General Information

PUBLIC INVOLVEMENT PROJECT PURPOSE

The purpose of this Borough public involvement (PI) endeavor is to provide a forum for the public to comment on the West Susitna Access Road project directly to the Borough. This effort is parallel to, but separate from, the Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority's (AIDEA) public engagement program regarding the project.

The Borough Assembly and staff heard public comments in 2021 indicating the need for additional comment opportunities and project clarity. The purpose of this public involvement effort is to fill that need.

The summary of comments will represent public sentiment from Borough constituents for Phase 3. The PI team will submit the summary to the Borough Assembly, AIDEA, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for consideration during the upcoming Clean Water Act permitting process.

PUBLIC INVOLVEMENT PROJECT SCOPE

Establish a website for the public to provide comments to the Borough about the West Susitna Access Road project. Conduct two virtual public meetings to share project

WEST SUSITNA ACCESS ROAD PROJECT SCOPE

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska-Susitna Borough is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from Point MacKenzie to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

BOROUGH ROLE

The Borough is a governmental entity stakeholder for the West Susitna Access Road project. AIDEA is leading the project in coordination with the Borough, State of Alaska, and Federal agencies.

PUBLIC ROLE

Public comments are critical for building responsible and sustainable public infrastructure. The team will encourage members of the public to provide comments about how the proposed West Susitna Access Road would affect them.

information with the public and solicit feedback. Summarize comments submitted to the Borough, including at Assembly meetings on December 7 and December 21, 2021. Maintain a project email list for future project phases. This document provides an outline of PI methods and planning.

PUBLIC INVOLVEMENT SCHEDULE

This PI project will solicit public comments from January to March 2022. The team will provide a summary of collected information to the Borough Assembly in the April timeframe and submit the documentation for consideration with the Corps of Engineers Clean Water Act permit.

PROJECT LOCATION

The proposed West Susitna Access Road project is located

AIDEA PROJECT CONTACTS

Website: <https://www.aidea.org/Programs/Project-Development/West-Susitna-Access>
Team email: projectinfo@westsusitnaaccess.org

- Jesse Peterson, Project Manager, 907-771-3015, JPeterson@aidea.org

Public Involvement Methods

MAILING AND EMAIL LIST. The team will develop a mailing and email list which will include members of the public, Borough staff, elected officials, and others. Yehle will update the lists as needed throughout the project. Interested people will be able to opt into the email list on the website.

WEBSITE. A website will provide background on the project, scope of work, and project documents. Homestead Graphics will develop and maintain the site using a Borough template. The proposed url is: <https://west-susitna-access.matsugov.us>.

ASSEMBLY MEETINGS. The comment summary will include public comments and testimony provided at Assembly meetings, including on December 7 and 21, 2021.

PUBLIC MEETINGS. The team will conduct two virtual public meetings to share project information with the public and solicit feedback. The meetings will be online and by phone because of ongoing concerns about COVID-19, the regional potential impact of the West Susitna Access Road project, and the large number of people wanting to comment.

OUTREACH. For each public meeting outreach will include, but not limit to:

- Email notice
- Advertisements (online newspaper and radio)
- Boosted social media posts (Borough Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter accounts)

COMMENT THEMES

The word cloud below visualizes emerging comment themes. The team will collect and summarize comments throughout the project.

