits and how much money is extracted from Alaska' without direct benefit to our community.

Also, this road is being built with taxpayer dollars and there should be zero questions regarding public access!

This development makes no sense and will ruin a huge almost pristine area that so many people come from all over the world to recreate in, not counting Anchorage and Mat-Su residents. It will destroy all the lodge jobs that are currently available to Mat-Su residents and will pollute the Skwentna/Yentna watershed with resulting fish loss.

This is a short sided proposal. Although the history of our state includes resource extraction, the true nature and value of this land lies in its preservation. Opening up a road and mineral extraction does NOT benefit Alaska and Alaskans in the short or long term. Nova Minerals is a foreign company and regardless of the nationality of interested corporations, the financial benefits of resource extraction are not shared with Alaskans in any legitimate sense. In terms of access, so much of the public comment that I've heard was founded in concern over accessibility to wild lands. By adding a road, it negates this interest. The allure and value of Alaska is that is untouched and preserved. Coming to Alaska on a cruise ship is on so many Americans' life bucket list, and they never come close to taking advantage of the opportunities that Alaska residents have to experiencing true wilderness. Road access is the mainstay of the lower 48, and development of that kind of access kills the character of our state, which has been and must continue to be hard fought to maintain.

My opposition to this project results from the lack of clarity as to the exact purpose(s) of the proposed road, how it will be used, and by whom. Potentially benefits are unclear and at this juncture do not sound substantial. On the other hand, the immediate and long-term negative consequences are many and significant. I do not support the idea of reducing this vast remote area to just another stretch of road-accessible Alaska. This is one of those projects that can't be undone when the negative impacts are realized, and I do not see the benefits of doing do.

I am a local recreational property owner and do not wish to see this road go in. Especially if you not going to allow public access.

As a user of the Iditarod Trail I would not like to see heavy residential development. A permanent road is one issue, population growth on that side of the Susitna river would really take away from the surrounding landscape out there. For the lack of a better word at this moment, it would be an eye sore.

We do not need another mine here in such a sensitive ecosystem with so many other valuable resources, people, and subsistence lifestyles that would be impacted. Our salmon are already under threat. There are roads all over the world and all of them “impact the environment” simply by existing. However, this road would lead to a mine, which would put a giant hole in the ground, and immensely impact the wildlife in the area and beyond. You mention 156 stream crossings. Well everything flows downstream. The direct area the road is in will not be the only area affected. No matter how “clean” or “beneficial” the mine would be, I have grown up in Alaska, visited the abandoned Hatcher mines, have seen the remnants of the mines in McCarthy... I just don’t believe that once the mining is over the area will go back to normal. This far north, the regrowth and recovery of the environment, even after a four wheeler has driven over the tundra, takes years. A road and a mine and a timber area will create a scar that will not heal within yours or my lifetime, and probably not the lifetime of our grandchildren. What a legacy.

Would you apply for work at one of the industrial or commercial businesses that could be developed as a result of the road?

Other comments?

AIDEA has a very long list of expensive, failed projects. It continues to be no more than a slush fund for dream projects proposed by politically connected individuals. There was supposed to be an economic analysis conducted much earlier in this process. It has not been completed. You intend to take public funds to build a private road through public land for private business interests. If this road can't get private money to finance it, then it should die now. You are just stealing public money and public land to appease a political ideology. There has been almost zero public input. It seems your plan is to keep this as quiet as possible and let people think it's about public access.

You have continued to push the idea that industry will pay for this road, but you have yet to show how or even attempt to address the concern. How much additional public land and public money will be stolen to try to further develop the area with industrial infrastructure? How will mining, forest clearing and petroleum extraction pay? You are going down the same path all previous AIDEA debacles have traveled.

You intend to destroy a massive area of valuable wetlands and cross 156 streams, all seriously impacting critical salmonid spawning/rearing habitat and terrestrial wildlife habitat. This is currently a healthy and intact fish and wildlife production area that is of high value for Southcentral human populations. You intend to support driving what is just an industrial road and infrastructure corridor designed to support future industrial projects. You need to show the public the true extent of development you intend to drive in this region by the initiation of this road.

This projects impacts on salmon populations will be felt by users outside this immediate area. By obstructing and destroying salmon spawning and rearing habitat you are impacting commercial fishing and sportfishing activities throughout Cook Inlet and all of the associated Susitna rivers. You are framing this project as if it were just a road through a vacuum and it is not. Looking at a map showing the degraded and functionally dead stream impacts in the Mat-Su Valley already shows a sea of red from unrestrained development. To move this road forward is to commit the historically productive streams west of the Big Su to the same fate.

I adamantly oppose the development of the West Susitna Access Road, and I further recommend and urge that the Phase III Memorandum of Understanding of predevelopment for the West Susitna Access Road be voted down and eliminated from any further consideration.

Just because 'development is thought to be possible', ...that's never the most credible justification for doing so.

Most often, 'development', the promotion of short term prospects for 'profit' is the least desirable option when looking to a more sustainable view of the future.

The rush to continue despoiling river drainages is not sustainable.

Act for a longer term preservation of the environmental riches we have which we know can sustain us long into our descendents futures.

We and they are going to need the river drainage environments to remain intact and not altered or despoiled.

[EXTERNAL EMAIL - CAUTION: Do not open unexpected attachments or links.]

I strongly object to the borough approving the Phase III West Susitna Industrial Access Road Memorandum of Understanding.

I strongly object to this road. This road is not in the interest of the citizens and taxpayers of the borough.

As a taxpayer I am concerned that we will be on the hook for maintenance and construction of this road in the future, a road which will have multiple bridges and numerous culverts.

This is a proposal for an industrial road that will be constructed and maintained with public funds, yet is built to benefit an international mining corporation, not the taxpayers of the borough. The road plans are even calling for this to be a private road, excluding us from using it. There is very little to no benefit to the taxpayers of this borough, yet plenty of potential costs and future liabilities.

This project appears to be similar to the “free” M/V Susitna ferry and the Port MacKenzie rail spur, something that sounds great in the sales pitch but ends up costing millions for no results.

This road will impact important salmon and wildlife habitat. Salmon and wildlife are true economic drivers in the borough that will continue to produce economic benefit for the borough without expensive road maintenance.

I am not opposed to thoughtful development, but this project appears to be a way to spend our tax dollars without real gain for the citizens and taxpayers of this borough.

Thank you,

Greg Campbell

[EXTERNAL EMAIL - CAUTION: Do not open unexpected attachments or links.]

Alaska is the final frontier. No roads through important ecosystems should be developed for the small, immediate, and incremental economic gain. A road through the MatSu watershed would greatly damage and destroy sensitive habitat for one of Alaska's main economic contributors; fish and game. Destroying this sensitive ecosystem, much the like proposed road through the Izembek, would result in a ravaging ripple effect which will destroy the livelihood of commercial aspirations, and those of local and native inhabitants. Not to mention, the reduction of sensitive areas for successful salmon habitat. Every year, the state of Alaska has two announcements; the amount of the yearly oil profits for individual dividends, and the State of the Fish Report. If a road is developed through the MatSu watershed, that report, and the economic and personal benefits exhibited, may no longer exist. Please do the right thing, for yourself, your posterity, the vast amount of species which rely on these habitats, and the state of Alaska.

Greetings Mayor DeVries and Assembly Members,

First, I'd like to extend my congratulations to the newly elected officials and thank you all for your public service. As you all know, this body holds immense power in shaping the vision, way of life, and growth of the Borough, and I appreciate your time.

I am writing to ask that you consider moving RS 21-134 "A Resolution In Support Of The Alaska Industrial Development And Export Authority's Effort To Advance Phase 3 Of The West Susitna Access Project Feasibility Study Towards An Application To The Governing Regulatory Agency" from the Consent Agenda to the Public Hearings section of the meeting.

This project has been faced with heavy concern and opposition.

After alerting our members and the public that this was on the agenda for tomorrow, we have received numerous calls and emails expressing concerns about this project from residents and business owners along the proposed corridor. I expect people to be calling in and commenting tomorrow with their concerns and the complete lack of outreach from AIDEA in regards to this project.

I hope there is an opportunity for constituents to be heard and for questions to be answered by AIDEA and the Borough before the Borough is stuck with another AIDEA Boondoggle that they've been unable to show will prove any real benefit to the Borough.

Thank you for considering this change.

Cheers,
Melissa

I access my remote recreational property up the Hayes River where the West Susitna Access Road is proposed. I oppose constuction of this road. 1. Alaska and Valley taxpayers should not be funding an expensive private road project for the benefit of a foreign company. Even if this were a public road, it is expensive and serves no purpose except for the mining company that wants it. It will ruin the remote quality of my property. 2. AIDEA is famous for throwing Alaska money away supporting private companies. No doubt these private companies are lining the pockets of elected officials but the people don't want it. 3. The Hayes and connected river systems are critical for salmon, other fisheries and wildlife areas that actual Alaskan people use recreationally and that is their best use and doesn't cost the public. 4. Mining is a disaster. Mining companies create waste, leave town, & the public pays for cleanup. 5. A bunch of black spruce and softwood trees is not a viable timber project. Fake justification. 6. There has not been adequate environmental or financial assessment or public input. 7. We should fund our schools, university, and PFD before we give away money and wreck fisheries.

Dear Assembly Members:

I am writing to urge you to vote against the Phase III Memorandum of Understanding regarding pre-development for the West Susitna Access Road. I am a resident of the Talkeetna Area and care deeply about maintaining the health of the Susitna River watershed.

It seems that this project has been fast-tracked and that adequate environmental and public review has not been done. Further, adequate evaluation of the costs of this project (both immediate and long-term) has not been completed. The estimated construction cost is absurdly low; and, who will pay to maintain it?

Please do not approve this hasty measure. The health and well-being of the Susitna River watershed and the concerns of local residents deserve better.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best regards,

Dear Assembly Members,

My wife Laura and I are full-time residents of Trail Lake near the base of Mt. Little Susitna in Fish and Game Zone 16B. We have owned our property since 2007. We vote and we pay property taxes. We encourage the Assembly to reject the Phase III Susitna Access Road MOU for both personal reasons and others based on many deleterious impacts of mines and roads in other remote parts of Alaska.

Personally, the West Susitna Access Road is expected to pass close to our quiet, remote property. We are concerned about how it might negatively affect our quality of life and that of the wildlife that lives in and migrates through this region.

We are naturally also concerned about a corresponding decrease in property values and the quietude, attractive views, and wild animal sightings for which we bought this property and spent over a decade developing it into a home where we forage, hunt, fish, and raise many of our foods and resources.

Based on the results of mining developments and roads in other remote parts of Alaska, we are logically alarmed by the possibility of increases in noise, erosion, pollution, invasive species, and road access for illegal human activities that have occurred elsewhere. For example, we hope that if this project starts or finishes, it will not repeat the polluting tailings of a mine on Jonesville Road, the murder victim dumping on Jim Creek, and the many, many neglected cleanups after a company moved on to the next, new parcel.

The lack of public outreach surrounding this project has been one of the supposed goals of Phase I & II which has not been adequately addressed.

Again, we encourage the Assembly to reject the Phase III Susitna Access Road MOU.

Sincerely,

Bryan and Laura Emerson

Mat Su Borough Assembly,

My name is Clem Myers and I am a land owner in in the Mat Su Borough near the proposed West Susitna Industrial Access Road. I am opposed to approval of Phase III of the MOU between Nova Minerals, AIDEA and the Mat Su Borough for the following reasons:

- 1) There has been very little public outreach conducted for a project of this magnitude. It will completely change the use of this land for land owners, lodges, businesses, hunters and fishermen. All of these individual entities deserve a comprehensive review and vote on the proposed project.
- 2) This project seems to have been fast tracked through the system without adequate impact studies in an attempt to sneak it into the budget. The road would completely change the use of the Western Susitna Borough as we know it today and probably in a negative direction as viewed by the current interested parties (except of course Nova Minerals). Most of us would remember, despite numerous promises, that there has never been a "clean" operation in the history of mining.... Numerous examples abound.
- 3) The proposed project is for a completely private industrial road with no guarantees regarding public access. This is absolutely unacceptable considering the amount of public money being spent. The economic analysis of costs and benefits to the Mat Su Borough has not been completed nor has an environmental impact review.
- 4) It would seem prudent to me that the Mat Su Assembly not approve Phase III of this MOU until all of the important issues are addressed.

Thank you for your consideration,

Clem Myers

This email constitutes my feelings on the West Susitna Access Road (WSAR):

In order to justify a project such as the the WSAR, any supported project/prospect needs to have submitted a bankable feasibility study and be committed to development of the project. To my knowledge, this has not happened yet.

A good example if the Red Dog Mine. Cominco probably would have developed that deposit even if AIDEA did NOT help with the road. It was a world class mine, and I'm sure there was a bankable feasibility study associated with it.

MatSu does NOT have anywhere near such a project in the pipeline. I reviewed the published data on the prospect of the small Australian Junior Exploration Company (with a name similar to Nova Gold) that had signed an MOU with the MatSu Borough to construct the WSAR. They only had some soil samples and rock chip samples, and NO drill holes. I order to have a bankable feasibility study, that Australian company would need at least a hundred drill holes and a resource estimate; they were no where near that.

When the MatSu government alludes to "untold riches and resources", they really sound foolish if they have nothing to hang their hat on. It suggests the MatSu Borough has nothing better to do.

Additionally, the lack of specific projects mentioned on the MatSu website does not suggest any other sort of project is currently being seriously investigated. Since these are public funds used to study the WSAR, MatSu needs to be completely transparent about potential investors.

I therefore do not support this MOU clause at the present time.

Dear Members of the Matanuska-Susitna Borough Assembly,

Thank you for the opportunity to provide comment on RS 21-134 supporting Phase 3 of the West Susitna Access Road. On behalf of our members and business members who fish and utilize the west Susitna River basin, Trout Unlimited encourages the Matanuska-Susitna Borough Assembly to reject Resolution 21-134 and to take an honest look at the costs and benefits of the West Susitna Access Road for borough residents and the state.

Trout Unlimited (TU) has strong local roots in Alaska and the Mat-Su -- with more than 20,000 members and supporters throughout the state that are avid anglers, lodge owners, fishing and hunting guides, and commercial fishermen, among various other occupations. TU is dedicated to ensuring Alaska's wild trout and salmon populations continue to thrive and the rivers and clean water they depend on remain healthy. We have a well-established history of supporting bipartisan efforts to protect, conserve, and restore fishery resources and contributing to habitat restoration projects in southcentral Alaska.

Many of our members and supporters' fish for food and for fun in the Susitna River and its tributaries. The Susitna drainage is a wild space within close proximity to Alaska's urban centers that is immensely valuable and well-loved for its abundance of fish and wildlife. The sport fishing industry in the Mat-Su valley is strong and, according to a recent economic report, contributed $57.4 million to the local economy in 2017 and supported 370 jobs<sup>1</sup>. Many of our business members in the Mat-Su operate lodges, guiding and outfitting operations, host fly-in trips, or facilitate multiple-day rafting trips on the very rivers impacted if this road is built. These businesses are viable because the region is wild and uncrowded, where clients can get a remote fishing experience far from roads with healthy habitat, intact river systems and robust fish and wildlife populations.

Inadequate Public Notice & Engagement

After more than three years of pursuing the West Susitna Access Road, Alaska Industrial Development & Export Authority (AIDEA) has not come close to meeting the expectations that borough residents deserve and expect when it comes to proper public notice and engagement with the public and stakeholders. Despite making promises to improve, the lack of public notice and meaningful public and stakeholder engagement continues to be a severe downfall in AIDEA's approach to pursuing this project.

At past Borough Assembly meetings and in AIDEA's Online Open House on December 3rd, 2020, it has been repetitively expressed that public notice and engagement opportunities about the project, such as the Online Open House, have been minimal and inadequate. In oral comment during AIDEA's Online Open House, and in follow up comment submitted by email, TU staff requested to be included on AIDEA's stakeholder list and to be notified of upcoming meetings, comment periods, and release of documents and studies so that we could inform our members who fish, hunt or own businesses in the area. Following our requests to be included in public outreach and engagement opportunities, TU hasn't received any communication from AIDEA on the West Susitna Access Road. This gives us appropriate concern that AIDEA is ineffectively, or not actively, communicating with stakeholders. Hunters and anglers will be directly impacted by this project and deserve to be included in the discussion about a project that could cause significant harm to the resources they depend on. For this project to be fully assessed, a robust and full community conversation must be a priority, not an afterthought.

Increase Transparency

Without acceptable public notice and engagement, questions continually asked by stakeholders remain unanswered. The West Susitna Access Road is continually promoted by AIDEA as a "road to resources" but it is unclear what resources might be extracted and therefore it is unknown what additional impacts or benefits would come from this project. AIDEA's website suggests the road will benefit mining, agriculture, timber, oil & gas, and recreation, yet the only project that has been disclosed is a gold mine proposed by Nova Minerals, a foreign mining company. How can a robust and informed discussion about the public need, impacts or benefits take place without accurate information about the proposed road and other associated projects?

At this point, there are more questions than answers. But from the little we do know, there are additional impacts that will likely occur from resource extraction projects associated with the completion of the West Susitna Access Road. More information on these potential projects, including their size, scope, environmental impact, and economic feasibility needs to be disclosed so that decision makers, agencies, and Alaskans can accurately consider whether or not the West Susitna Access Road is in the best interest of Alaskans and not a sweetheart deal for a foreign mining company.

The West Susitna Access Road is being proposed to create access to a remote region for the gain of private industries and will impact an unknown amount of public lands and resources in doing so. AIDEA has been actively promoting and studying the West Susitna Access Road for more than 3 years, however it remains unclear whether the road is private, public, or some sort of hybrid. This is an incredibly important question the public continues to ask and necessitates immediate clarification. Public money should be reserved for clear, public benefit and not be spent to subsidize roads for the benefit of private industry, especially as we experience routine budget shortfalls.

Habitat Impacts

History has shown that loss of habitat access is a major contributing factor to the decline of wild salmon populations worldwide. Healthy fish habitat, and access to it, are critical to maintaining the Mat-Su's wild fisheries, supporting the Borough's robust recreational hunting & fishing economies, and providing opportunity for area anglers. As a contributing member of the Mat-Su Basin Salmon Habitat Partnership, the Mat-Su Borough is nationally viewed as a leader in recognizing that fish friendly development makes good business sense.

Returning salmon require healthy spawning habitat to birth the next generation of fish and juvenile salmon require abundant rearing habitat to find food and refuge from strong flows and predation. Improperly constructed, or poorly maintained, stream crossings and culverts can block access to critical habitat for adult and juvenile salmon and can severely limit the amount of habitat available.

Starting in 2001, studies by Alaska Department of Fish & Game's Fish Passage Inventory Program found that 80% of the borough's culverts were troublesome for fish and thwarted access to more than 400 miles of habitat for juvenile salmon. Admirably, the Borough and State have dedicated more than 18 million dollars in recent decades to address this problem, successfully replacing more than 115 of the culverts blocking salmon migration and in 2013 the Borough implemented fish friendly standards for fish passage on all Borough owned roads. The Borough's response to restoring fish passage in the Mat-Su has been impressive and addressed more than one quarter of the troublesome barriers, still more need to be improved or replaced.

It is impossible to overlook the expansive impact that construction of the road would have on fish and game habitat in the Susitna River basin. The road would bisect an area rich in wetlands and rivers, requiring 24 bridges and approximately 440 culverts, and as we have seen before, each culvert, stream crossing and disturbed wetland can add up to a much larger cumulative impact. With a backlog of inadequate culverts and stream crossings to repair or reconstruct, the Borough still has an existing problem. Accepting the new fish passage barriers that will accompany the West Susitna Access Road is a strong deviation from the Borough's demonstrated commitment to restoring fish passage and promoting fish-friendly development that will help ensure healthy salmon runs today and into the future.

Conclusion

AIDEA continues to spend public money researching and promoting the West Susitna Access Road while leaving area business owners, landowners, and Alaskans with more questions than answers. The construction of the West Susitna Access Road will consume an excessive amount of public funds and come at a very real cost to existing area businesses, the region's fish and wildlife, and their habitat, and should not be further pursued.

The Mat-Su Borough is one of the fastest growing places in the country and has the opportunity to continue to be a leader in promoting responsible development in salmon country, let's not let a road with questionable benefits jeopardize that good standing reputation.

Trout Unlimited urges the Borough Assembly to reject Resolution 21-134 and is alarmed that the public has continued to be left out of the process as AIDEA continues to fast track the West Susitna Access Road.

Thank you for accepting and considering TU's comments.

Sincerely,

Eric Booton

Greetings Matanuska-Susitna Assembly Members:

Well, it's test time again! I hope all of you have been studying hard and reading those history books, and getting ready for this test. Because the Mat-Su Assembly has failed this test many times before!

What test am I talking about? Why ... it's the Projects To Nowhere test, of course!

Soon your logic and morals will be tested. You will be tested on whether to become involved in an uneconomical, highly-speculative and unwanted fiscal fantasy mega project. The West Susitna Access Road project.

There will be many distractions when you take this test. There will be lots of political posturing, pandering, lies, hand waving, smoke, mirrors and corruption. Just like with all the Project To Nowhere tests of the past.

And a big part of this test will be whether you decide to get in bed with AIDEA again. Yeah ... we all know how those flings turned out in the past, don't we. Lots of abandoned children. Donny Dairy, Ricky Railroad, Freddy Ferry, Susie Dam, K'Nicky Bridge. And Peter Port isn't doing well. Poor kids.

Others have already taken this test. And passed. Like investment banks. You know, real investment banks filled with smart people that understand stuff like math, economics and reality. Not clown show pseudo-investments banks like AIDEA that are filled with corrupt slime bags.

The reason smart people laugh at this test is because this road project should be financed and constructed by the beneficiaries, foreign mining companies, if it made economic sense.

But this project doesn't make economic sense. So the scammers are coming to test you. They are sucker fishing. Will you bite?

So, now it's your turn to take the test. Please break the endless cycle of the Mat-Su Borough making the worst financial decisions possible. Please break from the legacy of Mat-Su failed mega Projects To Nowhere. Please start to change Alaska and America's opinion that the leaders of the Ma-Su Borough are slack-jawed buffoons that have no connection to fiscal reality.

Please do the right thing and cancel the West Susitna Access Road project. The Mat-Su Borough has more pressing needs than another Project to Nowhere.

Regards,

Tim Kelley

I think the assembly should move on to the next phase of this project. The West Susitna access road would provide numerous job opportunities and recreation opportunities. There would be significant growth in access to timbers, minerals, mining, natural gas. Given the current state of unemployment in the state of Alaska I feel this project would be a tremendous help to providing jobs to Alaskans, with the development, construction, and future opportunities. I hope you make the right decision and vote yes.

Hello my name is Cindi Herman

I am the owner & manager of the Skwentna Roadhouse, I have been here 11 years and actually live here year round.

The Roadhouse is my only home and my main source of Income –

To my knowledge the west Susitna Access Road will not help me or my business in the long run but may be a hindrance to it, down the road, with this in mind I support at least completing phase 3 of the study on the west Susitna access road project

We need the actual knowledge- so we can determine for ourselves as individuals if we want to support the road or not support the road. It is my understanding that this corridor follows at least 60 percent of the Donlin Pipeline corridor which has already been approved.

I personally support this project and have since the 2014 road to resource's consultation for this project that provided complete support for this corridor. It has the promise of years of income for the surrounding folks that actually live here year around and actually try to eek out a living. Raising families - and living off the land. – There's a whole generation of Alaskans that need the Jobs this Road will support,

I think the state would be far better off to start providing other revenues besides oil and tourism, start using the resources given to us and do it in a responsible manner.

Thank you for your time once again. I support this project wholeheartedly & not for any reason to benefit myself - but to help support the future of Alaska3

To whom it may concern,

I have recently moved to Skwentna, AK full time, I moved here partially due to the opportunities the West Susitna Access Road could provide me in the future. I would like to live here full time.

My back ground is in Logging and Mining so the resources mentioned are in my wheelhouse.

I would like to make it known that I support West Susitna Access Road project

I believe that this project can only help local residence by creating jobs, possibly year around.

The property value along the corridor will only gain in revenue.

I believe we should vote yes on this project -

Thank you for your time once again.

Good morning,

I am writing in regards to the upcoming meeting for approval of this road access project. I am a life long Alaskan who loves Alaska and the great outdoors. My parents own The Perrins' Rainy Pass Lodge where I spent my childhood and where I am a hunting guide. This lodge is the oldest hunting lodge in Alaska, established in 1937. My parents have owned the lodge since 2003 and we have worked to conserve the area and keep this way of life for generations to come. I frequently love riding my snowmachine to the lodge which is 140 miles through the Skwetna river system. Along the way, there are hundreds of people who enjoy the same way of life and live out there because 300000 other people don't. The impact of building a road through this beautiful country would not only devastate the wilderness we as Alaskans hold so dear, it would ruin the economy of so many businesses and families. This road would effectively put an 85 year old lodge that pilots, hunters and families depend on out of business. There has not been enough research to account for the damages it would create to the environment, wildlife and cost to the state for maintenance. This is a mine that I have worked closely with and also helped develop when I worked for Kiska Metals. My family has always worked closely with all the previous owners of this mine and we have always compromised and collaborated to create the best outcome for all parties involved. In Closing, I ask you to consider denying final approval of this road project until all impacts have been properly researched and possible alternatives exhausted. Thank you for your time,
Colton Perrins

Subject: West Susitna Access Road

My name is Michael Williams, I along with my wife Paula have lived at the north base of Mt. Susitna on Trail Lake (Alexander Creek drainage) fulltime since May 1994. We've raised our 4 children and created 2 businesses here. We created EagleSong Lodge in 1994 closing it in 2009 due to the collapse of salmon runs. At that time we created EagleSong Peony Farm and today are one of the largest peony producers in Alaska. We ship fresh cut peonies and peony roots all over the U. S. and Canada. We employ over a dozen workers in the summer and are a new source of income for local air taxis moving our stems to our processing facility at Ted Stevens Anchorage Intl. Airport. Many of our supplies, materials and equipment are purchased from local businesses.

As longtime residents and business owners we are not here to testify pro or con to the proposed West Susitna Access Road. We are writing to identify some of the ambiguities and issues that are not being discussed regarding this project.

Our 37 acre farm is less than 2 miles from the proposed intersection of the West Susitna Road and Donlin Gas Pipeline. This leads me to the first issue I do not hear being addressed. From my understanding, Donlin Gold already has a right of way identified for their gas pipeline that will bring it over, or more appropriately, between Mt. Susitna and Little Mt. Susitna down Wolverine Creek and then head west to the Alaska Range and beyond. At this point the West Susitna Road would intersect that pipeline corridor and parallel the pipeline to its end near Happy River. Realizing Donlin is not a direct participant in the West Susitna Road, it still deserves investigation/consideration given the 2 projects proximity to each other and likelihood of collaboration on both projects. This intersection is approximately 10 miles from the Susitna River. Eliminating the West Susitna Road project eliminates 10 miles (give or take) of proposed road on the west side of the Susitna. The Donlin pipeline corridor continues.....so what has been eliminated in regard to access/impact to the region? What is the impact of these 2 projects occupying the same corridor?

Next, AIDEA has indicated there are a number of entities in the mining district that will benefit from the road project. AIDEA states some are currently known and others will be drawn in by the roads development. All we have heard about is Nova Mineral. I would think all currently known entities that stand to benefit from the roads development should be identified. In earlier Phases Nova was identified as a partner in the process. It seems to us that Nova should be actively participating in these conversations since they are part of the MOU. Nova is the most visible user of the road, but we suspect there are others that should be in the discussion as well. If the Estelle region is as valuable as we are being told then maybe some of the road funding should come from the companies that want to develop its resources. This is especially important if some portion of the road is to be private. Could some sort of consortium be one of the funding sources for evaluation and development if the road is approved?

Resource development (some would say exploitation) is part of Alaska's history. Current discussions are focused on how the resources of West Susitna will be moved to market. It is likely resources will not be developed without access to the existing road system, rail or tidewater. At this time we are only discussing a road. Are there other means of transport such as rail, winter roads, barge or some other form of transport that might strike a compromise?

Is the Phase III process written in stone? Most of the testimony to date appears to think public engagement has been inadequate. Some have said cultural sites have not been considered, identified or addressed. Given a project of such importance does it not make sense to take the time to get it right? Can Phase III be tweaked to address such issues? AIDEA states much of this unknown becomes known in Phase III. Maybe we should be discussing how Phase III is to be conducted?

As a commercial farmer I am tuned in to the statement that there are over 64,000 acres of lands identified as suitable for agricultural development. While AIDEA indicates timber and coal as a major resources they then state it will employ few. Not enough attention/evaluation has been given to agricultural development. What are the pros and cons environmentally, economically and socially? I can tell you from personal experience that agriculture is emerging as one of the few new businesses with potential viability for the average Alaskan living in Bush Alaska.

What if the Mat-Su Borough decides to not participate in this project? Is the project dead? Given the majority of the proposed route is on State land we suspect non-participation by the Borough is not a show stopper. In our 27+ years of living here there has existed some form of discussion about a road to West Susitna. We believe a “no vote” by the Assembly just moves the project into a more obscure existence. This road project is in the public eye right now and should be fleshed out to a suitable conclusion. A “no vote” by the Assembly is a mere setback not a termination to the road project.

Does the West Susitna Access Road have any potential impact on the stalled rail spur to Port MacKenzie or the port itself? Is there a significant new revenue source for the Alaska Rail Road if rail was chosen over a road? Alaska is soon to receive millions of dollars for infrastructure development/upgrade. Will some of this funding find its way to this project? Might we see the road tied to some sort of port development? There are lots of questions I don't hear being asked here.

We feel this is not a thumbs up or down moment. The West Susitna Road Project should be evaluated from all angles. If it is to be developed it should address the needs and concerns of all involved. If it is to be stopped it should be a definitive determination that will end it for all time. Let's determine fact from fiction and right from wrong. Otherwise, this turns into an ANWR or Pebble Mine that will be fought for years to come and consume time and money that can be better used elsewhere. I don't want our children to be addressing this issue again in 10-15 years.

Respectfully,

Michael W. & Paula A. Williams

I strongly object to the borough approving the Phase III West Susitna Industrial Access Road Memorandum of Understanding.

I strongly object to this road. This road is not in the interest of the citizens and taxpayers of the borough.

As a taxpayer I am concerned that we will be on the hook for maintenance and construction of this road in the future, a road which will have multiple bridges and numerous culverts.

This is a proposal for an industrial road that will be constructed and maintained with public funds, yet is built to benefit an international mining corporation, not the taxpayers of the borough. The road plans are even calling for this to be a private road, excluding us from using it. There is very little to no benefit to the taxpayers of this borough, yet plenty of potential costs and future liabilities.

This project appears to be similar to the “free” M/V Susitna ferry and the Port MacKenzie rail spur, something that sounds great in the sales pitch but ends up costing millions for no results.

This road will impact important salmon and wildlife habitat. Salmon and wildlife are true economic drivers in the borough that will continue to produce economic benefit for the borough without expensive road maintenance.

I am not opposed to thoughtful development, but this project appears to be a way to spend our tax dollars without real gain for the citizens and taxpayers of this borough.

Thank you,

Dear Assembly members,

I urge you to support the West Susitna Access Road. Our state is growing, our borough is growing. We need more roads to access more land. The average ALASKAN can not afford to fly out to enjoy these areas.

Please support AIDA in its efforts to make ALASKA accessible to ALASKANS.

To All Mat-Su Borough Assembly Members,

I urge the Mat-Su Assembly to support AIDEA and its on going efforts to promote a proposed road in the West Susitna region. The Roads to Resources has been working on West Susitna access for nearly 20 years. Finally were starting to see some headway.

As a business owner in the Mat-Su Borough me and my family support this road.

This road will provide much needed access for tourism and industry. The Susitna Valley has long been known to hold mineral wealth. Many attempts to develop the areas oil and gas resources have been sidelined because there is no access. Winter access is not sustainable for oil and gas development. The largest undeveloped coal resource in the world lies in this region. The area's developing copper, gold, lead, zinc, molybdenum resources are becoming world class. Timber in the region is a huge undeveloped resource All of these resources need access to be developed.

All of these resources need access to a port facility. The borough just happens to have one sitting idle that borough residents are paying for. If the road is built and provide access to the port the residents of the Matsu will receive financial benefit from the port, not an idle financial liability.

Tourism to the area will most likely benefit the most. Currently the only access to see the region is by helicopter, plane, boat or snowmachine. Only a few very wealthy tourists can afford to visit the lodges and see the region. Road access would allow average people to enjoy this part of our great state.

Real-estate values will benefit from a road into the region. As the economy grows local businesses will also benefit from the road.

Alaska has always been a can do state. Lets build this road and the bridges. We're not the lower 48 where its impossible to develop resources. Let valley residents and Alaskans enjoy their back yard and earn a decent living while doing it.

As assembly members it is your duty to support responsible development in the borough.

Sincerely,

John C. Lamborn

Thank you for considering my testimony on the West Susitna Access. I'm a nearly forty year resident of the state of Alaska and have lived half of that time in the Susitna and Matanuska valleys. I support the WSA on the basis that it is open to the public. The opportunities for Alaskans to get out and enjoy the state in ways they see fit will only be enhanced by projects like this. Let it go forward into the next phase so that other residents can learn about in and have there input as well.

December 9, 2021 I emailed this to the assembly members at their emails listed on your website. No response, maybe the addresses are no longer in effect. I also tried to call Dee McKee, my assembly rep, her phone is no longer in service. Assembly contacts might need to be updated.

In response to Matanuska-Susitna Borough Resolution Serial No 21-134

Let me start by saying I have been a land owner in the Susitna Valley area for almost 40 years. I just recently I learned of this project.

As outlined by AIDEA, The resource development for the Mat Su Borough is defined as timber from the West Susitna Access Project. The infestation of the spruce bark beetle in Alaska since 2013 has devastated the timber in the Susitna Valley. Almost all of the trees are dead now. The only use for the timber is firewood. Timber is NOT a viable industry source in this area. The majority of the area outlined for this project is considered wetlands according to the Alaska wetland maps. The Mat Su Borough will not benefit from this project as outlined.

After reviewing an overlay of the proposed gas line for Barrick Gold and Nova Gold, and the proposed WSAP for Nova Minerals, it appears these companies use the exact same "road". The concept of building a 100 mile road in wetlands, with no available fill to build the road, seems like an unreasonable approach for this project.

Perhaps improving the existing airport in this area known as Whiskey Bravo, and using a winter road for machinery movement, would be a more effective plan. This would not impact the fish or wildlife in this area. Which is a discussion for another time.

Perhaps allow these 3 for profit companies invest in their own future, versus the borough and state paying for their project that is possibly not going to produce any direct revenue to the State or Borough, with the exception of taxes. AIDEA Economic Report states if this project is successful only 219 direct hire (not local) jobs would be created.

Thanks for your time,

John Faeo

To Mat-Su Borough Assembly Members:

Thank you for considering public opinion in your decision on whether or not to approve the Phase III MOU about the West Susitna Road Access. While I was not able to attend the last meeting, it sounds as if the comments against approving the MOU were overwhelmingly against and that there were a number of important questions raised.

I am strongly opposed to this MOU phase– and the project overall–proceeding when the outreach and public process has been shorted. I do believe that it is OK to not know all the answers about a project prior to moving forward, as long as there is at least some significant showing of public interest and some significant indication that the project will benefit MSB residents. I don't believe this project has either at this time. Nor has there been (at least that I have heard) a robust debate about the proposed benefits and risks of the project- to people, communities, fish and wildlife and wetlands and other habitats. (As recommended in the Phase I MOU but not completed.)

AIDEA has not met their obligations for public outreach to date (promised in earlier MOUs), so I am not confident they are acting in good faith and in the interests of residents. As Assembly members, I believe it is your responsibility to speak up when the public good, and your constituents, are not served.

I ask that each of you vote no in response to public opinion and the lack of a satisfactory public process. The lack of public outreach by AIDEA to date should be a huge red flag for any potential future steps.

Hello, my name is Cindi Herman.

I am the owner and manager of the Skwentna Roadhouse. I have lived here 11 years, and actually live in the area year-round.

The Roadhouse is my only home, and my main source of income.

At this point, I have no idea whether the West Susitna Access Road will help or hurt my business. And I will never know unless we move forward with Phase III of this project where scenarios are explored and discussed, and stakeholders engaged. For this reason, I support completing phase 3 of the West Susitna access road project study without delay.

We must talk about the facts, look at real plans, and explore potential routes so we can determine for ourselves whether to support the road. It is my understanding that this corridor follows at least 60 percent of the Donlin Pipeline corridor, which has already been approved.

I support this project and have since the 2014 "Road to Resources" study provided details about how a West Susitna access road would look. The corridor offers the promise of years of income for the surrounding residents that live here year-round, who try to eke out a living. There's a whole generation of Borough residents that need the jobs and opportunities this road would support.

It is past time for our state government to start collecting revenue from sources other than oil and tourism. Both the State and the Borough can do this by tapping the amazing resource base available in this part of Alaska. The state is full of countless examples of resource development and wilderness co-existing. We know it can be done because it HAS BEEN DONE. I am hearing some of the same arguments from opponents that were used in the 1960's to try and prevent construction of the Trans Alaska Pipeline: that it would devastate the wildlife and ruin the environment. As we all know, none of those things happened on the North Slope, and that pipeline is arguably one of the best things that ever happened to Alaska.

I support this project wholeheartedly, and not just to benefit myself and my own narrow interests - but to support the next generation of Alaskans. Please vote yes on the resolution without delay mechanisms included and allow us to move forward with the next phase of stakeholder engagement.

Warmest Regards,

I am for the road, but I would believe it would suit the people better if the road was public the whole length, or at least tolled. We have 307 acres of ag land out there 6 miles from the proposed path, and this would immensely help us.

Hello,

Please accept this letter signed by 8 sportfishing business owners, outfitters, and organizations who are based or operating in the Matanuska-Susitna valley opposing Resolution 21-134 being considered by the Borough Assembly .

Kindly,
Eric Booton

Dear Matanuska-Susitna Borough Assembly,

Thank you for closely considering issues that impact our community and businesses. As sportfishing business owners, outfitters, and organizations who are based or operating in the Matanuska-Susitna valley, we encourage the Borough Assembly to reject Resolution 21-134, which supports Phase 3 of the West Susitna Access Road, for the absence of public support and the lack of public and stakeholder engagement that was supposed to have already occurred.

The sportfishing industry is a significant economic engine in the Mat-Su, providing employment opportunities for residents and direct contributions to the local and state-wide economy. The recent study conducted by Southwick Associates, on behalf of the Mat-Su Borough, found that the sportfishing industry contributed $57.4 million to the local economy in 2017 and supported 370 jobs. These are annual jobs and contributions that can be relied upon and can continue to grow, if we manage our fisheries and fish habitat appropriately.

However, we have heard very little about the West Susitna Access Road. Although Phase 2 of the West Susitna Access Road required public outreach and stakeholder engagement, no opportunities were made to engage the public and stakeholders like our industry beyond an Online Open House that few were made aware of, and the project website that hasn't been maintained. The proposed road will impact public lands, local businesses, and individual anglers, yet no substantial effort has been made to educate or engage us. A robust and well-informed public dialog about the pros and cons of the project must be made before the Assembly should consider further support of the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

The Susitna River and its western tributaries are a destination for anglers worldwide. Anglers are drawn here not just for healthy populations of wild Pacific salmon, rainbow trout and resident fish, but for its remote, backcountry character without roads or cities nearby. As a 100+ mile road, bisecting an area rich in wetlands and rivers, requiring 24 bridges and an estimated 440 culverts, the West Susitna Access Road will jeopardize the area's appeal, and directly impact the very rivers that the area sportfishing lodges, guides and individual anglers utilize. Alaska Industrial Development & Export Authority has indicated that the West Susitna Access Road will be a primarily private road providing private companies the ability to more easily access, and heavily impact, public resources for financial gain.

The West Susitna Access Road will consume an excessive amount of public funds and could come at a very real cost to existing area businesses, the region's fish and their habitat. We urge you to stand up for Mat-Su residents and businesses to ensure that an informed public conversation with stakeholders occurs prior to this project being further pursued, please reject Resolution 21-134.

I am against this proposed road for many reasons. It is another example of catering to special interest groups and the residents and taxpayers will end up bearing the brunt of costs to come, not to mention the environmental impact. Mat-Su Borough Assembly Members:

I have lived in Alaska 41 years. My children live in Alaska. My grandchildren live in Alaska. I have served Alaskans as a clinical neuropsychologist for four decades. I was not born here. But I have chosen Alaska as my home since I was a young adult. Alaska will undoubtedly remain my family's home for many generations to come.

I am writing this email in FULL SUPPORT of the West Susitna Access Road.

Your vote this evening is focused on whether to allow the project to be forwarded for more thorough vetting and review. There will be many more opportunities for public input regarding the merits - or lack thereof - of the access road.

Please vote FOR moving the proposal forward for further review.

In the 1990s, I owned personal property (5 acres) on the Beluga River but sold it due to access problems (I'm not a pilot and crossing the Inlet in a boat is harrowing, at best).

I own 80% of GeoAlaska, LLC that has been issued a license for geothermal prospecting on Mt. Spurr. Once again, access is an issue with regard to developing this sustainable green energy resource.

I also own 2/3rds of Amaroq Resources, LLC - the owner and operator of the Nicolai Creek Unit (NCU). Yet again, access is an important issue. If the economics of the NCU do not improve, the field may be shut down costing Alaskan's lost royalty and tax revenue, not to mention fewer employment opportunities. Access changes everything at the NCU.

While growing up in rural Nebraska, my Dad used to frequently say, "90% of the people watch things happen. 8% try to stop things from happening. And, 2% make things happen." As a member of the Assembly, you are among the rarified few who make things happen. Please allow the West Susitna Access Road to happen despite the noise created by the 8% of the masses representing the chronic naysayers.