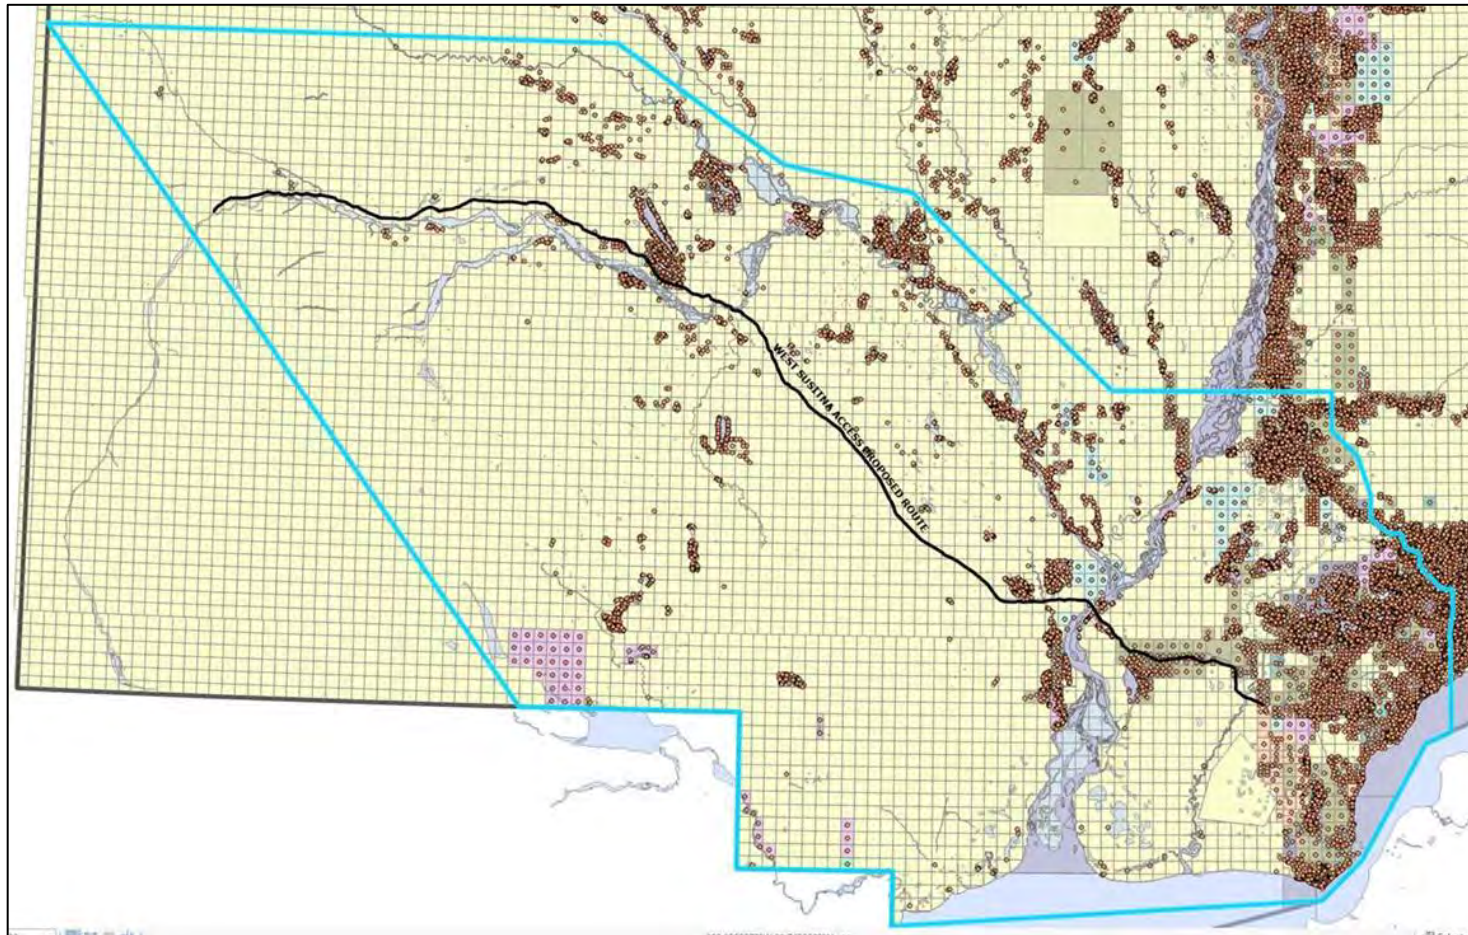

- Mailer to approximately 6,500 addresses
  - Mailing list (elected officials, interest groups, etc.)
  - Mail boxes and PO boxes in Big Lake, Point MacKenzie, Houston, and Skwentna, shown below in blue
    - Big Lake, 1,461 addresses, zip code 99652
    - Big Lake, Point MacKenzie, Houston, 2,499 addresses, zip code 99623 carrier routes H035, H038, H044, H045
    - Willow, 2,118 addresses, zip code 99688
    - Skwentna, 42 addresses, zip code 99667

- Property owners within the following boundary surrounding Big Lake, Point MacKenzie, Houston, Willow, Alexander Creek, and Skwentna. Brown dots indicate properties.