Without vision, the people will perish. I want a vibrant environment for my grandchildren, and their children to enjoy. Building the infrastructure that will allow access to the west side of the Cook Inlet will be key to a better environment for all Alaskans tomorrow. By building access, green energy (geothermal) will become one step closer to fruition consistent with the dreams of the environmental community. Improving our environment does not translate into "block any and all changes". Improving our environment means creating tomorrow's economic activity premised on sustainable (and green) growth. The West Susitna Access Road is the type of project that Alaska needs to create a better environment for all Alaskans for many generations to come.

Thank you for being part of the 2% that helps make things happen. Thank you for voting to advance the West Susitna Access Road project for further review.

Happy Holidays... and thank you for your service to the Mat-Su Borough by way of your willingness to serve on the Assembly.

Sincerely,

[EXTERNAL EMAIL - CAUTION: Do not open unexpected attachments or links.]

Hello, I am Bryan Emerson. My wife Laura and I are full-time residents of Trail Lake, near which the Susitna Access Road will likely pass if approved. We gave written and telephonic testimony to this body on Tuesday, December 7, encouraging the Assembly to reject the Phase III Susitna Access Road MOU.

Following are several questions we hope that this body will research and answer as it considers this project in more detail:

1. What is the range of estimated costs per job created of this expenditure by the State of Alaska? Does that seem to be the best use of those funds?
2. By how much might the annual Permanent Fund dividend distributions increase on a per capita basis if this project proceeds and is successful financially?
3. Who will fund, police and maintain the access road at the end of the Nova project, assuming that no other commercial uses for it exist at that time? How?
4. How will trespassing on the private portion of the road be prohibited and enforced?
5. Will there be any consideration given to full-time residents along the road whose property values and/or quality of life would decrease as a result of the development as they will bear a disproportionate share of the costs?
6. Would full-time residents living near the private portions of the road be able to use it to connect to the road system for access to shopping, emergency medical services, personal use firewood, etc? If so then would there be a cost to use the private portion of the road?

Thank you for your time this evening.

Sincerely,

Subject: PROPOSED WEST SUSITNA ROAD

Dear Steven ,

My name is Erich Napflin. I own and operate Moosehorn Lodge on Seven Mile Lake in Alaska since 1988 .

Unfortunately , I am unable to attend the meeting as am currently in Switzerland promoting and advertising our Lodge for our upcoming season.

Our concern is the proposed road from Point Mackenzie to Whisky-Bravo Mine which is being discussed at today's meeting. .

I write to you now to bring attention to our concerns for this proposal.

We have been operating our Lodge since 1988 .Every year we bring approximately one hundred European guests to our lodge , for a remote fishing experience/trip. We are a small family-operated business and the impact of this Road proposal will have a detrimental affect on our ongoing business.

My understanding of the plan for the proposed road ,is that it would go right past our remote lodge on Seven Mile Lake. Environmentally this will have a negative effect on the pristine wilderness and have a negative response from our European guests in the future. We are deeply concerned of the devastating outcome that this proposed road will have on our family business in the future.

After 33 years in the business , I am strongly against this Road proposal.

I appreciate that this will be acknowledged in your meeting this evening and any future discussions with this matter .

We sincerely appreciate your efforts in bringing this matter forward.

Yours Sincerely

Erich , Lynne & Ashley Napflin

Dear Mat-Su Assembly Members,

Thank you for this opportunity to comment on RS21-134. We are opposed to the proposed West Susitna Access Road. A road across the Susitna River valley and up the Yentna River watershed will create problems that will far exceed any benefits it may create.

Alaska has a wilderness resource that all too often is taken for granted and overlooked. This wilderness resource is what drives our thriving fishing industry and tourism economy. A road with dozens of bridges will negatively effect salmon habitat. To adequately protect fish stocks from illegal fishing will require robust law enforcement. There is neither the funding or staffing to undertake adequate fish and game enforcement.

The forest of the area are not high value forest to cut, but they are high value forest left in place for the protection of streams and rivers and fish. Left in place for wildlife habitat and scenery. A road is needed to access the timber on the west side of the Susitna River.

It is obvious that the main driving force behind the proposed road is for mining. Projections of the economic benefits of mines are always very high. What company wouldn't want financial assistance in building a road and maintaining it? We are concerned with the consequences of mining. The waterways that are destroyed, the sediments and pollution that harm fish and other wildlife and the clean-up costs that are all too often left to the government to pay for. With climate change impacting the whole world Alaska nor the Mat-Su Borough should not be considering promoting, developing and exporting coal. It is not the energy of the future nor should it be.

Please vote in opposition of the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

Sincerely,

Brian and Diane Okonek

Re: Resolution in support of AIDEA West Susitna Access Project Feasibility Study

Dear Mayor DeVries and Members of the Assembly:

The Alaska Miners Association (AMA) writes to comment on the Matanuska-Susitna Borough (Borough) Resolution in support of the Alaska Industrial Development Export Authority (AIDEA) effort to advance Phase 3 of the West Susitna Access Project Feasibility Study.

AMA is a professional membership trade organization established in 1939 to represent the mining industry in Alaska. We are composed of more than 1,400 members that come from eight statewide branches: Anchorage, Denali, Fairbanks, Haines, Juneau, Kenai, Ketchikan/Prince of Wales, and Nome. Our members include individual prospectors, geologists, engineers, suction dredge miners, small family mines, junior mining companies, and major mining companies, Alaska Native Corporations, and the contracting sector that supports Alaska's mining industry.

Efforts to explore the West Susitna Access have occurred for decades, since the very beginning of state land-use planning in the area. The plans have spanned multiple governors and Borough Assemblies. The Alaska Department of Natural Resources' original Susitna Area Plan in 1985 endorsed several road routes to the western Susitna Valley, one of which could originate in the Fish Creek area and included a bridge over the Susitna River – what is being proposed today. The Borough endorsed this plan by resolution. DNR's update of this plan in 2011 "views as appropriate the provision of access to and within the area west of the Susitna River and south of Petersville Road." The Alaska Department of Transportation put a specific route to these general plans in 2014 in the West Susitna Access Reconnaissance Study. That study identified the Middle Susitna-Skwentna River route as having the greatest benefit, and that is the route being considered today.

These many plans by many administrations during many Borough assemblies shared a vision for a public road to access new areas, to look toward opportunities for multiple resources, such as recreational property, land sales, agriculture, forestry development, and mining. Access to the region has long been a stated goal to expand the Borough's tax-based and economic and recreational opportunities.

Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably of which is roads, is a key recurring theme when looking at the challenges facing future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain remains paramount to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step.

AMA appreciates that AIDEA and the Borough have eyed the area's extensive mineralization as an opportunity associated with pursuing access to the area. Active mining exploration is taking place in the area, however, it is important to note that it is just that – exploration. For an actual mine to be developed, or even a road project, an extensive process involving multiple local, state, and federal agencies with dozens of science-based environmental permits, many of which have a public involvement process would commence. The resolution before the Borough is not a mining or road construction decision. It is support for AIDEA to advance the evaluation of the access route to pursue access for public opportunities.

The Matanuska-Susitna Borough is the fastest-growing area of the state. It is easy to see why; there is something for everyone. The acreage is massive, and includes growing population centers, economic opportunities, and remote locations to enjoy Alaska's recreational bounty. With planning and sensible land management that considers multiple user groups, the Borough and State of Alaska can expand into the West Susitna region to accommodate everyone.

AMA urges the Borough support study of the West Susitna Access Project by passing Resolution RS 21-134.

Thank you for your consideration, and please do not hesitate to contact me with questions.

RE: West Susitna Access Phase III MOU

Dear Assembly:

I am not in favor of the above MOU for several reasons:

1. It is not ok to spend public funds on a private road. (I also think that the public should not take over an existing private road or trail).
2. There has been little transparency with this going forward. Money should not be spent when we don't know the details concerning that spending.
3. Alaska is a unique destination for tourists because it is one of the few remaining places with vast, pristine beauty...opportunity for photographers, fishermen, hunters, recreation. The state depends on tourist revenue.
4. Since AIDEA is unable to answer basic questions, this should be tabled until we have answers to the many questions that have been asked.

Please vote No on this.

Sincerely,

Cathy Teich

Assembly Members, Mayor DeVries, and Borough Manager Brown:

Thank you for the opportunity to provide testimony at the December 21, 2021 Borough Assembly meeting on the resolution in support of the West Susitna Access study.

At the meeting, misinformation was conveyed about how mining is regulated in Alaska. Attached is a letter that clarifies the requirements for reclamation of land and bonds held to ensure the burden does not lie on public dollars, and the excellent track record of mines operating within these requirements. We would appreciate your attention to this information as you move forward with the public engagement strategy discussed at the meeting.

On this email, I have copied Loralie Simon and Victor Ross, residents of the Borough who are leaders in the mining industry. They and I would welcome an opportunity to meet with you and further discuss our industry and involvement in the Mat-Su.

In addition, as you engage on mining-related issues in your communities, we recommend you consider contacting the State of Alaska Departments that regulate mining: Alaska Departments of Environmental Conservation, Natural Resources, and Fish and Game. The best way to do so would be by contacting Kyle Moselle, Executive Director of the Office of Project Management and Permitting (OPMP). Kyle coordinates between the regulatory agencies on projects and is an excellent resource on permitting and regulation of any types of development in our state.

Re: Follow-up mining information regarding West Susitna Access discussion

Dear Mayor DeVries and Members of the Assembly:

The Alaska Miners Association (AMA) appreciated the opportunity to comment at the December 21, 2021 Assembly meeting, and writes today to provide follow-up and clarifying information regarding mining in Alaska, and the environmental regulatory structure under which it operates.

The concept of establishing access to the West-Susitna region has seen differing viewpoints from various users of the area. AMA appreciates the dialogue on the issue, and hopes to correct the record as some Borough residents provided inaccurate information.

During the December 21 meeting, a statement was made that "reclamation bonding for mines and gravel pits haven't been updated since the 1950's, and aren't sufficient enough to protect the West Susitna region." This statement couldn't be more wrong. In the 1950s, there was no requirement for mines to reclaim the land, though some mines did. And there was no requirement or even a thought about bonding. That situation changed dramatically over the years, not all at once, but through a history of multiple improvements.

Today, Alaska has a modern reclamation law and requirement for reclamation bonds which are continually reviewed and recalculated to ensure that they protect Alaska. In the last few decades, like any industry, mining has had occasional bankruptcies. But during that time, Alaska has had no mine leave land unreclaimed, and not spent a single public dollar reclaiming mine land from this era.

Below is a chronology of improvements in the State of Alaska's regulation of reclamation and bonding:

The 1950s. There was no state requirement for reclamation and no state requirement that a mine company must post a reclamation bond.

1960s and 1970s. While there was no centralized state requirement for reclamation and bonding, requirements were sometimes included in land leases by private or state owners.

1986. Bonding and Reclamation Requirements for Coal Mines. Alaska passed the Alaska Surface Coal Mining Control and Reclamation Act which established reclamation and bonding requirements for coal mines in Alaska. The act allowed Alaska to take primacy of coal mine regulation from the federal government which had passed a nationwide act in 1977. Since that time, all coal mines in Alaska have been fully bonded with a full reclamation requirement. The federal government audits Alaska's compliance with this requirement.

1991. Reclamation requirement established for all mines in Alaska. Bonding required up to $750/acre with additional assurance through the reclamation bond pool.

In 1991, Alaska passed a revision to state law which required reclamation of all mine lands in Alaska. At that time, Alaska’s mining industry was primarily small placer mines (though Greens Creek Mine was operating in the federal Admiralty Island National Monument and the Red Dog Mine was operating on private, NANA-owned land in northwest Alaska). The state’s focus was on placer mines, and the $750/acre cap was established based, in large part, on an estimate of the cost of placer mine reclamation. Additional financial assurance was provided by allowing mines to join a reclamation bond pool administered by the State of Alaska, which could be used for reclamation costs beyond that amount, if needed. Note that Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation also has a requirement for bonding, but it was limited to activities related solely to water quality.

1996. Fort Knox begins operation; Voluntary full bonding implemented. The Fort Knox Gold Mine was the first large mine (i.e., not placer) authorized by the State of Alaska since the requirement for full reclamation was established five years before. Fairbanks Gold Mining Inc., the company which owns the Fort Knox Mine voluntarily agreed to put up the full amount of reclamation in a bond, even though state law allowed it to limit its bond to $750, which would have resulted in a significantly smaller amount. The Illinois Creek Gold Mine, permitted in 1999, also voluntarily agreed to place a larger (then thought of as a full bond amount) into a bond before beginning operation.

2004. Full bonding for all large mines: the “reasonable and probable cost of reclamation.” In 2004, the state agencies, working with the mining industry and with environmental groups, helped the legislature enact a change in Alaska’s reclamation law. Alaska law, AS 27.19, now requires that mining companies put up the financial assurance before mining which reflects the “reasonable and probable cost of reclamation.” All large mines – hard rock and coal – are required to provide the state financial assurance calculated to be the full cost of reclamation.

Today. The Bonds:

Mine	Status	Amount
Usibelli Coal	Operating	$11,121,192
Greens Creek	Operating	$92,000,000
Kensington	Operating	$30,000,000
Pogo	Operating	$71,908,000
Red Dog	Operating	$580,000,000
Fort Knox	Operating	$102,255,000
True North	Reclaimed	$620,336
Rock Creek	Reclaimed	$263,522
Illinois Creek	Reclaimed	$1,000,000
Ryan Lode	Reclaimed	$12,140
Nixon Fork	Suspended	$6,033,000
		$812,413,190

Today. The Process: Personnel at Alaska Department of Natural Resources, Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation and (when required) federal agencies (for mines on federal land) review and must approve all financial assurance calculations before a mine begins operation. The state generally, though not always, uses a calculation system developed by the State of Nevada Division of Environmental Protection (the Standardized Reclamation Cost Estimator). These bonds are recalculated every five years during permit renewal. In addition, the state uses an innovative process where, in an open public process in which the public may participate, the state hires a third-party contractor to review state’s and the company’s process and calculations.

Alaska's coal mining laws require a three-phase bonding process by which operators must abide. Phase I includes backfilling and re-grading to approximate original contour; Phase II includes seeding and planting of native trees and shrubs. While achieving Phase I (backfilling and re-grading) may occur within the first year of mining, Phase II (establishing a vegetative mat and planting trees and shrubs) can take several years. Phase III can only be achieved after successful completion of Phases I and II and a minimum of ten years after completing Phase II. Notably, our state's one coal mine, Usibelli Coal Mine, Inc. (Usibelli) recently announced it had achieved a historic reclamation milestone having been approved by the State of Alaska for Phase III bond release in the Poker Flats mining area.

According to state and federal law, coal mine operators must restore mined land to its approximate original contour and companies are required to post a bond to ensure that the mined land will be reclaimed. Achieving Phase III bond release by the State of Alaska takes decades. The regulators at DNR are dedicated and thorough in their responsibilities to ensure operators are following law and regulation.

Conclusion: The statement that Alaska's reclamation requirements and process haven't been updated from the 1950s is completely inaccurate. Alaska has a proactive, protective and modern reclamation and financial assurance requirement backed up by a modern regulatory process.

Finally, we encourage you to engage with the State of Alaska Departments on Natural Resources, Environmental Conservation, and Fish and Game to glean more information about the regulatory process that governs mining in Alaska. AMA members are also at your service to discuss any mining related questions or concerns you may have.

Thank you for your attention, and for the opportunity to provide this information.

Sincerely,

Deantha Skibinski

Good morning! I'm working on an update on the West Susitna Access project and just interviewed Alan at AIDEA. He suggested I check in with the borough on the next phase of public outreach as part of a larger story.

What does the next phase look like in terms of timing and events/outreach being planned? Will individual landowners and businesses get notifications or will the outreach more take the form of community events?

Zaz

Hi Zaz,

We are in the process of finalizing a lot of parts to the MSB public outreach effort in regard to the West Susitna Access project.

- Attached is a fact sheet with map that provides some of the information you asked for
- The fact sheet has a link to the AIDEA project website where documents that were produced during Phase 1 and 2 of the project are available
- We are also working on creating a borough website for the MSB public involvement effort focused around the project. Since it is still in construction the web link listed may or may not work
- The website will have a place to sign up to be on an e-mail distribution list for project events and updates
- Yes, individual landowners and businesses will get notifications
- AND there will be two public meetings (see below):

TWO PUBLIC MEETINGS

The Matanuska-Susitna Borough invites you to find out more and provide comments about the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

Wednesday, February 23, 2022

Wednesday, March 23, 2022

For both meetings:

Time: 4 to 7 pm, presentations at 4, 5, & 6 pm

Location: Online and by phone

We are hoping to have everything finalized by early next week.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings

I'm Cassandra with Friends of State Parks, Mat-Su and I also work for the Greater Wasilla Chamber of Commerce. I made this flyer that we will be sending out in our enewsletter, displaying it in our luncheon slideshow, the dates are added to our website calendar and we're having Jesse Peterson from AIDEA come and be a keynote speaker at our April 5th luncheon to discuss it.

Thanks for forwarding the information along!

I'll share it on our Friends of State Parks social media as well.

Have a great rest of your day!

Hi all - I received a phone call from Margaret Stern, Redacted, with the Susitna River Coalition. She thanked us for the informative website and clear information. She asked a few questions:

1. How would the comments be used? They would be used to summarize comments from the public about this phase of the project and would be submitted for the Corp of Engineers Clean Water Act Permit application.
2. When will AIDEA submit the permit application? This spring, unless the Corp of Engineers requires more information or field work.
3. Will the road be public as stated in our project information? Yes, according to AIDEA the road will be public, however that may ultimately depend on the type of construction funding.

I made sure she was aware there would be other opportunities to comment.

She again thanked the team for making the information available and providing a comment forum.

Camden Yehle,

We have been property owners in the Yentna River area for 34 years and we are very opposed to the building of the West Susitna Access Road. When one buys property in this area, they are not just buying a physical piece of property, but a lifestyle, the core of which is wilderness, away from any road system. If a road was built, it would destroy this lifestyle for many, taking away the reason that they purchased their properties in the first place.

If a road was built, crime would increase, wildlife and fishing habitat would suffer. Fishing would change with the river crossings. Freighters, lodge owners, and wilderness guides would be put out of business. And how many jobs would you add, and what would the jobs be? And would they even be Alaskans? There would be no logging in the area, as most trees are already dead from beetle kill; there is not a sustainable forest in this area currently or in the foreseeable future.

Why are public funds being used to enrich a private company? Corporate greed? What is the connection between the owners of this company and employees of the State in a decision making position? You don't have the funds to build this road, and if you are serious about this, the funds should be identified before you even start the permitting process. This is a waste of public money that could be used in a much more beneficial manner. To "promise" to have a viable business in the future is not a good enough reason to build this road, when people's lives and businesses would be destroyed in its making. There are much better and more profitable ways of using this money for the public good; rethink it! The State has had many false starts on development projects; don't let this be one of them.

Hi,

We would like to have a copy of the ArcGIS Pro shapefile of the proposed West Susitna Access Road currently being considered. The ArcGIS Pro shapefile will be very helpful in our work to determine environmental and cultural resource impacts of the proposed road. If there is a GIS Server or WMS address we can have access to for this project that would also be very helpful.

Hi all - Bill Seitz called, Redacted, with the following comments.

- Why not route the road from Petersville to avoid having to build an expensive new Susitna River crossing?
- He has a sour taste left from the partially completed rail extension.
- If the road is not public, the private users should pay for construction and use.
- He is not opposed to roads but wants them done right.

Good After Noon

Yes today was our meeting day that was canceled. However I received this information and thought I should get it out to everyone that would like to go talk about the WSAR (West Susitna Access Road). Don't know how many more chances you may have to give your opinion. Hope to see you there.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings

Hi Camden,

I'm sorry for the late reply, and we'd be happy to share this with our membership.

I have some concerns about this statement though, "The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range."

Can you clarify a couple of things that I think are misleading - first this road is not proposed as public all the way to the site. At most, it will only be public to the Susitna River. Can you please update this language so that the public isn't misled about the intentions and access of this project? Also, are you working with AIDEA to coordinate a feasibility study? My understanding is that the Borough and AIDEA are now working independently, AIDEA on their own track, and the Borough working to collect comments that will be presented during the next federal permitting stage. I don't think these comments and the work the Borough is doing now will have any effect on AIDEA's plans. Can you clarify where that information is coming from?

I'm happy to talk on the phone. I'm sure you're aware we've been following this process from the beginning and I'm very familiar with the process this far. I'm happy to help in any way we can.

Cheers,
Melissa

Dear Yehle Consulting,

Thank you for your important work helping disseminate public participation opportunities around the West Su Access Road.

This email is not a public comment for the record, it is a question about the website and process. I will submit a comment for the record at a later date.

I would appreciate clarification on the statement that this will be a public road.

Please send me specific language from AIDEA that reflects that statement. I attended a presentation in which it was clearly stated that this would not be a public road, and in fact, will be a private road. Some members of the public have stated that the road may be public to the Little Su, but beyond private, and I believe this could be the case, in which case I think outreach material should clarify that detail.

Also, I think it would be most transparent to be clear that the activity that this road is being built to service is gold mining by Australian and Canadian companies.

Thank you for your hard work on getting the word out about this proposed road,

Rachel

Camden Yehle,

I have tried to be concise rather than verbose, so have not listed any of the pros for the AIDEA for they are far outweighed by the cons.

1. KGB Road already has more traffic congestion than it can safely handle. KGB Road should be brought up to current and possible future needs before increasing the problems. The AIDEA road to the Yenta Mining district would increase this traffic load.

2. The environmental impact of this proposed road would be vast.

A. Moose populations will suffer through road strike, increased legal and illegal (poaching) hunting and loss of habitat over time as we all know that where there is access there will be traffic and the State of Alaska will open up further staking on land.

B. Fish populations will also suffer from excess pollution and litter in around streams and fishing in areas previously only a few could easily access.

C. Those who drive the road will cause detriment to the environment through noise, exhaust and litter.

3. FUNDING TO BE DETERMINED??... We ALL know that this funding, one way or another, will be on the backs of Alaskan's and especially the valley residents. Our assessments, fees and taxes will be raised and we will be asked to pass indebtedness bonds to pay for the rest.

None of the above comments even take into consideration the amount of extra road erosion caused by the traffic the road will incur from the mining district itself, in the form of more big rig traffic with heavy axel loads.

Hi,

We would like to have a copy of the ArcGIS Pro shapefile of the proposed West Susitna Access Road currently being considered. The ArcGIS Pro shapefile will be very helpful in our work to determine environmental and cultural resource impacts of the proposed road. If there is a GIS Server or WMS address we can have access to for this project that would also be very helpful.

To whom it may concern,

I'm writing to express my opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

This proposal is bad on multiple levels and should not go forward. The road will impact business owners, private land owners and wildlife all in a negative way. It will further reduce the wilderness area experience by increasing public access.

While the number of lodges impacted may be small the consequences to these lodges will be devastating. Private landowners, which are numerous on both sides of the proposed road will encounter increased trespassing and along with that an increase in vandalism and theft. This increase in public pressure will also negatively impact the wildlife along the corridor.

I don't see the proposed road as a benefit to Alaskans. I do see it as a benefit to outside companies with little interest in the long term impacts of the road and who only hope to benefit economically and then depart. AIDEA funds can be better spent elsewhere on projects that will benefit Alaskans and not foreign companies.

As an Alaskan and as a tax paying property owner I'm asking that this bad idea be rejected.

Regards,

James Witthaus

Roy Carlson, Ph. 376-0916. Roy called to ask if the public meetings would be held in-person or virtual only, and I said virtual only. He asked why he received a postcard; I said postcards were sent to people who owned property within a broad area encompassing "West Susitna" and even including Big Lake, Knik, and the Point MacKenzie area. He said he owns a cabin at Kroto Creek. He asked if there was a larger map he could view of the area. I referred him to our website. He was not at a computer so I referred him to the www.matsugov.us web site and let him know there is currently a link to the West Susitna Access info right on the home page, and described how he can scroll down to access the maps and more info. I encouraged him to call again if he had any additional feedback at some point. Roy says he was the MSB Public Works Director from about 1989-1993 or so.

Steve Hart, Ph. Redacted This one will need a follow-up contact. Steve owns property at Otter Lake Estates, and he would like to know just how close the new access road would come to that subdivision. He's very excited to think that could improve his prospects for developing that property. His phone number is a California number, so he offered his email address as well. It is Redacted

This one will need a follow-up contact; he specifically asked to speak with Brad. I told him Brad was out, and that I'd pass the message along to Brad, as well as to the rest of the team.

Dan Drape, Ph. Redacted Detailed comments here.

Dan says he's pretty familiar with the West Susitna Access area; he flies over the area somewhat frequently. He received the mailing and since then has been looking over the proposed route with the help of topo maps, including the one on our web site. He had spoken some with Kayla in Platting and then was directed to Brad.

If you go to the map on our web site <https://west-susitna-access.matsugov.us/> and then zoom in to where you can see the mile markers on the road, that will help you follow Dan's comments below. (I am zoomed so that the one-inch scale in the lower left of the map equals two miles.)

Dan says his main concern is regarding "the large parcel of land between the Little Su and the Big Su; the proposed road would go right through there".

- In that area is a section marked Fish Creek NRMU; he can guess what that means but would like to know for sure.
- He was also looking at the map where he saw the notation "2013-R5-007". I was not able to locate that as he was talking. (In hindsight, I think maybe this was actually 2013-RS-007; that is a MSB Resolution supporting a town site in the Point MacKenzie Community and one in Fish Creek Management Area. I still have not seen this notation on our map; it's possible it came from a different map he was looking at.) But as he was talking to me, he wondered what 2013-R5-007 referenced; I did not offer any explanation to him on that.
- Following the road beyond that point, crossing the Susitna River and continuing on to mile markers 30-45 or so as the road extends north and west. Dan suggests what he thinks would be a better route from that point -- instead of continuing on northwest beyond Beluga Mountain, if the road were to pass to the west "behind Beluga Mountain and behind Mount Susitna, and go right out to the inlet". He says "build their own dock there and forget about Point MacKenzie". He says that route would spare some river crossings, and likely reduce the miles of swamp encountered as well. He felt that would be a better plan for getting product out.
- He also notes that Point MacKenzie was right in the epicenter of the 2018 earthquake "and that isn't going to change"; so I think he's suggesting that we avoid any future issues in that area.

Below are two phone calls I've taken on West Susitna so far, just today and yesterday:

Monday, 2/14:

Sandra Lott, Ph. Redacted. Sandra and her late husband have property in the Canyon Lake Subdivision area. She would like to know how the proposed access road would affect their property.

Tuesday, 2/15:

Terry Nininger, Ph. Redacted. He would like to know if the public meetings will be available on youtube, or what will be available in terms of online access.

Thanks again.

L. Anita Watts Soquet, 907-333-4814. Anita called with several questions and comments.

1. Who owns the land? The ownership is mixed, but mostly owned by the State of Alaska.
2. She thinks only the people doing the mining would mainly benefit.
3. Are there wetlands? Yes.
4. She would rather keep the wetlands.
5. How will oil and gas be developed when we don't even have ANWAR anymore? Won't climate change affect the viability of the project? That is a good question that I don't have an answer for.
6. She would rather use the funds for other things.

Balchen, [Redacted]. Balchen lives in the Big Lake area during the summer. He called to say the less roads, the better in his opinion. If the road is for the mining district, let them pay for it.

Dan Drape, [Redacted]. Dan lives in Meadow Lakes and flies over the project area several times a year. His comments were that the Borough is not a good manager of roads. He mentioned the delayed Seldon extension project as an example (he lives on Beverly Lake Road). He thinks the W Susitna extension would be better off as a State managed road. I explained the Borough is not looking to manage or build the W Susitna extension. I added the Seldon extension project is starting up again and disclosed that I will be the public engagement lead for that project. He thinks there are too many earthquakes to have a road in the W Susitna area. He added that the public doesn't need access to the road if it is mostly industrial anyway. He asked if AIDEA looked into routing the road on the west side of Mt. Susitna down to Beluga in order to avoid the Big Susitna River crossing and many wetlands.

Ray Rose, [Redacted]. Ray called to support the road project which is long overdue. He owns Goose Bay Hideaway, a campground at mile 13 of Knik Goose Bay Road. He asked how they would move materials from the mine if there is no road. He also asked when it would be built. He would like to see it built sooner rather than later.

Buzz Kelley, [Redacted]. Buzz to support development and the road project.

Steve Hart, [Redacted]. Steve owns a property in the Otter Lakes Estates. He asked if the project goes near the subdivision. I responded that the proposed route does go near the subdivision. He is excited about road access and would be able to start building his cabin. He wanted to know when it would be built. I made sure he was aware the build year of 2028 was an estimate. He commented that the area would still be remote even with road access (no utilities). He asked to be added to the email list.

Denise Hook, [Redacted]. Denise called to support the project. She would like to see more areas opened up for development. She thinks it will add to lodge business in the area, not take it away. She lives in Houston and would go fishing down the proposed road.

Leo Von Scheben, [Redacted]. Leo called to support the project. He currently flies into the Skwentna Lodge to visit. He was the Commissioner of the Alaska Department of Transportation from 2007 to 2010. He also served on the AIDEA board.

Colter Muller, Redacted Colter called to support the project. He is all for expanding access to mining and supporting the economy.

Joe Krisom, Redacted. Joe called to find out if the road will be public the whole way. He previously heard the road would be public to mile 20, just past the Susitna River. I told him I would find out and call him back. He requested I add him to the email list, Redacted.

I called Terry back and let him know the meetings will be live streamed on Facebook and YouTube where they can be watched later. He asked me if there has been much resistance to the project. I responded there has been resistance to the project. He supports the project, specifically in that it would open up fishing and mining. He wanted to know if the State of Alaska would likely pay for construction. My response was that we don't know yet. He will write up additional comments and send them our way.

Hello,

It's hard for me to believe that this project has moved along this far and this is the first public meeting I have been made aware of. Yes, I have read articles and seen references to it on certain government websites, but I honestly never thought it would become a reality because I wasn't made aware of the progress that has happened. Though I'm not surprised. Wherever there are natural resources there is greed and deception. This land and the water that runs through it are more precious than any fuel or minerals you can pull from the earth, AIDEA just cannot see it through this greed and deception.

As a citizen of Alaska I stand with the many people who DO NOT want to see this area of vast beauty and biodiversity destroyed for the benefit of a few.

When will they learn? When will enough money be enough? When every last corner of Alaska is "explored" and developed? When every last habitat is polluted with the waste and garbage of organizations like NOVA and AIDEA.

A river watershed is too valuable of a thing to destroy. Leave it alone.

Sincerely,

Michelle Breinholt

Camden, here are a few thoughts I might have not included in my earlier communiqué.

Objections:

The road would benefit a very few people. Mining and mineral harvesting, unlike oil and gas, does not create a reasonable revenue share to the state/ residents.

Hundreds of water crossings will easily triple the cost. Some of the wet lands the road is traveling over are literally bottomless bogs and will create road maintenance nightmares in perpetuity.

Jobs, the few permanent jobs are???? (As an example, as I write this, the Alaska Railroad is looking for at least 30 full time employees and currently has three applicants..... Every other business in the state is also looking for workers! It seems there are enough jobs for the people that want to work.)

Another waste of money:

I have been here to witness the ferry debacle , the port fiasco and most recently the railroad spur without tracks, without customers nor goods to transport. ( as a side bar, the rail spur was "sold" with a bunch of falsehoods. First there was going to be a daily train exporting lime from Livengood ,cost of lime would have to increase tenfold to make that feasible. Then it was going to be for daily coal export, no customers. Then it was for timber....., no timber to sell and no customers to buy .....)

Anyway, I am absolutely in favor of development and progress but am also totally against waisting our hard earned money.

Lastly, I have fished, hunted and mushed the susitna drainage for the last 40 years. There are few residents that have seen more of the impacted area on foot, by boat, snow machine or by dog teams than me. We have waisted millions of dollars studying the Susitna dam project, a project I could possibly support because of the potential benefit of all Alaskans, at leas three times, with no results.

Let's stop the insanity before we throw millions of dollars away.

Happy Trails

I mis-typed in my previous email I meant to write that the road will be public to the Big Su (not Little Su). In fact the extent of the public vs private road was clearly stated in the 2/12/22 Anchorage Daily News article .

Thank you for your work on this issue,

Dear Yehle Consulting,

Thank you for your important work helping disseminate public participation opportunities around the West Su Access Road.

This email is not a public comment for the record, it is a question about the website and process. I will submit a comment for the record at a later date.

I would appreciate clarification on the statement that this will be a public road.

Please send me specific language from AIDEA that reflects that statement. I attended a presentation in which it was clearly stated that this would not be a public road, and in fact, will be a private road. Some members of the public have stated that the road may be public to the Little Su, but beyond private, and I believe this could be the case, in which case I think outreach material should clarify that detail.

Also, I think it would be most transparent to be clear that the activity that this road is being built to service is gold mining by Australian and Canadian companies.

Thank you for your hard work on getting the word out about this proposed road,

Rachel

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Hi Adam:

This is an inquiry regarding resurfacing/redesigning Caswell Creek Road. It is our understanding that the road is an MSB project. Has planning been involved in any way with the road – Do you know whether it will deviate from the current existing road, will it be widened? Where is the funding coming from for the road? State or /feds?. Chickaloon Village Traditional Council (CVTC) has heard from the Corps of Engineers (COE) regarding the culverts but have not had any information on plans for the road. Do you have any maps or designs for it.

On another note CVTC has not received information on the planned West Susitna Access Road. It is important for MSB to consult with the Dene (Athabaskan) Tribes regarding the planned road. It is tantamount for the Tribes to be involved at the initial design stages of the project. The area being proposed for the road extension is highly sensitive to Dene cultural sites. Very little archaeological survey work has occurred west of the Susitna. The project region encompasses numerous native village sites with interconnecting indigenous trails. Linguistic studies suggest Dene's earliest migrations into the valley came from the Kuskokwim into the Yentna-Skwentna River valley. It is for that reason construction conducted in the Yentna-Skwentna region is a major concern. Vital information on migration routes may be compromised by construction of the road. CVTC would like to be included in the following:

- 1) CVTC requests consultation directly by the project manager on the proposed road
- 2) informed and included in the decision making with good aerial and LiDar maps.
- 3) CVTC is interested in assisting with the archaeological field work and being present when any ground disturbing activities are undertaken
- 4) If an archaeological contractor has already conducted a pedestrian survey and inventory of sites for the proposed road, CVTC would like a copy of their report for review and comments.

We appreciate any information you can provide us on the above projects. Please contact Angie Wade at (alwade@chickaloon-nsn.gov). Tsin'aen (Thank You). Fran

I do not support the proposed access road. This will greatly impact the residents and cabin owners who have exhausted resources to access this area that is so close to the largest population in Alaska. A road will put strain on hunting and fishing in the area which will lead to a decline in resources and ultimately more regulations or closures. Historically, all road accessible fishing and hunting has declined and caused further regulations limiting the opportunity.

Because the road would allow vehicle and trailer access, ATV's could gain access to otherwise inaccessible areas. With the advancement of ATVs, the landscape would become inendated with trails, bogs, and camp sites changing the current landscape forever. Recreational camps would drastically increase the chance of wildfire. Human conflict will be inevitable, trespassing and theft will be an immediate concern. Many cabins are left unattended for months at a time creating opportunity for thieves.

This road only benefits the mining industry. Aircraft and snowcats have been a substantial means of access for decades. Destroying a recreational area for many is not worth the benefit to companies that has the capacity to use alternative means of transportation.

Thank you

Of course! I will add you to the list. We spoke the other day on the phone. Thanks for taking the time to reach out again and for working on this project.

If the public nature of the road is unknown, it seems misleading to say "a multi-use, public access road" in the initial materials.

First there was going to be a daily train exporting lime from Livengood ,cost of lime would have to increase tenfold to make that feasible. Then it was going to be for daily coal export, no customers. Then it was for timber....., no timber to sell and no customers to buy .....)

Anyway, I am absolutely in favor of development and progress but am also totally against waisting our hard earned money.

Lastly, I have fished, hunted and mushed the susitna drainage for the last 40 years. There are few residents that have seen more of the impacted area on foot, by boat, snow machine or by dog teams than me.
We have waisted millions of dollars studying the Susitna dam project, a project I could possibly support because of the potential benefit of all Alaskans, at leas three times, with no results.

Let's stop the insanity before we throw millions of dollars away.

Happy Trails

Mary Gochanour, Redacted. Mary lives in Big Lake and called with the comment that it seemed like a lot of money to benefit not many people. She was worried about the State of Alaska using the permanent fund to pay for it.

Todd Blessing, 907-830-1325. Todd called looking for a Phase 3 Memorandum of Understanding between AIDEA and the Borough. I responded there is no Phase 3 MOU, but there is a resolution of support from the Borough Assembly. The proposed route runs within four miles of their property located near an unnamed lake in the area of Shell Lake. He would like to use the road. His worst case scenario would be for the road to not have public access.

Cindy Fitzgerald, 208-290-2669. Cindy owns a large property with a family trust on Lewis Loop off of Knik Goose Bay Road. She was ambivalent on the project and wanted to know if it would affect her property. I looked up the area and it is fairly far away from the project.

Fran,

I'll try to be as helpful as I can, but I don't have much information about either of these projects at the moment.

Caswell Creek Road does not immediately ring a bell to me, Brad will probably be the most helpful although it may be an O&M project. It may just be re[placing culverts for fish passage, but I don't know. I know that Hidden Hills Rd and Passthebaite Ave, in that neighborhood have been approved through the latest Bond initiative, but I am unsure what the funding is at this time. That project is an upgrade.

For West Susitna, you know as much, or probably more than I do. It is an AIEDA project, and the Borough at this time is involved as a conduit for public involvement. <https://west-susitna-access.matsugov.us/> Take a look at this website and see if it helps. It looks like Brad is also the appropriate source for this information, but I would have Chickaloon contact Camden Yehle, she is running public involvement for the Borough's part in this.

Hi Adam:

This is an inquiry regarding resurfacing/redesigning Caswell Creek Road. It is our understanding that the road is an MSB project. Has planning been involved in any way with the road – Do you know whether it will deviate from the current existing road, will it be widened? Where is the funding coming from for the road? State or /feds?. Chickaloon Village Traditional Council (CVTC) has heard from the Corps of Engineers (COE) regarding the culverts but have not had any information on plans for the road. Do you have any maps or designs for it.

On another note CVTC has not received information on the planned West Susitna Access Road. It is important for MSB to consult with the Dene (Athabaskan) Tribes regarding the planned road. It is tantamount for the Tribes to be involved at the initial design stages of the project. The area being proposed for the road extension is highly sensitive to Dene cultural sites. Very little archaeological survey work has occurred west of the Susitna. The project region encompasses numerous native village sites with interconnecting indigenous trails. Linguistic studies suggest Dene's earliest migrations into the valley came from the Kuskokwim into the Yentna-Skwentna River valley. It is for that reason construction conducted in the Yentna-Skwentna region is a major concern. Vital information on migration routes may be compromised by construction of the road. CVTC would like to be included in the following:

- 1) CVTC requests consultation directly by the project manager on the proposed road
- 2) informed and included in the decision making with good aerial and LiDar maps.
- 3) CVTC is interested in assisting with the archaeological field work and being present when any ground disturbing activities are undertaken
- 4) If an archaeological contractor has already conducted a pedestrian survey and inventory of sites for the proposed road, CVTC would like a copy of their report for review and comments.

We appreciate any information you can provide us on the above projects. Please contact Angie Wade at (alwade@chickaloon-nsn.gov). Tsin'aen (Thank You). Fran

As a remote land owner that will be directly affected by the proposed road, I am 100% OPPOSED to this project. The idea of spending state money and Matsu borough tax money to build a road that primarily benefits foreign mining companies is not a wise use of funds. Further, spending public funds to build what will be functionally a private mining road really makes me mad. I and my property will suffer all the negative impacts of this road with no potential benefit. I suffer a loss of value of my property and loss of quality of life, just so a foreign mining company can profit.

I believe your cost estimates are overly optimistic and the ultimate build cost and maintenance will be unsustainable. The cost of the road will likely be in excess of 400 million dollars, with the ultimate goal of generating about 1500 jobs. The net investment then is over 1/4 million dollars for each job created. Your financial analyses paint a rosy picture of potential future tax incomes to the borough, but failed to include the annual costs for maintenance of this 100 miles of remote road. Further, your analysis fails to consider the LOSS OF JOBS in the tourism, fishing, guiding, flying industries that will result from the destruction of the remote character of this region. The jobs lost in this case are completely sustainable and do not deplete the resource. So in reality, your net gain in jobs will be way less than 1000 resulting in a much higher cost per job created. All in support of non-sustainable jobs with a relatively short time horizon. I think this represents a very poor return on the investment.

Lets spend our money on projects that have more direct, long-term sustainable, benefits for ALASKANS.

Sincerely, Paul L. Flint, Landowner Matsu Borough

Morning,

I feel this is a great development opportunity for Matsu and the State. Landowners, CO-OPs, developers and private citizens will benefit from the increased infrastructure, resources and access into new areas of Alaska on so many levels. Unified efforts like this help to build economic resiliency and self sustainability. While connecting communities to the road system will bring challenges it will undoubtedly help to make access to everyday supplies and resources more economical for everyone. Access to the interior has always been dangerous, difficult and often limited to small planes, boats and seasonal off road solutions. This is clear case where pros outweigh the cons. Lets build tomorrows Alaska today, make the financial investment in this key infrastructure investment and do it in a way that benefits future generations and the environment.

I oppose the State of Alaska, AIDEA or the Mat-Su Borough wasting public money on what is essentially a private road to benefit the officers, directors and shareholders of a foreign mining corporation. This is typical corporate Socialism that AIDEA and the Mat-Su Borough love to inflict on the Alaskan public. The only thing public about this project is that public funds are being used to benefit a private interest. The State, AIDEA and the Mat-SU Borough are batting well below .125 on these "build it and they will come" projects. The Agricultural Project, Port McKenzie, the fast Ferry, and the Railroad Spur to nowhere. "No taxation without representation." The Mat-Su Borough taxes remote land unfairly to pay for its schools, roads, fire protection and public safety, then cuts off people's access to their private property (that they created) by blocking trails with road improvements, railroad rights-of-way or rip-rap. I attended the "public hearings" on the railroad spur. It was very clear that the function of the "hearing" was window dressing so the State or the Borough could check the "public engagement box" on the environmental impact statement or some other regulatory requirement without paying one iota of attention to the public comments. The State has already pissed away more than 8.5 million dollars on planning, permitting and engineering that could have funded education in the Mat-Su Borough or the rest of Alaska to benefit the public interest. This is government by the corporations, of the corporations and for the corporations. Nova is not even an American multi-national corporation. This is really fraud and theft. What's new? I am glad you are asking opinions, and not just going blindly forward.

Reading the funding alone makes me KNOW this is a VERY BAD IDEA.

Next 156 KNOWN WATER CROSSING, habitat interferences, permits state, federal etc

The road appears to be ONLY helping Yentna Mining District.

People live and adventure in this area, being LESS accessible is the whole idea.

Whose idea was this?

It sounds very UN-ALASKAN from the get go.

Stop it now, before Alaska has another unfinished, unwanted , unpaid for project, that violates Alaska.

Harry Morgan, Redacted Harry called from his home in Missouri. He owns two parcels in the Point MacKenzie area that he would like to sell. He asked about the status of the Knik Arm bridge and moving the capital of Alaska to Wasilla. I responded there does not appear to be current plans for either of those. He also asked how the ore from the mining district would get to Anchorage without the bridge. It would go by road, rail, and/or by ship from the Point MacKenzie area. He is interested in attending the online public meeting.

Allen Thomas, Redacted Allen has property to the northwest of Mount Susitna. The route would go within 3 to 5 miles of it. He asked how the road would affect local trails in the area. Specifically the Sleeping Lady Trail (previously Thomas Trail) and the Iditarod Trail.

Dave (requested anonymity). Dave had questions about details of the project. He owns a property near Skwentna. Are the trucks going to operate all year? Who will do the maintenance? Will it be kept open all year? Will it be a two-way road, or one-lane and have pull offs? Will the bridge construction avoid salmon spawning times? He would like to have access for the people of Alaska. A positive part of the road would be improved access for fire fighting operations. He would like to see more details about the project before supporting it.

Rod Daniels, Redacted. Rod called to ask about the public meetings. He does not have a computer. He would like to see a larger map than the one on the postcard. I offered to send him one in the mail. His mailing address is: PO Box 520344, Big Lake, AK 99652. He added that access is tough in Alaska and too often public land is gated off or there is a user fee.

He said he is hearing rumors that Pebble Mine is behind this effort. My name is Dylan Jacobs. Born and raised in the Matanuska Valley, I love this land more with every sunset. I believe development of access to the Susitna Valley is in order. I support as much of the road as possible being public access. surely the development of something to enforce respect of our land is a navigable concern.

As far as the "devastating" concerns of wilderness lodge owners...with all due respect, acknowledging my lack of business ownership experience and that i speak broadly of an industry with which i am not familiar, there is a process called creative destruction as things move forward. it's the idea that some of the past needs to be let go of to create resources for the future (e.g. the astonishing volume of labor and money that is poured like an IV into the vegetative phone book business, knowing full well 90% of people throw them straight into the trash (and the rest keep them for kindling!) this is finances and labor not being used in areas that need laborers and is not being applied to moving forward, say in the tech sector, but is actually a dead weight on us. of course i'm not saying the lodges are dead weight but there is an opportunity to champion the move forward or to resist and delay the future). I do not believe a 100 mile dead-end road revokes your wilderness status, even if it does the demographic you serve might shift slightly but there will still be one! If navigated wisely and taken advantage of this could easily boost the success of these lodges, in my opinion.

As far as impact I see this project creating a brighter future with more options for our state and borough and for my family opening more recreation and increasing the area of our region we are able to explore and appreciate.

I do not believe the borough should subsidize the development of a private road, though certainly cooperate and partner symbiotically. any costs incurred by the borough in the development of the private section should be recouped.

Phone call from Sunday, February 20, 2022.

I received a phone call from Redacted asking about in-person meetings. He wanted to talk to other members of the public about the project. I explained the meetings will be online because of the large geographic area the project covers and on-going Covid-19 concerns. Overall we have heard very positive feedback about the online format and many people will be able to attend who would not have otherwise. I offered to mail him the meeting materials, but he refused. I added that participation from Community Councils is important to this project and they are a good venue to talk to neighbors. He still seemed unhappy with the process and did not tell me what his concerns with the actual project were.

Ouch, how can I begin? First and foremost, the western Susitna valley is primarily roadless. The Susitna Borough is about the size of Massachusetts and the western part is the only part roadless. This section of the borough is the boroughs and Anchorage's playground. Millions of dollars are spent each year traveling to this remote area for recreational use and for work ( many lodges offering fishing and hunting expeditions). The tax basis for the borough is tremendous as a thousand or more properties that are taxed expect nothing for their tax monies as they get nothing in return. Their tax money goes to the road service areas. What a deal for the borough, taxation without representation, I guess we heard that before! ( 250 years ago).

I heard that an ore truck will come down this road every 10 minutes in the summer. Dust galore and the private section of the road will experience the same traffic. Would you like to live next to such a road? Are you letting this happen to Alaskans over an Australian company? If 100 miles of this road is only for one mine, then let them build and maintain it!!! The mine in Kotzebue is nothing like this Australian mine. First and utmost, if the Kotzebue population was going to be connected to the Anchorage population and the road system outside, they would never have wanted that project.

Please take the advice of the people that pay your wage, Alaskans, and stand firm against another AIDIA failed project. They spend money like a drunken sailor, but wait, even a drunk sailor quits spending when he has no money....not true with the government. Please let us not loose faith in our representatives that we elect. Do what's right.

Lorrie Shepard, Redacted Lorrie called on behalf of her mother Lana Shepard who owns property in the project area. She was looking for a map that would show how close the proposed route would be. I directed her to the interactive map on the website. She also asked why the State was paying for the project instead of the mining companies. I explained it was because the State decided to put money into finding out if the road could acquire the necessary permits for construction as the mining companies didn't want to invest too much until they knew the road was possible. She also asked about mining royalties. I responded that I don't know what royalties the State would get.

The best way to serve the public, from a financial viewpoint alone and after considering the track record of the proponents, I'd say is to sell AIDEA. That doesn't even account for the weak analyses I saw.

To: "leg.com@matsugov.us" <leg.com@matsugov.us>, "comments.yehlealaska@gmail.com" <comments.yehlealaska@gmail.com>

To Whom it May Concern,

On behalf of Alaska Skyways Inc. dba Regal Air, an Alaskan business for 40 years, we would like to submit comments to oppose this road.

Tourism is the 2nd largest private sector employer accounting for 1 in 8 Alaska jobs and $2.42 Billion in direct visitor spending. In 2016 out of state visitors spent $98 million in the Mat-Su. The development of this road and mine will destroy many long standing lodges and fishing operations that attract those visitors wanting a remote Alaskan experience. It is an important part of Alaska tourism, people come here because it's the last frontier, we don't want to turn Alaska into the lower 48.

This road is being built on behalf of the Wiskey Bravo mine and should not be at the expense of tax payers.

- Mining is almost 90% of the economic value of this road so what if the mine cannot be developed? An open pit mine several thousands of feet in the ground near the headwaters of the Skwentna river running into the Big Su & Cook Inlet could have major Clean Water Act issues or other regulations that have come into effect since Pebble Mine, the price of gold could drop again or the mining companies could decide not to develop for whatever reason? Alaska and the Mat-Su will be on the hook. The gold deposits have not been verified and are a very low grade at .4 grams as compared to Donlin's mine of 2.2 grams. It is unclear and unproven if there is even enough gold to develop. The exploration company pushing this has never brought a project to development as they are an exploration company not a mining company, so who is the mining company that will develop this project? It's premature to build a road without an actual mining company to develop.

There needs to be an opportunity for the public to vote on this and be educated about it. Not simply "leave your comments" on an obscure website that no one has ever heard of and then push a project through. Give the public the chance to weigh in on this via a vote or referendum. Most importantly, don't make Alaskan citizens pay for a road for a n exploration company that is not only not Alaskan, but isn't even U.S. based.

Regards,

Good Evening,

My Name is Christopher DeHart, and I am writing in regards to the proposed West Susitna Road access. My Wife, Angela and I Own Property on Derf Lake. We have invested to Date over $100,000.00 building a very nice Cabin with out buildings on a secluded Lake. This proposed road would travel approx. 200-300 Yards behind our property, and having it there would kill any seclusion that we may have. In our opinion it would completely Destroy everything about this property that we hold dear. We chose to buy and build in this location due to distance that you have to travel to get there. It is on the outer reaches of what can be feasibly reached via boat and snow machine. This road would usher in people, truck traffic and may other items that we do not want in our back yard.

It is hard to understand how we can invest all of this time and effort into something that we hold dear just to have the State come in a take away the seclusion that we hold on too. I for one am very gained this as I see that there is no up side to it but only an expense to the state. Nothing good will come of this road for the people that own property out there.

Christopher DeHart

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings

Ouch, how can I begin? First and foremost, the western Susitna valley is primarily roadless. The Susitna Borough is about the size of Massachusetts and the western part is the only part roadless. This section of the borough is the boroughs and Anchorage's playground. Millions of dollars are spent each year traveling to this remote area for recreational use and for work ( many lodges offering fishing and hunting expeditions). The tax basis for the borough is tremendous as a thousand or more properties that are taxed expect nothing for their tax monies as they get nothing in return. Their tax money goes to the road service areas. What a deal for the borough, taxation without representation, I guess we heard that before! ( 250 years ago).

I heard that an ore truck will come down this road every 10 minutes in the summer. Dust galore and the private section of the road will experience the same traffic. Would you like to live next to such a road? Are you letting this happen to Alaskans over an Australian company? If 100 miles of this road is only for one mine, then let them build and maintain it!!! The mine in Kotzebue is nothing like this Australian mine. First and utmost, if the Kotzebue population was going to be connected to the Anchorage population and the road system outside, they would never have wanted that project.

Please take the advice of the people that pay your wage, Alaskans, and stand firm against another AIDIA failed project. They spend money like a drunken sailor, but wait, even a drunk sailor quits spending when he has no money....not true with the government. Please let us not loose faith in our representatives that we elect. Do what's right.

Hi Margaret - The extent of public access along the proposed West Su corridor is being evaluated by MSB and AIDEA. As highlighted in the December 21st MSB Assembly meeting and as directed by the MSB Assembly, the MSB is seeking input from all stakeholders over the next few months. To assist MSB & AIDEA in understanding the interfaces between heavy industrial and public use, AIDEA has engaged with a specialty engineering firm with experience successfully permitting road projects with shared public and heavy industrial use.

Bill Lance, [Redacted] Property on the Yentna. Shouldn't be tying up the land for recreational purposes. He would prefer in-person public meetings.

Mary Mulchay, [Redacted]. Mary called with a series of questions and comments. The route goes behind her property at the base of Mt. Susitna. She asked if the meetings will be online only. Yes, because the project affects a large area. Will the mine be run by an Alaska-based company? No. Why spend that much money on a road? This part of the process is to determine if the road is feasible. Who would pay for construction and maintenance is yet to be determined. She is concerned about theft, heavy traffic, and impacts to fish and moose populations. She asked how the project would benefit Alaskans. I explained some of the other comments we've heard from people supporting the project.

Ray Marcum, [Redacted] Working on a house for the last 20 years. The road goes right up to the property on Derf Lake. Concerned about vandalism. Why not use the gas line route to Beluga? Moose populations are hard hit by bear populations. Doesn't support the road. Should not be owned and operated by a state owned company.

Robert Carpenter, [Redacted] He has a cabin on the Yentna near Skwentna. He is concerned about theft and is opposed to the road.

Jeff Donlan, [Redacted]. Jeff has a recreational property at W Susitna Parkway. He has nothing against the road. He asked if it would be public. I responded that AIDEA is working on finding out the feasibility of all aspects of the project, including who would be able to use the road.

Daniel Marcum, [Redacted]. He owns property on Derf Lake at the base of Mt. Susitna. It would destroy the whole area. The purpose of the location is to be remote. Route the road further north if it has to be built.

Joyce Lee, [Redacted]. Joyce called from her home in Mississippi. She would like to sell her property in the Willow area. I explained the project is not looking to buy property in this phase and it is likely outside of the project area.

Bill Lance, [Redacted]. Bill is all for the road, but he would like to see the materials in the presentation before making a detailed comment. This may be the second time he called, but from a different phone number.

Comments during West Su Virtual Meeting

From Eric Booton, Trout Unlimited:

Hello,

My name is Eric Booton, I am the Sportsmen Coordinator for Trout Unlimited's Alaska Program. Thank you for this opportunity provide comment and ask questions about the West Susitna Access Road.

Trout Unlimited has strong local roots in Alaska and the Mat-Su and we have heard loud and clear from our membership and local sportfishing businesses that they are concerned about the staggering impacts this project will have to fish habitat and a healthy watershed, with little benefit to Alaskans.

I am very appreciative that the MatSu Borough created this opportunity for public engagement. AIDEA was required to conduct public engagement during phase 2 of the project and did a disappointing job in doing so. However, a 6 week comment period and two virtual meetings is just a start and not enough. I encourage the borough to continue to facilitate a robust and public engagement process where others have not.

With so much missing information, it's impossible to have an informed conversation. Here are some suggestions to help inform the conversation as AIDEA and the borough move forward – please respond if you have any insight:

- I echo the need for an independent cost benefit analysis of the road and encourage the borough to request one
- Construction of the road will impact existing businesses - please conduct an economic loss study to understand the impact this project will have on existing businesses and operators in the region
- The road will bisect wild game habitat, but nothing has been shared on impacts to wild game – will this be thoroughly studied?
- Economic feasibility and environmental impact studies of projects the road will support is critical to informing the cost/benefit analysis of this road – is this being studied? Can it be added to the Borough Project website?
- At the December Assembly meeting, AIDEA stated the road would be private past the Susitna River - While you may not be required to determine whether or not the road will be public prior to permitting is there anything stopping you from making that decision prior to NEPA? Can you commit to making that decision prior to NEPA for the sake of the public?
- Lastly, AIDEA needs to slow down – it is alarming that AIDEA intends to apply for a NEPA permit this spring with so many questions and so few answers and public engagement only honestly beginning.

Thank you for your time.

I would like to file my opposition to the West Susitna Access Road. There is many reasons that this project should not go forward. This area is a wilderness area that is used as recreation by thousands of people. It would destroy a way of life for people that have carved out a home and a place to live. If the people that have bought their land from the state and built cabins would have wanted a road close to their cabin, then they would have bought on the road system me included. Also, the people that have their entire lifes saving invested in the different business. This road would render their business worthless. It will destroy more lives than what the state thinks that they will gain. I could go on all day and night, but I have stated my total opposition to this project in any form. Wayne Bowman

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings

Another terrible idea to add to the list of failed projects that the tax payers of this Burrough have been forced to pay for. In addition by using public money to fund a private road we will forced to pay for years of litigation that will eventually lead to the road being open to public use and all of the problems that will bring. ## West Susitna Comments

Lee McKnight Redacted
To: comments.yehlealaska@gmail.com

Wed, Feb 23, 2022 at 3:13 PM

My name is Lee McKnight, I am a resident of the Mat-Su Borough where I own and pay taxes on properties in Wasilla and Alexander Creek in the lower Susitna River Basin. I also own Northern Plumbing & Heating, a mechanical contracting business. We do a majority of our work with home builders, general contractors and land developers. That being said I will lay out my reasons for my complete opposition to the West Susitna Access Road project. I am requesting that funding be suspended for the West Susitna Access Road in current and future budgets.

The idea that this 100 mile industrial road will create access is the tip of the spear for those in favor of this project. This is a terrible lead point given the fact that the access already exists. The residents and users of this area access it year round via boat, snowmobile, airplane, atv you name it. A boat to run that river can be had for substantially cheaper than the price of a new vehicle today. Access is there for users who want to be there, it is also there for industry. Many conduct business on that watershed myself included and have never needed the aid of a road.

Recreation is being sold as another driver for the project. However, anyone who is remotely familiar with the area is well aware that the hunting and fishing resources have been on the decline for some years now. Any user who thinks they will be walking into prime hunting and fishing areas will be gravely disappointed and the added pressure will only deplete these resources further. There has been over 1.5 million dollars spent to bring the fish runs back to what they once were especially at Alexander creek, what would building a road, with bridges and water crossings into that area say about the continued effort of salmon restoration in the area? Unavoidably, creating effortless access would increase poaching not only for fish, but wildlife also.

I have heard claims of the road being an avenue for land sales that the state would profit from. DNR already has land auctions annually in the area, they also have "over the counter" land sales throughout the basin. Land is already being sold, some of the land that was sold off in the last year is very close to this proposed road route..

As I sat through the Mat-Su borough assembly meeting on Dec. 21st, 2021 waiting to testify against the borough's endorsement of this project, I listened to hours of testimony on the new Jonesville management plan. During that discussion they mentioned the years of work and extensive financial investment that went into improving the Jim Creek recreational area. These remote road areas have been a staple of illegal activity for years. There has been endless vandalism, illegal dumping, illegal shooting, drug and illegal use of alcohol, poaching and recklessness in these areas. They're now attempting to clean these areas up, yet want to push another remote road out to a secluded area, where do you think all of that type of activity will move to? It will waltz right into the Susitna River Basin and wreak havoc on the land and people who live, work and recreate in the area currently. The state is already short staffed and cannot afford to police, patrol or maintain another 100 miles of road. The maintenance on our current road system is sub par as is.

Expansion is another topic trying to be used to sell this road to the people. Expansion is already very easily and more feasibly possible. If you drive north on the Parks Highway once you get passed Willow the land is very available in the same capacity as the Basin and even further past Trapper Creek you'll find hardly any development until Cantwell. This area already has a major highway through it and would be substantially less expensive to develop.

This mining district they're wanting a road to already puts in a winter ice road from willow all the way to Whiskey Bravo. They're able to move any equipment or materials they desire via snowcat. There are plenty of businesses operating in the area without the road so I am really not sure why we would need to make an exception for this foreign mining company.

The Beluga natural gas fields and power plant have been in operation since at least the 1970s with no road tying them into the east side of cook inlet. I am baffled at why these mining companies are so inept and cannot figure a way to operate in a similar capacity.

Listening to testimony at the borough assembly, discussing this on public forums and through conversations with residents and users of the area and the Mat-Su borough it is abundantly clear that the people do not want this road. Once something like this is laid through that area it and its effects will be irreversible to an already fragile wilderness that Alaska is known for and the tourism industry thrives on. I am confused by the assembly's actions on pushing the agenda through after listening to the testimony through two lengthy meetings which included 59 testaments against the road and only 9 in favor. The 9 in favor were predominantly industry workers without ties to the area.

For these reasons I am absolutely against building a road for a mining companies not even based out of this country. It is big money who couldn't care less for our state or the people who live here coming in to line their pockets. I would be against this project regardless of there being a mine there or not. The reasons AIDEA are listing for building this road, once researched are not compelling whatsoever and are truly drawbacks. As stated earlier I make a living off of development and industry but there are plenty of other ways to do it that don't negatively effect so many and so much of Alaska's wilderness. I am not willing to pay this price for the benefit of foreign mining companies. The mine, if it is ever even in operation, does not need a road, the people will not benefit from it the way they're trying to make the people believe they will and the land will only suffer. I question how the state can consider spending this kind of money on a project with so many negatives, especially when the residents of Alaska are not receiving their full PFD payout. These are my reasons for requesting that funding be suspended for the West Susitna Access Road in current and future budgets.

Thank you.

My family and I are very opposed to this proposed road. We have a cabin in the area and are worried about more people having access to our area. We built the cabin because we loved the wilderness feel of the place. We are also greatly concerned about the environmental impacts of build the road across all these sensitive areas, mostly the wetlands and rivers. Coal is a dying fuel and isn't likely to be a good financial investment. I'm very skeptical that there's enough or will be enough funding for the road. We think you're vastly underestimating the actual cost of constructing the road.

A very concerned citizens!!

Please don't be short sighted!

We aren't anti-development, but wrong road for the wrong reason and a bad investment!

Please don't do this!!

No decision has been made to build a road. AIDEA and the Borough are in the research phase. Anyone saying this project needs to slow down, doesn't understand that there is currently NO project. A topic is being researched. Taking all of our comments tonight is part of the research process.

Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably roads, is a challenge for future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain is important to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step.

While active mining exploration is taking place in the area, it is important to note that it is just that – exploration. For an actual mine to be developed – or even a road project, it would involve an extensive regulatory process involving multiple local, state, and federal agencies with dozens of science-based environmental permits, many of which have a public involvement process. The topic being discussed tonight is not a mining or road construction decision. It is to discuss the continued evaluation of the access route to pursue access for public opportunities.

The MatSu Borough is the fastest-growing area of the state. It is easy to see why; there is something for everyone. The acreage is massive, and includes growing population centers, economic opportunities, and remote locations to enjoy Alaska's recreational bounty. With planning and sensible land management that considers multiple user groups, the Borough and State of Alaska can expand into the West Susitna region to accommodate everyone – not just those fortunate enough to already own property in the area.

I am opposed to the West Susitna Access road because of the costs involved. The state and local governments have a bad habit of funding projects that literally go nowhere. When I hear that 'the funding source is yet to be determined', I'd pack up and head out the door. This is another 'build it and they will come' fiasco. If I wanted a house built and the contractor gave me an estimate of between $300,000 and $400,000 I'd tell him to go pound sand. I don't believe the estimated cost of this project will be less than $400 million because I'm familiar with this country and the obstacles it presents to building anything. And what are the costs going to be to maintain it year round? When private industry can pay for this massive project then I'd reconsider my comments. In the meantime shelve this monster. This proposed road would travel approx. 200-300 Yards behind our property, and having it there would kill any seclusion that we may have. In our opinion it would completely Destroy everything about this property that we hold dear. We chose to buy and build in this location due to distance that you have to travel to get there. It is on the outer reaches of what can be feasibly reached via boat and snow machine. This road would usher in people, truck traffic and may other items that we do not want in our back yard.

It is hard to understand how we can invest all of this time and effort into something that we hold dear just to have the State come in a take away the seclusion that we hold on too. I for one am very gained this as I see that there is no up side to it but only an expense to the state. Nothing good will come of this road for the people that own property out there.

To the permitting agency

Sirs:

Succinctly and sincerely:

This is another rush job by the Dunleavy administration, for a project that scars the landscape, introduces suburbanites into areas they cannot understand or handle, and is mainly to benefit industries that cannot sustain themselves or clean up after the lode is gone.

I thought Dunleavy was trying to decrease the budget. All this administration in doing is passing on the costs and consequences to the next administration that will finally put an end to the lunacy in December of this year.

If you need more specifics:

- . Timber, agriculture, coal, and hard rock mining have been touted as justifications for this road. There has yet to be a compelling description as to how these various resources would help pay for the road or benefit Alaskans.
- . The road and cost estimates as presented by AIDEA are for a private industrial road. The public has been misled.
- . The Susitna bridge will not withstand the first five winters and breakups. I mined on the Chulitna River far smaller and farther upstream and we had to repair the bridge every summer.
- . Two open houses with no agenda and minimal information on how to participate is not adequate outreach.
- . Studies from Susitna–Watana Hydro Project and Donlin Natural Gas Pipeline studies are not a good fit for the challenges such a road presents
- . The project has been fast-tracked and the timeline for permitting is much too rapid.
- . AIDEA has a long history of picking losing projects. That alone would encourage me to bet, this will be one more.

My name is Robert Vernon. I live in Talkeetna and pay tax on hundreds of acres up the northern end of the Susitna Valley.

Trips include floats on Lake Creek, Ski camping trips to the Tordrillo Mountains, cabin visits to various lakes west of Mount Susitna, and Civil Engineering work at Judd Lake. I also have future plans to float and fish the Skwentna River, Happy River, and Talachulitna River. I have desires to hunt this area as well.

Putting an industrial road through the heart of this area would be a dagger through close wild fishing, hunting, and recreational areas for the population centers of Alaska as well as tourists. Alaskas greatest assets are our wild places and our kids deserve the opportunity to enjoy these areas as they are today.

I am urging you to not continue with exploring the West Susitna Access Road project. I think that this project is bad for Alaskans, and should not be continued.

Thanks you for considering my comment.

Hi Brad,

I was hoping that yesterday's meeting of the West Susitna Access Road Project would be on You Tube. I could not locate it under AIDEA, Mat-Su Borough or the WSARP. Will the meeting be posted on You Tube at a later date and if so what is the You Tube link?

We own property in the area and have a serious interest in following this project.

Respectfully,

Hello,

My name is Eric Booton, I am the Sportsmen Coordinator for Trout Unlimited's Alaska Program. Thank you for this opportunity provide comment and ask questions about the West Susitna Access Road. Trout Unlimited has strong local roots in Alaska and the Mat-Su and we have heard loud and clear from our membership and local sportfishing businesses that they are concerned about the staggering impacts this project will have to fish habitat and a healthy watershed, with little benefit to Alaskans.

I am very appreciative that the MatSu Borough created this opportunity for public engagement. AIDEA was required to conduct public engagement during phase 2 of the project and did a disappointing job in doing so. However, a 6 week comment period and two virtual meetings is just a start and not enough. I encourage the borough to continue to facilitate a robust and public engagement process where others have not.

With so much missing information, it's impossible to have an informed conversation. Here are some suggestions to help inform the conversation as AIDEA and the borough move forward – please respond if you have any insight:

- I echo the need for an independent cost benefit analysis of the road and encourage the borough to request one
- Construction of the road will impact existing businesses - please conduct an economic loss study to understand the impact this project will have on existing businesses and operators in the region
- The road will bisect wild game habitat, but nothing has been shared on impacts to wild game – will this be thoroughly studied?
- Economic feasibility and environmental impact studies of projects the road will support is critical to informing the cost/benefit analysis of this road – is this being studied? Can it be added to the Borough Project website?
- At the December Assembly meeting, AIDEA stated the road would be private past the Susitna River - While you may not be required to determine whether or not the road will be public prior to

I would like to file my opposition to the West Susitna Access Road. There is many reasons that this project should not go forward. This area is a wilderness area that is used as recreation by thousands of people. It would destroy a way of life for people that have carved out a home and a place to live. If the people that have bought their land from the state and built cabins would have wanted a road close to their cabin, then they would have bought on the road system me included. Also, the people that have their entire lifes saving invested in the different business. This road would render their business worthless. It will destroy more lives than what the state thinks that they will gain. I could go on all day and night, but I have stated my total opposition to this project in any form. Wayne Bowman

My name is Lee McKnight, I am a resident of the Mat-Su Borough where I own and pay taxes on properties in Wasilla and Alexander Creek in the lower Susitna River Basin. I also own Northern Plumbing & Heating, a mechanical contracting business. We do a majority of our work with home builders, general contractors and land developers. That being said I will lay out my reasons for my complete opposition to the West Susitna Access Road project. I am requesting that funding be suspended for the West Susitna Access Road in current and future budgets.

The idea that this 100 mile industrial road will create access is the tip of the spear for those in favor of this project. This is a terrible lead point given the fact that the access already exists. The residents and users of this area access it year round via boat, snowmobile, airplane, atv you name it. A boat to run that river can be had for substantially cheaper than the price of a new vehicle today. Access is there for users who want to be there, it is also there for industry. Many conduct business on that watershed myself included and have never needed the aid of a road.

Recreation is being sold as another driver for the project. However, anyone who is remotely familiar with the area is well aware that the hunting and fishing resources have been on the decline for some years now. Any user who thinks they will be walking into prime hunting and fishing areas will be gravely disappointed and the added pressure will only deplete these resources further. There has been over 1.5 million dollars spent to bring the fish runs back to what they once were especially at Alexander creek, what would building a road, with bridges and water crossings into that area say about the continued effort of salmon restoration in the area? Unavoidably, creating effortless access would increase poaching not only for fish, but wildlife also.

I have heard claims of the road being an avenue for land sales that the state would profit from. DNR already has land auctions annually in the area, they also have "over the counter" land sales throughout the basin. Land is already being sold, some of the land that was sold off in the last year is very close to this proposed road route..

As I sat through the Mat-Su borough assembly meeting on Dec. 21st, 2021 waiting to testify against the borough's endorsement of this project, I listened to hours of testimony on the new Jonesville management plan. During that discussion they mentioned the years of work and extensive financial investment that went into improving the Jim Creek recreational area. These remote road areas have been a staple of illegal activity for years. There has been endless vandalism, illegal dumping, illegal shooting, drug and illegal use of alcohol, poaching and recklessness in these areas. They're now attempting to clean these areas up, yet want to push another remote road out to a secluded area, where do you think all of that type of activity will move to? It will waltz right into the Susitna River Basin and wreak havoc on the land and people who live, work and recreate in the area currently. The state is already short staffed and cannot afford to police, patrol or maintain another 100 miles of road. The maintenance on our current road system is sub par as is.

Expansion is another topic trying to be used to sell this road to the people. Expansion is already very easily and more feasibly possible. If you drive north on the Parks Highway once you get passed Willow the land is very available in the same capacity as the Basin and even further past Trapper Creek you'll find hardly any development until Cantwell. This area already has a major highway through it and would be substantially less expensive to develop.

This mining district they're wanting a road to already puts in a winter ice road from willow all the way to Whiskey Bravo. They're able to move any equipment or materials they desire via snowcat. There are plenty of businesses operating in the area

Sirs:

Succinctly and sincerely:

This is another rush job by the Dunleavy administration, for a project that scars the landscape, introduces suburbanites into areas they cannot understand or handle, and is mainly to benefit industries that cannot sustain themselves or clean up after the lode is gone.

I thought Dunleavy was trying to decrease the budget. All this administration in doing is passing on the costs and consequences to the next administration that will finally put an end to the lunacy in December of this year.

If you need more specifics:

- . Timber, agriculture, coal, and hard rock mining have been touted as justifications for this road. There has yet to be a compelling description as to how these various resources would help pay for the road or benefit Alaskans.
- . The road and cost estimates as presented by AIDEA are for a private industrial road. The public has been misled.
- . The Susitna bridge will not withstand the first five winters and breakups. I mined on the Chulitna River far smaller and farther upstream and we had to repair the bridge every summer.
- . Two open houses with no agenda and minimal information on how to participate is not adequate outreach.
- . Studies from Susitna–Watana Hydro Project and Donlin Natural Gas Pipeline studies are not a good fit for the challenges such a road presents
- . The project has been fast-tracked and the timeline for permitting is much too rapid.
- . AIDEA has a long history of picking losing projects. That alone would encourage me to bet, this will be one more.

My name is Robert Vernon. I live in Talkeetna and pay tax on hundreds of acres up the northern end of the Susitna Valley.

To whom it may concern. My name is Evan Druce a resident of Wasilla and Alexander creek. Opposition against the road project has been pretty prevalent among the community not only in city limits but mostly permanent and part time residents that live west of the big susitna river. I share many of the same concerns these folks do. It is of my opinion the west susitna access road will be detrimental to the area and is not a need as much as it is a want of convenience to the mining companies. My family and I rely on the remoteness west of the susitna river for hunting and fishing opportunities. Between the land that I own and land leased from the state of alaska our family operates a remote cabin rental / recreational business. For obvious reasons if there were to be road access to those locations it would simply defeat the purpose of the business re shaping the experience and model our clients rely on. Many other lodges and air taxi services stand to loose business as well from hunting and fishing clients, there's with good reason no one books a hunting trip on the outskirts of wasilla city limits. The state of Alaska has put an immense amount of work trying to restore the fish population specifically in Alexander creek which this road system I believe will undo. There's to many regions in the state suffering from over pressure and reshaping of water streams for roads as is. Why do the mining companies not need a road? The oil and gas industry has proven for well over 40 years now both in the Cook inlet and North Slope major resource development can be achieved by temporary winter roads, barges, and aircraft services. This mine is no exception as they are currently using a winter road and could have access to the road system west of the Cook Inlet where barge services are available. The state of Alaska, AIDEA in particular has a long track record of gross waste with tax payer dollars. Follow the opinions of the public and move on to a more well minded project.

To whom it concerns,

I'm writing this on behalf of myself an Alaska resident. I oppose the West Susitna road project. This looks like a road to nowhere without any direct benefit. It does not link a major population center to the road system or is there any clear project in mind. It looks like it just going to be a huge eyesore cutting through untouched wilderness. I love Alaska because it is mostly untouched wilderness and I think many Alaskans want to preserve our wilderness for future generations and reduce urban sprawl.

Thank you for your time.

It would be very helpful to have a map showing the proposed access and all the ownership around the proposed road: such as all MSB-owned lands, all state lands, all federal lands, and what lands are in private ownership- in colored blocks on the map.

This would show where

- *possible commercial development could occur on fed/state/msb lands
- *where MSB and State could subdivide lands for sale into private ownership
- *where private ownership might welcome or discourage having a road to give access to their property

You do show lands that it appears have permits or could have permits for developing natural resources but I didn't pick up on the ownership of those areas.

I have been a resident of Alaska since Sept 9, 1951, am now 89 years old. Have been involved in many economic and cultural events during that time. Have my heart and soul in what is best for our state.

We strongly support the advent and construction of the proposed West Susitna Access Road, it is at least 50 years over due. Every state in the US has been developed in conjunction with access provided initially by road and then rail access. The United States would not exist without those means of transportation access.

Try to name a town or village in the South 48 that does not have road access. They all have 'a road home'. 40% of the towns in Alaska have no road access, reachable only by air or sea. Help stop this inequity from continuing, show fortitude and wisdom by reaching out for the future, Start the Susitna Road asap. Let us know how we can help in any way-Bob Penney [Redacted]

To Whom it May Concern,

On behalf of Alaska Skyways Inc. dba Regal Air, an Alaskan business for 40 years, we would like to submit comments to oppose this road.

Tourism is the 2nd largest private sector employer accounting for 1 in 8 Alaska jobs and $2.42 Billion in direct visitor spending. In 2016 out of state visitors spent $98 million in the Mat-Su. The development of this road and mine will destroy many long standing lodges and fishing operations that attract those visitors wanting a remote Alaskan experience. It is an important part of Alaska tourism, people come here because it's the last frontier, we don't want to turn Alaska into the lower 48.

This road is being built on behalf of the Wiskey Bravo mine and should not be at the expense of tax payers.

- Mining is almost 90% of the economic value of this road so what if the mine cannot be developed? An open pit mine several thousands of feet in the ground near the headwaters of the Skwentna river running into the Big Su & Cook Inlet could have major Clean Water Act issues or other regulations that have come into effect since Pebble Mine, the price of gold could drop again or the mining companies could decide not to develop for whatever reason? Alaska and the Mat-Su will be on the hook. The gold deposits have not been verified and are a very low grade at .4 grams as compared to Donlin's mine of 2.2 grams. It is unclear and unproven if there is even enough gold to develop. The exploration company pushing this has never brought a project to development as they are an exploration company not a mining company, so who is the mining company that will develop this project? It's premature to build a road without an actual mining company to develop.

There needs to be an opportunity for the public to vote on this and be educated about it. Not simply "leave your comments" on an obscure website that no one has ever heard of and then push a project through. Give the public the chance to weigh in on this via a vote or referendum. Most importantly, don't make Alaskan citizens pay for a road for a n exploration company that is not only not Alaskan, but isn't even U.S. based.

As a remote land owner that will be directly affected by the proposed road, I am 100% OPPOSED to this project. The idea of spending state money and Matsu borough tax money to build a road that primarily benefits foreign mining companies is not a wise use of funds. Further, spending public funds to build what will be functionally a private mining road really makes me mad. I and my property will suffer all the negative impacts of this road with no potential benefit. I suffer a loss of value of my property and loss of quality of life, just so a foreign mining company can profit.

I believe your cost estimates are overly optimistic and the ultimate build cost and maintenance will be unsustainable. The cost of the road will likely be in excess of 400 million dollars, with the ultimate goal of generating about 1500 jobs. The net investment then is over 1/4 million dollars for each job created. Your financial analyses paint a rosy picture of potential future tax incomes to the borough, but failed to include the annual costs for maintenance of this 100 miles of remote road. Further, your analysis fails to consider the LOSS OF JOBS in the tourism, fishing, guiding, flying industries that will result from the destruction of the remote character of this region. The jobs lost in this case are completely sustainable and do not deplete the resource. So in reality, your net gain in jobs will be way less than 1000 resulting in a much higher cost per job created. All in support of non-sustainable jobs with a relatively short time horizon. I think this represents a very poor return on the investment.

Lets spend our money on projects that have more direct, long-term sustainable, benefits for ALASKANS.

Sincerely, Paul L. Flint, Landowner Matsu Borough

I do not support the proposed access road. This will greatly impact the residents and cabin owners who have exhausted resources to access this area that is so close to the largest population in Alaska. A road will put strain on hunting and fishing in the area which will lead to a decline in resources and ultimately more regulations or closures. Historically, all road accessible fishing and hunting has declined and caused further regulations limiting the opportunity.

Because the road would allow vehicle and trailer access, ATV's could gain access to otherwise inaccessible areas. With the advancement of ATVs, the landscape would become inendated with trails, bogs, and camp sites changing the current landscape forever. Recreational camps would drastically increase the chance of wildfire. Human conflict will be inevitable, trespassing and theft will be an immediate concern. Many cabins are left unattended for months at a time creating opportunity for thieves.

This road only benefits the mining industry. Aircraft and snowcats have been a substantial means of access for decades. Destroying a recreational area for many is not worth the benefit to companies that has the capacity to use alternative means of transportation.

To whom it may concern,

I'm writing to express my opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

This proposal is bad on multiple levels and should not go forward. The road will impact business owners, private land owners and wildlife all in a negative way. It will further reduce the wilderness area experience by increasing public access.

While the number of lodges impacted may be small the consequences to these lodges will be devastating. Private landowners, which are numerous on both sides of the proposed road will encounter increased trespassing and along with that an increase in vandalism and theft. This increase in public pressure will also negatively impact the wildlife along the corridor.

I don't see the proposed road as a benefit to Alaskans. I do see it as a benefit to outside companies with little interest in the long term impacts of the road and who only hope to benefit economically and then depart. AIDEA funds can be better spent elsewhere on projects that will benefit Alaskans and not foreign companies.

As an Alaskan and as a tax paying property owner I'm asking that this bad idea be rejected.

Regards,

James Witthaus

Dear Camden Yehle,

I am a property owner interested in road access to my property!

Legal: HIGH MTN LKS AK ASLS 80-154 BLOCK 34 LOTS 4 and 5.

Account: 2132B34L005 and 2132B34L004

Gregory Parks

Can you tell me how close or far the access project road will come to my property. It is in the High Mountain Lakes Addition. I bought the land many years ago from State of Alaska.

This is all very exciting and I think a good thing.

Thanks for your time and for any info you can send to me about this.

Greg Parks

Just got notice of this comment period a few days ago. My initial reactions are:
Did anyone consider a straight road from the Parks highway? Looks like it might save money.
Have you contacted local residents of the various communities along the way - Alexander Creek, Beluga, Tyonek.....?
You will be impacting countless Fish and Wildlife populations. Is it worth it?
How is this project any different from the MatSu Borough's ferry boondoggle, et. al.?
More info on funds should certainly be a priority as this projected budget is WAY under reality! The railroad extension in the Big Lake area impounded water that was destined for various lakes in the vicinity and some lakes have already noticed lower water levels. This should be mitigated upon construction of any other facilities.
Has there been the ethical discussion of what "resources" should and should not be removed from the environment?

Good Day,

Is there a more detailed map of the first twenty five miles of the proposed road? I am a property owner in that vicinity and would like to know how it impacts us.

West Susitna Access Road - Comment

I want to make clear my opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

I am employed by the state's resource industry, so I value the good jobs provided by mining, oil, and other resource industries in Alaska. I am also a life-long Alaskan for more than 40 years and greatly value the wilderness recreational opportunities offered in Alaska. Constructing the West Susitna Access Road would permanently impair the significant recreational opportunities that depend on roadless wilderness in the area of the proposed project. Those activities provide significant economic and cultural value that cannot be replaced. For almost 20 years, I have hunted in areas that will be negatively affected if this road is built (including the mountains of the Alaska Range near the Swenkna River). Those wilderness hunting opportunities will be forever lost if this road is built. That would result in a loss of valuable wildlife resources and hunting opportunities for future generations of Alaskans.

I strongly oppose construction of the West Susitna Access Road.

Thank you,
Scott Collins
Anchorage, Alaska

To whom it may concern. My name is Evan Druce a resident of Wasilla and Alexander creek. Opposition against the road project has been pretty prevalent among the community not only in city limits but mostly permanent and part time residents that live west of the big susitna river. I share many of the same concerns these folks do. It is of my opinion the west susitna access road will be detrimental to the area and is not a need as much is it is a want of convenience to the mining companies. My family and I rely on the remoteness west of the susitna river for hunting and fishing opportunities. Between the land that I own and land leased from the state of alaska our family operates a remote cabin rental / recreational business. For obvious reasons if there were to be road access to those locations it would simply defeat the purpose of the business re shaping the experience and model our clients rely on. Many other lodges and air taxi services stand to loose business as well from hunting and fishing clients, there's with good reason no one books a hunting trip on the outskirts of wasilla city limits. The state of Alaska has put an immense amount of work trying to restore the fish population specifically in Alexander creek which this road system I believe will undo. There's to many regions in the state suffering from over pressure and reshaping of water streams for roads as is. Why do the mining companies not need a road? The oil and gas industry has proven for well over 40 years now both in the Cook inlet and North Slope major resource development can be achieved by temporary winter roads, barges, and aircraft services. This mine is no exception as they are currently using a winter road and could have access to the road system west of the Cook Inlet where barge services are available. The state of Alaska, AIDEA in particular has a long track record of gross waste with tax payer dollars. Follow the opinions of the public and move on to a more well minded project.