MEETING MATERIALS. Meetings will include fact sheets, project maps and graphics, comment forms, and follow-up.

STAKEHOLDER COMMUNICATIONS. Yehle will receive, document, and prepare responses for stakeholder communications.

MEDIA COMMUNICATIONS. The team will route all media communications through Stefan Hinman, Public Affairs Director, at 907-861-8577 or stefan.hinman@matsugov.us.

PUBLIC INVOLVEMENT DOCUMENTATION. Yehle will prepare a comment and response summary in addition to a chronology of all public involvement actions taken by the Borough from December 2021 to March 2022.

CLOSE OUT DOCUMENTATION. Final documentation of all public engagement activities and correspondence will take the form of a digital file transfer to the Borough for future use and reference.

Members of the Public

Below is an initial list of members of the public and organizations who may be interested in the West Susitna Access project. The team will include these entities in the project outreach/ mailing list. The list will expand throughout the PI timeline. The list does not include State and Federal agencies because they are part of AIDEA's outreach and permitting plan.

Comment Summary

Do you support the road?

■ No ■ Yes ■ Yes, but only if it is public ■ Undecided

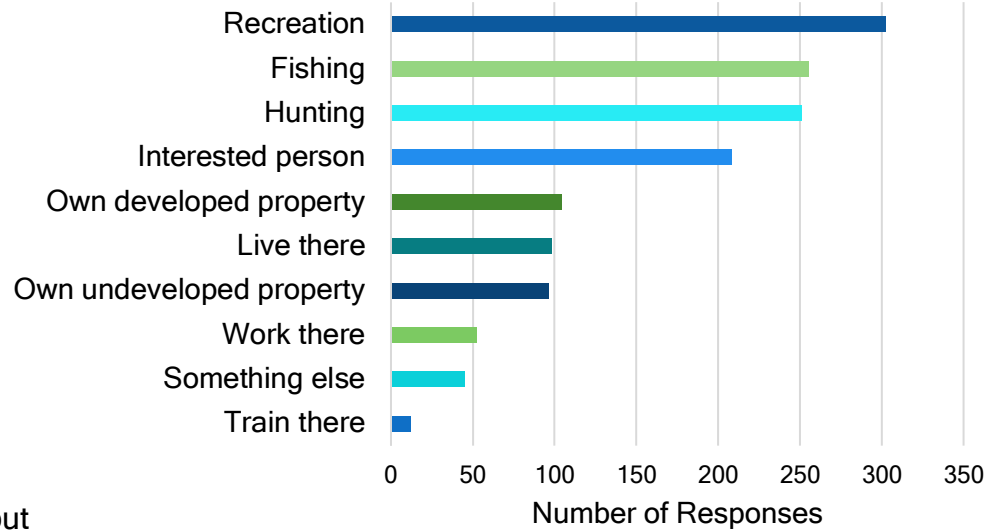

Note 1: This chart should not be considered a “vote,” but can be considered an indication of current public sentiment. It includes 1,033 comments that indicated level of support either directly or by tone and were only counted once per commenter (if known).

Note 2: For comparison, the chart below shows the level of support at Public Meeting 2 (51 comments).

Do you support the road? (Public Meeting 2)

What is your relationship to the project area?

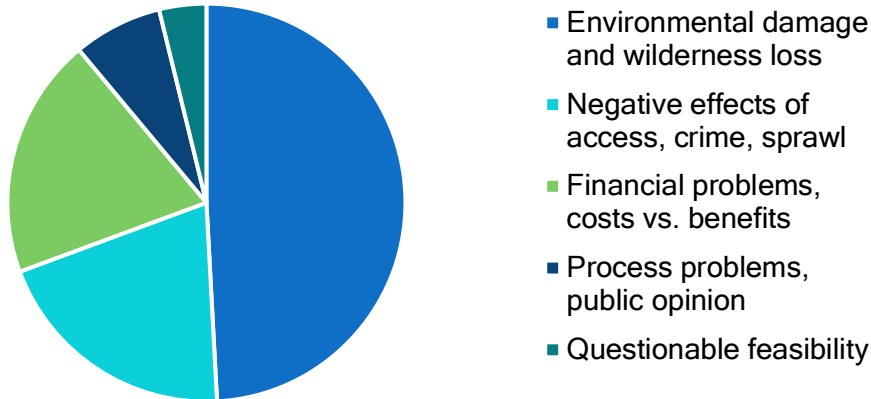

Note 3: This chart uses data from Online Survey 2. Respondents could choose as many as applied. 493 people responded to the question.