Dear Camden Yehle,

I am a property owner interested in road access to my property!

Legal: HIGH MTN LKS AK ASLS 80-154 BLOCK 34 LOTs 4 and 5.

Gregory Parks

Can you tell me how close or far the access project road will come to my property. It is in the High Mountain Lakes Addition. I bought the land many years ago from State of Alaska.

This is all very exciting and I think a good thing.

Thanks for your time and for any info you can send to me about this.

I love Alaska because it is mostly untouched wilderness and I think many Alaskans want to preserve our wilderness for future generations and reduce urban sprawl.

We strongly support the advent and construction of the proposed West Susitna Access Road, it is at least 50 years over due. Every state in the US has been developed in conjunction with access provided initially by road and then rail access. The United States would not exist without those means of transportation access.

Try to name a town or village in the South 48 that does not have road access. They all have 'a road home'. 40% of the towns in Alaska have no road access, reachable only by air or sea. Help stop this inequity from continuing, show fortitude and wisdom by reaching out for the future, Start the Susitna Road asap. Let us know how we can help in any way-Bob Penney Redacted

Did anyone consider a straight road from the Parks highway? Looks like it might save money.
Have you contacted local residents of the various communities along the way - Alexander Creek, Beluga, Tyonek.....?
You will be impacting countless Fish and Wildlife populations. Is it worth it?
How is this project any different from the MatSu Borough's ferry boondoggle, et. al.?
More info on funds should certainly be a priority as this projected budget is WAY under reality! The railroad extension in the Big Lake area impounded water that was destined for various lakes in the vicinity and some lakes have already noticed lower water levels. This should be mitigated upon construction of any other facilities.
Has there been the ethical discussion of what "resources" should and should not be removed from the environment?

I want to make clear my opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

I am employed by the state's resource industry, so I value the good jobs provided by mining, oil, and other resource industries in Alaska. I am also a life-long Alaskan for more than 40 years and greatly value the wilderness recreational opportunities offered in Alaska. Constructing the West Susitna Access Road would permanently impair the significant recreational opportunities that depend on roadless wilderness in the area of the proposed project. Those activities provide significant economic and cultural value that cannot be replaced. For almost 20 years, I have hunted in areas that will be negatively affected if this road is built (including the mountains of the Alaska Range near the Swenkna River). Those wilderness hunting opportunities will be forever lost if this road is built. That would result in a loss of valuable wildlife resources and hunting opportunities for future generations of Alaskans.

Hi Bryce - You called to ask where the proposed road route is in relation to the Iditarod Trail. The interactive map on the Borough website shows the proposed road route. The Alaska Department of Natural Resource mining claims mapper shows the trails. You can turn layers on and off using the menu on the left side. I wish to submit my comments in support of this project. However, my support is based on the road being publicly accessible. Shaw Creek road, for example, is public for about the first mile and then private all the way to the Pogo mine. I do not wish to see the same for this road.

Foreign mining companies operate in Alaska and hire Alaskans to work for them, bringing money to the state. Every time I see similar in AK (eg Pebble) everyone gets up in arms about foreign ownership and money flowing out of state. My experience is the opposite. Pogo is Australian owned. Ft. Knox is Canadian owned. I know lots of people that work for those operations and are paid well. I see little to no evidence of this outflow that people fear.

The proposed road is listed to cross 156 waterways if I recall. Shaw Creek crosses far less and in my mind I do not see disruption to the waterways that people fear. If a company or entity were to truly operate with little regard to the surrounding environment, they would not be operating for long IMHO. Public sentiment and activism simply doesn't allow it to happen.

For those that fear more people operating in areas that are currently remote and isolated, I welcome it. AK is an amazing state with much to offer. Having this road in place gives access to parts of the state that I have only dreamed of seeing.

The key here is public access. If this road is to be private, then I'm not interested in supporting the project. But if it is to be public then I am all for it.

Thank you.

D

To whom it may concern:

In order to decide whether or not to support this project, I believe the public needs the answers to several questions. This email is a request for specific information that can be used during the scoping process.

Please include the following information for public scrutiny:

- What are the overall anticipated annual maintenance costs for this road?
- Who will be conducting the maintenance?
- How will the maintenance be paid for?
- What are the anticipated annual income/receipts the state will receive from mineral, oil and gas receipts?

It seems that non-DOT departments, such as Fish & Game, might require additional funds/resources if this road is built.

- What assistance will other State Agencies receive and what will the anticipated costs be to other State Agencies to manage this road and the surrounding area?

Alaska has a mixed record for resource development of this type. Frequently these types of projects have resulted in what Jay Hammond called "malignant growth"; meaning, we've gotten bigger but not better. Often the benefits of the project go to a few construction companies and extraction industries, while the residents/citizens will receive little in return and will only subsidize the true total costs for the public road and access to the area.

Additional costs for all the systems required to support the workforce are often neglected for both short and long term workers. Where will these workers live and what stresses will they put on local systems that will have to be supported by the public sector?

For me to support any project of this type I need to see a good faith effort to provide a clear, and complete as possible, accounting of the costs versus the benefits for the State at large over the long term.

Sincerely,

If a company or entity were to truly operate with little regard to the surrounding environment, they would not be operating for long IMHO. Public sentiment and activism simply doesn't allow it to happen.

For those that fear more people operating in areas that are currently remote and isolated, I welcome it. AK is an amazing state with much to offer. Having this road in place gives access to parts of the state that I have only dreamed of seeing.

The key here is public access. If this road is to be private, then I'm not interested in supporting the project. But if it is to be public then I am all for it.

Thank you.

Hi Blaine - We've recorded your comments. We do not have answers to these questions yet, but we have had several requests for a third party cost benefit analysis.

To whom it may concern:

In order to decide whether or not to support this project, I believe the public needs the answers to several questions. This email is a request for specific information that can be used during the scoping process.

Please include the following information for public scrutiny:

- What are the overall anticipated annual maintenance costs for this road?
- Who will be conducting the maintenance?
- How will the maintenance be paid for?
- What are the anticipated annual income/receipts the state will receive from mineral, oil and gas receipts?

It seems that non-DOT departments, such as Fish & Game, might require additional funds/resources if this road is built.

- What assistance will other State Agencies receive and what will the anticipated costs be to other State Agencies to manage this road and the surrounding area?

Alaska has a mixed record for resource development of this type. Frequently these types of projects have resulted in what Jay Hammond called "malignant growth"; meaning, we've gotten bigger but not better. Often the benefits of the project go to a few construction companies and extraction industries, while the residents/citizens will receive little in return and will only subsidize the true total costs for the public road and access to the area.

Additional costs for all the systems required to support the workforce are often neglected for both short and long term workers. Where will these workers live and what stresses will they put on local systems that will have to be supported by the public sector?

For me to support any project of this type I need to see a good faith effort to provide a clear, and complete as possible, accounting of the costs versus the benefits for the State at large over the long term.

Sincerely,

Judy Clevens, Redacted. She is happy to have public access, mining, and oil and gas developed in the West Susitna area. It is long overdue. She has property on Burma Road and in Willow.

Bryce, Redacted, Redacted. Bryce called to ask where the proposed route is compared to the Iditarod trail. I offered to send him the links to the website and to the Alaska Department of Resources website that shows the trail.

Here is our comments about your proposal:

I am opposed to this proposal. There has been millions of dollars spent on a Bridge from Pt. McKenzie to Anchorage with less number of water crossings and still has not gone anywhere. Thus these monies went into someone's pocket and no project has or will be done.

The Railroad from Houston to Pt. McKenzie is millions of dollars spent on that and is not finished and probably will never be finished. Again, more monies spent and no return of any sort for our State or our Tourism Industry.

It seems "someone" wants to gain and our State seems to loose each time. Budget....where is this coming from??

Look at the number of water "known" water crossings. What about our wetlands? Are they not protected and realistically the cost will be much greater with all the water crossings that are "unknown" until you get into the project. What about waterfowl, migration patterns, wildlife and habitats you are destroying?? With an estimate of 3-4 million dollars you could fix a lot of rural roads, highways and bridges which are "existing problems" in our State. This Proposal is way out in left field for our State. Use the money on something that will help our State not just someone's pocketbook. This Proposal has Major Rivers to cross which will put the whole project way over costs. Huge issue...It would end up like the others started and not Finished!

Lets be fair and logical on what is best for our State, if you want to better spend your money build a Natural Gas line from the North Slope to Fairbanks and then on down to Wasilla and Palmer. Put a Dam in at Hurricane Gulch since there is a lot of Thermal Energy out there we could tap into.

At the Palmer/Wasilla interchange you could put a road along RR tracks bypassing Wasilla connecting the road to Vine off of Knik Goose Bay and relieve some of the traffic pressure for those traveling and live beyond Wasilla, also it will help with our Truckers and Tourism buses. The amount of traffic in that City is becoming increasingly problematic.

This would be money very well spent putting a new road in at Palmer/Wasilla and not into someplace we don't need one.

Who would travel out on a dead end road and back? What will actually be gained by this road and not to mention frost heaves and maintenance. Who pays to maintain this road all year? 100 miles out there snow removal and the wind blows drifts and needs regular maintenance. Right there is more costs....

Thank you allowing our comments on this proposal.

Camden Yehle,

We have been property owners in the Yentna River area for 34 years and we are very opposed to the building of the West Susitna Access Road. When one buys property in this area, they are not just buying a physical piece of property, but a lifestyle, the core of which is wilderness, away from any road system. If a road was built, it would destroy this lifestyle for many, taking away the reason that they purchased their properties in the first place.

If a road was built, crime would increase, wildlife and fishing habitat would suffer. Fishing would change with the river crossings. Freighters, lodge owners, and wilderness guides would be put out of business. And how many jobs would you add, and what would the jobs be? And would they even be Alaskans? There would be no logging in the area, as most trees are already dead from beetle kill; there is not a sustainable forest in this area currently or in the foreseeable future.

Why are public funds being used to enrich a private company? Corporate greed? What is the connection between the owners of this company and employees of the State in a decision making position? You don't have the funds to build this road, and if you are serious about this, the funds should be identified before you even start the permitting process. This is a waste of public money that could be used in a much more beneficial manner. To "promise" to have a viable business in the future is not a good enough reason to build this road, when people's lives and businesses would be destroyed in its making. There are much better and more profitable ways of using this money for the public good; rethink it! The State has had many false starts on development projects; don't let this be one of them.

Hello,

My name is Eric Booton, I am the Sportsmen Coordinator for Trout Unlimited's Alaska Program. Thank you for this opportunity provide comment and ask questions about the West Susitna Access Road. Trout Unlimited has strong local roots in Alaska and the Mat-Su and we have heard loud and clear from our membership and local sportfishing businesses that they are concerned about the staggering impacts this project will have to fish habitat and a healthy watershed, with little benefit to Alaskans. I am very appreciative that the MatSu Borough created this opportunity for public engagement. AIDEA was required to conduct public engagement during phase 2 of the project and did a disappointing job in doing so. However, a 6 week comment period and two virtual meetings is just a start and not enough. I encourage the borough to continue to facilitate a robust and public engagement process where others have not.

With so much missing information, it's impossible to have an informed conversation. Here are some suggestions to help inform the conversation as AIDEA and the borough move forward – please respond if you have any insight:

- I echo the need for an independent cost benefit analysis of the road and encourage the borough to request one Several people requested one and it will be taken under consideration.
- Construction of the road will impact existing businesses - please conduct an economic loss study to understand the impact this project will have on existing businesses and operators in the region An evaluation of impacts to existing businesses and operators will be part of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) process.
- The road will bisect wild game habitat, but nothing has been shared on impacts to wild game – will this be thoroughly studied? An evaluation of impacts to game will also be part of the NEPA process.
- Economic feasibility and environmental impact studies of projects the road will support is critical to informing the cost/benefit analysis of this road – is this being studied? Can it be added to the Borough Project website? The Economic Impacts Report is available on the AIDEA website at <https://www.aidea.org/Portals/0/2021/WSAR%20Economic%20Impacts%20Report.pdf?ver=TyAQxO-> pxQr02ewC0ouXzQ%3d%3d. The NEPA process requires a cumulative effects analysis, which considers past, present, and reasonably foreseeable future projects/activities and their potential cumulative effects with AIDEA's proposed action.

- At the December Assembly meeting, AIDEA stated the road would be private past the Susitna River - While you may not be required to determine whether or not the road will be public prior to permitting is there anything stopping you from making that decision prior to NEPA? Can you commit to making that decision prior to NEPA for the sake of the public? We've heard many comments in support of public access, however we don't know when that decision will be made.
- Lastly, AIDEA needs to slow down – it is alarming that AIDEA intends to apply for a NEPA permit this spring with so many questions and so few answers and public engagement only honestly beginning. It is the US Army Corps of Engineers Clean Water Act permit that AIDEA plans to apply for this spring, not NEPA. The NEPA process would begin after that and take about two years, including public outreach and public reviews.

Thank you for your time.

Hi,

I'm against this project going forward. We do not need a private 100 miles long road in Alaska for private investors from Australia. Please keep money for Alaskan people.

Kelley Griffin. Redacted Kelley is a Wasilla resident who opposes the road until KGB is rebuilt and Borough roads are maintained properly. She owns a remote property 10 miles north of Skwentna and does not see more access as a good thing. She thinks the mining company should continue to use the existing snow road.

As an out-of-state landowner on Onestone Lake, I would see the proposed West Susitna Access Road project as a very positive development which would give me greater access to that property for recreational purposes.

I am opposed to this plan. I believe that the plan will adversely affect those who reside in the area, and those who own property. It's my belief it's a disrespect to those who have invested time and energy to have a certain way of life in that area. This plan would turn the area into a "Jim Creek" junk free for all. The company's should have to build and use an ice road if they want/require access. The hunting and fishing would be demolished with such a road. There is absolutely no reason this is needed!

Hello,

I vehemently oppose any plan for a publicly funded road that would not allow for public access, regardless of activity that the road is meant to enable. Public access to public lands is paramount and if any dollar of public funding is spent to support private industry, the public should have all the benefits of the road as well.

 West Susitna Access Road Comment 3-10-22.docx

My name is Michael W. Williams, I along with my wife Paula have been residents of the West Susitna Region (Trail Lake) for over 28 years. We have raised our children and created a number of businesses to include EagleSong Lodge and today EagleSong Peony Farm. We are one of the only commercial farms in the region.

Our farm is located within a mile or so of the proposed intersection of the West Susitna Access Road and the Donlin gas line. I believe this will have an undetermined impact on our life and business if either is developed. Because of this I am once again compelled to comment of the current state of affairs regarding the West Susitna Road Project.

We truly feel there are a number of questions that are not being asked. I see a large emotional public response to this project that I feel is less than objective. We have not decided if we are in favor of the project or not. Over our 28 years we have encountered numerous teams and projects with the goal of developing West Susitna resources. The road project itself has seen many starts and stops over the years. It is for this reason that we prefer to see the process proceed and flesh out what this project actually means. Otherwise, the project fades from the public eye to only reappear in the future to repeat the process in hopes it will at that time succeed. We are in favor of getting the science on this project and make an informed decision. We do not want our children to have to deal with this in the future.

Let's leave the issue of public/private alone for now and concentrate on what both of those options mean. The decision on things like that should not be made without studies to allow us to make an informed decision.

This project has significant potential to move the stalled Pt. MacKenzie rail spur and sputtering port forward. We should be able to agree that this would be primarily an industrial road. We deserve to hear from former and current partners in this project and others in industry that stand to benefit from the road project. We want to hear from Nova Mineral, Donlin Gold, Alaska Gas and any other mineral extraction company that is a beneficiary of the road. They need to step out of the shadows and be part of the process. And don't tell us Donlin is not part of the project. The Donlin gas line will share a corridor with the road from Little Mt. Susitna (Wolverine Creek) to the Alaska Range (Whiskey Bravo). At one point Nova Mineral stated the gas line might even service them. These companies are collaborating and until all the cards are on the table there will be no public trust. We also know that Nova must have this road to go operational and if the road is stopped it will have serious financial impact on their ability to raise funds.

If the road is not built that really means only about 7 miles of corridor (Susitna River to Wolverine Creek) will be eliminated west of the Susitna River. The Donlin gas line will likely continue regardless so the corridor will be mostly developed even if the road is killed. We believe Donlin benefits from a road regarding development and upkeep of their pipeline...so they are a player.

If this road is to be primarily an industrial road why are we not willing to discuss a rail spur as an alternative? Why does it have to be a gravel road? A rail eliminates concerns of dust, abandoned cars, trash and for the most part trespass issues. It also connects the region by rail from Fairbanks to Seward if the Pt. MacKenzie spur is completed...which should be an adjunct part of this project.

As farmers we have keyed in on the 62,000+ acres of land identified as suitable for agriculture. The opportunity to have this much farm land connected by rail to a tide water port is a very unique opportunity not heard of in Alaska, and indeed, most parts of the world. With mining, transportation corridors, methane development and pipeline projects being developed there will be a massive requirement for reclamation. Farming in the heart of all of this can provide the seed, plants and trees to support restoration.

Some people (ourselves included) would lose a level of remoteness which we cherish while others could gain access they would otherwise not have. Who gains and who loses? It will still be remote by most standards.

Tourism, of which we have and still are a part, will be impacted. Impacted yes, but we believe “changed” is a better word. Tourism will likely increase, but look much different than in the past. It needs to be studied to see if this is true.

To summarize:

- Do a thorough study of the project and then decide
- Bring all parties out of the shadows and into the light
- Consider alternatives like a rail spur
- Evaluate the impact on tourism
- Bring the Donlin Gas Line into the discussion
- Put agriculture in the resource mix
- Don't leave this for our children to deal with in the future
- Evaluate who gains and who loses in terms of remoteness
- Evaluate the impact on Port MacKenzie and the unfinished rail spur
- Pros and cons of a public versus private road vice a rail spur

AIDEA needs to provide real answers and not be afraid of damaging the project with facts. We need input from ALL parties that stand to gain or lose. Finally, we need to ratchet down the emotion and let the process lay the project bare, with all the good and bad to be evaluated by all.

Hello my name is grant kopplin and I live in Palmer Alaska. The thought of a new road to access the west side of the susitna and that portion of the Alaska range is very exciting. I am in support of the road, along with many friends and family members ONLY IF the entire road is public. We are avid outdoors people and believe that the road if it is again let for the average person to use and access the land is worth whatever change or risk the road could pose. If it is not public in its entirety, I will oppose the road along with the fore mentioned friends and family members. I really need the borough to drive home

That this road if developed needs to be public all the way through. Other wise it's not worth the risk to the landscape and changes it'll bring. Thank you and please look out for the average Alaskan in the borough and push for public access on the entire road if it's going to happen. If it's no public. We don't want it or need it

Hi Camden,

I'm Cassandra with Friends of State Parks, Mat-Su and I also work for the Greater Wasilla Chamber of Commerce. I made this flyer that we will be sending out in our enewsletter, displaying it in our luncheon slideshow, the dates are added to our website calendar and we're having Jesse Peterson from AIDEA come and be a keynote speaker at our April 5th luncheon to discuss it.

Thanks for forwarding the information along!

I'll share it on our Friends of State Parks social media as well.

Have a great rest of your day!

Attention: Camden Yehle, Public Involvement Lead, Proposed West Susitna Access Road (PWSAR)

Thank you for requesting comments on the Proposed West Susitna Access Road. As an area landowner, this project is exciting and necessary to open the West Susitna area. However, I would like to suggest that the PWSAR start in Knik instead of extending off the end of Ayrshire Avenue.

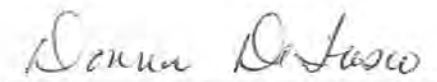

Moving the start point to Knik would add several miles to the east end of the project, but the advantages would be numerous.

- 1) It would revitalize the townsite of Knik. The Knik residents have long publicly spoke in favor of events and opportunities to bring commerce back to Knik.
- 2) Road easements were historically established in 1911-1912 by the Alaska Road Commission which built Route 20A (a portion of the historic Iditarod Trail) from Knik to Susitna Station. Route 20A was professionally located, engineered, and built to road/trail standards of the day. As a route built on federal land, the easements and location have already been secured.
- 3) Using Route 20A today would have the advantages of directly linking the communities of Knik, South Big Lake, and Fish Creek. Currently, people have to use various routes like Hollywood & Vine roads, Parks Highway & Knik Goose-Bay, or Knik Goose-Bay and Burma roads. A direct link would provide residents and travelers superior access and reduce travel miles. The previously engineered Route 20A is almost a direct straight line from Knik to Susitna Station. (See enclosed document aerial/LiDAR images)
- 4) The location of Route 20A easily connects Knik-Goose Bay Road (in Knik) to S. Burma Road, S. Puritan Parkway, and W. Susitna Parkway, the three major throughfares in the South Big Lake area linking the resident population concentrations. The connection with existing road infrastructure would allow multiple access points to the PWSAR which would provide greater public access as opposed to the single point at Ayrshire Ave.
- 5) Mileage from Wasilla, Big Lake, Palmer, and Anchorage population centers would be reduced with the Knik start point for PWSAR. Realistically, 95% of the PWSAR users will be providing services and commerce from these areas and any reduction in road/travel miles equates to convenience to users.

- 6) Mileage from the West Susitna area using the PWSAR to the Port Mackenzie District would be reduced in distance with the use of Route 20A/Burma Road option, due to the straighter road east of Susitna Station.
- 7) Population in the Matsu Borough is greatly increasing and access/evacuation routes are limited. Recalling the major forest fires in the Big Lake area, the PWSAR located on the Route 20A, would give an alternate transportation route in case of large-scale emergencies affecting this populated area.
- 8) PWSAR located on Route 20A would offer additional recreation opportunities like an additional access point for the Little Susitna River, road access to Fish creek, and multiuse area access for hikers, bikes, four-wheelers, and winter sports activities (cross-country skiing, snowmobiling, and dog mushing).

Enclosed is a document titled, "Location of Route 20A, Knik to Susitna Trail, a 30-mile Portion of the Iditarod Trail." This document was prepared for a project other than the PWSAR, but I think you may find it informative. The document contains historical information about the building of Route 20A, aerial and LiDAR screen captures of Route 20A and where you can find the documents and references used to locate and show Route 20A today. The State of Alaska has used contemporary information from the 1970s – 1980s in order to locate the Iditarod trail. However, the most relevant information is any documentation prior to 1920 and the actual scar on the ground as shown by the LiDAR photography performed in 2011. The last known U.S. Mail delivery using the Iditarod Trail was in 1919 and the last documented private usage of the trail was in 1920. Route 20A was abandoned in 1921 because Route 20H (Nancy Lake to Susitna Station) had been completed by the Alaska Road Commission and was a shorter route to Susitna Station with the connection to the Alaska Railroad in the Nancy Lake area. In the future, the 20H route could also be considered as a viable connector to the PWSAR.

Thank you in advanced for your consideration.

Location of Route 20A, Knik to Susitna Trail, a 30-mile Portion of the Iditarod Trail

Prepared by Donna Cowart DeFusco

November 2021

Location of Route 20A, Knik to Susitna Trail

The purpose of this document is to accurately locate Route 20A, the Knik to Susitna Trail (a 30-mile portion of the Iditarod Trail). Based on historic facts and the visible scar on the ground, evidence shows that the State of Alaska has mislocated Route 20A. On the cover page you can see the two routes that are in question. The State of Alaska is claiming the yellow route, but the evidence shows that the red route is the true Route 20A.

Why is it important to accurately locate historic trails? In this case, the State of Alaska is claiming RS2477 easements on private, Borough, State, and Federal properties. The State is coming back to private property owners 100 years later and making claims for easements in the name of RS2477 access, however the State is using RS2477 for recreational access, which was never the intent of RS2477 easements. As much as Alaskans value recreation, the needs of transportation are far more important than recreation, and private property owners should have protections from unreasonable and unnecessary public access to their properties.

In this document, the means used to locate Route 20A are actual known historic facts prior to 1925 and a scar shown on the ground using 2011 LiDAR and aerial imagery.

Alaska Road Commission (ARC)

The Alaska Road Commission was the Federal entity that was responsible for constructing Route 20A. Annually, reports documented the progress of the Commission's spending and work accomplishments on their many projects throughout the Territory of Alaska. The reports were published as "Report of the Board of Road Commissioners for Alaska" and dated by year for each annual document. The reports were published the following year by the Washington Government Printing Office.

1905

The Board of Road Commissioners for Alaska was created in 1905. The original law the Board operated under was enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America. Funds were collected from various license requirements in the district of Alaska and were deposited in the Treasury Department of the United States. The fund was called the "Alaska fund". The money was divided three ways, 25% to establish and maintain public schools, 5% to care and maintenance of insane persons, and the remainder of funds, 70%, to the construction and maintenance of wagon roads, bridges, and trails in the district of Alaska.

The law stated:

"...The Board shall have the power, and it shall be their duty, upon their own motion or upon petition, to locate, lay out, construct, and maintain wagon roads and pack trails from any point on the navigable waters of said district to any town, mining, or other industrial camp or settlement, between any such town, camps or settlements therein, if in their judgment such roads or trails are needed and will be of permanent value for the development of the district; but no such road or trail shall be constructed to any town, camp or settlement which is wholly transitory or of no substantial value or importance for mining, trade, agricultural, or manufacturing purposes. The said Board shall prepare maps, plans, and specifications of every road or trail they may locate and lay out..."

The project Fact Sheet indicated that Phase II of this project, now completed, was pre-engineering and cost estimating. Phase III is purposed for environmental permitting. From the information presented, I understand we are at phase III

The project description indicates the study as a whole is for a “multi-use, public access road”. However, now the public meeting for Mar 23 indicates now the project involves determining if the proposed road would be “public or strictly individual”

This to me sounds like a step backward to Phase I or Phase II. I don’t understand how this is a topic continued to “Phase III” as such a fundamental aspect of the project should be determined at pre-engineering level, long before advancing the project to permitting. It was seemingly decided because you have been providing the project overview as a public roadway for Phase III public outreach materials.

The project progression and fluid fundamentals and goals is frustrating, and it makes it impossible to follow the intent. It makes me wonder, what are you doing advancing the project to advanced engineering if you do not know what kind of standards and guidance you are using for design. I have a feeling that those involved in the project do know what kind of road is being designed, but they refuse to tell the public outright.

This project does not have my support unless it will provide public access.

RE: Public Comment on West Susitna Access Road
Emailed to: comments.yehlealaska@gmail.com

The Tyonek Tribal Conservation District serves the subsistence and agricultural needs of the communities and landowners in our district by mitigating invasive fish and plants, maintaining habitat for salmon and subsistence species, monitoring the health of natural resources, and providing technical assistance within a 6.6M acre district defined by Tyonek's traditional hunting and fishing grounds (boundaries equivalent to Alaska's Game Management Unit 16B). Currently, our key programs include annual culvert installation and maintenance for salmon passage; suppression of Northern pike, elodea, and non-aquatic invasive plants; and monitoring stream health that includes submissions to the Anadromous Waters Catalog.

The West Susitna Access Road would be over 100 miles long and involve 156 known water crossings. The majority of a future road, as currently proposed, would run through extensive watershed habitat in the Tyonek Tribal Conservation District. An industrial corridor of this magnitude generates substantial conservation concerns for this remote, relatively pristine area with abundant wetlands, and fish and wildlife resources. In its initial report, HDR Alaska, Inc. (2014) identified several fields requiring additional study for the impacted region, including fish streams and essential fish habitat, wildlife, vegetation, hydrology, and historic and archaeological resources. It remains imperative for road development in this region to investigate and address these key issues before construction.

Since 2012, TTCD has prioritized replacing culverts blocking fish passage along the westside road system. Our Watershed Action Plan calls to remove all remaining barriers within the Tyonek Area Watershed and to educate landowners and stakeholders to ensure no new barriers are constructed. The West Susitna Access Road will cross a vast wetland landscape that still lacks full information regarding anadromous fish presence, particularly in small tributaries and streams. With upward water temperature trends across southcentral Alaska due to climate change, small tributaries are especially important because they serve as cold water refuges and provide thermal heterogeneity in a warming landscape (Mauger et al. 2016), which is also supported by TTCD's water temperature data collected since 2015. The west Susitna region is also the spawning and rearing grounds for a substantial percentage of Tyonek's subsistence king salmon harvest (St. Savior et al. 2020). Thus, negative impacts to salmon habitat and fish passage in this region could feasibly have cascading impacts on the allowable subsistence harvest in Tyonek. TTCD has obtained funding for fish surveys along the proposed road corridor, with the objective of mapping additional anadromous waters not currently known to state biologists, to prevent installation of inadequate fish passage structures if a road is to be constructed. However, the scope of this work is still larger than the current funding and capacity available to TTCD and our partnership networks.

A large-scale road crossing a vast and remote landscape will serve as a vector for invasive species entering the Tyonek Tribal Conservation District from the road system, with subsequent impacts to native plant communities and ecology. Particularly insidious plants, such as Elodea canadensis and Reed Canarygrass can spread rapidly and degrade salmon habitat, but other terrestrial species are ecologically damaging as well. TTCD currently manages invasive plant infestations in Tyonek, Beluga, along the Beluga-Tyonek highway, and Skwentna. Invasive plant control and eradication efforts are time-consuming and costly; they generally require years of survey, treatment, and early detection rapid response (EDRR) of satellite infestations. A public road corridor and increase in industry traffic and public recreation will spread invasive species from the adjoining Mat-Su road system into the District, requiring increased effort and resources to prevent harm to this region's natural resources and to maintain it free and clear of invasive species. An invasive species mitigation plan should be in place prior to any road construction to help minimize negative impacts upon development, and ongoing survey and treatment efforts of invasive populations will be required.

A proposed access road crossing the Susitna River also has the potential to allow increased public access to the Tyonek/Beluga area and may impact resources utilized by residents of these communities. The Tyonek Tribal Conservation District urges the West Susitna Road project to consult with the Native Village of Tyonek and the Tyonek Native Corporation due to its potential for large-scale alterations to the District's landscape and resources.

If this project moves forward, the Tyonek Tribal Conservation District urges the Mat-Su Borough and the West Susitna Access Road project to give significant time towards assessing the anadromous waters and habitat that will be impacted by this road so that subsistence resources in the watershed are well maintained in perpetuity.

Dear Brad Sworts,

What a stupid idea is the West Susitna Access Road, a money pit for untold millions to permanently alter the priceless Alaskan landscape for the sake of a few short-term, low-level jobs. How about we just pay the surveyors and equipment drivers directly to stay home and save ourselves the destruction--and embarrassment when the whole enterprise fails? Have we already forgotten about the $300 million Port Mac rail extension debacle? I haven't. I drive across that wound every day, and it seems to me that the state destroyed a bunch of beautiful land to create a new place to dump old couches.

Don't do it!!!

Sincerely,
Shannon Gramse

I encourage and support the proposed access road across the Susitna River and Alexander Creek up to the Yentna Mining District. Mines today take so many years to discover, explore, permit and build, and the footprints after reclamation often offer further development opportunities. Responsible land development is no different than space or sub-sea exploration. If you do not explore, and analyze, you will never know what you do not know. Well planned road access is necessary and long past due. Further, there are ANSCA lands, homesites and holdings in the West Susitna basin and along Mt. Susitna (that have been only fly-in or boat via the Big Susitna) that will benefit.

To whom it may concern: My name is Fred A Bacon a lifelong resident born Redacted I am an at large stockholder in Cook Inlet Region Inc. and a retired heavy equipment operator with 30 years of service out of the I.U.O.E Local 302, plus I am trustee of the family property on Flathorn Lake(tax acct ID # 56375000L006). I have made a living out of building roads to make our state a safer place to drive and bring our natural resources to market. So I have seen what new roads can bring for better or for worse. As for the proposed West Susitna Access Road project, I am against it in more ways than one. First,the company wanting to open the mines at the end of the road are a foreign company that will take all the profits out of state and country,and not benefit our economy in the long run. Second,if such a road was to be built it shouldn't be "PRIVATE", it should be open to the public use since it is going across public land and not run by a foreign company for its own profits. Sooner or later that state land will be opened up that's not what I'm opposed to,What I'm opposed to is how that land is developed for the people of the State of Alaska, or for a foreign company after the gold in the ground! What about the future generations that will deal with whatever the foreign company leaves behind? So in my personal opinion if the road project is not a public use DOT safe roadway it should not be built period! Sincerely Fred A Bacon P.O. Ladies and Gentlemen,

Please do not allow this road to be built! Residents and business's in this area will be adversely affected, wildlife will be affected, and the taxpayers will be affected. This is another example of the majority being asked to bend over for the profit of a few. Please do not allow this to happen.

I live in Knik off of KGB road. I am in favor of this new access road, with the following caveats:

1. There is an increase in taxes to Mat-Su Borough due to the commercial mining activities at the site.
2. This road is available for public use.

I am a property owner at Derf Lakr and I do NOT oppose the Susitna Access Road. However, sine I own property there I would like to have access to my property and totally reject it being used only for the mining district!! There is a way to keep the road from being used by non-residents but putting in a gate with an access code!
I hope this road will be approved as now is definitely the time those minerals etc can be mined for our country

Four comments:

The first three are, "Yes, yes, and yes!"

The fourth one is that the road should be public and not strictly industrial. There are as many fishing and game opportunities as there are mining prospects. To use public money and then deny public access is disingenuous and hypocritical. The North Slope Haul Road is also gravel and for industrial purposes, but has operated seamlessly and without problem to the public sector. If industry wants the road private, then they should build it with their own funds. If that turns out to be the case, then it should be limited by an expiration date so that the public gets eventual use of it in exchange for public lands being made available for the road.

I wish to submit several comments of significant concern, and therefore likely in opposition, regarding the proposed West Sustina Access Road.

1. I am deeply concerned about spending this sum of money on a road in the current economic setting. I think there are far more important roads (Ambler, Knik Arm Crossing) and projects worthy of consideration well ahead of this project if money were to be spent.
2. Without a road across the Knik Arm, this project would seem to be ill-informed. It will force even more traffic and concern through the KGB corridor, which is becoming ever more crowded and problematic. The area was popular because of its remoteness and limited access. This project will make it a large vehicle corridor, further exacerbating traffic, safety, and noise concerns for residents (of which I am one). The project, if ever undertaken, should be tied to a Knik Arm crossing, which should be completed first.
3. The road is primarily in support of industry. They should be the ones funding the project, not tax-payers, be it through the Federal government or the State of Alaska.
4. Many sensitive habitats and fisheries will be crossed by this road. It should never be public if developed, as the impact on fisheries, already under pressure, will be detrimental.

For these reasons, I wish to express my significant concerns and opposition to the project.

Please acknowledge that you received this email.

I have lived in Anchorage for over 75 years and my wife has lived here for almost 82 years.

Disclosure: My family has owned recreation property for 52 years on West Lake next to Horseshoe Lake just north of Big Lake.

I fully support meaningful and viable development in Alaska.

This proposed road project reminds me of another project about 13 or 14 years ago. It was called the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project. If I recall correctly, the intent was to shorten the current rail route for moving minerals (Coal and other possible mineral finds) from the interior to the Port of Seward.

Originally, The Matanuska-Borough (MSB) assembly had approved a rail route from Port MacKenzie to Willow. It was called the Willow Route. Someone decided that just one route was not sufficient enough for the public to make an informed decision. Because this was a route for a railroad, The National Surface Transportation Board (STB) had to become involved. (The STB was the only carryover after the U. S. Department of Commerce ended)

After further reviews were concluded, three routes were selected - Willow, Big Lake, and Houston. New public meetings were held by the borough and the STB. The STB would later issue a thick Environmental Impact Statement. (EIS). The State of Alaska had invested $200 million up to that point.

The report covered all matters required by the STB and included maps. One map showed small lakes near Horseshoe Lake. A small lake had been omitted. I filed a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to find out who made the omission. The man from the STB called me and said the map was provided by the MSB (I took notes of the phone call). He asked me if I wanted to continue with my request. Not knowing the cost I would incur, I said no. The final report was issued by STB. It recommended the Houston Route and a "Record of Decision" was issued by the three-man STB.

The denial of the Willow Route was based on Section 4(f) of STB regulations that stated that if a route crosses designated park, recreational, etc land, a route could not be approved. The Willow route touched a sliver of land in the Nancy Lake Recreational area and possible intrusion on possible native historical sites.

However, Section 4(F) also noted that some incursions could be found to be "de minimis" (to trivial to merit consideration).

The Borough Assembly considered the issue at hand and decided that section 4(f) was binding and they had no choice but to approve the Houston Route. After the meeting I told the chairman he conducted a good meeting but ended with the wrong decision. He asked me why and I told him about the de minimis portion of 4(f). He gave me the impression that he was not aware of that.

The first public meeting I attended in Wasilla for the rail extension route presented maps and a flow chart of the process. If I recall correctly, the project was suppose to be completed in 2012. The distance from Port MacKenzie to Houston is approximately 37 miles.

Well, here we are in 2022. The project is far from completion and we have an eight to ten foot earthen dam that cuts in half a large popular recreation area in the valley. I am not aware of one piece of rail having been laid.

CONCLUSION

Questions

1. What minerals does Ak Operations expect to develop and on what scale or does it have solid evidence for a PROVEN, profitable operation to substantiate its inclusion as a party in Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) or is it purely for speculative purposes?

2. Who would own the road and be responsible for it?
3. Would it be a toll road?
4. Would it be open for winter use and what happens if the road is abandoned?
5. If the route is for a railroad, then STB becomes involved. How much would it cost for their EIS?
6. What would the increased cost be for having to raise the rail bed to meet STB standards?
7. What costs would be incurred for any additional permitting required by STB?
8. What is the current condition of Port MacKenzie?
9. How much repair/improvement is required to make the port operational and who pays?
10. How much has been spent so far for the project by the parties to the MOU?

Along with others Simon Guggenheim did not begin to build a 190 mile railroad from Cordova, Alaska to the copper mine near McCarthy based on speculation. He knew the copper ore was there in abundance. That railroad crossed the Copper River (The Million Dollar Bridge) and the 200 foot high bridge (completed in 1911 and is still used today) over the Kuskulana River. A very tall timber trestle was also built and still stands today next to the McCarthy Road, which was the old railroad bed. Huge mine buildings and other facilities were built 5 miles north from McCarthy. The last mining closed in 1938 and some of the buildings are being restored and maintained by the National Park Service.

Based on the failure of the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project, I do not believe another dime should be spent on this project until there is an overwhelmingly SOLID foundation (excluding recreation and tourism) of proof that necessitates a need for this project.

I have attempted to gather information about AK Operation LLC but have been unsuccessful other to learn it was incorporated on 7/23/18 with an address at #440 S Colony Way STE 3, Palmer, AK 99654. What is their expertise and financial capability?

Note: The "Conclusions" page in the "West Susitna Access Study" by HDR dated 1/7/2020 makes some significant observations. Thank you for your attention and courtesy

My comments are simple. The way things are only those with significant means can access and enjoy these areas. Many of those are not even from this state. My husband and I homesteaded 40 acres in the mid 80s, surveyed it and have paid taxes on it every year since. Yet here we are, 3 generations of our Alaskan family later. My husband has passed away and still access to this land is not feasible for us. This road would come approximately within 5 miles of our property. This would change everything. It would be wonderful if at last our family, as well as other Alaskans of lesser means could at last have access to these lands. Thank you. Maria Gertzen.

Re: Comments on West Susitna Road Access Project

March 23, 2022

I am a property owner in the Matanuska Susitna Borough. Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the West Susitna Road Access Project (Project). For the reason discussed below, I currently oppose the Project as a yet unjustified expenditure of State and Borough resources.

The State of Alaska and the Matanuska Susitna Borough have failed to perform a cost benefit analysis to determine whether the benefits from the Project outweigh the associated costs to and expenditures by the State and Borough. If not, the State and Borough are subsidizing private development at the cost of Alaskan and Borough residents without a commensurate return. The Project should not proceed until supporters demonstrate the benefits of the West Susitna Access Road (the Road) outweigh the costs to and for the State and Borough.

Importantly, the State and the Borough have failed to require the private mining interest promoting the Project to demonstrate that its own private development plans are financially solid and will be profitable. To the extent that the State or Borough are relying on a private entity to develop, maintain and operate the Road, knowing that the proposed mining development will be profitable is critical to the State and Borough's decision making. Evidence exists that the mining development may not be profitable without State and Borough subsidy. AIDEA and the Borough have a history of investing in such private projects and the projects failing, leaving the State and Borough financially, socially, and environmentally burdened with the results.

If the State and Borough are to spend any further funds on this Project, please require an independent cost benefit analysis of whether State and Borough will benefit from the ongoing Project and whether the private mining interests for which the road is being built will be sufficiently profitable to carry out road construction, maintenance, and monitoring. Further, if the road is to be public, the State and Borough should independently demonstrate that government funds are available to construct, maintain and monitor the Road as a public road and that the benefits of doing so for the State and Borough outweigh the costs. To do otherwise is a reckless and irresponsible expenditure of State and Borough funds.

An independent cost benefit analysis should consider not only the impacts of the Road but also any additional impacts that may accrue associated with Road construction including those of the Donlin Pipeline, other proposed mining developments, timber, agriculture, oil, gas, and coal developments. Although these projects at times have individually been considered separately as benefiting the State and Borough, none have yet been developed because they have so far proven uneconomic.

The impact of these projects, including the enormous quantity of gravel needed to construct the proposed West Susitna Access Road, spur roads, and building pads should be inventoried and weighed. Little if any evidence has yet been presented that any of the private development plans proposed will be profitable or whether they will be able to pay for, maintain, and monitor the Road.