Next steps

- ⇒ Present this Comment and Outreach Summary to the Borough Assembly
- ⇒ Submit this Comment and Outreach Summary to agencies during Environmental permitting
- ⇒ Closeout documentation

What are the concerns?

Project Opposition: Comment Themes

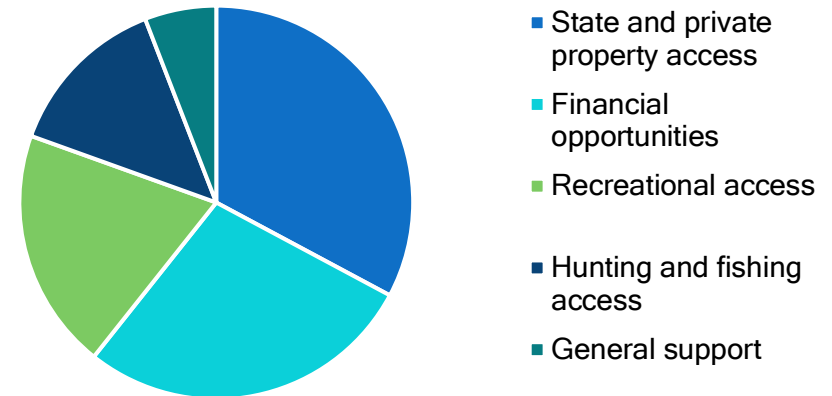

Note 4: This chart includes comment themes provided by those opposing the project and were only counted once per commenter (if known), representing 470 comments.

Sample comments:

- Will the road be public or private?
- This project would hurt our lodges that depend on the remoteness of the area to attract visitors.
- Please provide an independent cost benefit analysis.
- The team should consult with the Troopers who are under-staffed and under-funded already.
- 156 water crossings could negatively affect the Susitna basin fishery with cascading negative results.

Project Support: Comment Themes

Note 5: This chart includes comment themes provided by those supporting the project and were only counted once per commenter (if known), representing 323 comments.

Sample comments:

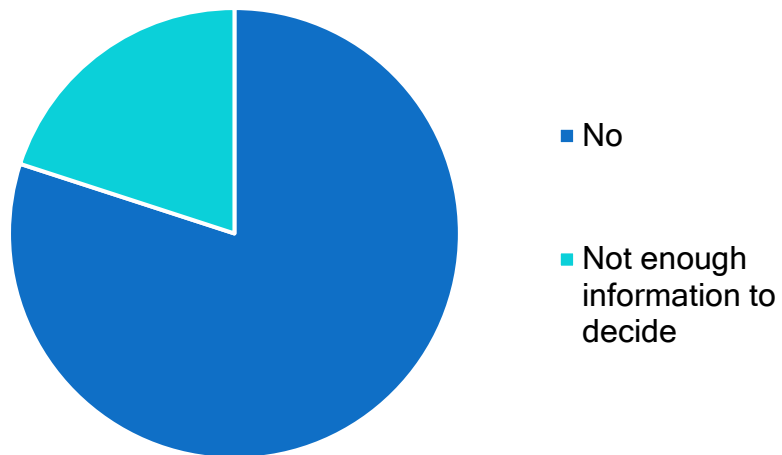

- I have a cabin at Shell Lake. We have always hoped for a road into that area.
- If there was a road out there, we would still live there.
- I think Alaska needs this project; however, it should be designed not to harm the environment.
- We have the railbed and the port; this road would be a great addition.
- We live in the Point MacKenzie area and would enjoy the access to new fishing, hunting, and recreation.

Comments from Tribal Entities

The following entities submitted a total of seven comments. Their two primary concerns were subsistence/environmental preservation and project process.

- Alexander Creek Inc, Member
- Chickaloon Village Traditional Council
- Chickaloon Village Traditional Council, Historical Advisor
- Chickaloon Village Traditional Council, Member
- Knik Tribe, Tribal Transportation Program Manager
- Tal, Inc., President
- Tyonek Tribal Conservation District

Comment Themes

Comments from Businesses

These charts include comments from representatives of businesses including mining interests, lodges, fishing and guiding services, air taxis, and agricultural businesses. Comments were only counted once per commenter (if known), for a total of 29 comments, although many businesses commented more than once and some represented groups of businesses or memberships. Generally, businesses preferred more access or the existing limited access depending on their business model.

Do you support the road?

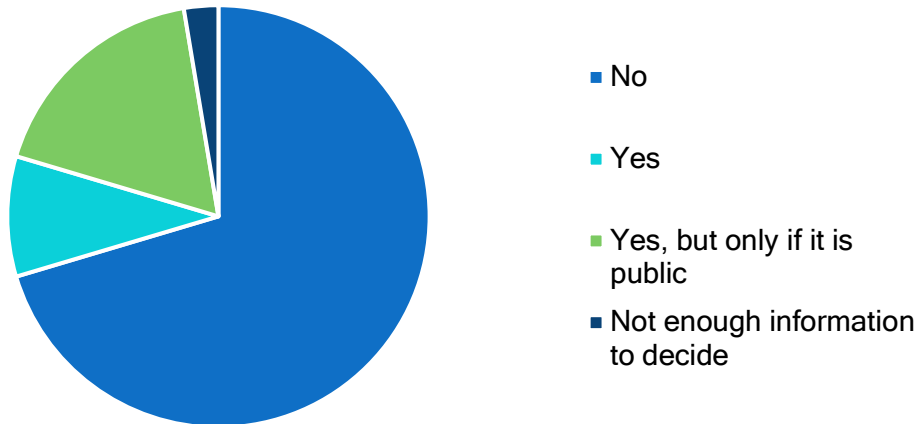

Comment Themes

Comments from Residents

Do you support the road?

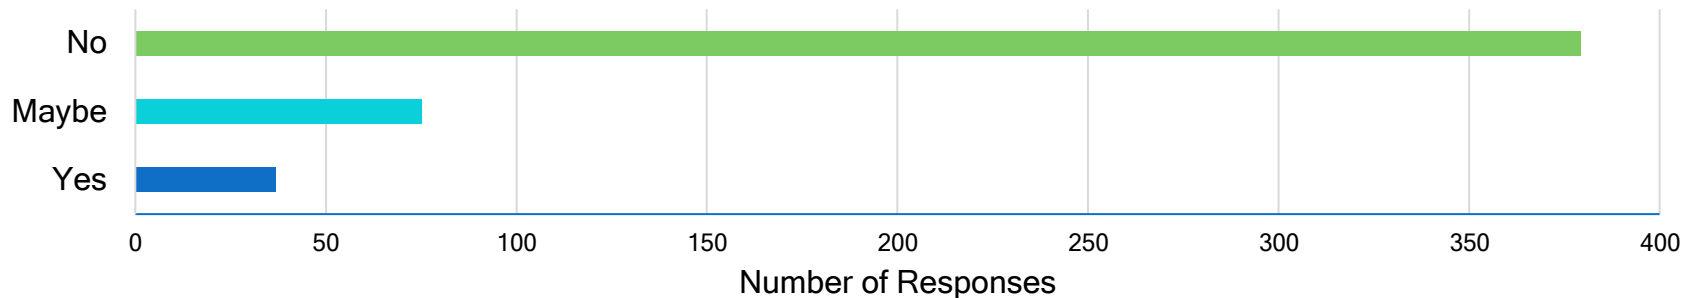

The chart to the left summarizes comments submitted by project area residents, representing 152 comments. The majority of resident comments preferred maintaining the wilderness lifestyle, although a substantial segment preferred lower cost road access, additional recreational access, and increased emergency services.

Job Opportunities

This chart uses data from Online Survey 2. 491 people responded to the question.