In addition to addressing whether private industry can be relied on to build, maintain, and monitor the Road, the Project has failed to consider the economic and social impact that the Road will have on the existing roadless area that it crosses. Importantly, little to no notice of the Project has previously been provided about the Project and only recently, after the State and Borough completed two previous Project phases, has notice been given to landowners and businesses in the affected area. Public outreach should have been provided early on, been concurrent with all Project phases, and should be robust, particularly because this appears to be a project that the State and Borough appear to be subsidizing.

Only by providing adequate notice and opportunity to comment are the issues and data necessary for a solid cost benefit analysis to the State and Borough made available. The proposed Road bisects the heart of the Susitna watershed. It impacts habitat currently and heavily used by local and out of state visitors for fishing, floating, boating, hunting, camping, and transportation. This habitat supports the Borough's economy. People come from all over the world to see the wild and pristine landscape of the Susitna Valley. This data has not yet been included in the Project's analysis.

A reliable cost benefit analysis should inventory and evaluate the impact of the Project on this particular asset. The natural capital of the roadless Susitna Valley is a mainstay of Alaska's southcentral economy. Tourism, hunting, fishing, and recreation are the economic engines that support and can continue to support southcentral residents. The non-consumptive uses of the Susitna Valley exceed the consumptive uses by a ratio of about 21 to 1; $363 million in tourist visitor expenditures should be compared to the current $18 million produced by consumptive uses such as logging, mining, and oil and gas.

Further, the Project does not align with currently adopted management plans for the area that the Road crosses. Project promoters have failed to weigh the legislatively adopted State management plans in place, plans adopted after significant public input and designed to determine how best to manage this habitat in the interest of the State and Borough. These plans impose development guidelines and restrictions for which Project promoters should be required to analyze, weigh, and evaluate now before further State and Borough funds are expended. Doing so will illuminate some of the costs and benefits to the State and Borough that so far have neither been identified or evaluated.

For example, large areas within the Project are included in the Susitna Basin Recreational Rivers Management Plan (Plan): the Deshka River (Kroto and Moose Creeks), Lake Creek, Talachulitna River, and Alexander Creek. The Recreational Rivers Management Plan outlines how the Department of Natural Resources manages the State lands and waters. State reserved in-stream flow water reservations for habitat, water quality, and recreation are also established as are four management units, including 30 public use sites and ten special management areas. The Project needs to include these already defined expectations in its evaluation of whether the Road is feasible and financially possible. To do otherwise is to ignore the previous public input and the legislative processes that have determined what are in the best interest of the State and Borough for this area of Alaska.

Finally, where the Borough has allowed roads to be extended into otherwise roadless area (especially when resources have not been available to maintain and monitor road usage), vandalism, illegal harvest, and unregulated abuse of resources has occurred. With this prior experience in mind, along with the economic and environmental impacts the Road will have on an otherwise roadless area, the State and Borough, on behalf of its citizens and residents, should analyze not just the costs of Road construction but also the associated costs of maintaining and monitoring the Road, especially if those costs are to fall to the State and Borough.

Unfortunately, both the State and the Borough have a history of investing in projects that ultimately have proven uneconomic; projects have been abandoned and left the State and Borough to bear the costs. Although private individuals and industries may have benefitted, the projects have been at clear costs to the State and Borough.

This should be warning enough for the State and Borough to take the time now to complete an independent cost benefit study of whether and how this Project and the proposed Road benefit the State and Borough. Further, the private mining company benefitting from the Road should be required to provide a financial plan demonstrating that its development will produce a profitable project that can and will support the Road. Unless the State and Borough plan to subsidize the construction and maintenance of the Road, the mining company's plan should include how it will pay to construct, maintain, and monitor the Road.

No bank would invest with less information, and neither should the State of Alaska or the Matanuska Susitna Borough. To do otherwise is to repeat mistakes that the State and the Matanuska Susitna Borough have previously made, mistakes that cost the State, the Borough, and their residents. An opportunity exists now to proceed more deliberately, requiring the information than any responsible investor would require for good decision making on whether and how to proceed.

Please pause and require: 1) an independent cost benefit analysis of whether State and Borough will benefit from the Project and Road; and 2) from the private mining interests for which the Road is purported to benefit, a financial plan that demonstrates independent financially profitable activity that supports the Road. Only then can the State and Borough make responsible decisions about whether to continue investing in and supporting the Project and West Susitna Access Road.

Sincerely,

Blythe Marston

I do not believe this project is a valuable use of Borough funds. The main purpose for the Borough to be interested is the development of property and an increase in the tax base. Both laudable interests.

It is inappropriate for the Borough to be subsidizing the businesses in that area. One would have to question why the Borough would not improve the existing roads in more efficient business locations. These roads they have already undertaken and are unable or unwilling to keep in good repair.

This road will be utilized by recreational interests if the road is officially open to the public or not. If you build it, it will get utilized. And yet, the Borough has no plan for how to maintain the road.

Much of this area is poorly suited for a road. There are numerous water crossings in fish rich areas. The negative impacts on the wildlife as well as the full year and part-time residents will be certain. I do not know if the road will be fully permitted as there are many obstacles among the "No, No Nannettes" of our community.

I would be in favor of this road if it were to be privately funded and maintained. I have no problem with the Borough providing the planned route and assisting with the permitting process.

Let a private company build and maintain the road. Provide them a reasonable period of time to recoup their costs through a fee use of the road. In this manner we have benefits for the users of the road, and the borough residents

1. A private owner will be responsible for maintaining the road.
  - a. The Public Borough will not address this road. It will be in disrepair and those harmed will have no recourse.
2. A private Owner will be held liable for damages if their lack of care for the road harms users
3. A private Owner has a profit incentive to build a quality road for lower maintenance.
4. Borough Residents are not subsidizing the users of that road. Users are paying an appropriate fee.

People have a feeling of "right" to use a road. However, currently those wishing to go to that area must use air or water travel (frozen in the winter). There are costs associated with that mode of travel and there is no reason users of the road should not be willing to pay for travel on a well-maintained road.

A well maintained road will bring increased access to the area and ultimately a larger property tax base for the Borough. I do not believe rushing the process, building a poorly maintained road, subsidizing road users, and not being responsive to those who use the road is a good means of action for the Borough.

If this road is such a good idea and a builder has an opportunity to make a profit, let the business community put their money where their mouth is. Let the Community around Skwentna form a road corporation or whomever is interested. Get government out of those areas where they do a lousy job.

I have made a living out of building roads to make our state a safer place to drive and bring our natural resources to market. So I have seen what new roads can bring for better or for worse. As for the proposed West Susitna Access Road project, I am against it in more ways than one. First,the company wanting to open the mines at the end of the road are a foreign company that will take all the profits out of state and country,and not benefit our economy in the long run. Second,if such a road was to be built it shouldn't be "PRIVATE", it should be open to the public use since it is going across public land and not run by a foreign company for its own profits. Sooner or later that state land will be opened up that's not what I'm opposed to,What I'm opposed to is how that land is developed for the people of the State of Alaska, or for a foreign company after the gold in the ground! What about the future generations that will deal with whatever the foreign company leaves behind? So in my personal opinion if the road project is not a public use DOT safe roadway it should not be built period! Sincerely Fred A Bacon P.O. 1. The road should allow public access, since public land and funds will be utilized.
2. Concern regarding environmental impact to fish & wildlife habitat.

I encourage and support the proposed access road across the Susitna River and Alexander Creek up to the Yentna Mining District. Responsible land development is no different than space or sub-sea exploration. If you do not explore, and analyze, you will never know what you do not know. Well planned road access is necessary and long past due. Further, there are ANSCA lands, homesites and holdings in the West Susitna basin and along Mt. Susitna (that have been only fly-in or boat via the Big Susitna) that will benefit.

My comments are simple. The way things are only those with significant means can access and enjoy these areas. Many of those are not even from this state. My husband and I homesteaded 40 acres in the mid 80s, surveyed it and have paid taxes on it every year since. Yet here we are, 3 generations of our Alaskan family later. My husband has passed away and still access to this land is not feasible for us. This road would come approximately within 5 miles of our property. This would change everything. It would be wonderful if at last our family, as well as other Alaskans of lesser means could at last have access to these lands. Thank you. Maria Gertzen.

Dear Brad Sworts,

What a stupid idea is the West Susitna Access Road, a money pit for untold millions to permanently alter the priceless Alaskan landscape for the sake of a few short-term, low-level jobs. How about we just pay the surveyors and equipment drivers directly to stay home and save ourselves the destruction--and embarrassment when the whole enterprise fails? Have we already forgotten about the $300 million Port Mac rail extension debacle? I haven't. I drive across that wound every day, and it seems to me that the state destroyed a bunch of beautiful land to create a new place to dump old couches.

Don't do it!!!

Four comments:

The first three are, "Yes, yes, and yes!"

The fourth one is that the road should be public and not strictly industrial. There are as many fishing and game opportunities as there are mining prospects. To use public money and then deny public access is disingenuous and hypocritical. The North Slope Haul Road is also gravel and for industrial purposes, but has operated seamlessly and without problem to the public sector. If industry wants the road private, then they should build it with their own funds. If that turns out to be the case, then it should be limited by an expiration date so that the public gets eventual use of it in exchange for public lands being made available for the road.

I wish to submit several comments of significant concern, and therefore likely in opposition, regarding the proposed West Sustina Access Road.

1. I am deeply concerned about spending this sum of money on a road in the current economic setting. I think there are far more important roads (Ambler, Knik Arm Crossing) and projects worthy of consideration well ahead of this project if money were to be spent.
2. Without a road across the Knik Arm, this project would seem to be ill-informed. It will force even more traffic and concern through the KGB corridor, which is becoming ever more crowded and problematic. The area was popular because of its remoteness and limited access. This project will make it a large vehicle corridor, further exacerbating traffic, safety, and noise concerns for residents (of which I am one). The project, if ever undertaken, should be tied to a Knik Arm crossing, which should be completed first.
3. The road is primarily in support of industry. They should be the ones funding the project, not tax-payers, be it through the Federal government or the State of Alaska.
4. Many sensitive habitats and fisheries will be crossed by this road. It should never be public if developed, as the impact on fisheries, already under pressure, will be detrimental.

For these reasons, I wish to express my significant concerns and opposition to the project.

Please acknowledge that you received this email.

I have lived in Anchorage for over 75 years and my wife has lived here for almost 82 years.

Disclosure: My family has owned recreation property for 52 years on West Lake next to Horseshoe Lake just north of Big Lake.

I fully support meaningful and viable development in Alaska.

This proposed road project reminds me of another project about 13 or 14 years ago. It was called the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project. If I recall correctly, the intent was to shorten the current rail route for moving minerals (Coal and other possible mineral finds) from the interior to the Port of Seward.

Originally, The Matanuska-Borough (MSB) assembly had approved a rail route from Port MacKenzie to Willow. It was called the Willow Route. Someone decided that just one route was not sufficient enough for the public to make an informed decision. Because this was a route for a railroad, The National Surface Transportation Board (STB) had to become involved. (The STB was the only carryover after the U. S. Department of Commerce ended)

After further reviews were concluded, three routes were selected - Willow, Big Lake, and Houston. New public meetings were held by the borough and the STB. The STB would later issue a thick Environmental Impact Statement. (EIS). The State of Alaska had invested $200 million up to that point.

The report covered all matters required by the STB and included maps. One map showed small lakes near Horseshoe Lake. A small lake had been omitted. I filed a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to find out who made the omission. The man from the STB called me and said the map was provided by the MSB (I took notes of the phone call). He asked me if I wanted to continue with my request. Not knowing the cost I would incur, I said no. The final report was issued by STB. It recommended the Houston Route and a "Record of Decision" was issued by the three-man STB.

The denial of the Willow Route was based on Section 4(f) of STB regulations that stated that if a route crosses designated park, recreational, etc land, a route could not be approved. The Willow route touched a sliver of land in the Nancy Lake Recreational area and possible intrusion on possible native historical sites.

However, Section 4(F) also noted that some incursions could be found to be "de minimis" (to trivial to merit consideration).

The Borough Assembly considered the issue at hand and decided that section 4(f) was binding and they had no choice but to approve the Houston Route. After the meeting I told the chairman he conducted a good meeting but ended with the wrong decision. He asked me why and I told him about the de minimis portion of 4(f). He gave me the impression that he was not aware of that.

The first public meeting I attended in Wasilla for the rail extension route presented maps and a flow chart of the process. If I recall correctly, the project was suppose to be completed in 2012. The distance from Port MacKenzie to Houston is approximately 37 miles.

Well, here we are in 2022. The project is far from completion and we have an eight to ten foot earthen dam that cuts in half a large popular recreation area in the valley. I am not aware of one piece of rail having been laid.

CONCLUSION

Questions

1. What minerals does Ak Operations expect to develop and on what scale or does it have solid evidence for a PROVEN, profitable operation to substantiate its inclusion as a party in Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) or is it purely for speculative purposes?

2. Who would own the road and be responsible for it?

3. Would it be a toll road?

4. Would it be open for winter use and what happens if the road is abandoned?

5. If the route is for a railroad, then STB becomes involved. How much would it cost for their EIS?

6. What would the increased cost be for having to raise the rail bed to meet STB standards?

7. What costs would be incurred for any additional permitting required by STB?

8. What is the current condition of Port MacKenzie?

9. How much repair/improvement is required to make the port operational and who pays?

10. How much has been spent so far for the project by the parties to the MOU?

Along with others Simon Guggenheim did not begin to build a 190 mile railroad from Cordova, Alaska to the copper mine near McCarthy based on speculation. He knew the copper ore was there in abundance. That railroad crossed the Copper River (The Million Dollar Bridge) and the 200 foot high bridge (completed in 1911 and is still used today) over the Kuskulana River. A very tall timber trestle was also built and still stands today next to the McCarthy Road, which was the old railroad bed. Huge mine buildings and other facilities were built 5 miles north from McCarthy. The last mining closed in 1938 and some of the buildings are being restored and maintained by the National Park Service.

Based on the failure of the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project, I do not believe another dime should be spent on this project until there is an overwhelmingly SOLID foundation (excluding recreation and tourism) of proof that necessitates a need for this project.

I have attempted to gather information about AK Operation LLC but have been unsuccessful other to learn it was incorporated on 7/23/18 with an address at #440 S Colony Way STE 3, Palmer, AK 99654. What is their expertise and financial capability?

Note: The "Conclusions" page in the "West Susitna Access Study" by HDR dated 1/7/2020 makes some significant observations. Thank you for your attention and courtesy

Pat

I do not believe this project is a valuable use of Borough funds. The main purpose for the Borough to be interested is the development of property and an increase in the tax base. Both laudable interests.

It is inappropriate for the Borough to be subsidizing the businesses in that area. One would have to question why the Borough would not improve the existing roads in more efficient business locations. These roads they have already undertaken and are unable or unwilling to keep in good repair.

This road will be utilized by recreational interests if the road is officially open to the public or not. If you build it, it will get utilized. And yet, the Borough has no plan for how to maintain the road.

Much of this area is poorly suited for a road. There are numerous water crossings in fish rich areas. The negative impacts on the wildlife as well as the full year and part-time residents will be certain. I do not know if the road will be fully permitted as there are many obstacles among the "No, No Nannettes" of our community.

I would be in favor of this road if it were to be privately funded and maintained. I have no problem with the Borough providing the planned route and assisting with the permitting process.

Let a private company build and maintain the road. Provide them a reasonable period of time to recoup their costs through a fee use of the road. In this manner we have benefits for the users of the road, and the borough residents

1. A private owner will be responsible for maintaining the road.
  - a. The Public Borough will not address this road. It will be in disrepair and those harmed will have no recourse.
2. A private Owner will be held liable for damages if their lack of care for the road harms users
3. A private Owner has a profit incentive to build a quality road for lower maintenance.
4. Borough Residents are not subsidizing the users of that road. Users are paying an appropriate fee.

People have a feeling of "right" to use a road. However, currently those wishing to go to that area must use air or water travel (frozen in the winter). There are costs associated with that

Hi Allen - The project would need to comply with the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan and other applicable plans. Compliance could be achieved through a number of mechanisms, including but not limited to design elements, regulatory stipulations, and best management practices.

Attention: Camden Yehle, Public Involvement Lead, Proposed West Susitna Access Road (PWSAR)

Thank you for requesting comments on the Proposed West Susitna Access Road. As an area landowner, this project is exciting and necessary to open the West Susitna area. However, I would like to suggest that the PWSAR start in Knik instead of extending off the end of Ayrshire Avenue.

Moving the start point to Knik would add several miles to the east end of the project, but the advantages would be numerous.

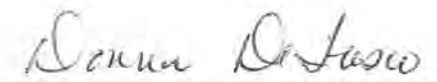

- 1) It would revitalize the townsite of Knik. The Knik residents have long publicly spoke in favor of events and opportunities to bring commerce back to Knik.
- 2) Road easements were historically established in 1911-1912 by the Alaska Road Commission which built Route 20A (a portion of the historic Iditarod Trail) from Knik to Susitna Station. Route 20A was professionally located, engineered, and built to road/trail standards of the day. As a route built on federal land, the easements and location have already been secured.
- 3) Using Route 20A today would have the advantages of directly linking the communities of Knik, South Big Lake, and Fish Creek. Currently, people have to use various routes like Hollywood & Vine roads, Parks Highway & Knik Goose-Bay, or Knik Goose-Bay and Burma roads. A direct link would provide residents and travelers superior access and reduce travel miles. The previously engineered Route 20A is almost a direct straight line from Knik to Susitna Station. (See enclosed document aerial/LiDAR images)
- 4) The location of Route 20A easily connects Knik-Goose Bay Road (in Knik) to S. Burma Road, S. Puritan Parkway, and W. Susitna Parkway, the three major throughfares in the South Big Lake area linking the resident population concentrations. The connection with existing road infrastructure would allow multiple access points to the PWSAR which would provide greater public access as opposed to the single point at Ayrshire Ave.
- 5) Mileage from Wasilla, Big Lake, Palmer, and Anchorage population centers would be reduced with the Knik start point for PWSAR. Realistically, 95% of the PWSAR users will be providing services and commerce from these areas and any reduction in road/travel miles equates to convenience to users.

- 6) Mileage from the West Susitna area using the PWSAR to the Port Mackenzie District would be reduced in distance with the use of Route 20A/Burma Road option, due to the straighter road east of Susitna Station.
- 7) Population in the Matsu Borough is greatly increasing and access/evacuation routes are limited. Recalling the major forest fires in the Big Lake area, the PWSAR located on the Route 20A, would give an alternate transportation route in case of large-scale emergencies affecting this populated area.
- 8) PWSAR located on Route 20A would offer additional recreation opportunities like an additional access point for the Little Susitna River, road access to Fish creek, and multiuse area access for hikers, bikes, four-wheelers, and winter sports activities (cross-country skiing, snowmobiling, and dog mushing).

Enclosed is a document titled, "Location of Route 20A, Knik to Susitna Trail, a 30-mile Portion of the Iditarod Trail." This document was prepared for a project other than the PWSAR, but I think you may find it informative. The document contains historical information about the building of Route 20A, aerial and LiDAR screen captures of Route 20A and where you can find the documents and references used to locate and show Route 20A today. The State of Alaska has used contemporary information from the 1970s – 1980s in order to locate the Iditarod trail. However, the most relevant information is any documentation prior to 1920 and the actual scar on the ground as shown by the LiDAR photography performed in 2011. The last known U.S. Mail delivery using the Iditarod Trail was in 1919 and the last documented private usage of the trail was in 1920. Route 20A was abandoned in 1921 because Route 20H (Nancy Lake to Susitna Station) had been completed by the Alaska Road Commission and was a shorter route to Susitna Station with the connection to the Alaska Railroad in the Nancy Lake area. In the future, the 20H route could also be considered as a viable connector to the PWSAR.

Thank you in advanced for your consideration.

Location of Route 20A, Knik to Susitna Trail, a 30-mile Portion of the Iditarod Trail

Prepared by Donna Cowart DeFusco

November 2021

Location of Route 20A, Knik to Susitna Trail

The purpose of this document is to accurately locate Route 20A, the Knik to Susitna Trail (a 30-mile portion of the Iditarod Trail). Based on historic facts and the visible scar on the ground, evidence shows that the State of Alaska has mislocated Route 20A. On the cover page you can see the two routes that are in question. The State of Alaska is claiming the yellow route, but the evidence shows that the red route is the true Route 20A.

Why is it important to accurately locate historic trails? In this case, the State of Alaska is claiming RS2477 easements on private, Borough, State, and Federal properties. The State is coming back to private property owners 100 years later and making claims for easements in the name of RS2477 access, however the State is using RS2477 for recreational access, which was never the intent of RS2477 easements. As much as Alaskans value recreation, the needs of transportation are far more important than recreation, and private property owners should have protections from unreasonable and unnecessary public access to their properties.

In this document, the means used to locate Route 20A are actual known historic facts prior to 1925 and a scar shown on the ground using 2011 LiDAR and aerial imagery.

Alaska Road Commission (ARC)

The Alaska Road Commission was the Federal entity that was responsible for constructing Route 20A. Annually, reports documented the progress of the Commission's spending and work accomplishments on their many projects throughout the Territory of Alaska. The reports were published as "Report of the Board of Road Commissioners for Alaska" and dated by year for each annual document. The reports were published the following year by the Washington Government Printing Office.

1905

The Board of Road Commissioners for Alaska was created in 1905. The original law the Board operated under was enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America. Funds were collected from various license requirements in the district of Alaska and were deposited in the Treasury Department of the United States. The fund was called the "Alaska fund". The money was divided three ways, 25% to establish and maintain public schools, 5% to care and maintenance of insane persons, and the remainder of funds, 70%, to the construction and maintenance of wagon roads, bridges, and trails in the district of Alaska.

The law stated:

"...The Board shall have the power, and it shall be their duty, upon their own motion or upon petition, to locate, lay out, construct, and maintain wagon roads and pack trails from any point on the navigable waters of said district to any town, mining, or other industrial camp or settlement, between any such town, camps or settlements therein, if in their judgment such roads or trails are needed and will be of permanent value for the development of the district; but no such road or trail shall be constructed to any town, camp or settlement which is wholly transitory or of no substantial value or importance for mining, trade, agricultural, or manufacturing purposes. The said Board shall prepare maps, plans, and specifications of every road or trail they may locate and lay out..."

I think there should not be a road it's all about the money and you would ruin the wilderness! The cabins throughout the valley that are out there will now be broken into because of easy access and the authorities won't do anything about it. Please leave it a wilderness area. A lot of the lodges and flying businesses will be hurt. Right now it's accessed by Riverboats, floatplanes, and wheel planes, and snowmachine's in the winter, and I feel it should be left at that.

If a road is built that is good enough for industrial use it would be an awful waste to not have it available for the use of the public Alaska citizens as well. So much of our beautiful state does not have road access. If it's made, please make it public. Thank you.

I agree with the proposed construction of the Susitna road project. I believe this project will help open up the state to more land for settlement and offer easier access to another part of Alaska.

As the original patent holder of land within 4 miles of this road project I would look forward to better access for hauling building materials and fuel into my cabin. I am at the point where a little less work in supplying the cabin would be nice.

To whom it may concern,

I posted the links on the comment section as well. But, as per your request here is the PDF on the study done in Mat-Su in 2019. Which, by the way, was not the best year.

The other stats were found doing a google search today 3/23/2022 "AK. revenue from sport fishing" result- total economic output was $295 million, supported 3,063 jobs. Generated $22 million in state and local taxes.

2016 ADF&G study-out of state visitors spent $98 million which led to $133 million of economic output.

2021 AK. economic trends-Jobs for 2021- mining and logging were 10,400. Oil and gas were 6,700. Totaling 17,100. Leisure and hospitality were 29,700.

2007 ADF&G total expenditures for the state of AK. were $1.4 billion. $733 million were by residents. $652 million by non-residents. 73% were in south-central.

Thank you for your time and work.

Introduction

A study of the economic contributions that accrue to the Cook Inlet region from sportfishing activity was conducted in 2017.<sup>1</sup> The project was conducted in cooperation with the Alaska Department of Fish & Game with funding provided by the Matanuska-Susitna (Mat-Su) Borough and the Department of Commerce, Community, and Economic Development. The Mat-Su Fish and Wildlife Commission now has interest in understanding the economic contributions of spending by anglers who fish within the Mat-Su Borough.

Methodology

The 2017 study surveyed Alaska's licensed anglers to learn where they fished and determine how much money was spent anywhere in the Cook Inlet region for fishing trip-related and equipment purchases. The study did not ask anglers to identify the specific boroughs where the money was spent. Moreover, the economic contributions were estimated across the broader geographical region of the Cook Inlet. Because of this, a specialized approach to allocate the region-wide spending estimates to the Mat-Su Borough is needed and described below.

Quantifying days of fishing specific to the Mat-Su Borough

The Alaska Department of Fish & Game (ADF&G) conducts an annual statewide harvest survey (SWHS) that includes estimated numbers of anglers and days of fishing effort for many small sub-state regions. We obtained from ADF&G the estimated numbers for the fishing sub-areas within the Mat-Su Borough for 2017. Every effort was taken to define the Mat-Su Borough in the same way that it was defined in the 2009 report by ISER, including the programming code that was used to retrieve the data from the SWHS.<sup>2</sup> A full list of sites is included in Table A1 of the Appendix.

The fishing day data for the Mat-Su Borough from the SWHS do not provide detail regarding the proportion of days which are resident versus nonresident. As a proxy, we apply the proportion of resident to nonresident fishing days available from the broader geographical region of the Cook Inlet to the total days fished within the Mat-Su Borough.

Angler spending profile development

From the raw data in our 2017 study, we estimated average spending during a day spent fishing in the Mat-Su Borough which contributes to the local economy. To do this, we initially converted both annual trip-related and annual equipment & real estate spending to an average spending per fishing day using the estimate of total fishing days from the SWHS.

Separate expenditure profiles were constructed for resident and nonresident sportsmen. It is important to note that not all spending occurs where the fishing activity takes place. As a result, we allocate the trip-related and equipment spending differently to estimate the spending that takes place within the Mat-Su borough by anglers who fished in the region. Equipment spending was allocated to the Mat-Su borough proportional to retail sales of sporting goods across the entire Cook Inlet that occurs in Mat-Su.<sup>3</sup> This assumes that fishing equipment purchases are made in essentially the same places that most retail sporting goods are sold. Most trip-related spending takes place close to where the fishing occurs. We allocated the destination spending (e.g., lodging, guide fees) to the Mat-Su borough on the basis of days of fishing taking place in the region. However, a portion of some trip-related spending also takes place closer to home (e.g., groceries, gasoline). That spending was split between the sportsmen's place of residence and where the activity occurred.<sup>4</sup> For this spending, one-half of the expenditure was allocated using the destination spending methodology and one-half was allocated using the residential spending methodology. More detail is provided in Table A2 in the Appendix.

With regards to total estimated fishing days in the Mat-Su Borough, we define two groups, local and nonlocal, for both Alaska residents and nonresidents. Among Alaska residents, 'local' fishing days are those associated with anglers who reside in the Mat-Su Borough and 'nonlocal' fishing days are those associated with anglers who reside outside of the Borough. It is not possible to determine the local to nonlocal proportion from the SWHS data specific to the Mat-Su Borough. Instead, we apply the proportion of local to nonlocal fishing days available from the broader geographical region of the Cook Inlet to the total days fished within the Borough.

Among nonresidents of Alaska, 'local' fishing days are associated with anglers who stayed in Mat-Su during the course of their visit and 'nonlocal' fishing days are those associated with anglers who stayed outside of Mat-Su during their visit but fished somewhere in the Mat-Su Borough. These allocations are done using data from Alaska’s Visitor Statistics Program (AVSP).<sup>5</sup> The AVSP provides information about visitor destinations, including overnight stays for boroughs within the Cook Inlet. From that, the proportion of nonresidents who likely stayed in Mat-Su Borough (‘local’) can be estimated and used to apportion fishing days to define local and nonlocal groups among nonresidents.

Economic Modeling

Background and Metrics

The economic contributions of fishing-related spending on the Mat-Su Borough are estimated with an input-output model of the regional economy and IMPLAN Pro© impact analysis software.

Input-output models are driven by some change in economic activity, usually spending (also known as the direct effect). The direct effect refers to the initial stimulus to the economy. In this study, it refers specifically to the dollars spent by anglers for trip-related purchases, fishing equipment, and other spending that is immediately attributable to their fishing activity. In the strictest sense, the direct effect does not always equate with angler spending due to economic leakages. For example, some of the equipment purchased by anglers is manufactured outside of the region and those dollars (except for associated retail/wholesale/transportation activity) leak immediately beyond the region’s borders and do not have a direct effect on the regional economy. In that case, angler spending may not equal direct effect in the language of input-output models. In other cases, the amount of angler spending is the direct effect. For example, spending for lodging and restaurant meals represents purchases of goods and services that are produced entirely where they are bought, and the entire purchase is captured in the direct effect on the regional economy.

The total economic contributions of sportfishing on the Mat-Su Borough are based on the spending described above plus the multiplier effect of that spending. The input-output model produces estimates of the total multiplier effects (indirect and induced) that arise from the spending by anglers (the direct effect).

Indirect effect refers to the economic activity (e.g., output, employment, income) in the businesses that supply the industries stimulated by the direct effect. Those indirectly affected industries, in turn, stimulate additional activity among their local suppliers, and so on. For example, if an angler spent $100 to purchase the services of a guide, the guide uses a portion of the $100 paid by the angler to purchase boat fuel, equipment, bait, utilities, etc. from local sources. In addition, a portion of the $100 pays for goods and services from out-of-state providers. In the next round, the in-state business that supplies bait to the guide (as well as all of the other in-state businesses that supply goods and services to the guide), in turn, must use part of the money that it receives from the guide to pay its own business expenses (e.g., fuel, gear, utilities). Their suppliers, in turn, also pay in-state and out-of-state suppliers to support their increased business activity. This indirect activity continues in this way until the effect becomes negligible as a portion of each round of payments for goods and services eventually leaks out of the local economy.

The induced effect measures the economic activity that results from the household spending of salaries and wages that were generated from the business activity associated with the direct and indirect effects.

The interpretation of the results of the economic models depends on the changes that drive the model. The term “economic impact” is normally reserved to describe some level of economic activity that would not occur except for the initial economic activity. In the case of recreational activities like sportfishing, it is generally agreed that economic impact comes from spending by visitors to the region. If not for their presence, their spending would not occur. If quality sportfishing was no longer available in the Mat-Su Borough, for example, nonresident anglers may choose to fish (and spend) elsewhere, and thus not generate economic contributions to the regional economy. Most resident anglers, on the other hand, choose fishing as an activity on which to spend their recreational dollars, locally. If quality sportfishing was no longer available, some residents would likely choose some other local recreational activity on which to spend their money in place of fishing and their spending would remain in the regional economy.

It is generally acknowledged that retained economic activity can also represent a real economic impact. For example, the quality of fishing opportunities in the Mat-Su Borough is such that some anglers choose to fish in Alaska rather than go elsewhere. If the quality of fishing were to decline, then some dedicated resident anglers may choose to travel outside of the region for sportfishing and their dollars would be lost to the region’s economy. It is unclear what portion of resident anglers would fall into that category. It was beyond the scope of this study to investigate retention scenarios.

The focus of this study was on the total economic activity associated with sportfishing as a measure of its overall contribution to the Mat-Su Borough economy. In that case, it was appropriate to include all spending for sportfishing, including both resident and nonresident anglers. That measure is alternately called “economic contribution” or “economic significance”, among others. This study was concerned with measuring the economic significance of sportfishing and therefore includes resident spending as part of the direct effect. To help understand the relative contributions that residents and nonresidents make to the economy, results in this report were broken out separately by residency.

Separate models based on residency were created to estimate the associated contributions of sportfishing. IMPLAN economic data are available for each of the boroughs in Alaska, including the Mat-Su Borough, and are based on 2016 economic model data. Deflators included within the modeling software were employed to account for inflation effects between the model year data (2016) and the year of reported angler expenditures (2017).

Economic activity can be measured in several different ways. The most common way to portray how expenditures on sportfishing affect the economy include the following metrics. These descriptions explicitly include the multiplier effects of angler spending.

Retail Sales – These include expenditures made by anglers for equipment, travel expenses and services related to their sportfishing activities over the course of the year. These combined initial retail sales are the stimulus that trigger the multiplier effects in the regional economy.

Output – This measure reports the volume of economic activity within the local economy that is related to sportfishing. Because it does not discount the value of raw materials as they move through the production of goods or services, this measure double-counts a portion of the output of the industries in the value chain.

Labor Income – This figure reports the total salaries and wages paid in all sectors of the regional economy as a result of sportfishing activities. These are not just the paychecks of those employees directly serving anglers or manufacturing their goods, it also includes portions of the paychecks of all employees affected by the direct, indirect and induced effects. For example, it would include a portion of the dollars earned by the truck driver who delivers food to the restaurants serving anglers and the accountants who manage the books for companies down the supply chain, etc.

Employment – Much like Labor Income, this figure reports the total jobs in all sectors of the economy as a result of the sportfishing activity and includes both full-time and part-time jobs. These are not just the employees directly serving anglers or manufacturing their goods but can also include employees of industries impacted by the direct, indirect and induced effects.

Federal, State, and Local Tax Revenues – Including all forms of personal, business and excise taxes, the IMPLAN model estimates the tax revenues collected by the local, state and federal governments as a result of the initial expenditures by anglers.

Results

Angler Days

Anglers spent 155,000 days sportfishing in the Mat-Su Borough in 2017 (Table 1). Alaska residents accounted for the majority of days fished (57% or 88,100) while nonresidents fished 67,300 days (43%). Local residents contributed the overwhelming majority (94%) of the resident angler days. The minority of days were contributed by Alaskan residents who live outside of the Mat-Su Borough. Conversely, the majority (81%) of nonresident days were contributed by visitors to the state who fished in the Mat-Su Borough but stayed in locations outside of the area. Less than 20% of nonresident days were contributed by visitors who both fish and stay in the region.

Angler Spending

Average spending per fishing day within each of the major expense categories is shown in Table 2. On the whole, anglers spent between $67 and $343 in the Mat-Su Borough on trip-related purchases in 2017. Estimated equipment-related spending per day was $241 and $170, for residents and nonresidents, respectively.

Sportfishing trip and package spending encompasses a wide variety of items from fuel and oil to support the trip; from groceries to restaurants to sustain the angler; and from derby tickets to rentals to support the day on the water. The common theme is that trip-related items are services or items considered non-durable and purchased specifically for the trip. The full list of items and the amount spent in the region by resident and nonresident anglers are presented in Table 3.

Sportfishing equipment spending encompasses a diverse list of items from rods and tackle (specific to sportfishing) to boats and apparel (which can be used for multiple purposes). In contrast to trip or package related items, equipment items are durable in nature and typically used for more than one trip. Table 4 presents the full list of items and the total spending in the region by Alaska resident and nonresident anglers that is attributable to fishing in the Mat-Su Borough.

The reported dollar figures in Table 4 reflect total spending on fishing equipment and only that portion of multi-use equipment items anglers report was used specifically for the purpose of sportfishing in the Mat-Su Borough. Resident purchases amount to $12.0 million and nonresident purchases amount to $2.1 million.

Annual real estate spending estimates are presented in Table 5. The real estate category captures spending on the purchase or lease of existing structures, on-site construction or maintenance of structures, and purchases of structures constructed off-site. Spending by both residents and nonresidents sums to $18.5 million. Almost the entirety is associated with purchases or leases of land and existing houses. Despite the sizable amount of spending, only a small portion generates economic activity and primarily in the real estate and finance sectors.

Table 5. Total real estate spending in the Mat-Su Borough, by residency and detailed categories (millions)

Purchase or construction of boat docks, sheds, or outbuildings	$0.5	$0.0	$0.5
Total	$9.2	$9.3	$18.5

Collectively, an estimated $57.4 million was associated with sportfishing activity in the Mat-Su Borough (Table 6). Total spending was estimated to be relatively balanced between Alaska residents and nonresidents ($29.0 million and $28.4 million). Thirty seven percent ($21.1 million) of total spending was trip-related spending.

A portion of nonresident anglers, traveling to the region to fish, pre-purchase a package experience from one of the many outfitters or guides operating in the Mat-Su Borough, securing a range of services for the one fixed price. Overall, 6% ($3.6 million) of total spending was package-related spending.

One quarter ($14.1 million) of all sportfishing related spending that occurs in Mat-Su was associated with equipment. Finally, another third ($18.5 million) was associated with sportfishing-related real estate spending.

Total	$29.0	100%	$28.4	100%	$57.4	100%

Distribution across the four spending category types is quite different between the two groups. Among resident anglers, spending on sportfishing-related equipment and real estate accounted for 73% ($21.2 million) of total spending. Equipment and real estate spending accounted for less than half of spending (40% or $11.4 million) among nonresident anglers. The proportion associated with trip and package spending among nonresidents was twice as large as residents (27% or $7.7 million relative to 60% or $16.9 million).

Economic Contributions

The angler spending discussed in the previous section, known as the direct effects, cycles through the regional economy generating additional rounds of economic activity. These extra rounds include indirect effects driven by businesses who provide supporting services and goods to anglers as well as induced effects resulting from household spending by employees of these businesses, known together as the multiplier effects. The three effects as a collective comprise the total economic contribution effects. The IMPLAN model is used to track the flow of these multiple rounds of spending.

Anglers spent an estimated $57.4 million in Mat-Su across all expenditure categories (Table 6). After adjustments to isolate the portion of spending that actually generated economic activity within the borough, the direct contribution to the region's economic output was $33.7 million (Table 7). That activity supported more than 378 full and part-time jobs and $10.9 million in household income.

Spurred by the initial spending of anglers, the economic output attributable to the supporting industries, or multiplier effect, was $10.9 million. The indirect and induced activity supported 96 jobs and $3.3 million in household income. Together, the total effects of the spending activity generated $44.6 million in economic output and supported more than 474 jobs that provided $14.3 in household income.

The total effects of trip and package spending activity generated $25.8 million in output, more than 307 jobs, and $7.8 million in household income. The majority of these effects came from nonresident spending.

The economic activity generated in the region also produced tax revenues at the local, state, and federal level. The IMPLAN modeling produced generalized region-specific estimates of tax revenues based on existing ratios of output, income, and employment to tax revenues. It was estimated that angler spending in the region in 2017 generated $2.9 million and $3.1 million in state/local and federal tax revenue, respectively (Table 10).

Summary and Discussion

This study was conducted in order to provide current estimates of the economic contributions made by sportfishing activity on the Mat-Su Borough. We find that more than 155,000 days were spent fishing in the region. Anglers who fished in the region and anglers who traveled to the region to purchase items used for sportfishing spent a total of $57.4 million. The majority of those retail dollars were retained in the local economy supporting more than 370 jobs and providing $10.9 million in labor income. A regional level input-output model was used to track the collective economic contributions of the direct spending and the multiplier effects created as the angler dollars moved from business to business in the Mat-Su economy. The total contributions generated by angler spending was estimated to be $44.6 million in economic output, which supported more than 470 jobs and $14.3 million in labor income.

Another objective of this study was to provide estimates for comparison to the 2009 report by ISER. The methodological approach of this study captured spending that remains within the Mat-Su economy based on secondary data available from IMPLAN® and the AVSP. In that regard, it differs somewhat from the approach utilized for the 2009 ISER report. Additionally, we remind readers who wish to make comparisons that adjustments should be made to the 2009 spending estimates to account for inflation over the ten-year period. We also encourage readers making comparisons between the two studies to explore the changes in fishing conditions and the regional economy between the two periods, as it may provide context for differences in participation, spending, and economic contributions.

Spending profile development detail

Angler trip-related spending profiles were developed to reflect only those expenditures which contribute to the Mat-Su Borough's economy and vary based upon the 'local' versus 'nonlocal' distinction. For the 'local' group, whether resident or nonresident, 100% of the respective average angler spending per fishing day is included within the profile. Table A2 provides added detail about spending category treatments for the 'nonlocal' groups, again whether resident or nonresident.

MATANUSKA-SUSITNA BOROUGH

A RESOLUTION OF THE MATANUSKA-SUSITNA BOROUGH FISH AND WILDLIFE COMMISSION DETAILING COMMENTS RELATING TO THE WEST SUSITNA ACCESS ROAD PROJECT PROPOSAL.

WHEREAS, the Matanuska-Susitna Borough (MSB) Fish and Wildlife Commission (FWC) was created in 2007 to represent the interests of the borough in the conservation and allocation of fish, wildlife, and habitat; and

WHEREAS, the FWC has been effective in representing these interests to political leaders, government regulators, and boards of fish and game; and

WHEREAS, the MSB has a vested interest in utilizing science-based standards and forward looking policies to help ensure a balance between the critical fish and wildlife resources of the region with other needs of the population, including responsible resource development; and

WHEREAS, the MSB FWC believes it is important that our citizens have accurate and robust information and opportunities to comment on major projects that could impact fish and wildlife resources that includes the benefits and costs of such projects; and

WHEREAS, the MSB has spent over $20 million on fish habitat restoration in the borough, replacing more than 100 culverts that have restored over 67 stream miles and 6,224 lake acres of anadromous fish habitat; and

WHEREAS, healthy habitat not only supports our fish and wildlife, but ensures clean water for our communities and key economic opportunities for Alaskans, including several businesses that depend on the area that the West Susitna Access Road project would impact; and

WHEREAS, economic studies in our region in 2007 and 2017 show the significant positive economic impact returning salmon have on the economy of the MSB, that included $56 million in direct spending benefits to the MSB in 2017 alone, and there are additional economic benefits from healthy wildlife populations, both of which require adequate and quality habitat locally; and

WHEREAS, during the special MSB FWC meeting on May 7, 2020, and again during the MSB Assembly meeting on December 7, 2021, there was extensive public testimony indicating concerns and unanswered questions about the West Susitna Access Road project, and the MSB FWC has asked for monthly updates with minimal information being shared on the specific costs and benefits of the project.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the MSB FWC submits the following comments regarding the proposed West Susitna Access Road (WSAR) project:

1. The FWC recognizes the importance of following the Alaska Recreation River Statute AS 41.23.400-.510 and the Susitna Basin
- FISH AND WILDLIFE COMMISSION Resolution FWC 22-01 Page 2 of 4

Recreation Rivers Management Plan in guiding WSAR project design and permitting decisions.

2. The FWC believes all waters impacted by this project should be surveyed for anadromous fish presence and this information uploaded to the Alaska Anadromous Fish Catalog before finalizing project design and permitting.

3. The FWC believes impacts to anadromous fish passage and habitat should be avoided when possible, and minimized and fully mitigated when not possible within the impacted watersheds.

3. The FWC believes impacts to wetlands, riparian zones, water quality, and water quantity should be avoided when possible, and minimized and fully mitigated when not possible within the impacted watersheds.

4. The FWC believes impacts to wildlife habitat, including key migration movement corridors should be avoided when possible, and minimized and fully mitigated when not possible.

5. The FWC believes that the WSAR project impacts on the unique hunting and fishing traditions currently practiced in this roadless area should be avoided when possible, and minimized and fully mitigated when not possible.

Public comment about the West Susitna Access Road

My wife and I live full-time near the proposed Susitna Access Road. We submitted previous testimony twice, recommending rejection of this project.

In my opinion, as an MBA and licensed securities professional who has raised money for many private and public companies, Nova Minerals, an Australian company trading publicly under the ticker symbol of NVAAF, lacks the experience, finances and leadership to successfully develop the proposed gold mine. I do not understand how Nova passed due diligence with Alaska regulators.

Operationally, it has never succeeded in commercializing any other similar mining project. Nova admits on its website that, “there is no certainty of eventual conversion to Ore Reserves or that the production target itself will be realized.” Also, “there is a low level of geological confidence associated with Inferred Mineral Resources and there is no certainty that further exploration work will result in the determination of Indicated Mineral Resources or that the production target itself will be realized.”

Financially, market sentiment is not bullish on this company. According to Yahoo Finance, its current stock price is $0.5610 per share, less than one-half of its high. Over the past five years it has ranged from approximately $1.39 to $0.02. The company notes in its annual report that it had 180,202,285 shares outstanding as of the end of 2021. In 2020, Nova raised $23 million at a share price of $0.17. Last fall, it raised only half as much, at about $12 million, at a share price of $0.11. Nova’s financial statements reveal a cash burn for salaries and expenses very close to what it raises from penny stock investors. Nova appears to be is a year-by-year operation dependent on penny stock issuances each year to meet expenses. The annual report notes that there is no guarantee that the company will be able to raise the approximately $500 million needed to execute its complete mining operations.

With respect to leadership, Avi Kimelman, the former CEO was “convicted of insider trading and market manipulation offences” in March 2021. The most recent chairman just “stepped down, effective immediately”, although no reason for his departure was stated. The Interim Chairman lists a decade of experience in “micro-cap finance”. The company lists partial financial interests outside of Alaska in lithium and helicopters. It is unclear where the management’s focus, expertise and interests lie. In my view, this company will fail to commercialize the Estelle Gold Trend.

An Alaska funded West Susitna Access Road will leave a permanent scar on the land, squander the State’s investments of time and money, and burden the Borough to police and remediate yet another “road to nowhere”.

Thank you for your time and attention.

Sincerely,

Bryan Emerson

Good Day,

My name is Doug Lowry and I am the POC for Mat Su Borough RSA17. This RSA is the largest in the Mat Su Borough and has the most amount of roads in the Borough.

It appears this access road covers a large portion of the RSA17 area. My question is this - who is going to pay for this access road for engineering, construction, construction oversight (to ensure all EPA, Fish & Wildlife, & Federal Regulation & State of Alaska Regulations & Native Tribal Regulations, Right of Ways and continued road maintenance) are itemized and costed in a line item fashion, completely transparent as to where road funds are coming from and who the guarantor is for continued funding for this road.

Thank You

W Susitna Access Rd Comment

To the Project Team,

I'm writing to express that I am opposed to spending further public monies to advance the W Susitna Access road by AIDEA, the Mat-Su Borough, and the State of Alaska.

The proposed route crosses through thousands of acres of relatively undisturbed land, of which includes approximately 1,228 acres of high-value wetlands and water bodies. These wetlands and water bodies support a vibrant tourism and hunting and fishing industry. The wetlands and water bodies are a vital component of salmon habitat for the rivers and streams that feed Cook Inlet.

The proposed road runs generally east-west, perpendicular to the prevailing drainage patterns in the proposed project area. Not only will the road cross approximately 156 rivers and streams, but the massive industrial road will intersect sub-surface flow that supports adjacent wetlands and associated salmon habitat.

Recreational, guided, and commercial hunting and fishing in the MSB are proven, lucrative industries that directly and indirectly benefit the residents of the borough. Recreational fishing by residents and non-residents was estimated to generate $44.6 million in economic output, $14.3 million in labor incomes, and more than 470 jobs (MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission Agenda, Sep. 19, 2019). The Susitna River is the fourth largest king salmon run in Alaska. Commercial fishing in upper Cook Inlet is estimated to generate $30 in revenue.

These hunting, fishing, and tourism revenue sources support the residents of the MSB, thus directly benefiting residents of Alaska. According to the AIDEA website, the public corporation was created to promote the health, security, and general welfare of all the people of the state. The proposed West Susitna Access road would likely negatively impact recreational and commercial hunting and fishing operations, thus directly contradicting the mission of AIDEA.

A 2014 study conducted by the Institute of Social and Economic Research (matsugov.us/docs/general/15148/iser-mat-su-research-survey-final-4-14.pdf) states, "Mat-Su residents place a high value on protecting the rural character of the area." The report continues by saying that residents put the highest value on healthy salmon runs.

The goal of the West Susitna Access road is primarily to provide access to mineral resources, which thus far have only generated interest from a foreign-owned mineral exploration entity. Coal resources have been mentioned, but coal extraction from proposed mines such as Chuitna have not proven to be economically viable. It is unlikely that the State of Alaska 3% mineral production royalty, or any jobs generated for local employment, will offset the income currently generated from hunting and fishing.

The State of Alaska has been running a deficit for years, struggling to meet the funding needs for public services and funding the PFD. Spending an estimated $350-400 million on building a road that provides little economic benefit, and potentially causes harm to public welfare and existing revenue streams, is an irresponsible expenditure of public funds. As a state, we would better spend our money pursuing higher-revenue project options, avoiding harm to existing industries, and developing projects that provide greater benefit to a wider swath of residents.

Sincerely,
Lorene Lynn

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

These comments result from yesterday's public zoom session:

1. Current mining royalty for extracted minerals is 3% of net.
  2. A cost-benefit analysis should be conducted with at least a twenty year projection, and should include a comparison of the all weather gravel road versus a rail extension, most large mines built in the past century and a half needing heavy haul transportation used rail or water, not gravel roads.
  3. Where will the minerals extracted be refined? Alaska? United States? Some other location?
  4. One of the principal minerals under discussion is coal - how does that fit with the current "global-warming" mantra?

As we all know, it's just not road access to the Whisky Bravo site, Rainy Pass Lodge and to other mining resources in the mining district area. It is a offset absorption of public and State infrastructure and local taxes and additional increases to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough land and property tax.. The overall depression of local byways and infrastructure have not been weighed in, for the public interest.. If this road is built, it must be open for the AIDEA and Alaskans for public use, set aside by using the existing State land use of public lands. Examples are ( NFMA ) of 1976 and the National Environment Policy Act of 1970 to name a few . If this road is to be built for access, it must also serve public interest... I agree with the proposed construction of the Susitna road project. I believe this project will help open up the state to more land for settlement and offer easier access to another part of Alaska.

As the original patent holder of land within 4 miles of this road project I would look forward to better access for hauling building materials and fuel into my cabin. I am at the point where a little less work in supplying the cabin would be nice.

2016 ADF&G study-out of state visitors spent $98 million which led to $133 million of economic output.

2021 AK. economic trends-Jobs for 2021- mining and logging were 10,400. Oil and gas were 6,700. Totaling 17,100. Leisure and hospitality were 29,700.

2007 ADF&G total expenditures for the state of AK. were $1.4 billion. $733 million were by residents. $652 million by non-residents. 73% were in south-central.

Good Day,

My name is Doug Lowry and I am the POC for Mat Su Borough RSA17. This RSA is the largest in the Mat Su Borough and has the most amount of roads in the Borough.

It appears this access road covers a large portion of the RSA17 area. My question is this - who is going to pay for this access road for engineering, construction, construction oversight (to ensure all EPA, Fish & Wildlife, & Federal Regulation & State of Alaska Regulations & Native Tribal Regulations, Right of Ways and continued road maintenance) are itemized and costed in a line item fashion, completely transparent as to where road funds are coming from and who the guarantor is for continued funding for this road.

To the Project Team,

I'm writing to express that I am opposed to spending further public monies to advance the W Susitna Access road by AIDEA, the Mat-Su Borough, and the State of Alaska.

The proposed route crosses through thousands of acres of relatively undisturbed land, of which includes approximately 1,228 acres of high-value wetlands and water bodies. These wetlands and water bodies support a vibrant tourism and hunting and fishing industry. The wetlands and water bodies are a vital component of salmon habitat for the rivers and streams that feed Cook Inlet.

The proposed road runs generally east-west, perpendicular to the prevailing drainage patterns in the proposed project area. Not only will the road cross approximately 156 rivers and streams, but the massive industrial road will intersect sub-surface flow that supports adjacent wetlands and associated salmon habitat.

Recreational, guided, and commercial hunting and fishing in the MSB are proven, lucrative industries that directly and indirectly benefit the residents of the borough. Recreational fishing by residents and non-residents was estimated to generate $44.6 million in economic output, $14.3 million in labor incomes, and more than 470 jobs (MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission Agenda, Sep. 19, 2019). The Susitna River is the fourth largest king salmon run in Alaska. Commercial fishing in upper Cook Inlet is estimated to generate $30 in revenue.

These hunting, fishing, and tourism revenue sources support the residents of the MSB, thus directly benefiting residents of Alaska. According to the AIDEA website, the public corporation was created to promote the health, security, and general welfare of all the people of the state. The proposed West Susitna Access road would likely negatively impact recreational and commercial hunting and fishing operations, thus directly contradicting the mission of AIDEA.

A 2014 study conducted by the Institute of Social and Economic Research (matsugov.us/docs/general/15148/iser-mat-su-research-survey-final-4-14.pdf) states, "Mat-Su residents place a high value on protecting the rural character of the area." The report continues by saying that residents put the highest value on healthy salmon runs.

The goal of the West Susitna Access road is primarily to provide access to mineral resources, which thus far have only generated interest from a foreign-owned mineral exploration entity. Coal resources have been mentioned, but coal extraction from proposed mines such as Chuitna have not proven to be economically viable. It is unlikely that the State of Alaska 3% mineral production royalty, or any jobs generated for local employment, will offset the income currently generated from hunting and fishing.

The State of Alaska has been running a deficit for years, struggling to meet the funding needs for public services and funding the PFD. Spending an estimated $350-400 million on building a road that provides little economic benefit, and potentially causes harm to public welfare and existing revenue streams, is an irresponsible expenditure of public funds.

Dear Sam;

I have a cabin at Shell Lake. We have always hoped for a road into that area. A road would make a major impact on construction residents in the area. It would also make it possible for lots more full time residents.

Nevertheless there are major concerns about if a major industrial road could be used by residents, invasions open pits and major haul trucks, do not go well with resident use.

On my history with major projects as seen as they have taken what they they lock the gates or access.

Alaska has a bad history of supporting boom & bust industries. People in Alaska sell their souls for work, and after all, it has only taken a hundred years to grow trees over the gravel pits left by the dredging of so many of the water sheds, in the first gold boom.

I understand industrial projects, I was an industrial estimator for fifty years.

Big money is going to win out, they always do.

Mining is a non-sustainable venture, rape and run, take money & run. Residential development is slower process but is sustainable and easy to control eco. damage.

Any road out through alaska wilderness, lands owned by everyone, deciding if it is for public use shouldn't really be under consideration. Not only is a 100 mile road through an area with a large concentration of remote properties a benefit for the companies extracting Alaskan owned minerals, it would be a benefit to all around who use that area.

Don't create a conflict by disconnecting from the reality of the situation. If the road is there Alaskans will want to and will use it putting in a road and then restricting it even though it is on our lands, that will only create man made criminals, borderline entrapment with a side serving of rules for thee and not for me. People will use it either way, do the right thing. It's public.

I support a road there.

PROPOSED WEST SUSITNA ACCESS ROAD

PROJECT OVERVIEW

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska-Susitna Borough is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from Point MacKenzie to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings

STATUS

Phase 3 (current): Apply for US Army Corps of Engineers Clean Water Act permit

Phase 2 (completed June 2021): Pre-engineering, wetland mapping, and cost estimates

Phase 1 (completed December 2021): Route identification and data gathering

FUNDING

Phase 3, Environmental Permitting

Estimate: $8.5 Million

Funding source: State of Alaska (House Bill 69, 2021)

Final Design, Surveying, Platting, Right-of-Way Acquisition, and Construction

Estimate: $300 Million to $400 Million

SCHEDULE

- Roads to Resources Study (Alaska Department of Transportation): 2014
- Phase 1 Memorandum of Understanding (Borough/AIDEA): 2019
- Phase 2 Memorandum of Understanding (Borough/AIDEA): 2020
- Phase 3 Resolution of support (Borough): December 21, 2021
- Public involvement project (Borough): January to April 2022
- Corp of Engineers permit application (AIDEA): 2022
- Environmental permitting and engineering of entire corridor (AIDEA): 2022-2027
- Proposed construction: 2028

I am opposed to the West Susitna Road Access project. The State should not be spending hundreds of millions of dollars to build a road the local residents do not want, simply to benefit a small group of international investors.

Do not destroy our remote wilderness and wildlife habitat for selfish and shortsighted gain.

My name is Dale Chalender I've been in the construction industry here in Alaska most of my life. I also live I'm the big lake area. I'm for developing our natural resources and creating good paying jobs for Alaskan, so I would be for this project as long as it our state dollars are paying for the road so you can access the kind site, but the road needs to be usable by the public. If it is our money building it we need to be able to use the road for other types of development, along with hunting and fishing grounds. This road can not be just for mining use.

RE: Public Comment Against the Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Please stop all efforts to build the proposed West Susitna Access Road. It is a mistake. And it is a classic mistake that has been made in Alaska many times before.

A definition of insanity is: doing the same thing multiple times and expecting different outcomes.

This principle of insanity has been proven by the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and AIDEA many times before. Mega-project after mega-project have failed because the MSB and AIDEA put the 'cart before the horse'. They committed to massive projects without having the economic justification for the projects in place.

The MSB and AIDEA's record of economic insanity is horrendous: Pt. Mackenzie dairy farms were built without a market for the milk. A ferry was built with no port for it to dock at in Anchorage. A port facility that was built when there were hardly any customers or need for it. Money was poured into studies for a Knik Arm bridge that made no economic sense. The same with the proposed Susitna River dam. A Houston to Pt. Mackenzie rail spur was constructed without a justifiable reason for it.

Billions of dollars in federal, state and taxpayer money were corruptly squandered on these ill-conceived projects.

And now the MSB and AIDEA want to do it all again? Another mega-project without a good reason for doing it? This is criminal.

The proposed West Susitna Access Road is a very speculative venture. The foreign mining interests do not have proof that mining in the Yentna district will be profitable. And no, an article that NovaGold pays industry shill Tim Bradner to write in the Frontiersman, saying ‘there “might” be a lot of gold in them thar hills’ ... is not proof of anything. Throwing $400 million into a speculative project is an irresponsible use of state funds.

The foreign mining companies that say there is a ‘need’ for an access road should prove it. They should prove it by putting up the money for such an access road themselves. Otherwise the MSB and AIDEA are just getting played and funding an incredibly expensive 100 mile road for mining exploration, with no guarantee of any return on investment. That is absolute foolishness.

It should be noted that recent events show that Yentna District mining operations, and the proposed Donlin Creek mine, will likely never be economically feasible. Both are reliant on a gas pipeline so they can have natural gas for electrical generation and heat. But Cook Inlet gas production dropped by 12.3 percent last year. Gas is needed first to keep the lights on and homes heated in Southcentral Alaska. So there will soon not be enough Cook Inlet gas to support mines. Building a $400 million road for a mine that will likely never pencil out and happen is a huge waste of money.

Besides the fantasy economics of this proposed road, a road through this remote area would jeopardize the existing economy in the region and the fish and wildlife resources that Alaskans treasure and utilize to support their families.

This road would ruin one of the most unique wilderness communities in the world. The western region of the Susitna Valley, an area the size of Vermont, is a cherished part of Alaska in its current state. Building a road here would soon ruin the area with uncontrolled and chaotic development that is the trademark of the Matanuska-Susitna Borough. We should learn from past mistakes and not repeat them.

Based on public meetings so far, a huge number of basic questions about this project cannot be answered by either the MSB, AIDEA or others ... even though 9 million dollars has been spent so far to study this project. That is clear indication that this project is another MSB/AIDEA disaster in the making.

Do not waste State money building this road, which will be another MSB/AIDEA boondoggle. There are much better ways to spend State of Alaska funds. Stop the West Susitna Access Road ... now!

Don't create a conflict by disconnecting from the reality of the situation. If the road is there Alaskans will want to and will use it putting in a road and then restricting it even though it is on our lands, that will only create man made criminals, borderline entrapment with a side serving of rules for thee and not for me. People will use it either way, do the right thing. It's public.

Lee, Redacted. Lee owns a property on Crooked Lake (west of Big Lake) and wanted to know how far the proposed route is from there. I looked it up and let him know it was about 5 miles away.

Randy Hamby, 907-333-4428. He is opposed to the project and doesn't think another dollar should be spent on it. He would like to see a natural gas line run down from the north slope instead.

I would not oppose an access road if the resources paid for it.

I am totally against this road project. The Matanuska Susitna Borough and the State of Alaska is once again in the process of throwing the residences finances down the drain. There is little to no Alaska public sediment for this project and yet big brothers are bound and determined to undermine the public resident sentiment. To my understanding, the State and Mat-Su Borough have teamed with Nova Minerals (not even an American company) to move this project forward. Nova Minerals is listed on the Grey Market Over the Counter market. It is a micro-Cap stock and has a Market Capitalization of $101M. If this company fails residents will again no doubt pay for it. This Grey Market Over the Counter exchange is extremely illiquid with the least number of regulations making this company a maximum high-risk adventure. This has all the merits and ideas of the. Mat-Su Borough high speed ferry, the de-funked Port Mackenzie and now the sale of the conveyer system there, the Railroad spur to (nowhere) that is now just a very long idel gravel pit to the Port, the Mat - Maid dairy business and farms. I could go on and on....

On the virtual public meetings there was talk of:

- Beetle kill timber harvest – Beetle kill is now, would be on ground & rotted before road is completed
- Public access - No commitment on who gets to use what parts of road
- Other mining activities – Don't have any other prospects at this point
- Road maintenance – Don't know who will do it
- Who will pay for the road – Don't know that yet, but my bet is Alaskan residents just like all the other Boondoggles?
- Ruining the Last Frontier - The whole state functions fine and there is no other places in the U.S. like it anymore, lets keep it that way and not ruin it.

Please, lets back out of this now and save our lands and our funds for other needed projects!

Hello,

I support the development and construction of the West Susitna Access Road. I have 3 lots in the Kutna Creek Subdivision ( the first one was purchased in 1983 ) and it looks like in the future my grandchildren will be able to travel by road to develop and use the property

Take care

FEEDBACK TO THE MAT SU BOROUGH (MSB) ASSEMBLY AND ADMINISTRATION
WEST SUSITNA ACCESS PROPOSAL

Via electronic mail: comments.yehlealaska@gmail.com

First, I want to compliment Camden Yehle on her facilitation of the second Open House on 3/23/22.

I am submitting these comments as an individual. In these comments, I have asked 9 questions that I feel need to be answered and will number them. I have also offered input on concerns about the project.

I would like to request that a hard copy of the executive summary of this public MSB process be sent to me.

I am opposed to the West Susitna proposal. I have expressed this opposition since early 2020 regarding Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) resolutions in front of AIDEA, the MSB Assembly, and the MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission.

A pause in the momentum of this project permitting was deemed necessary by many members of the public. This obviously did not happen.

This should NOT move to the federal permitting stage.

1. How can AIDEA with MSB backing apply in April 2020 for a 404 wetland permit lacking essential baseline studies?

These studies will be ongoing this spring, summer and probably through the fall. For instance, the actual route has not been decided.

The 404 application kicks off the NEPA process with a scoping public process. This scoping will happen during the busiest time of the year for the Alaskan public. Very inappropriate. But that usually is the way the state administration forges ahead in order to fast track the regulatory process and limit the public input.

The scoping comment period should thus be 90 days.

A lack of transparency has characterized the MSB and AIDEA beginning in 2019.

MSB staff and Assembly members met with AIDEA and others with very little public knowledge in 2019 and 2020. This created a momentum from behind the scenes.

For Instance, the January 2020 Phase 1 HDR report was not made public until the public vocally complained in their 4/15/20 testimony to AIDEA Board on their G20-15 MOU with Nova Minerals.

The public has stated that there were phase 2 MOU violations which really should have been grounds for termination of the MOU. Phase 2 did not engage key local and regional stakeholders and the general public under the MOU contract. Best management practices for stewardship of fish and wildlife habitat, cultural and historic sites and other assets were never completed.

The MSB had an obligation to correct these violations. But this did not happen.

Long Comments to MSB West Susitna Access Proposal

These recent 2 open houses, 2 surveys and public comments in February and March of this year should have happened two years ago.

The gutting of state land management plans and water certificates in order to streamline regulations and permits is occurring.

In Phase 2 MOU under Goals and Objectives 3B is “advance the use of public lands under AS 38.04.065 with local government and public involvement under AS 38.05.945 adopt, maintain and when appropriate revise regional land use plans that provide for the use and management of state of Alaska-owned lands...”

Well, the state administration through the Alaska Department of Natural Resources has unsurprisingly deemed a revision of the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan is necessary. This is the one MOU goal being met. The Commissioner of DNR Cori Feige said publicly that “This plan has NOT always served the area well.” But no explanations for that statement have been made. This is a blatant inaccuracy. The truth is DNR never really implemented the Plan.

Along with that Plan revision, DNR is reviewing streams in the Mat-Su that have flow certificates. DNR is determining unilaterally whether to reduce the flow requirements. This has happened with Willow and Cottonwood Creek Instream Flow Certificates. This is unwarranted especially in this time of climate change.

Essential Fish Habitat (EFH)

2. How much of the Susitna Basin EFH will be affected by the project area footprint?

EFH is habitat necessary for all life cycles of Pacific Salmon. These are federally designated areas for federally managed fisheries.

Alexander Creek Chinook stocks are considered stocks of management concern.

The Hydrological Process for regulatory purposes to be considered

Groundwater discharge provides most of the water during the winter in Cook Inlet streams according to the USGS National Water-Quality Assessment Program. Understanding the potential environmental consequences relies on understanding the hydro-geology of the Susitna basin. This includes the connectivity between the surface water and groundwater systems.

Groundwater in Southcentral Alaska is ecologically and economically important because groundwater discharge to streams and rivers creates upwelling zones that are important for sustaining salmon eggs and alevins in redds and providing thermal refugia for fish that support commercial, subsistence, and recreational fisheries. This statement is from page 8-13 of the Susitna Valley Gas Exploration License Preliminary Director Finding.

3. What exactly will be considered the temporary and permanent project footprint?

4. In the first open house, AIDEA stated that this access is not state owned, that it is AIDEA owned. What is the difference considering AIDEA is a state corporation?

Consideration of state and borough management plans for the access area.

The MSB and AIDEA must consider the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Plan, the Susitna Area Plan (SAP), and the Susitna Matanuska Area Plan regarding the data of habitat and fish and wildlife resources. True enough that the data is from 10-30 years ago. But that data along with current baseline studies will give a clearer picture of those resources over the long term.

For instance, on page 274 of SAP is stated: "The Talachulitna system is one of the most valuable sport fishing waterways in the entire Susitna drainage and is one of the major contributors to the Cook Inlet sockeye and pink salmon commercial fishery."

5. How will the small creeks and feeder streams in wetlands be protected?

Project construction access must be considered in temporary and permanent cumulative impacts.

6. What access will there be for project road construction in the winter and all year round? This must be determined and analyzed.

This concerns the Oilwell Road (accessed from the Petersville Road) and the Deshka Landing Road, which is also known as Crystal Lake Shores, Mishap Road. These residential and recreational roads have been mentioned as transportation routes for the Susitna Valley CBM Licenses. The same Oilwell Rd. and Willow Creek Parkway have been mentioned as winter construction access routes for the Donlin Natural Gas Pipeline project. It is natural to assume that these residential and state recreation access roads would be considered by AIDEA contractor for the West Susitna Road. Cumulative impacts on these routes must be examined for wear and tear, maintenance and user conflicts.

Road maintenance for the main project road must be decided early on.

7. Will a new borough road service area have to be created or an expansion of the Knik or Big Lake RSA? This new access will add traffic and weight in the Knik RSA roads.

The actual impacts from active mines.

The main impetus for this road is the Nova Minerals Estelle Mine. This company does NOT have basic economic feasibility studies for its investors. The grade deposit for the ore is not a very high grade. This means the actual rock would require more cyanide to process the ore than a higher grade ore. More cyanide means higher expenses.

8. What if the Nova Minerals mine does not move beyond the exploration phase and closes?

Right up front, the public wants early consideration of what is necessary for mining closure and accidents. Historically in the U.S., the actual direct and indirect costs of "walkaway" restoration have typically proven to be 1.5 to 2 times the original estimate for mines without acid drainage. It is 10 times the estimate for mines with acid drainage. It is a big uncertainty. And it is almost never predicated accurately in advance whether acid drainage will be produced.

The mining company(s) need to be able to demonstrate that they can afford the clean-up costs in order to remove the financial burden from the public. Historically, many mining companies avoid clean-up costs by declaring bankruptcy and transferring assets to other companies controlled by the same overall company. Then it becomes a shell game of using different companies to avoid clean-up costs. We want to prevent this from happening in the West Susitna Basin watershed.

9. How will the MSB Mitigation Bank be used? It should be used.

Long Comments to MSB West Susitna Access Proposal

In conclusion, this proposed road, its ancillary branches and construction routes, if built will never be undone. Ad nauseam, AIDEA and MSB has told the public that we are very early in the process.

9. If it is so early in the process, why is there plans to apply for the wetlands permit based on inadequate studies? The study data will not be available until after the 404 application and scoping period. THEY ARE HAPPENING NOW.

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings
- Determine if the road would be public or strictly industrial

Hello all,

I first want to thank you for holding the informational sessions on the West Susitna Industrial Access Road. It was a great opportunity for the public to get informed on where the process is at right now and get the facts of the road. However, I think the only thing that the informational sessions made clear to me is that there are a lot of questions about this project that need to be answered before it is permitted.

Where will the gravel for this road come from? Who will maintain the road? Who will have access to the road? How will the stream crossings be handled? How will erosion from this road impact local wildlife and fish habitat? Where will the tailings from this mine be stored? What will happen to the mine when it closes? Who will rehabilitate the landscape? These are all very important questions that I or others in those sessions asked only to be given watered down answers of "We aren't sure yet".

I am fully opposed to the road being put in. I do not think that the short term job growth and economic gains that would result from this mine being put in outweigh the long term effects it would have on the environment and communities of the Susitna. I hope for the next public information session there are more answers and less questions.

Rachel

Many many concerns regarding the road's construction, numerous water crossings, etc.
If the road is mainly being considered for responsible resource development, that is one thing. But if opened to public use it would negatively affect the landscape, the wildlife, and the residents of the area.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road (WSAR) Comments - Norm & Annie Lawler, March 30, 2022

As residents of Big Lake, Alaska, 1 mile off state maintained Big Lake Road, we will not support the consortium of 3 partners WSAR project after reading the complete AIDEA website with WSA documents including but not limited to their June 2021 Economic Impacts Report, MSB Projects WSA website and watching & listening to the MSB's online presentations & public meetings, and the Nova Minerals Ltd. (AKO) website unless our following questions are answered to our satisfaction.

Given the Alaska State mineral extraction royalty rate as per DNR documents is 3% in a world where international (Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Indonesia, Jamaica, Japan, Papua New Guinea, Philippines, Peru, Poland, Russia, South Africa) mining royalty rates for strategic minerals is 2-12% (excluding outliers, 2020), Alaska falls into the 3rd world mineral extraction class.

While AIDEA's 2021 Economic Impacts Report was short on explanations, it honestly warned their input/output analysis reliance on unrealistic hypothetical single year for simultaneous development for construction & resource extraction results in severe overestimation over the life of the road. With the report stating an Opinion of Probable Capital Cost (OPCC) of $356,900,000, AIDEA's Jesse Peterson quotes a base design road width of 28 feet during MSB public meeting, and WSAR documents list an approximate 100 mile length, our questions should prove easy to answer.

1. Multiple Choice (always simple): Which single or combination of the 7 existing AK roads is/are most closely matching the consortium's 3 parties expectations for the Proposed WSAR from development through the life of the road and why for each selection? (All of the above is not a valid answer) A. Red Dog Mine Rd. 50 mi. B. Willow Creek to McCarthy: Old Edgerton Hwy - Rt. 10 Edgerton Hwy - McCarthy Rd. 100 mi. C. Denali Hwy Rt. 8, 130 mi. D. Pogo Mine Rd. 50 mi. E. Livengood to Manley Hot Springs: Elliott Hwy Rt. 2 - Manley Hot Springs, 75 mi. F. Taylor Hwy Rt. 5 from Top of the World Hwy to Eagle, 60 mi. or AK Hwy Rt. 2 to Eagle, 150 mi. G. Bob Blodgett Hwy Nome to Teller, 70 mi.
2. AIDEA statements have identified mineral reserves (resource quantities) within the Yentna Mining District, how did the active mines' (blue) operators, claims (orange), & leaseholders (purple) expect to transport ore from the district when filing?

4. How does the Donlin Gas Pipeline project & Proposed WSAR influence each other's development prospects?

AIDEA has established a base design for the Proposed WSAR as gravel, approximate length, width, identified types of soils for the proposed route (Preliminary Wetland and Waterbody Mapping Report), and $300-400 million construction cost.
5. What is the estimated quantity of gravel required? ie. volumes: yds., kilo-yds., Mega-yds., Giga-yds.?
Or weight: tons, kilo-tons, Mega-tons, Giga-tons, Tera-tons?
6. Where will the gravel for the WSAR be sourced?
7. What route(s) will construction equipment access the proposed WSAR to build it and transport the gravel to the WSAR?
8. What should residents of the Big Lake & KGB Rd. areas expect for the AIDEA estimated 4 years of WSAR construction in terms of daily work hours scheduled and construction equipment & gravel transport?

Thank you Camden Yehle & MSB for providing the Public Involvement Project and sharing our questions & the consortium's 3 parties responses with all agencies involved now and in the future process. We strongly recommend you share these questions & responses with the public, meaning identified affected area public, Mat-Su Borough public, and Alaska public.

I would like to voice my support for the construction of this road. This has been needed in Alaska for nearly 40 years.

There will likely be a substantial increase in traffic on the Parks Highway as this area develops. To this end, please consider a Knik Arm crossing at Goose Bay (near the runway). Should this road be connected to this new road, traffic would be able to bypass Wasilla and instead enter the Glen Highway near Highland Drive in Eagle River, giving Mat-Su residents a second alternative for access to Anchorage and alleviating traffic on the Parks.

Camden Yehle,

As a Mat-Su Borough taxpayer, let our voice be heard... If my tax dollars are going to help build a road, it had better be one that EVERY TAXPAYER in this Borough can use, NOT "strictly industrial". If the State of Alaska is paying for it, then every resident of Alaska should have access. We are tired of putting our local taxes into things that we cannot or do not use, and the same goes for State funded uses. We are not ready to stand by and watch as those with "industrial" usage stickers take advantage of all that a road like this has to offer while those of us who help pay for the road are locked out.

And why is there already an "upcoming environmental permitting process" if it has not yet been established that a road will be built in the first place?

Sincerely,

I listened to the comments and most were trying the ploy of costs associated with the project. Most costs we will not know but most costs are estimated in the cost of the road. Please go forward with this project. This time, while oil is up things are looking better, but once again oil while up may come down. Bob Shumaker

Thanks Camden. I have a question that you may not know. But, those opposing the project are going to make a plan (I am sure they already have) regarding whom (who) they need to target with negative comments regarding this getting done. Say for instance, who would be the recipient of comments that works at Alaska Development Authority? I would like to forward pro project query's to them. They are organized, look at the comments back at me for using the word "stick" in my discussion. We need this kind of thing all over Alaska. Alaska has to become the working persons place of America! Thank you

To whom it may concern:

These are my comments regarding the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

I came to Alaska many years ago for the vast wild, unspoiled wilderness. I now live in Talkeetna and have recreated in the West Susitna Valley for over 50 years. I have travelled throughout the area by dog team. It has been my backyard wilderness. I have visited Skwentna, Yentna, Trail Lake, Winter Lake, Lake Creek, Moose Creek, and points in between. I depend on the Susitna watershed for the fish that I eat. I value highly the wilderness character of West Susitna, its fish and wildlife, largely unspoiled rivers and lakes, wetlands, and forests. It is a place where subsistence living is still possible. There are many wilderness lodges, where visitors can observe and photograph wildlife, catch fish, and experience the wilderness. It supports hunting and fishing guiding and other outdoor recreation related businesses.

If industrial civilization comes to this place, these existing economies and wilderness values will be lost.

I oppose this West Susitna Access Road and ask that AIDEA end the project.

What's at stake is much more than a road; it is also all that a road will bring, such as Estelle mine, Donlin Mine pipeline, Susitna Valley Coal Bed Methane gas development, timber harvests, and other resource developments touted by AIDEA, such as coal and hard rock mining, with feeder roads all over the place, eroding into our water, displacing wildlife, fragmenting habitat, and polluting our streams.

The Susitna Valley would be utterly transformed, weakening or even destroying our salmon runs; our wildlife; our outdoors based economies, including guiding, wilderness lodges, and outdoors based recreation for residents and visitors alike.

This proposed West Susitna Access road would be the facilitator of it all. And yet, AIDEA and the Mat Su Borough are rushing forward in an urgent, haphazard way, without considering the value of what is here now.

Here are a few of my concerns:

- The Project has been plagued by lack of both transparency and public engagement from the start. The Phase I MOU was entered into without public notice. When the Mat-Su Borough Assembly approved Phase II, it committed the borough to conducting, among other things, public outreach, (i.e., at 4.1.ii. of the MOU, which states: that the MSB will "Promote and communicate to MSB constituents project updates and engage project stakeholders to ensure an open and transparent public process;". The Borough failed to conduct the outreach and process it committed itself to. At Phase III the Borough Assembly, belatedly ordered a public process, and funded it at $50,000. The public and stakeholders, especially those who live in West Susitna Valley should have been engaged and listened to at the outset of the project. There is no evidence that AIDEA and MSB have listened to the public.

- I attended the February 23rd webinar public meeting on the proposed West Susitna Road. I found it informal and narrow in scope. This road is a big deal, in that major transformation of the use and character of the West Susitna area is at stake. The many development projects and uses that this road would make feasible should have been part of the Borough's overview presentation and should have been delved into, at least with respect to the general nature and scope of each project. It is disturbing to me that impacts of this proposed access road is being evaluated in isolation and is not being placed in the context of all the other potential projects such as Estelle, Donlin, CBM gas licenses, etc. This proposed access road is transformational, and it should be treated as such. As side notes, the power point slides should have been available for download before the meeting, and individual commenters should not have been allowed to go on and on, and ask question after follow-up question, while others had to wait, and wait.
- This project seems to be lurching forward in a disorderly fashion. There is a clear need for a rigorous cost/benefit analysis conducted by a competent, independent, unbiased consulting group.
- I am concerned about the question of whether this proposed road is anticipated to be private or, in whole or in part, open to the public. It is important to know this before coming up with project cost estimates; it is not possible to have a valid cost estimates without first knowing whether the road will be public or private. I have not heard discussion of how the various commercial/industrial projects that would use the Road would pay their own way, or would the public monies shoulder the financial burden of constructing the Road.
- How would the road be maintained and who would pay for such maintenance?
- If it is open to the public, would this be open its full length, or up to west side of the bridge over the Susitna River, or to the east side, or not open to the public at all? If the road is open to the public west of the Susitna Bridge for all or most its length, there are a host of additional impacts, costs, and management requirements. AIDEA has apparently not considered the implications of public access, for example: Would there be pullouts/parking allowed along the road? Would there be restroom, trash receptacles or other facilities? Would restrooms be serviced and the trash hauled away? Would pullouts become places that resembles some pullouts on the Parks Highway, with trash (and human feces) scattered about? Since any parking area or "wide spot in the road" becomes a de facto trailhead, public use would be expected. The State (AIDEA?) would then be responsible for managing "trailhead" and the access that it creates. Would ATV use, for example, be managed to protect the wetlands, to prevent erosion into the streams (many of which are contain salmon), to restrict use near or across anadromous waterbodies? How would fishing and hunting regulations be monitored and enforced? How is the State (AIDEA?) going to avoid a Jim Creek scenario?
- If it is open to the public, how would emergency services be provided for?

This road is not in the best interests of the Mat-Su Borough, its residents, or its visitors. It would be extraordinarily expensive to construct, maintain, and manage. The environmental risk is very high, as is the risk to our lifestyles and to the qualities that make the Mat-Su such a great place to live and visit. And yet the MSB and AIDEA press on, with little regard for public engagement, before the viability of any of the potential secondary projects (e.g., Estelle mine, CBM gas development) is determined with any reasonable degree of confidence. AIDEA and the MSB always seem to be drawn to the shiny new car, but neither one takes a hard look under the hood.

Thank you for this opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

John Strassenburgh

Hello all,

I first want to thank you for holding the informational sessions on the West Susitna Industrial Access Road. It was a great opportunity for the public to get informed on where the process is at right now and get the facts of the road. However, I think the only thing that the informational sessions made clear to me is that there are a lot of questions about this project that need to be answered before it is permitted.

Where will the gravel for this road come from? Who will maintain the road? Who will have access to the road? How will the stream crossings be handled? How will erosion from this road impact local wildlife and fish habitat? Where will the tailings from this mine be stored? What will happen to the mine when it closes? Who will rehabilitate the landscape? These are all very important questions that I or others in those sessions asked only to be given watered down answers of "We aren't sure yet".

I am fully opposed to the road being put in. I do not think that the short term job growth and economic gains that would result from this mine being put in outweigh the long term effects it would have on the environment and communities of the Susitna. I hope for the next public information session there are more answers and less questions.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road (WSAR) Comments - Norm & Annie Lawler, March 30, 2022

As residents of Big Lake, Alaska, 1 mile off state maintained Big Lake Road, we will not support the consortium of 3 partners WSAR project after reading the complete AIDEA website with WSA documents including but not limited to their June 2021 Economic Impacts Report, MSB Projects WSA website and watching & listening to the MSB's online presentations & public meetings, and the Nova Minerals Ltd. (AKO) website unless our following questions are answered to our satisfaction.

Given the Alaska State mineral extraction royalty rate as per DNR documents is 3% in a world where international (Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Indonesia, Jamaica, Japan, Papua New Guinea, Philippines, Peru, Poland, Russia, South Africa) mining royalty rates for strategic minerals is 2-12% (excluding outliers, 2020), Alaska falls into the 3rd world mineral extraction class.

While AIDEA's 2021 Economic Impacts Report was short on explanations, it honestly warned their input/output analysis reliance on unrealistic hypothetical single year for simultaneous development for construction & resource extraction results in severe overestimation over the life of the road. With the report stating an Opinion of Probable Capital Cost (OPCC) of $356,900,000, AIDEA's Jesse Peterson quotes a base design road width of 28 feet during MSB public meeting, and WSAR documents list an approximate 100 mile length, our questions should prove easy to answer.

1. Multiple Choice (always simple): Which single or combination of the 7 existing AK roads is/are most closely matching the consortium's 3 parties expectations for the Proposed WSAR from development through the life of the road and why for each selection? (All of the above is not a valid answer) A. Red Dog Mine Rd. 50 mi. B. Willow Creek to McCarthy: Old Edgerton Hwy - Rt. 10 Edgerton Hwy - McCarthy Rd. 100 mi. C. Denali Hwy Rt. 8, 130 mi. D. Pogo Mine Rd. 50 mi. E. Livengood to Manley Hot Springs: Elliott Hwy Rt. 2 - Manley Hot Springs, 75 mi. F. Taylor Hwy Rt. 5 from Top of the World Hwy to Eagle, 60 mi. or AK Hwy Rt. 2 to Eagle, 150 mi. G. Bob Blodgett Hwy Nome to Teller, 70 mi.

2. AIDEA statements have identified mineral reserves (resource quantities) within the Yentna Mining District, how did the active mines' (blue) operators, claims (orange), & leaseholders (purple) expect to transport ore from the district when filing?

3. The Skwentna ice road is being used for extensive equipment transport & development. Tell us the parameters under which this means of access is governed, its use now, & in the future.

4. How does the Donlin Gas Pipeline project & Proposed WSAR influence each other's development prospects?

AIDEA has established a base design for the Proposed WSAR as gravel, approximate length, width, identified types of soils for the proposed route (Preliminary Wetland and Waterbody Mapping Report), and $300-400 million construction cost.

5. What is the estimated quantity of gravel required? ie. volumes: yds., kilo-yds., Mega-yds., Giga-yds.?

I would like to voice my support for the construction of this road. This has been needed in Alaska for nearly 40 years.