Would you apply for work at one of the industrial or commercial businesses that could be developed as a result of this project?

Comments from Private Property Owners

The following charts summarize the level of project support by private property owners and show the differing sentiment between those who own developed properties (83 comments) and those with undeveloped land (107 comments).

- ⇒ The primary concerns of owners of developed properties were wilderness lifestyle preservation and crime.
- ⇒ The primary comment themes from owners of undeveloped properties were reducing costs to access/develop their properties and wilderness lifestyle preservation.

Owners of Developed Properties:
Do you support the road?

Owners of Undeveloped Properties:

1	Online Survey 1	2022/02/09 2:42:19 PM AKST	No	Own undeveloped property	Road not needed				I live in Anchorage and own property in the Matsu area north of the proposed development area so my direct impact or benefit will be negligible. My concern is that this project will obligate AIDEA funds and focus from more important economic development opportunities. My perception from news is that is nothing by a political project that opens up hunting access for Matsu residents and gains conservative votes in an election year. I have not see any mining or energy access projects that are of a scale that need this project and would be able to pay road toll such as the Ambler or Red Dog projects. Surely the AIDEA can come up with many other better projects that could use the money. Heck, I'd even support building some of the railroad to Canada rather than a road to new moose hunting grounds.	As you go through the planning, I'd suggest an economic development plan be developed that looks at how the project could help stimulate new Alaska industry and opportunity during construction; and economic and community development projects after the project is done. If we are going to have a road to nowhere, might as well plan on investing some money in a legacy benefit beyond the short term construction spending. (Remember the Whittier tunnel project that failed to consider the infrastructure and economic opportunity after the project was completed. Lets not do that again f] at least make sure there is a parking lot and toilet included at the end of the project.		Interested person	99516
2	Online Survey 1	2022/02/09 6:35:33 PM AKST	No		Wilderness preservation				The West Susitna Access Road would completely change the environment for which we chose to invest in remote Alaska. One of the biggest assets Alaska has is its ability to entice people to invest time, money, and energy in the wilderness, invest for travel, fish, build cabins, hunt, snow machine, and that is its own economic development for Alaska that is renewable and lasts forever. A road will take that opportunity away for ever.	This project has not reached out to the public, has not adequately asked for input or responded to the input given. Effectively the State of Alaska is investing in a road and project that may or may not provide benefit to Alaska. The only thing that is happening right now is that the investment in time, money, phases and studies it to raise the stock value of non Alaskan mining companies who may or may not ever return anything to Alaska. AIDEA and the State should first be required to do independent feasibility and cost benefit studies for the State of Alaska.		Interested person	99517
3	Online Survey 1	2022/02/09 7:20:31 PM AKST	No	Live	Wilderness preservation				increased traffic into a roadless area will increase hunting pressure on an already severely stressed moose population. it would bring unrestricted recreational boating access to Shell Lake to the great detriment of nesting ducks, swans, loons, and shorebirds.  increased unrestricted road access would gravely degrade the wilderness quality of life that is the reason I and many other residents chose to make this home		Live	99667
4	Online Survey 1	2022/02/09 9:20:44 AM AKST	No		Money				West Susitna access, broadly, would open this area for expansion of civilization and population growth. However, see my objections below.	The West Susitna Access Road, "as proposed", stinks of blatant corruption on the part of the Borough. Plans for the project are closely tied to the proposed Donlin gas pipeline, following its route for much of the road's length. While this is not in and of itself a problem, marketing material about the project is clear that the proposed road is intended for a specific purpose which serves Donlin's interests and very few if any others, and therefore must not be funded by taxpayers. Corporate and public interests need not be mutually exclusive, but of special concern with the Access Road is its eastern terminus and its heavy weight towards the corporate interest.  If private development is desired west of the Susitna, reasonable planners would connect the road where it would most directly access civilization. The most direct route from the proposed Susitna crossing to civilization would be via Big Lake (Susitna Pkwy) or Houston. This would incentivize Alaskans to settle west of the Susitna, potentially even those Alaskans who would fill jobs created by the mines.  The West Susitna Access Road as proposed connects instead to Ayrshire Road, providing inconvenient and indirect access for the public to the West Susitna area, but very convenient access for Donlin et al. from their mine to the white elephant Port Mackenzie that the Borough can't bring itself to take off life support. The impression given by these plans is that Donlin has convinced the		Interested person	99688