There will likely be a substantial increase in traffic on the Parks Highway as this area develops. To this end, please consider a Knik Arm crossing at Goose Bay (near the runway). Should this road be connected to this new road, traffic would be able to bypass Wasilla and instead enter the Glen Highway near Highland Drive in Eagle River, giving Mat-Su residents a second alternative for access to Anchorage and alleviating traffic on the Parks.

Hi Randy and Kelley - We've received your comments. In response to the upcoming environmental permitting, the road cannot be built without those permits, but there is not much point in deciding to move forward with building a road if it can't be permitted. The AIDEA team is working on figuring out both of those questions at the same time because it is kind of a chicken and egg problem.

Camden Yehle,

As a Mat-Su Borough taxpayer, let our voice be heard... If my tax dollars are going to help build a road, it had better be one that EVERY TAXPAYER in this Borough can use, NOT "strictly industrial". If the State of Alaska is paying for it, then every resident of Alaska should have access. We are tired of putting our local taxes into things that we cannot or do not use, and the same goes for State funded uses. We are not ready to stand by and watch as those with "industrial" usage stickers take advantage of all that a road like this has to offer while those of us who help pay for the road are locked out.

And why is there already an "upcoming environmental permitting process" if it has not yet been established that a road will be built in the first place?

To whom it may concern:

These are my comments regarding the proposed West Susitna Access Road.

I came to Alaska many years ago for the vast wild, unspoiled wilderness. I now live in Talkeetna and have recreated in the West Susitna Valley for over 50 years. I have travelled throughout the area by dog team. It has been my backyard wilderness. I have visited Skwentna, Yentna, Trail Lake, Winter Lake, Lake Creek, Moose Creek, and points in between. I depend on the Susitna watershed for the fish that I eat. I value highly the wilderness character of West Susitna, its fish and wildlife, largely unspoiled rivers and lakes, wetlands, and forests. It is a place where subsistence living is still possible. There are many wilderness lodges, where visitors can observe and photograph wildlife, catch fish, and experience the wilderness. It supports hunting and fishing guiding and other outdoor recreation related businesses.

If industrial civilization comes to this place, these existing economies and wilderness values will be lost.

I oppose this West Susitna Access Road and ask that AIDEA end the project.

What's at stake is much more than a road; it is also all that a road will bring, such as Estelle mine, Donlin Mine pipeline, Susitna Valley Coal Bed Methane gas development, timber harvests, and other resource developments touted by AIDEA, such as coal and hard rock mining, with feeder roads all over the place, eroding into our water, displacing wildlife, fragmenting habitat, and polluting our streams.

The Susitna Valley would be utterly transformed, weakening or even destroying our salmon runs; our wildlife; our outdoors based economies, including guiding, wilderness lodges, and outdoors based recreation for residents and visitors alike.

Hi Ruth - We received your comments. The first survey we ran for this project had open ended questions with long answers. This follow-up survey was to allow people to put in what they thought in a shorter format. There is still an open ended question asking for other comments. The purpose of the survey is simply another way to comment on the project.

RE: West Susitna Access Road

Dear Planning Team:

I most adamantly oppose the West Susitna Access Road. AIDEA and the State have not given adequate analysis to this project and the Mat-Su Borough should not be supporting another boondoggle.

This road is touted to give access to all sorts of natural resources, but to whose benefit and at what cost? Most mining provides lots of income to the company developing the mine, but very little to the residents of the state or borough. Most of the jobs offered to local residents are low level, and many are temporary. What is the total cost of the road? Who will pay for it? What auxiliary roads will be necessary. Who will pay for them. Who is responsible for maintaining the road and auxiliary roads? Will the Mat-Su Borough have to maintain the road or roads, and will our taxes be used to pay for that maintenance? If the Borough supports this project, it should come with a guarantee that not one dime of Borough tax-payers money will go to building it or maintaining it.

At this point, we don't know whether this will be a private road, a public road, or a mixture of both. I oppose putting a private road through public land. If the road is open to developers, it should be open to the public. I oppose having a public road to the Susitna and then making it private for the same reasons. Whether public or private, how will access to the undeveloped lands adjacent to the road be managed. The Mat-Su Borough and the State have spent years and millions of dollars cleaning up the Jim Creek Area because neither borough nor state had the capacity to manage the area and prevent the degradation to the area caused by unmanaged access.

Any business that was contemplating a project like this would do a thorough economic cost and benefit analysis. I fail to understand why the State hasn't conducted a cost/benefit analysis or why the Borough isn't demanding one.

A 108-mile road into the remote West Susitna will be a travesty unless both the State and the Borough are willing to put substantial financial resources into policing the area once there is a road. Neither the State nor the Borough has shown any ability to undertake the kind of monitoring that will be needed. Furthermore, the West Susitna is not an uninhabited area. There are people who live there. There are remote businesses there. What will be the impact on their lives and livelihood?

Alaska is a unique state. Much of our economic viability relies on tourism that includes hunting and fishing. What will be the impact on these businesses? What will be the impact on the fish and wildlife of the area? How will mining be regulated to ensure that the land and waters are not polluted?

The road is a bad idea, and the initial work that should be done before proceeding to permitting has not been done. It's time for the Mat-Su Borough to say NO! to the West Susitna Access Road.

Sincerely,
Ruth Wood
Talkeetna, Alaska

Please add to the record for public comment.

Hello, I believe the MatSu Borough should cease all efforts with the West Susitna Road access for a number of reasons. First, currently the Borough is inadequately served by law enforcement, as well as road maintenance and adding another 100 miles of rural service area doesn't make sense. Secondly, adding easier access to rural mining claims only makes it easier for foreign entities the privilege of exporting our valuable resources overseas. Currently over 85% of Alaska's gold not only leaves the state but also the country. Alaska collectively receives very minimal royalties from mineral extraction as it is and this access road would only be selling out more of what little is left to mostly foreign entities. Third, we have an issue with rural trash and litter and there are remnants of all various types of mining infrastructure littered across the state from derelict buildings to broken down equipment, to illegal dams and everything else down to barrels and outhouses. Mining is invasive and to make it easier to mine makes it easier to compromise a healthy environment and waterways. Lastly, I've been recreational prospecting and mining for almost 30 years, mostly on the current road system in recreational areas open to the public, and have never been checked by law enforcement of the AK DNR who issues the permits...not once; not to check if I even had a permit, not to check on tailings leachate, not to check on boundaries...nothing. Alaska has no state mining law enforcement except the state troopers, again an already heavily taxed agency. Unless there is a guarantee all extracted resources are to stay in America, preferably for Alaska and Alaskans collectively, I can not and will not support any more roads to future mining discoveries. Take for instance POGO Mine - 52 miles of rural roadway that Alaskans cannot use to access anything including hunting, trapping, fishing, cabin sites, etc. All it takes is a company with deep pockets to buy up the majority of the claims and block out all other activity. For all of these reasons and many more, I strictly oppose the West Susitna Access Road.

To: "comments.yehlealaska@gmail.com" <comments.yehlealaska@gmail.com>

I am writing to express my opposition to the West Susitna Industrial Access Road.

There are numerous reasons why I believe the risks of this project outweigh any possible rewards to the borough and borough residents but out of respect for your time I will keep my comments limited to 3 points.

1. The road as proposed is slated to be public only to the Susitna. All of the cost estimates AIDEA has presented are for a private industrial road. Why should AK residents and US citizens pay to develop a road for a foreign company?
2. An independent economic analysis of the costs and benefits to the Mat-Su was recommended back well before this phase of the process. It has still not been undertaken. If AIDEA has nothing to hide and truly believes this will be a benefit to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and borough residents then certainly they wouldn't have any problem with an independent assessment being completed before going forward with the project. This is simply a good business practice. A means of protecting public tax dollars - something that I think we can all agree needs to be taken seriously.
3. The overwhelming majority of the individuals that I have heard provide testimony on this project live and/or make their living in the proposed project area. They are strongly opposed to the road. Who's testimony should carry more weight than there's? I think you would agree that decisions that affect borough residents should be made as locally as possible.

Thank you for your consideration.

RE: West Susitna Access Road – Public Engagement

Dear Mat-Su Borough Mayor, Manager and Assembly Members,

Thank you for hosting public input opportunities on the proposed West Susitna Access Road and tracking this issue closely. On behalf of our members and business members who fish and utilize the west Susitna River basin, and after attending the recent informational meetings, Trout Unlimited encourages the Matanuska-Susitna Borough reconsider their support of the West Susitna Access Road, request that Alaska Industrial Development & Export Authority (AIDEA) be forthright with the public about their full plans immediately and require third-party cost and benefit analysis of the project before any additional project steps are taken.

Trout Unlimited's Alaska Program (TU) is dedicated to ensuring Alaska's wild trout and salmon populations continue to thrive and the rivers and clean water they depend on remain healthy. We have 10 staff based in Alaska, strong local membership bases in Alaska and the Mat-Su, more than 20,000 members and supporters throughout the state, and a well-established history of supporting bipartisan efforts to protect and conserve fishery resources and contributing to habitat restoration projects in southcentral Alaska.

As a wild landscape within close proximity to Alaska's urban centers, the west Susitna River region is readily accessible and immensely valuable to residents for its abundance of fish and wildlife resources and profuse recreation and economic opportunities – remote cabins and homesteads, lodges and guide operations, whitewater rafting and kayaking, recreational and small-scale mining, dog sledding and snow machining, as well as trapping. Many of our members frequent the West Susitna region for their own recreation, while many of our business members operate lodges, guide services, host fly-in trips, or facilitate multiple-day rafting trips on the very rivers impacted if this road is built.

The sport fishing industry in the Mat-Su valley is an incredible economic asset to the local community. According to a recent economic report, recreational fishing contributed $57.4 million to the local economy in 2017 and supported 370 jobs ("Contribution of recreational fishing in the Matanuska-Susitna Borough to the local economy", Southwick Associates, July 2019). These businesses are viable employers and economic contributors because the region is wild and clients and residents alike come to the area for a remote fishing experience with healthy habitat, intact river systems and robust fish and wildlife populations away from crowds and more developed areas.

Trout Unlimited is concerned about the proposed West Susitna Access Road for the following reasons:

Impacts to fish & game habitat

History has shown that loss of habitat access is a major contributing factor to the decline of wild salmon populations worldwide. Healthy fish habitat, and access to it, are critical to maintaining the Mat-Su's wild fisheries, supporting the Borough's robust recreational hunting & fishing economies, and providing opportunity for area anglers.

The proposed road route will bisect the region, filling in important wetlands habitat and crossing 156 streams, including 145 culverts, only 90 of which are being designed for fish passage. Improperly constructed, or poorly maintained, stream crossings and culverts can block access to critical habitat for adult and juvenile salmon and can severely limit the amount of habitat available. Studies starting in 2001 by Alaska Department of Fish & Games Fish Passage Inventory Program found that 80% of the Borough's culverts were troublesome for fish and thwarted access to more than 400 miles of habitat for juvenile salmon. The Borough and State have dedicated more than 18 million dollars in recent decades to address this problem, replacing more than 115 of the troublesome culverts. The Borough's response to restoring fish passage in the Mat-Su has been impressive, but still more need replaced and the current plan for the West Susitna Access Road would construct 55 additional culverts that block fish habitat.

As an industrial road and infrastructure corridor, the West Susitna Access Road would forever alter the future of the wild region and pave the way for more expansive impacts to currently healthy & intact fish and game habitat. Mining, timber, agriculture, and oil and gas have been touted by AIDEA as justifications for this road and it is unclear how many side roads and additional industrial infrastructure would be needed to access and extract these resources. It can safely be predicted that further impacts to important fish and game habitat corridor can be anticipated and should be assessed as part of the road's potential cumulative impacts.

Inadequate public engagement

Despite consistent feedback, and promises to improve, AIDEA continues to fail to meet standards for a robust and transparent public notice and engagement process. AIDEA's actions thus far have demonstrated that their priority is progressing this project for industrial access and with disregard for public input or transparency. AIDEA has pursued this project for more than three years, yet many of the area property owners and business owners who would be impacted are just now hearing about, or still unaware of, this project. Additionally, numerous significant questions remain unanswered.

At past Borough Assembly meetings and in AIDEA's Online Open House on December 3rd, 2020, community leaders and the public raised concerns that public notice and engagement opportunities, have been minimal and inadequate. The fact that the Mat-Su Borough had to host this public engagement opportunity, despite AIDEA being required to do so in Phase II of the project, is clear evidence of AIDEA's indifference to the public engagement requirements and expectations. For this project to be fully assessed, a robust and full community conversation must be a priority, not a rushed 3-month comment period with two virtual events that lack key details about the project. More public engagement needs to be conducted to answer the questions raised by the public before this project can move into permitting.

One of the primary questions about the project is "will there be public access?". During the December 2021 Mat-Su Borough Assembly Meeting, AIDEA stated the road would be private past the Susitna River, indicating they have a plan. However, in the February 23rd Mat-Su Borough public meeting on the project, AIDEA deflected this question by stating that access would be determined during the permitting process. This is inconsistent and undermines a process that should be transparent and provide meaningful answers to important public questions. It is impossible to evaluate the risks, impacts and opportunities associated with a road without answering this question. As a potential partner in the project, we urge the Mat-Su Borough to require that AIDEA determine the extent of public access prior to applying for any additional permits.

Concerning use of public funds

The current route ends at Nova Minerals' Estelle Gold Project, and without full disclosure of other potential projects and their anticipated economic feasibility, Nova Minerals, a foreign owned mining company, appears to be the primary beneficiary of the construction of the road and use of public funds with no guarantee that costs will be recouped. Spending more than $450 million public dollars to build a road to access Alaska's resources and make projects proposed by foreign-owned, private companies financially viable doesn't make any sense. Industrial development projects should stand on their own two feet and not be reliant on limited public funds.

AIDEA has a poor track record of fast-tracking large, expensive projects without having a cohesive plan in place. There are numerous examples of AIDEA projects, including the Point McKenzie Port and Point McKenzie Railroad Spur, that have wasted limited state dollars on unutilized infrastructure. An independent economic analysis of the costs and benefits of the project to the Mat-Su was recommended in Phase I and we urge this study to be completed prior to any more investment of public funding.

In order to do a full cost accounting of the impacts and benefits this industrial corridor would have, a crystal-clear picture of what other reasonably foreseeable projects the West Susitna Access Road will facilitate must be provided by AIDEA and be a part of the conversation prior to the permitting process. Moving forward without this information puts the state and borough at risk of wasting a significant amount of public funding and impacting important public resources by putting the "cart before the horse" or, in this case, "the road before the need."

TU appreciates the Mat-Su Borough stepping up to lead this public engagement opportunity after AIDEA has done such a poor job of including Borough residents and Alaskans in the conversation. Stakeholders are raising good questions that continue to remain unanswered, however this project continues to be fast tracked for no clear reason.

The Mat-Su Borough is one of the fastest growing places in the country and has the opportunity to continue to be a cherished fishing destination and a leader in promoting and carrying out responsible development in salmon country. From what we've seen of the West Su Access Road thus far, this project would compromise so many of the good things that makes the Mat-Su Valley a great place to live, visit, work and recreate.

Trout Unlimited encourages the Matanuska-Susitna Borough to cease support of the West Susitna Access Road, request AIDEA to be forthright with the public about their full plan and require a third-party cost and benefit analysis to ensure an honest analysis for Borough residents and the state before this project moves forward any further. Please continue to stand up for Borough residents by ensuring they are properly engaged and represented in this process - the health of our public resources, communities and wild fisheries necessitate it.

Sincerely,

We write regarding the West Susitna Access Project.

We strongly oppose the project.

We see absolutely no focus on assessing the permanent impacts of such a project on the sensitive wetlands. The project is focused only on a (short-term) economic assessment. We'd like to know how much money the companies will make at the expense of Alaska's wildlands, its citizens, and its resources. We'd like to know how this project will forever change a wild area so close to Anchorage and Wasilla, and how any of that destruction is worth the relative pittance Alaska will receive in the short run.

Any claim that the project will "open" up recreation areas for Alaska's residents, is baseless. Opening up recreation is not the goal. Stop pretending that it is. Mining is the only goal.

We access our private property in the target area, as do many people. We also know many people who are not local landowners but who venture out to the target area for various recreational activities. The target area has a strong, vibrant history of year-round recreation. We seek the area precisely because there are no roads and because it is a stellar wild area, quintessentially Alaskan, and close to the urban centers.

A plan to introduce roads and to mine in the target area is not development. It is not beneficial or best use of sensitive wildlands. The project is not undertaken with the interests of Alaska citizens in mind. It is ultimately destructive, and undermines the efforts of Alaska to preserve its Big Wild Life and enhance its tourism economy.

The Dunleavy administration, the Matanuska Susitna Borough, and the corporate partners, have no interest in the long-term impacts of the project. Thus, the input of Alaska citizens does not matter to them. We have absolutely no confidence in the Dunleavy Administration, the Borough, or the out of state, foreign corporate partners, to make any credible statements, to put forth credible data, or to care beyond their own jobs and profits.

We are particularly incensed, but not surprised, that the State and the Borough would eagerly undertake to push this project forward on the backs of the citizens of Alaska and the next generation. The basic theme of our elected officials is: shortsighted, desiring to show immediate dollars to constituents, but bailing when the project results in permanent destruction. Stop fighting for the interests of corporations. They are full of money and influence, and they take Alaska's elected officials and its citizens for chumps. Alaska is being taken for a ride by corporate interests, and foolishly giving away its most valuable assets.

How about focusing on the long-term impacts of this project on the wildlands and Alaska citizens, and not the short term dollars?

If the opinion of the people of Alaska mattered, the project would be dead on arrival.

Sincerely,

Shannon Dixon

We live in Skwentna.

We love living there and being part of the close-knit , quirkily-quaint and slightly eccentric river community along the Yentna.

It's unique. It's one of the very last pioneer, off-grid communities in the US. It's special!

A road will irrevocably change the the character of the area and begin the process of making the valley just another part of the road network, festooned with housing subdivisions and businesses. A part of the nation's history will be swallowed up and lost forever.

We are writing to object, even though we know perfectly well that it won't change anything. When all's said and done, money will talk loudest ... It always does.

We've all seen the Hallmark movies where the " bad guys" come from the big city, intent on bringing development that will make them big bucks. There's always one local " Mr Big" who sees the dollar signs and tries to persuade his neighbors that the new development will benefit them.

By the end of the movie, the " bad guy" from the big city realizes how special the community is and what would be lost if the development went ahead. His local accomplice gets his comeuppance and everyone else lives happily ever after.

Sadly, that isn't how this will play out in real life. You'll allow the road .. of course you will. Vote for this and you're the local bad guy, who sees only what's in it for him.

Remember this next time you watch one of those Hallmark feel good films.

If you allow this road, you're choosing to be the bad guy in the movie of your own life. You know it's wrong but you'll do it anyway.

We could give you a whole list of good, logical reasons why the road is a bad idea, but lots of people have already done that.

So we are simply going to appeal to your better nature, in the remote hope that somehow you will listen to your heart instead of your head, see the people and the landscape and not the dollar signs, and make the right decision.

Say " No" to this horrible development.. Stand up to the big guys with the big money Go on..we dare you .!

Be a hero or be a villain. It's up to you.

RE: Comments on Proposed West Susitna Access Road

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter provides comments based on the current status of the above referenced project. We appreciate the opportunity to offer these comments and request that you forward these comments in their entirety to all decision-makers for consideration.

We own a remote cabin property located on Homestead Creek in Sub-Unit 7 (Flathorn Lake) of the Fish Creek Management Plan. Our property is in close proximity (approximately 1 mile) to the proposed road alignment. Our comments reflect our concerns that the project may not be economically viable and that there will be significant impacts to us, to other remote property owners along the alignment, and to the state.

I have spent much of my career as a civil engineer – now retired – planning resource development projects in Alaska. As such, I have some understanding of and support the idea that these types of projects can help to build and support our economy. However, many of these projects are either never built or are delayed for years because the economics are not sound or front-end-planning is inadequate. Over the past two years AIDEA has produced preliminary engineering and economic impact reports in support of this project. Unfortunately, these reports do not provide enough information to determine the potential return on investment (ROI) or otherwise compare costs and benefits (typically via a net-present-value approach). It is also difficult to provide substantive comment or judge the project's viability since most of the details and key assumptions have not been made available to the public. Some of the few cost details that are available in the reports do not make sense to me and are not well explained (e.g., in my opinion, very low bridge cost estimates of $450/SF for complex bridges such as the Susitna and Hayes River crossings). While we understand that this project is still in early development, we respectfully withhold support for this project until a full and transparent independent economic assessment is provided. Despite the current increase in oil prices, we believe our state budget issues will likely continue in the future. Because of this, we believe it is not in the state's best interest to enter into such a large, complex and expensive capital project without due economic diligence. A truly independent review, by a group such as ISER, would provide considerable credibility to the results.

My second comment is related: The project schedule appears to be extraordinarily fast, which almost always creates project risk associated with increased cost and/or failure. Please consider increasing the front-end-planning effort prior to submittal of any permit applications. The Construction Industry Institute (CCI) has completed extensive research on the causes of failure for linear (and other) infrastructure projects. CCI's top weighted issues include proper scheduling, understanding underlying investments, adequately defining funding sources, developing sound cost estimates, and adequately assessing (route) alternatives. These front-end-planning elements are typical precursors to permit applications and significant project cost expenditures. For example, submittal of a Section 404 permit application prior to adequately defining complex bridge crossing issues (e.g., fluvial geomorphology, icing, debris, river traffic, seismic, etc), evaluating alternative routes, proper consideration of public concerns, and the like, is apt to cause schedule delays and increase costs.

One last comment concerning cost is that there may be some contingent or correlated costs that have not been included in the overall project assessment. An example that comes to mind is improvements to Port Mackenzie. Although it would be easy to consider issues at the port as separate from this project, if upgrades to the port are needed to make the road project viable, then they should be disclosed and included in the road's economic assessment.

We also have concerns due to the proximity of the project to the cabins at Flathorn and other remote communities. As has been noted by many people during the online public comment sessions, we do not want a road of any kind in close proximity. We chose to purchase and develop property at Flathorn Lake due to its remote wilderness nature. A road in close proximity Flathorn Lake:

- Is not consistent with the approved Fish Creek Management Plan. The plan states that the primary management intent for Flathorn Lake is to continue the use of this area as a fly-in, recreational cabin destination;
- Would increase the risk of crime in the area, thereby endangering the existing cabin owners and their personal belongings; and,
- Is not required to meet the industrial objectives of the road project.;

The creation of a road with the current alignment will forever negate that Fish Creek Management Plan goal and change the remote character of the Flathorn Lake community.

There are many well-established trails near Flathorn Lake that are used for transportation, recreation, hunting, trapping and fishing opportunities. These local trails should be identified and protected for future use. The current road alignment bisects a number of these trails. The alignment also bisects long-standing hunting areas. The current alignment will significantly disrupt these trails and the activities associated with them.

The current alignment is approximately one-mile from the closest Flathorn cabin, which happens to be ours. Industrial traffic (etc., large trucks) is likely to create noise that will ruin the wilderness nature of Flathorn Lake. We are also concerned about dust impacts and how the traffic will impact the local moose population.

With an understanding of the need to avoid impacts to wetlands and streams, we would like AIDEA to consider an alternative route that moves the alignment approximately three miles north, possibly beginning at the Fish Creek crossing (near or upstream of PMRA104.0). From personal knowledge of the area and a review of aerial maps, it appears that there is an alternative route that could mitigate many of the above stated impacts to Flathorn Lake and avoid additional environmental impacts. If AIDEA would agree, I would be happy to talk with the consulting engineers and wetland scientists involved.

Finally, we understand that multi-disciplinary field studies will need to be completed prior to permitting. We respectfully ask that field studies avoid moose season within a distance of five miles of Flathorn cabins. Other communities such as Alexander Creek and Susitna Station (perhaps others) may have similar concerns. If planned properly, it should be possible to complete the necessary studies without being in these areas at that time. Helicopters are very noisy.

We appreciate AIDEA's mission and the hard work that has gone into this project to date. Please feel free to contact us should you have any questions or concerns with the comments we have provided here. Thank you.

Respectfully,

This project does not make sense for this area. Please do not continue with this development plan.

Fish and wildlife will be at risk. This will likely accelerate climate change and increase wildfire risk. What 'harnessing of alternate energy' is discussed. Road, road noise, pollution, deterioration of peace and quality of life will likely result from this project.

Thank you.

 West Su Borough Comments.pdf

March 31, 2022

Comments to the Mat Su Borough and Mat Su Borough Assembly West Susitna Industrial Access Corridor Proposal

The Susitna River Coalition (SRC) comments on behalf of our more than 14,000 individuals, groups, and businesses who support our work. SRC supports a free-flowing Susitna River. We support the communities and ecosystems that are sustained by the resources of the Susitna River Watershed from the headwaters to the mouth. We focus on the education, engagement, and mobilization of diverse voices to improve decision-making and protect the key resources that are vital to the region's economic success and residential living. We are an Alaskan non-profit based in Talkeetna.

SRC does not support this access proposal. The best interest of Southcentral and the Matanuska Susitna Borough (MSB) is not being met by this plan. SRC does not support this proposal moving into the federal wetlands permitting stage.

PUBLIC PROCESS ISSUES

1. Majority Public Opposition:

Every step of the way through the Memorandum of Understanding phases 1, 2, and 3, the public has been opposed in testimony to AIDEA, the MSB Assembly, and the MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission. The public has almost unanimously testified about the need to stop the momentum of this proposal in order to decide if it should even get to any permitting phase. We wanted a pause. But the public for the most part has been ignored by AIDEA, the MSB and the Dunleavy administration. SRC certainly does not recommend moving forward to the permitting stage until more information about impacts, usage, and an independent cost-benefit analysis is complete.

The MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission official phase 3 MOU comments recommended an in-depth public process to give stakeholders and the communities a rigorous chance to weigh in on this proposal before the phase 3 MOU was put to a vote. That was ignored. Members of the public contended that the phase 1 and 2 MOU contract requirements were not met. This was ignored. That was very unprofessional.

2. The MSB “Too Little, Too Late” Process:

Now that AIDEA intends to apply for a federal wetlands permit in April 2022 and immediately begin the scoping period during the busiest time of the year, now the MSB decides to have a public process. This proposal should not be at the federal permitting stage.

The unanswered question is how can this project get to this permitting stage based on a mere season of very basic studies? How can an application and scoping be allowed to occur when basic baseline field studies will only be occurring this summer after the application and scoping? The application will trigger the federal NEPA process. The conclusion is that the purpose is to fast track this project by making the application now with inadequate data.

The phase 3 pre-development studies to fill data gaps according to MSB IM-21-254 are:

- Refine the engineering that could impact the route alignment, schedule and probable cost,
- Fish and stream surveys,
- Cultural and historical studies,
- Land ownership,
- Preliminary geotechnical investigation, and
- Identify the temporary and permanent footprint impacts.

How can the public make scoping comments on a proposed route that might not even be the exact route?

Will the cultural resource surveys and the National Register of Historic Places evaluations, treatment or avoidance plans have been reviewed by the applicant for the application and scoping process?

FUTURE WORK IN PERMITTING

1. Hydrology:

The water and hydrology data needed for permitting needs to be based on the USGS National Hydrology Dataset (NHD) mapping. This mapping meets the federal standards and is free to all agencies and the public. The NHD updates of Mat Su waters was accomplished by the Alaska Hydrography Technical Working Group made up of state, federal and local agencies.

2. Fish Streams:

Many streams have been well mapped. But many have also not been surveyed for fish. All streams including ephemeral and intermittent streams connected to larger streams should be surveyed for resident and anadromous fish.

The Anadromous Waters Catalog (AWC) which is the Catalog of Waters Important for the Spawning, Rearing or Migration of anadromous and is associated with the Atlas of the same name affords stream protection for streams and their corridors under AS 16.05,81. AWC currently lists 20,000 streams, rivers, and lakes statewide. But ADFG admits that based on thorough surveys of a few drainages, the 20,000 is but a fraction of actual anadromous streams.

The 2018 Nature Conservancy Report's "Landscape mapping of Pacific Salmon and their Freshwater Habitats in the Mat-Su Basin" certainly backs up ADFG's assertion. This shows the need for complete thorough fish presence surveys.

3. Independent Cost-Benefit Analysis Needed:

In every public hearing on this proposal, members have asked for this to happen. What we get instead is an in-house survey.

A truly independent peer-reviewed cost-benefit analysis needs to happen. The data on the current economies must be included. There is a lot at stake.

Residents and non-residents spend a combined 300,000 angler days in the Mat-Su generating 900-1900 local jobs and between $31 to 64 million of personal income. The Susitna Basin contains some of the largest and most valuable salmon habitat in the world. The Alaska Professional Hunter's Association states that the hunting industry directly supported 1890 jobs in 2019 and funnels $40.8 million in direct income to the state. This is a valuable economic driver.

The current investment in habitat protection and rehabilitation must be included in such study. The MSB has spent over $20 million on fish habitat restoration. The replacement of more than 100 non-fish passage culverts has restored over 67 stream miles and 6,224 lake acres of anadromous fish habitat.

Since 2013, the Alaska Board of Fish has taken steps to support rebuilding Mat-Su salmon populations using the best available information and studies. These have shown much success. In particular, major gains were made in the winter of 2020 to secure more salmon passage through the commercial fishery to the natal streams in the Mat-Su. Damage or loss of this and other valuable habitat would directly offset these gains. Between 2007- 2017, economic studies have shown such significant positive economic impacts from returning salmon.

The MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission 2/17/2022 letter to the Alaska Division of Oil and Gas regarding the Susitna Valley CBM Licenses states that the current trend toward in-river fisheries restoration success relies on healthy wetlands, waters, streams and rivers that fish rear in.

This highlights SRC's assertion that all culverts in this proposal must enable fish passage.

The Mt. Susitna Region of the Alaska Department of Natural Resources' 2010 Susitna Matanuska Area Management Plan is one of the major areas that would be impacted by the proposed access. The Mt. Susitna Region encompasses the Mt. Susitna, Little Mt. Susitna, Beluga Mountain uplands, the drainages of the Skwentna, Talachulitna, Beluga, Theodore and Lewis Rivers, and the eastern edge of the Alaska Range above the Hayes River Pass. Of the 26 subunits in this region:

- 21 subunits have a variety of anadromous streams,
- 18 have important moose wintering concentrations, calving and rutting places,
- 11 have bear habitat including spring concentrations for brown bears,
- 16 have dispersed nesting sites and brood rearing areas for trumpeter swans and other waterfowl.

4. Cumulative Impacts for Three Major Proposed Projects of West Susitna Mining Road, Susitna Valley Gas Exploration Licenses and the Donlin Gold natural gas pipeline and fiber optic line within the next 10 years that target the West Susitna Basin must be considered along with the Revision of the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan.

Page 8-25 and 8-27 of the Susitna Valley Gas Exploration License Preliminary Written Finding of the Director shows and discusses the Landscape Condition for the West Susitna Basin. This is a measure of the habitat modification from transportation infrastructure, urban and individual development and the spread of invasive species. The Landscape condition for this proposed West Susitna access is primarily undeveloped and is rated very high. This shows what is at stake when large scale industrial activity for 3 major projects is proposed.

At the same time the Alaska Division of Mining, Land and Water of the Department of Natural Resources has started a public process to “revise” the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan. A lot is at stake in this revision.

It is clear that this Recreation Rivers Plan is needed now more than ever in the face of proposals that mean a lot of water and gravel extraction, construction roads and branches and camps to name a few actions that will ensue. The newly developed access from these 3 major proposals is one of the most significant aspects of projects impacts.

- Portions of the Talachulitna River Management subunit 5a; the Alexander Creek Management subunits 6a, 6b, 6c, and 6d; and the Little Susitna Management subunit 1a are in the West Susitna Access Proposed corridor.
- Portions of the Deshka River subunits 2a-2g; Alexander Creek subunits 6b- 6d; Lake Creek subunits 4a-4e; and Talachulitna River subunits 5c-5f (portions) are within the Susitna Valley Gas License areas.
- It appears that the Donlin Gas Pipeline Right of Way could impact parts of the Talachulitna Recreation River Management Unit.

Susitna Valley Gas Exploration Licenses:

The state Division of Oil and Gas has a preliminary best interest finding for 2 ten year licenses for coalbed methane exploration for a total of 915,494 acres. SRC expects that the Final Finding will be signed as being in the best interests of the state.

The West Susitna Access route goes through the western portions of License Area 1 and the southwest corner of License Area 2.

Donlin Gold Natural Gas Pipeline and Optic Fiber Right of Way:

The proposed ADL 231908 ROW for the 150 wide access corridor would start in the Susitna Flats Game Refuge between the Lewis and Theodore Rivers and goes to the Donlin Gold mine in the Kuskokwim River watershed. The optic fiber corridor would start at Aryshire Road in the Point Mackenzie area.

In some part of all these access routes, the Iditarod Historical Trail, the Donlin pipeline ROW and the West Susitna access proposal will run parallel running through the Susitna Gas Exploration License Areas.

SUSITNA BASIN CLIMATE CHANGE IMPACTS MUST BE CONSIDERED

The impacts from a changing climate will impact engineering decision regarding permafrost, sloughing, drought, and glacier melt just to name a few.

1. Permafrost:

According to the generalized map on page 4-70 of the Alaska LNG Final Environmental Impact study (Figure 4.2.2-1), the general West Susitna access area shows isolated permafrost 0-10% coverage of the region, sporadic permafrost 10-50% coverage along with some discontinuous permafrost which is 50-90% coverage. The applicant will have to determine the amounts of discontinuous permafrost, thaw stable permafrost soils, and thaw unstable soil conditions that are expected to settle more than 1 foot when thawed over time.

Specifications and procedures to manage the effects of permafrost thaw settlement on the roads, culverts and bridge integrity will be needed. Considerations are needed to reduce permafrost thaw and facilitate re-establishment of seasonally active layers. Thaw equilibrium includes backfill placement or ground installations and/or rolled erosion control products.

The Emerging Hazard of Thawing Permafrost:

Thawing permafrost is an emerging hazard in Alaska. Southcentral Alaska is thawing dramatically especially in alpine areas. Once frozen slabs of rock, dirt and ice are releasing trapped liquids. Such releases mean the land is prone to sliding down from the higher elevations.

Plus with climate change impacts, there is more water in the atmosphere. Precipitation becomes more intense. Extreme rain storm events may occur. Rain more than earthquakes are prone to trigger landslides. With this new emerging hazard, it is urgent for road engineering assessments of unstable slopes and locations of hazard road use that may occur. The risk needs to be known. Slope stabilization could be needed.

2. There must be no unmitigated wetlands destruction.

The currently proposed Point MacKenzie route would cross Anderson, Alexander, Upper Sucker, Pierce, Bear and Wolverine Creeks to name a few tributaries as examples. Crossing the Skwentna River watershed would be a big part of the route. The black spruce wetlands that border the Fish Creek area in the southern part of the route are ranked as among the most valuable Mat-Su wetlands. They filter water for salmon bearing streams. The MSB Wetland Management Plan states that studies have shown that the Mat-Su is losing its wetlands faster than any other place in Alaska.

The US Army Corps of Engineers 404 Clean Water Act Permit for the proposed Donlin Gold natural gas pipeline right of way (ROW) only required wetland mitigation for 4 acres. This resulting federal action is outrageous. The pipeline would eliminate 1363 linear feet of streams and 200 acres of wetlands. The MSB has 800 acres in its Wetland Mitigation Bank that could have been used for offsets. Even former MSB Manager Moosey has said without offsets the disappearance of aquatic resources are inevitable. This shows the federal Army Corps of Engineers process cannot be trusted to protect our valuable wetlands on its own. We cannot let what happened with the pipeline wetlands mitigation happen with West Susitna proposed access.

Wetlands and the activities associated with them are key components of the Mat Su economy. Conservation, protection and careful management with no net loss of wetland function and values is necessary. We can't depend on the 404 Clean Water Act permitting process to do this without strong MSB advocacy. Will the MSB let us down? Will the MSB Wetlands Bank be used in wetland mitigation?

SRC supports the MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission Resolution 22-01 dated March 17, 2022. That resolution states:

- The importance of following the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan in guiding the West Su Project design and permit decisions,
- Impacted waters must be surveyed for anadromous fish presence and uploaded to the AWC before finalizing the project design and survey,
- Impacts to anadromous fish passage and habitat, wetlands, riparian zones, water quality, water quantity, wildlife habitat including key migration movement corridors and unique hunting and fishing traditions be avoided, minimized and fully mitigated within the same watershed.

In conclusion, this proposed access will affect thousands of acres of public land and also private land. Not to mention hauling potential hazardous contaminants on an industrial road. From the very beginning in the 2014 West Susitna Access Reconnaissance Study, SRC has remained vigilant about the public process, what is being proposed and the environmental impacts. Our diverse “portfolio” of habitat types in the West Susitna River watershed is key to our fish and wildlife resources, rural and remote lifestyles, and the economies and subsistence uses that are already established.

Re: Development of the West Susitna Access Road

Dear Ms. Yehle and Mr. Sworts:

Chickaloon Native Village (CNV) is a federally-recognized Ahtna Dene Tribe in southcentral Alaska, governed by Chickaloon Village Traditional Council (CVTC). Dene ancestral territory includes much of southcentral Alaska including upper Cook Inlet and most of the Matanuska-Susitna Borough. CNV's traditional area of influence overlaps with neighboring Dene Tribes. Actions that occur within CNV's traditional ancestral territory impact our environment, Dene cultural resources, and the health of our Tribal citizens and community members.

CNV opposes the development of the West Susitna Access Road based on the probable negative impacts to cultural resources, traditional lifeway uses, fish and wildlife habitat, and economics.

Cultural and Traditional Use

The West Susitna area is rich in cultural and ecological resources and has been stewarded by Ahtna and Dena'ina Dene (Peoples) for thousands of years. Streams in the area are home to multiple salmon species. There are notable populations of other cultural resources (food sources) including large and small mammals, fowl, edible and medicinal plants, and other fish. This has been our home for millennia and we have stewarded it collectively so that it is here for today and for future generations.

We are concerned that Tribes, culture bearers, and Tribal archaeologists have not been sufficiently engaged during planning of this proposed road project. In January of 2020, HDR, the consulting firm for the project proponent (Alaska Industrial Development Export Authority, AIDEA) advised that cultural and historic site surveys would be needed.<sup>1</sup> To CVTC's knowledge, Tribes were not contacted nor was field work conducted in 2020. In December of 2020, AIDEA said they would conduct fish surveys, stream surveys, and cultural surveys. To CVTC's knowledge, Tribes were not contacted nor was field work conducted in 2021. In the public meeting of March 23, 2022,

e-mail: cvadmin@chickaloon-nsn.gov

Phone (907) 745-0749 Fax (907) 745-0709
Home Page: <http://www.chickaloon-nsn.gov>

AIDEA stated that this work would be done in summer 2022. Have there been any Tribes contacted to consult on the cultural surveys?

For AIDEA to build the road, they will need to get a federal permit from the Army Corps of Engineers (ACOE) to fill wetlands and create an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS). As part of this process, AIDEA is required by law through the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA) to contact federally-recognized Tribal governments early in the process – in this case presumably by 2020 or 2021 at the latest. AIDEA currently expects to file for their wetlands permit in April 2022 and release a draft EIS in fall or winter 2022. The draft EIS must include the cultural survey work so that the public can review and comment on it regarding whether the survey work is complete or incomplete. The schedule now gives, at most, one season to survey over 100 lineal miles of proposed road for cultural resources, as well as any additional alternatives to the proposed route. Nearly all of the proposed road area that would need to be surveyed is accessible in the summer only by helicopter. It is unrealistic to expect to conduct a thorough, robust, on-site cultural survey over this area in one season.

The lack of outreach by AIDEA to Tribes demonstrates that AIDEA does not follow or value NHPA processes aimed at protecting historic and cultural resources. It also demonstrates that AIDEA leadership does not value cultural history or Tribal knowledge and stewardship responsibilities. If the proposed road is developed, there is a certainty that cultural resources will be impacted through road development, industrial development, potential recreational access, cumulative and other direct and indirect activities.

The Alaska Historic Preservation Act

It is the policy of the state to preserve and protect the historic, prehistoric, and archeological resources of Alaska from loss, desecration, and destruction so that the scientific, historic, and cultural heritage embodied in these resources may pass undiminished to future generations.

Fish and Wildlife

For fish and wildlife to thrive, they need unfettered access to habitat. This is increasingly true as climate change disrupts the winter habitat of migratory animals and the year-round habitats across Alaska.

The West Susitna Access Road would cross 156 streams on the current route, which may have other tributaries – including temporary and ephemeral ones – that contribute water. Many of the 156 streams-to-be-crossed have not been surveyed for fish, especially anadromous fish, nor any tributaries that may contribute important flow to fish habitat. AIDEA intends to have HDR, an environmental consulting firm, conduct stream surveys. There have been projects in the past where consultants have failed to conduct complete surveys<sup>2</sup>. Any stream survey work should be transparent to the public and Tribes, including methods, stream reaches sampled, and dates sampling was conducted. This allows the public and Tribes to contribute broader knowledge to the survey work. It is critical that the streams are properly surveyed in order to add all identified streams to the Anadromous Waters Catalog (AWC) and design appropriate culverts to pass fish, debris, and water at various flow levels.

Between the Phase 1 and Phase 2 report, the estimated number of bridges was reduced from 24 to 11. Were these changes due to a change in the road route, or did design change to put in culverts at 13 of the sites formerly proposed to have bridges? Installing culverts instead of bridges could cause barriers to fish over time.

As the West Susitna Access Road is currently planned, it could see 400+ vehicles per day (many of which could be large mining support vehicles) and require over 400 culverts. In the Mat-Su Borough, and statewide, culverts frequently ice up, fill with debris, scour out, and in other ways block fish passage from miles of upstream habitats and lakes.<sup>3</sup> In the complex terrain this road is proposed to cross, including terrain prone to flooding and freezing, this will certainly occur, reducing fish access within the area. The Mat-Su Borough and State of Alaska currently struggle to find funding to replace old culverts with ones designed for unimpeded fish-passage (and proper debris passage); this is a costly enterprise. The Mat-Su Borough needs to ensure that fish-friendly culverts or bridges are installed for all anadromous stream crossings; without this in writing, entities such as AIDEA that fund construction of the road may undersize culverts, potentially leaving the Mat-Su Borough with the cost of replacing them.

Wetlands are also critical to fish and wildlife for maintaining clean water and providing reproductive habitats, including bird nesting habitat. Wetlands are also critical for mitigating flood events and storing carbon. The road would cross a massive area of wetlands. If this project is allowed to move forward, it is critical that the road project contribute to a wetland mitigation bank and preserve similar acres of similar functional habitat within the Mat-Su Borough.

AIDEA also seems to promote the idea that timber harvesting will reduce wildfires. The most severe wildfires are often those that burn along the ground. For this proposed project, have professional wildland firefighters identified areas of timber that should be cleared to reduce wildland fires? There is currently a large swath of beetle-kill spruce in the area, but it is unlikely to be good timber years from now when the road is constructed and opened. To access the timber, there would need to be potentially hundreds of miles of logging roads. The Mat-Su Borough has stated they want to develop a timber industry in the area but has not spoken about the logging roads that would be needed, or the considerable damage they would cause to streams, riparian areas, and wetlands. They would also open up areas to ATV traffic that would likely further erode wetlands and natural areas, as has occurred in the Jonesville area in Sutton. We support small mills using local trees to produce lumber, but we object to wide-scale deforestation, wide-scale logging, and destruction of wilderness habitats, particularly without researching and evaluating reasonably foreseeable consequences and cost-benefit analyses.

Mining

Although AIDEA says this is a road to open up agriculture, timber, and renewable energy projects in addition to access to mining leases, the only financing for the AIDEA studies has come from AIDEA and a single mining company (Nova Minerals, operating as AKO, LLC) with leases in the Alaska Range. The West Susitna Access Road is essentially a road to their proposed mining project(s). AIDEA has also stated that the “initial primary use” for the road would be for exploration and construction of mines, and recreation.<sup>4</sup> The road would also benefit the mining company Nova Gold (unrelated to Nova Minerals) which is developing the Donlin gold mine in the Kuskokwim area because it would “parallel” 57 miles of the planned 315-mile long natural gas pipeline that Donlin gold mine needs to develop to power their operations. AIDEA would clear the land and build up the road to facilitate the pipeline through challenging landscapes of wetlands and mountains. CNV does not support the mining projects in the Alaska Range.

Economics

In “Phase I” of this project AIDEA funded two days of helicopter flights to visually inspect the area, which confirmed that there will be costly challenges to building and maintaining a road. A 19-page memo (not an actual report)<sup>5</sup> documents areas with groundwater, including groundwater posing flood risks, that is expected to require “extensive hydrologic and geotechnical study”.<sup>6</sup> A wide diversity of terrain would need to be crossed, including canyons and wetlands that “could be challenging from a geotechnical perspective” and/or greatly increase the cost of building and/or maintaining the road.<sup>7</sup> The Denali Park Road and Dalton Highway are experiencing closures that foretell what the West Susitna Access Road could experience.<sup>8</sup> The costs of building the West Susitna Access Road could dramatically escalate once construction actually starts, and maintenance is likely to be “challenging and costly” for at least some,<sup>9</sup> if not all, sections of the road.

The AIDEA Phase 2 study estimates the road will cost about $357 million to build. In the March 23, 2022, public meeting, AIDEA quoted “$300 to $400 million.” Information gained from the March 23, 2022, meeting, stated AIDEA’s bridge cost estimates were greatly under-estimated. The $357 million estimate does not include the cost of applying for the wetlands fill permit, or for the studies and field work necessary to write the EIS, or for the period of public and agency review of the draft EIS. AIDEA is already promoting unreasonable costs to the public regarding this project.

Aesthetic value of intact landscape through tourism is worth far more fiscal benefit than mining has ever been for Alaska. People come to Alaska to view the wildlife and enjoy the wilderness not to look at mining and extractive industries. Due to climate change, Alaska should not be investing money into fossil fuels and should be investing in alternative, renewable energy. For example, according to the Alaska Resource Development Council, the Direct State and Borough Revenue from Tourism and Fisheries was $338 million vs $166 million for all mining, and combined payroll for Tourism and Fisheries was $3.5 billion vs $900 million for all mining. It would appear our larger state revenue opportunity is currently Tourism and Fisheries. If the state is considering a $300 million+ investment into a road, to the nearest $10 million what is the incremental revenue to the State and Mat-Su Borough from this investment to our state and Mat-Su Borough Revenue streams? And, will a comparative economic analysis be part of this study?

A very similar project is being promoted by AIDEA in the Brooks Range, touting a 200-mile-long road through terrain that would require dozens of bridges and hundreds of culverts. In October 2019, AIDEA was looking at an additional $718,000 to cover costs related to finishing work to get to the stage of applying for construction permits.<sup>10</sup> Road construction costs, originally estimated to be around $190 million have climbed to around $400 million and may escalate to near $1 billion.<sup>11</sup>

The expense of the proposed West Susitna Access Road project is extraordinary and does not include a financial evaluation of the loss of prime fish and wildlife habitat, cultural resources, mitigations, or existing economies.

CNV objects to the West Susitna Access Road due to damage that the road itself will cause and the culturally and environmentally damaging activities the road will bring to this region that Indigenous Peoples have stewarded for thousands of years.

We do not need another mine here in such a sensitive ecosystem with so many other valuable resources, people, and subsistence lifestyles that would be impacted. Our salmon are already under threat. There are roads all over the world and all of them "impact the environment" simply by existing. However, this road would lead to a mine, which would put a giant hole in the ground, and immensely impact the wildlife in the area and beyond. You mention 156 stream crossings. Well everything flows downstream. The direct area the road is in will not be the only area affected. No matter how "clean" or "beneficial" the mine would be, I have grown up in Alaska, visited the abandoned Hatcher mines, have seen the remnants of the mines in McCarthy... I just don't believe that once the mining is over the area will go back to normal. This far north, the regrowth and recovery of the environment, even after a four wheeler has driven over the tundra, takes years. A road and a mine and a timber area will create a scar that will not heal within yours or my lifetime, and probably not the lifetime of our grandchildren. What a legacy. --

As a upper Susitna valley resident i enjoy hiking, fishing, guiding, snow machining, rafting, and camping. We often take family trips west of the parks hwy. I have many concerns about the West Susitna Access road. First and foremost is the environmental impact of such a massive project; we're still currently as Mat-su residents paying to have infrastructure removed and replaced because of poor design for juvenile salmon. The economics of this project are also very concerning, why are we putting money towards these huge projects that have little to no economic gain for residents, but all of the downside of the impact. Aidea needs to be funding sustainable projects for alaskans, not these grandiose environmental catastrophes. Please reach out to me if you have anything that needs clarified, or if you would like to actually speak with a resident versus business interests.

I am the President of Tal, Inc. and submit these comments on behalf of the corporation, which is composed of 18 shareholders who own a private lodge near the mouth of the Talachulitna River. Tal, Inc. opposes the proposed road. The proposed road alignment runs approximately a mile north of our lodge. The owners use the river and surrounding area for recreation, fishing, and hunting. There is no demonstrated feasibility for the road and there is a lack of any discussion on cost vs benefit. Construction of the proposed road would adversely impact our use of the area, as well as adversely impact environmental and social values in the area. Specific areas of concern include:

1. Increased traffic and hunting/fishing pressure, resulting in degradation of habitat and fish & game populations.
2. Potential for increased trespass and other crime.
3. Increased fire danger.
4. Alteration of wetlands and water resources causing harm to fish and game populations.
5. Noise impacts which degrade the wilderness aspects of the area.

It should be private at the very least. See below. Thanks

I do not support the proposed access road. This will greatly impact the residents and cabin owners who have exhausted resources to access this area that is so close to the largest population in Alaska. A road will put strain on hunting and fishing in the area which will lead to a decline in resources and ultimately more regulations or closures. Historically, all road accessible fishing and hunting has declined and caused further regulations limiting the opportunity.

Because the road would allow vehicle and trailer access, ATV's could gain access to otherwise inaccessible areas. With the advancement of ATVs, the landscape would become inundated with trails, bogs, and camp sites changing the current landscape forever. Recreational camps would drastically increase the chance of wildfire. Human conflict will be inevitable, trespassing and theft will be an immediate concern. Many cabins are left unattended for months at a time creating opportunity for thieves.

This road only benefits the mining industry. Aircraft and snowcats have been a substantial means of access for decades. Destroying a recreational area for many is not worth the benefit to companies that has the capacity to use alternative means of transportation.

Thank you

Hi

I am a new land owner on the Susitna river, I bought a lot in Historic Susitna Station witch where the proposed road would come through.

Myself as well as other jump at a chance to be fortunate enough to find some remote property that we can be able get away from everyday life, if I would have known this road was a possibility I would not have bought it.

This road access will enable a lot of people easy access to cabins as most owners leave them unattended therefore a lot of theft will happen.

I have attend a lot on the meeting and there are so many more people that oppose the road access than support it.

The only reason this road is getting pushed through is for the mine to have gas and road access.

I defiantly oppose this road access moving forward and would be glad to help anyway I can.

Thank You

Hello - I am writing to express opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road. There is no reason that the State of Alaska or the Mat Su Borough should be paying for an incredibly expensive mining road that will benefit an Australian mining company. Additionally, the road passes through sensitive wilderness and fish habitat that should be protected. I am strongly opposed to this project.

Kendra Zamzow Redacted >

Dear Ms. Yehle and Mat-Su Borough:

I have many concerns about this road, and particularly about the process that this project seems to be on towards approval.

Basic Information is missing: public road or private mining road?

Downsides of a private mining road

AIDEA (the project developers) have continually flip-flopped between whether this would be a private road, a public road, or a "mix". If it is a private road, it would be a road to a mining district which currently appears to have one interested mining developer. This appears to be a small junior exploration company that would need to attract a major -- a company that has actually built and run mines -- before any actual mines would go into operation. This means that any income or benefit to the state and borough would be years down the road, and could potentially never be seen. They would need to drill enough to show high enough grade and ore body extent to attract investors, then go through the permitting process, and meanwhile very likely have to fight off lawsuits, which could cause investors or "major" company partners to exit the project. As far as I can see, the ore in this area is mostly gold -- which we don't need -- or coal -- which we should actively avoid as we transition off of carbon-emitting fuels.

Building a private road now, for a project that is currently in such early stages of development, with potentially no benefit at the end, seems -- at the very least -- unwise.

Logging roads as reasonably foreseeable impacts

The borough has suggested it would open up timber operations if the road were public. They have not discussed what could potentially be extreme damage to streams, wetlands, and riparian habitats if logging roads leave from the main AIDEA road to criss-cross the landscape. AIDEA's "Preliminary Engineering Report" does not appear to note the acres of wetlands that would be crossed by the AIDEA road -- nor do the routes or mapbook show the extent of wetlands. AIDEA relies on a 2014 Field Reconnaissance report to choose a route that would avoid the most wetlands, but that report notes that much of the area had not been surveyed for wetlands. There was also a 19-page memo in 2020 identifying which route would avoid/minimize wetlands, but again it did not specify the acres of wetlands. While most timber would not be located on wetlands, wetlands and streams may need to be crossed to access timber. I did not see that kind of basic information in the documents available. While I would support opening up land to small timber and milling operations, I would want a good idea of where the timber is, and what areas would be damaged to reach it.

Agriculture?

The borough has also said they want to open up the area to agriculture. Again, I don't know if the land is suitable for agriculture. Before we open up new land for agriculture -- how about if we STOP building subdivisions on prime farm land in the Palmer area?! Subdivisions are currently destroying farm land at an alarming rate -- in an area with the best soil in the state. Alaska has the highest rate of new farmers entering into the business, and many of them are young. Is the availability of land the real issue? I'm not sure it is. It might be that what is needed are more micro- and macro-grants to new farmers and small farmers. I know the micro-grant program, which loans up to $5,000, is overwhelmed with applications whenever they offer grants. Perhaps there is more of a need to get farmers the capital they need, and to help with marketing and distribution, more than there is a need to destroy fish and wildlife habitat to create open areas for farms -- if the soil is even worth farming in those areas.

Basic information missing: how many salmon streams?

The area west of the Susitna River supports innumerable streams -- many trickling out of wetlands -- in addition to the major rivers. Very few of these have been surveyed for fish. Time should be taken to determine what kinds of fish live in these streams and how they are used (spawning, rearing, passing through). Of course, any streams with anadromous fish need to be documented to provide the best protections if a road is built over them.

General concerns

Generally where there is development, there are negative impacts on fish and wildlife. An exception might be that moose thrive where areas are cleared then left to re-grow, as they will be attracted to the new shrub growth. Another exception is some birds that thrive in and on the edges of human environments. However, if there are also roads, moose get hit by cars, trucks, and trains.

Off-road vehicles are particularly detrimental to habitat. While some people are respectful and like to use their vehicle to get further into the quiet wilderness to spend time there, many seem to be disrespectful of the land, animals, habitat, and even other people.

My main concern with this road is the impact on fish and wildlife, and in particular the way it could open up natural areas to off-road vehicles. I would not be opposed to logging roads, if they avoid streams and wetlands, and if off-road vehicles could be kept from straying off of these. I would support small timber operations and small mills if logging and ATVs are controlled to not destroy additional habitat. I would not be opposed to opening up agricultural land, if that is an actual need and if the soil is good -- and again, that there is a way to control ATVs from going off dirt and gravel roads into natural landscapes, including wetlands.

I would support having the borough and state, and associated departments and agencies, work with Indigenous people to develop management plans. This should be done regardless of whether development is proposed in an area, but particularly there should be consultation and a working relationship if previously undeveloped areas are to enter a development phase.

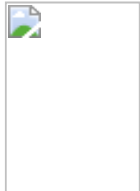

Tsin'aen (thank you) for the opportunity to comment.

RE: Public Comment Against the Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Please stop all efforts to build the proposed West Susitna Access Road. It is a mistake. And it is a classic mistake that has been made in Alaska many times before.

A definition of insanity is: doing the same thing multiple times and expecting different outcomes.

This principle of insanity has been proven by the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and AIDEA many times before. Mega-project after mega-project have failed because the MSB and AIDEA put the 'cart before the horse'. They committed to massive projects without having the economic justification for the projects in place.

The MSB and AIDEA's record of economic insanity is horrendous: Pt. Mackenzie dairy farms were built without a market for the milk. A ferry was built with no port for it to dock at in Anchorage. A port facility that was built when there were hardly any customers or need for it. Money was poured into studies for a Knik Arm bridge that made no economic sense. The same with the proposed Susitna River dam. A

Please add to the record for public comment.

Hello, I believe the MatSu Borough should cease all efforts with the West Susitna Road access for a number of reasons. First, currently the Borough is inadequately served by law enforcement, as well as road maintenance and adding another 100 miles of rural service area doesn't make sense. Secondly, adding easier access to rural mining claims only makes it easier for foreign entities the privilege of exporting our valuable resources overseas. Currently over 85% of Alaska's gold not only leaves the state but also the country. Alaska collectively receives very minimal royalties from mineral extraction as it is and this access road would only be selling out more of what little is left to mostly foreign entities. Third, we have an issue with rural trash and litter and there are remnants of all various types of mining infrastructure littered across the state from derelict buildings to broken down equipment, to illegal dams and everything else down to barrels and outhouses. Mining is invasive and to make it easier to mine makes it easier to compromise a healthy environment and waterways. Lastly, i've been recreational prospecting and mining for almost 30 years, mostly on the current road system in recreational areas open to the public, and have never been checked by law enforcement of the AK DNR who issues the permits...not once; not to check if i even had a permit, not to check on tailings leachate, not to check on boundaries...nothing. Alaska has no state mining law enforcement except the state troopers, again an already heavily taxed agency. Unless there is a guarantee all extracted resources are to stay in America, preferably for Alaska and Alaskans collectively, i can not and will not support any more roads to future mining discoveries. Take for instance POGO Mine - 52 miles of rural roadway that Alaskans cannot use to access anything including hunting, trapping, fishing, cabin sites, etc. All it takes is a company with deep pockets to buy up the majority of the claims and block out all other activity. For all of these reasons and many more, i strictly oppose the West Susitna Access Road.

Sincerely,

I am writing to express my opposition to the West Susitna Industrial Access Road.

There are numerous reasons why I believe the risks of this project outweigh any possible rewards to the borough and borough residents but out of respect for your time I will keep my comments limited to 3 points.

1. The road as proposed is slated to be public only to the Susitna. All of the cost estimates AIDEA has presented are for a private industrial road. Why should AK residents and US citizens pay to develop a road for a foreign company?
2. An independent economic analysis of the costs and benefits to the Mat-Su was recommended back well before this phase of the process. It has still not been undertaken. If AIDEA has nothing to hide and truly believes this will be a benefit to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and borough residents then certainly they wouldn't have any problem with an independent assessment being completed before going forward with the project. This is simply a good business practice. A means of protecting public tax dollars - something that I think we can all agree needs to be taken seriously.
3. The overwhelming majority of the individuals that I have heard provide testimony on this project live and/or make their living in the proposed project area. They are strongly opposed to the road. Who's testimony should carry more weight than there's? I think you would agree that decisions that affect borough residents should be made as locally as possible.

Thank you for your consideration.

We write regarding the West Susitna Access Project.

We strongly oppose the project.

We see absolutely no focus on assessing the permanent impacts of such a project on the sensitive wetlands. The project is focused only on a (short-term) economic assessment. We'd like to know how much money the companies will make at the expense of Alaska's wildlands, its citizens, and its resources. We'd like to know how this project will forever change a wild area so close to Anchorage and Wasilla, and how any of that destruction is worth the relative pittance Alaska will receive in the short run.

Any claim that the project will "open" up recreation areas for Alaska's residents, is baseless. Opening up recreation is not the goal. Stop pretending that it is. Mining is the only goal.

We access our private property in the target area, as do many people. We also know many people who are not local landowners but who venture out to the target area for various recreational activities. The target area has a strong, vibrant history of year-round recreation. We seek the area precisely because there are no roads and because it is a stellar wild area, quintessentially Alaskan, and close to the urban centers.

A plan to introduce roads and to mine in the target area is not development. It is not beneficial or best use of sensitive wildlands. The project is not undertaken with the interests of Alaska citizens in mind. It is ultimately destructive, and undermines the efforts of Alaska to preserve its Big Wild Life and enhance its tourism economy.

The Dunleavy administration, the Matanuska Susitna Borough, and the corporate partners, have no interest in the long-term impacts of the project. Thus, the input of Alaska citizens does not matter to them. We have absolutely no confidence in the Dunleavy Administration, the Borough, or the out of state, foreign corporate partners, to make any credible statements, to put forth credible data, or to care beyond their own jobs and profits.

We are particularly incensed, but not surprised, that the State and the Borough would eagerly undertake to push this project forward on the backs of the citizens of Alaska and the next generation. The basic theme of our elected officials is: shortsighted, desiring to show immediate dollars to constituents, but bailing when the project results in permanent destruction. Stop fighting for the interests of corporations. They are full of money and influence, and they take Alaska's elected officials and its citizens for chumps. Alaska is being taken for a ride by corporate interests, and foolishly giving away its most valuable assets.

We love living there and being part of the close-knit , quirkily-quaint and slightly eccentric river community along the Yentna.

It's unique. It's one of the very last pioneer, off-grid communities in the US. It's special!

A road will irrevocably change the the character of the area and begin the process of making the valley just another part of the road network, festooned with housing subdivisions and businesses. A part of the nation's history will be swallowed up and lost forever.

We are writing to object, even though we know perfectly well that it won't change anything.
When all's said and done,money will talk loudest ... It always does.

We've all seen the Hallmark movies where the " bad guys" come from the big city, intent on bringing development that will make them big bucks. There's always one local " Mr Big" who sees the dollar signs and tries to persuade his neighbors that the new development will benefit them.

By the end of the movie, the " bad guy" from the big city realizes how special the community is and what would be lost if the development went ahead. His local accomplice gets his comeuppance and everyone else lives happily ever after.

Sadly, that isn't how this will play out in real life. You'll allow the road .. of course you will. Vote for this and you're the local bad guy, who sees only what's in it for him.

Remember this next time you watch one of those Hallmark feel good films.

If you allow this road, you're choosing to be the bad guy in the movie of your own life. You know it's wrong but you'll do it anyway.

We could give you a whole list of good, logical reasons why the road is a bad idea, but lots of people have already done that.

So we are simply going to appeal to your better nature, in the remote hope that somehow you will listen to your heart instead of your head, see the people and the landscape and not the dollar signs, and make the right decision.

Say " No" to this horrible development.. Stand up to the big guys with the big money Go on..we dare you .!

We do not need another mine here in such a sensitive ecosystem with so many other valuable resources, people, and subsistence lifestyles that would be impacted. Our salmon are already under threat. There are roads all over the world and all of them "impact the environment" simply by existing. However, this road would lead to a mine, which would put a giant hole in the ground, and immensely impact the wildlife in the area and beyond. You mention 156 stream crossings. Well everything flows downstream. The direct area the road is in will not be the only area affected. No matter how "clean" or "beneficial" the mine would be, I have grown up in Alaska, visited the abandoned Hatcher mines, have seen the remnants of the mines in McCarthy... I just don't believe that once the mining is over the area will go back to normal. This far north, the regrowth and recovery of the environment, even after a four wheeler has driven over the tundra, takes years. A road and a mine and a timber area will create a scar that will not heal within yours or my lifetime, and probably not the lifetime of our grandchildren. What a legacy. --

First and foremost is the environmental impact of such a massive project; we're still currently as Mat-su residents paying to have infrastructure removed and replaced because of poor design for juvenile salmon. The economics of this project are also very concerning, why are we putting money towards these huge projects that have little to no economic gain for residents, but all of the downside of the impact. Aidea needs to be funding sustainable projects for alaskans, not these grandiose environmental catastrophes. Please reach out to me if you have anything that needs clarified, or if you would like to actually speak with a resident versus business interests.

There is no demonstrated feasibility for the road and there is a lack of any discussion on cost vs benefit. Construction of the proposed road would adversely impact our use of the area, as well as adversely impact environmental and social values in the area. Specific areas of concern include:

1. Increased traffic and hunting/fishing pressure, resulting in degradation of habitat and fish & game populations.
2. Potential for increased trespass and other crime.
3. Increased fire danger.
4. Alteration of wetlands and water resources causing harm to fish and game populations.
5. Noise impacts which degrade the wilderness aspects of the area.

It should be private at the very least. See below. Thanks

I do not support the proposed access road. This will greatly impact the residents and cabin owners who have exhausted resources to access this area that is so close to the largest population in Alaska. A road will put strain on hunting and fishing in the area which will lead to a decline in resources and ultimately more regulations or closures. Historically, all road accessible fishing and hunting has declined and caused further regulations limiting the opportunity.

Because the road would allow vehicle and trailer access, ATV's could gain access to otherwise inaccessible areas. With the advancement of ATVs, the landscape would become inendated with trails, bogs, and camp sites changing the current landscape forever. Recreational camps would drastically increase the chance of wildfire. Human conflict will be inevitable, trespassing and theft will be an immediate concern. Many cabins are left unattended for months at a time creating opportunity for thieves.

This road only benefits the mining industry. Aircraft and snowcats have been a substantial means of access for decades. Destroying a recreational area for many is not worth the benefit to companies that has the capacity to use alternative means of transportation.

Thank you

Myself as well as other jump at a chance to be fortunate enough to find some remote property that we can be able get away from everyday life, if I would have known this road was a possibility I would not have bought it.

This road access will enable a lot of people easy access to cabins as most owners leave them unattended therefore a lot of theft will happen.

I have attend a lot on the meeting and there are so many more people that oppose the road access than support it.

The only reason this road is getting pushed through is for the mine to have gas and road access.

I defiantly oppose this road access moving forward and would be glad to help anyway I can.

Dear Ms. Yehle and Mat-Su Borough:

I have many concerns about this road, and particularly about the process that this project seems to be on towards approval.

Basic Information is missing: public road or private mining road?

Downsides of a private mining road

AIDEA (the project developers) have continually flip-flopped between whether this would be a private road, a public road, or a "mix". If it is a private road, it would be a road to a mining district which currently appears to have one interested mining developer. This appears to be a small junior exploration company that would need to attract a major -- a company that has actually built and run mines -- before any actual mines would go into operation. This means that any income or benefit to the state and borough would be years down the road, and could potentially never be seen. They would need to drill enough to show high enough grade and ore body extent to attract investors, then go through the permitting process, and meanwhile very likely have to fight off lawsuits, which could cause investors or "major" company partners to exit the project. As far as I can see, the ore in this area is mostly gold -- which we don't need -- or coal -- which we should actively avoid as we transition off of carbon-emitting fuels.

Building a private road now, for a project that is currently in such early stages of development, with potentially no benefit at the end, seems -- at the very least -- unwise.

However, a private road would be the least damaging. A public road to a mining area would result in much greater damage.

Logging roads as reasonably foreseeable impacts

The borough has suggested it would open up timber operations if the road were public. They have not discussed what could potentially be extreme damage to streams, wetlands, and riparian habitats if logging roads leave from the main AIDEA road to criss-cross the landscape. AIDEA's "Preliminary Engineering Report" does not appear to note the acres of wetlands that would be crossed by the AIDEA road -- nor do the routes or mapbook show the extent of wetlands. AIDEA relies on a 2014 Field Reconnaissance report to choose a route that would avoid the most wetlands, but that report notes that much of the area had not been surveyed for wetlands. There was also a 19-page memo in 2020 identifying which route would avoid/minimize wetlands, but again it did not specify the acres of wetlands. While most timber would not be located on wetlands, wetlands and streams may need to be crossed to access timber. I did not see that kind of basic information in the documents available. While I would support opening up land to small timber and milling operations, I would want a good idea of where the timber is, and what areas would be damaged to reach it.

Agriculture?

The borough has also said they want to open up the area to agriculture. Again, I don't know if the land is suitable for agriculture. Before we open up new land for agriculture -- how about if we STOP building subdivisions on prime farm land in the Palmer area?! Subdivisions are currently destroying farm land at an alarming rate -- in an area with the best soil in the state. Alaska has the highest rate of new farmers entering into the business, and many of them are young.

To whom it may concern

My wife Lynne, daughter Ashley and myself have owned and operated Moosehorn Lodge ( Remote fishing- and huntinglodge) on Sevenmile Lake, since 1988!

We are catering mainly to European clients, for remote flyout and fishing.

Over the years, we where able to aquire a great clientelle, giving our customers a true remote fishing adventure.

In the last thirty or so years, we were able to bring several million dollars into the local economy. ( Air- charters, guides, lodge- employees, pilots, mechanics, fuelsuppliers, food- retailstores , insurance providers etc. ...)

The earnings from Moosehornlodge is our sole sorce of income.

With this proposed " west susitna access Rd. ", which will pass our lodge within only a few miles , our livelyhood will be in serious jeopardy!!!

Not to mention the environmental impact on our prestine untouched nature out here!

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Dear subscriber,

The Borough Public Engagement Comment & Outreach Summary is available on the project website. The next steps are to:

- Present the Comment & Outreach Summary to the Borough Assembly on April 19, 2022.
- Submit the Comment & Outreach Summary to agencies during Environmental permitting.
- Closeout documentation.

This will end the Borough's official public engagement about the proposed West Susitna Access Road project. To continue to participate in the project process please address comments to either the regulatory agency seeking comments or to the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA).

Note: This subscriber list will merge with the AIDEA subscriber list regarding this project. If you no longer want to receive project emails, please unsubscribe.

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska- Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings
- Determine if the road would be public or strictly industrial

View the interactive map on Borough project website: <https://west-susitna-access.matsugov.us>

View project documents on the AIDEA project website: <https://www.aidea.org/Programs/Project-Development/West-Susitna-Access>

"Generally, businesses preferred more access or the existing limited access depending on their business model."

Let me rephrase this to make it slightly clearer given the specific context: Given a choice of Yes or No in regard to supporting the road, generally businesses chose Yes or No, depending on their business model.

Further, this does not seem to accurately reflect that most (~66%) of business respondents "opposed" the road.

Dear Project Proponents -

The summary is interesting to see. However, I - and I suspect most of us that commented - would like answers to the questions stated and/or implied in our comment submittals. Response to individual public comments is typical and a responsibility of the project proponents. Simply categorizing the public's interest does little to address the concerns stated. With respect...what is the plan to provide those answers?

Hi Shawn - The Borough Assembly tasked our team with building a summary of comments representing public opinion about the project. The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) will be the organization answering the questions in many of the comments. For example as a result of the comments, AIDEA plans to arrange an independent cost benefit analysis of the project.

Thank you, Camden.

I appreciate you sharing this data. I thought your summary report was good and representative of comments that I also heard. I was, however, highly concerned about Mike Brown's report to the Assembly last week, stating that there is now only roughly 60% opposition (his numbers) to this project as opposed to the 80% from December. I was unable to find a single graph that supported this statement. This information is clearly misleading and is not accurate from any of the data presented.

As I know Mr. Brown is on this email, I would like to point out that this first graph - provided from this supporting data, shows an overwhelming number of people opposed, via public sentiment or otherwise, to the road if it is not public (using percentages or not) and that the graph from your summary report on page 4 from your 2nd and final public meeting, shows overwhelming opposition/public sentiment for the road (graph 2). I think it's very important that if the Borough spend the time and money to conduct these public meetings, the information gathered at them is portrayed accurately and with the intentions and interest of the public at the core of the work the Borough is doing. There may need to be an additional guidance document created for interpreting these graphs if you're not going to provide numbers, so that information can be accurately reported in the future by Borough employees.

Do you support the road? (Public Meeting 2)

- No
- Yes
- Yes, but only if it has public access

We'll certainly take your request into consideration. I'd like to reiterate our appreciation for your work on this as well as the efforts of the Borough to collect information.

Cheers,
Melissa

Hi Brad,

Thank you for the response and clarification. Looking at these numbers, it still shows that unless the road is public, which it currently is not designed for or budgeted for past the Susitna River - according to AIDEA responses at both the December meeting and the public Borough meetings, then 82% are opposed to the road using these numbers you're referencing. I don't feel that this was the message that was portrayed to the Assembly. Am I missing something? I feel like I must be.

Thank you,
Melissa

Hi Paul - Yes it is challenging to summarize an obvious statement like that. My attempt was to point out that businesses were saying what made sense, as in remote lodges wanted to remain remote and mining interests and some agricultural businesses wanted more road access.

Hi Erich – The Borough's public involvement project for the West Susitna Access Road has ended and our team is no longer taking comments, but we did include your similar comment you sent to the Assembly on December 21, 2022 in the comment summary. I've attached your previous comment for reference. There will be another opportunity for comment when the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority officially files for a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers permit and the National Environmental Policy Act process begins.

We are catering mainly to European clients, for remote flyout and fishing.
Over the years, we where able to aquire a great clientelle, giving our customers a true remote fishing adventure.
In the last thirty or so years, we were able to bring several million dollars into the local economy. ( Air- charters, guides, lodge- employees, pilots, mechanics, fuelsuppliers, food- retailstores , insurance providers etc. ...)
The earnings from Moosehornlodge is our sole sorce of income.

With this proposed " west susitna access Rd. ", which will pass our lodge within only a few miles , our livelihood will be in serious jeopardy!!!
Not to mention the environmental impact on our prestine untouched nature out here!

We are strongly against the construction of such a road !!

Mr. Sharrock,

The Mayor and Borough Manager have asked me to respond to your questions which are near the end of your email below. I have provided answers based on what we currently know. More information will be available when the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority officially files a permit application with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the National Environmental Policy Act process begins.

Please acknowledge that you received this email.

I have lived in Anchorage for over 75 years and my wife has lived here for almost 82 years.

Disclosure: My family has owned recreation property for 52 years on West Lake next to Horseshoe Lake just north of Big Lake.

I fully support meaningful and viable development in Alaska.

This proposed road project reminds me of another project about 13 or 14 years ago. It was called the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project. If I recall correctly, the intent was to shorten the current rail route for moving minerals (Coal and other possible mineral finds) from the interior to the Port of Seward.

Originally, The Matanuska-Borough (MSB) assembly had approved a rail route from Port MacKenzie to Willow. It was called the Willow Route. Someone decided that just one route was not sufficient enough for the public to make an informed decision. Because this was a route for a railroad, The National Surface Transportation Board (STB) had to become involved. (The STB was the only carryover after the U. S. Department of Commerce ended)

After further reviews were concluded, three routes were selected - Willow, Big Lake, and Houston. New public meetings were held by the borough and the STB. The STB would later issue a thick Environmental Impact Statement. (EIS). The State of Alaska had invested $200 million up to that point.

The report covered all matters required by the STB and included maps. One map showed small lakes near Horseshoe Lake. A small lake had been omitted. I filed a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to find out who made the omission. The man from the STB called me and said the map was provided by the MSB (I took notes of the phone call). He asked me if I wanted to continue with my request. Not knowing the cost I would incur, I said no. The final report was issued by STB. It recommended the Houston Route and a "Record of Decision" was issued by the three-man STB.

The denial of the Willow Route was based on Section 4(f) of STB regulations that stated that if a route crosses designated park, recreational, etc land, a route could not be approved. The Willow route touched a sliver of land in the Nancy Lake Recreational area and possible intrusion on possible native historical sites.

However, Section 4(F) also noted that some incursions could be found to be "de minimis" (to trivial to merit consideration).

The Borough Assembly considered the issue at hand and decided that section 4(f) was binding and they had no choice but to approve the Houston Route. After the meeting I told the chairman he conducted a good meeting but ended with the wrong decision. He asked me why and I told him about the de minimis portion of 4(f). He gave me the impression that he was not aware of that.

The first public meeting I attended in Wasilla for the rail extension route presented maps and a flow chart of the process. If I recall correctly, the project was suppose to be completed in 2012. The distance from Port MacKenzie to Houston is approximately 37 miles.

Well, here we are in 2022. The project is far from completion and we have an eight to ten foot earthen dam that cuts in half a large popular recreation area in the valley. I am not aware of one piece of rail having been laid.

CONCLUSION

Questions

1. What minerals does Ak Operations expect to develop and on what scale or does it have solid evidence for a PROVEN, profitable operation to substantiate its inclusion as a party in Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) or is it purely for speculative purposes?

Answer 1. AK Operations is exploring developing a gold mine. They've announced at least 10 million oz. of recoverable gold in two separate deposits.

2. Who would own the road and be responsible for it?

Answer 2. It depends how the project is financed. If AIDEA finances the road, AIDEA will own the road. If Federal Funds are used, AKDOT will own the road. If state funds are used, a state entity with authority would own the road (i.e., AKDOT, AKDNR, etc.)

3. Would it be a toll road?

Answer 3. Unknown. That decision would be made through AIDEA in determining how the road will be financed.

4. Would it be open for winter use and what happens if the road is abandoned?

Answer 4. The road is being designed as an all-season road. If AIDEA applies to DNR for a ROW across state land, and resource extraction has been completed, the ROW would be transferred back to the State.

5. If the route is for a railroad, then STB becomes involved. How much would it cost for their EIS?

Answer 5. A railroad was initially under consideration, but removed as an option so the STB will not be involved.

6. What would the increased cost be for having to raise the rail bed to meet STB standards?

Answer 6. The Port MacKenzie Rail Extension embankment would only be practical to use from Ayrshire Road to Port MacKenzie. No cost estimate has been calculated at this time.

7. What costs would be incurred for any additional permitting required by STB?

Answer 7. A railroad was initially under consideration, but removed as an option so the STB will not be involved.

8. What is the current condition of Port MacKenzie?

Answer 8. The condition is acceptable to safely receive large ships and barges, a number of which will be arriving this summer as part of normal port operations.

9. How much repair/improvement is required to make the port operational and who pays?

Answer 9. The port is currently operational.

10. How much has been spent so far for the project by the parties to the MOU?

Answer 10. The Borough Assembly allocated $50K to carry out a public involvement program for the project this spring. You can request similar information from AIDEA.

Along with others Simon Guggenheim did not begin to build a 190 mile railroad from Cordova, Alaska to the copper mine near McCarthy based on speculation. He knew the copper ore was there in abundance. That railroad crossed the Copper River (The Million Dollar Bridge) and the 200 foot high bridge (completed in 1911 and is still used today) over the Kuskulana River. A very tall timber trestle was also built and still stands today next to the McCarthy Road, which was the old railroad bed. Huge mine buildings and other facilities were built 5 miles north from McCarthy. The last mining closed in 1938 and some of the buildings are being restored and maintained by the National Park Service.

Based on the failure of the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project, I do not believe another dime should be spent on this project until there is an overwhelmingly SOLID foundation (excluding recreation and tourism)of proof that necessitates a need for this project.

I have attempted to gather information about AK Operation LLC but have been unsuccessful other to learn it was incorporated on 7/23/18 with an address at #440 S Colony Way STE 3, Palmer, AK 99654. What is their expertise and financial capability?

Note: The "Conclusions" page in the "West Susitna Access Study" by HDR dated 1/7/2020 makes some significant observations. Thank you for your attention and courtesy

Pat

As residents of Big Lake, Alaska, 1 mile off state maintained Big Lake Road, we will not support the consortium of 3 partners WSAR project after reading the complete AIDEA website with WSA documents including but not limited to their June 2021 Economic Impacts Report, MSB Projects WSA website and watching & listening to the MSB's online presentations & public meetings, and the Nova Minerals Ltd. (AKO) website unless our following questions are answered to our satisfaction.

Given the Alaska State mineral extraction royalty rate as per DNR documents is 3% in a world where international (Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Indonesia, Jamaica, Japan, Papua New Guinea, Philippines, Peru, Poland, Russia, South Africa) mining royalty rates for strategic minerals is 2-12% (excluding outliers, 2020), Alaska falls into the 3rd world mineral extraction class.

While AIDEA's 2021 Economic Impacts Report was short on explanations, it honestly warned their input/output analysis reliance on unrealistic hypothetical single year for simultaneous development for construction & resource extraction results in severe overestimation over the life of the road. With the report stating an Opinion of Probable Capital Cost (OPCC) of $356,900,000, AIDEA's Jesse Peterson quotes a base design road width of 28 feet during MSB public meeting, and WSAR documents list an approximate 100 mile length, our questions should prove easy to answer.

1. Multiple Choice (always simple): Which single or combination of the 7 existing AK roads is/are most closely matching the consortium's 3 parties expectations for the Proposed WSAR from development through the life of the road and why for each selection? (All of the above is not a valid answer) A. Red Dog Mine Rd. 50 mi. B. Willow Creek to McCarthy: Old Edgerton Hwy - Rt. 10 Edgerton Hwy - McCarthy Rd. 100 mi. C. Denali Hwy Rt. 8, 130 mi. D. Pogo Mine Rd. 50 mi. E. Livengood to Manley Hot Springs: Elliott Hwy Rt. 2 - Manley Hot Springs, 75 mi. F. Taylor Hwy Rt. 5 from Top of the World Hwy to Eagle, 60 mi. or AK Hwy Rt. 2 to Eagle, 150 mi. G. Bob Blodgett Hwy Nome to Teller, 70 mi. This would be a question for the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA).

2. AIDEA statements have identified mineral reserves (resource quantities) within the Yentna Mining District, how did the active mines' (blue) operators, claims (orange), & leaseholders (purple) expect to transport ore from the district when filing? Transportation of ore is up to the individual mine operator.
3. The Skwentna ice road is being used for extensive equipment transport & development. Tell us the parameters under which this means of access is governed, its use now, & in the future. The ice road is managed by the State of Alaska and has public access.
4. How does the Donlin Gas Pipeline project & Proposed WSAR influence each other's development prospects? They each have thier own development process.

AIDEA has established a base design for the Proposed WSAR as gravel, approximate length, width, identified types of soils for the proposed route (Preliminary Wetland and Waterbody Mapping Report), and $300-400 million construction cost.

5. What is the estimated quantity of gravel required? ie. volumes: yds., kilo-yds., Mega-yds., Giga-yds.? Or weight: tons, kilo-tons, Mega-tons, Giga-tons, Tera-tons? This would be a question for the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA).
6. Where will the gravel for the WSAR be sourced? This would be a question for the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA).
7. What route(s) will construction equipment access the proposed WSAR to build it and transport the gravel to the WSAR? This would be a question for the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA).
8. What should residents of the Big Lake & KGB Rd. areas expect for the AIDEA estimated 4 years of WSAR construction in terms of daily work hours scheduled and construction equipment & gravel transport? Construction logistics and work hours are worked out by the selected construction contractor.

Thank you Camden Yehle & MSB for providing the Public Involvement Project and sharing our questions & the consortium's 3 parties responses with all agencies involved now and in the future process. We strongly recommend you share these questions & responses with the public, meaning identified affected area public, Mat-Su Borough public, and Alaska public.

Hi Doug – The starting point for the West Susitna Access Road proposed alignment is at the northern border of RSA 17 (where the dashed line that says "Chuitna to Goose Bay Road" is shown off the Little Su River Road) on the map below. Other than a connection to Little Su River Road the entire alignment runs to the west and is outside any of the borough RSAs. Because of this the borough would not be able to be involved in maintenance of the road unless the RSA boundaries were changed.

Currently AIDEA has $8.5M to work through the engineering and permitting process for the road, but the funding for construction is yet to be determined. Construction, construction management and maintenance funding could come from the federal or state government, private industrial funding or even a toll road.

West Susitna Access Road - Public Engagement Project

The purpose of this Borough public involvement endeavor was to provide a forum for the public to comment on the proposed West Susitna Access Road project directly to the Borough. This effort was parallel to, but separate from, the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority's (AIDEA) public engagement program regarding the project. The Borough Assembly and staff heard public comments in 2021 indicating the need for additional comment opportunities and project clarity. The purpose of this public involvement effort was to fill that need.