The tourism industry in the MatSu Valley and Alaska as a whole would be hit with a black eye. The most sustainable profitable resource in Alaska is tourism. People visit Alaska for its wilderness and raw beauty, not to fly over industrial roads, pipelines and gas fields. This is not just about one road, but the key to a Pandora's box of development that will leave an irreparable scar to the landscape. Not to mention a domino effect of environmental concerns.	This project is being pushed against the will of the majority. Alaska as a whole does not benefit from this project. If built, 50 years from now this project will be regretted. 8	Online Survey 1	2022/02/11 2:28:32 PM AKST	No		Wilderness preservation				The west Su access road is an absolute horrible idea for those of us who call Alaska home. The proposed road would directly impact my life and livelihood. I am one of the largest fly fishing outfitters in the area and my business brings hundreds of thousands of dollars each year to the state of Alaska and the Mat Su Valley. This money brought EACH year is sustainable and directly helps local businesses and families. This proposal is also bad for the state as tourism generates millions of dollars for the state and if we ruin it tourists will choose to travel elsewhere.	This proposal is so single minded and will only benefit a very small amount of people and will hurt many, many more. Not only is this bad for Alaskans it is bad for Alaska itself. The proposed areas are environmentally sensitive and the construction of this road will forever harm this area. These areas need to remain roadless.		Work	99688

11	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 1:49:10 PM AKST	No	Business	Wilderness preservation				This proposed road would affect me & my photo tour business in a negative way because it will take out more of the appeal of "wilderness ALASKA" from my photo tour clients by making that entire, rich area, just another "roadside attraction" on the Beaten Path.	The road will likely put more pressure on the wildlife of the area as well as create more problems for the many people who live out there and have wanted a wilderness lifestyle.		Work	99516
12	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 10:47:02 AM AKST	Not enough information to decide		Access				if the 100 mile road that is being proposed is developed as a two-lane road with pullouts for parking at 1/2 of the 150 water crossings, then it would be great fishing opportunities. If not, then not so much impact.	I do NOT support ending public access after 30 miles and leaving the remaining 70 miles being private access. Don't build a single lane road 100 miles long. For the first 75 miles of public accessible road, make it at least a double laned road (13' wide traffic lanes to accommodate commercial traffic with 5' shoulders on each side) with pullouts for free parking at all water crossings that contain anadromous fish (e.g. salmon). After the first 75 miles of public accessible road (with pullouts and free parking), the last 25 miles can be a single lane road with no parking and no public access.		Play	99577
13	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 11:07:01 AM AKST	No	Live	Traffic				Living on Pt. Mackenzie Road I would expect a huge increase in traffic and noise pollution. I see no discussion of where any mining trucks would drop off- the unbuilt railroad spur, the non existent facilities at Port Mackenzie?	If public dollars are spent on the road then it must be open for it's full length to public access. Otherwise the mining companies alone should finance any private stretch of the road.		Live	99623
14	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 2:49:12 PM AKST	No		Wilderness preservation				My family and I very much appreciate the wildness of Alaska, though our forays into the proposed project area have been minimal in the past. From what I understand, the road might possibly lead to tax revenue for the State, but would be of little benefit to residents otherwise, and would be detrimental to residents and businesses in the area. Basically, an Australian mining company gets a private road.	The interests of Alaskan-owned businesses, even small ones, should be prioritized over international resource extraction. Remote lodges will only become more rare and valuable - wild areas are a forever resource if they, are cared for, while mining provides some local jobs and revenue for a generation or two, and a whole bunch of money for some CEO in a far-off country. 15	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 3:45:50 PM AKST	No		Money				Increase my taxes	This is another boondoggle that will cost Mats Borough residents money to build and maintain without any guarantee of a monetary return. Coal is not a viable resource, the spruce trees are mostly dead and worthless for lumber, the estimates of gold are just estimates by companies that want the road built to their unproven claims. 16	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 5:48:43 PM AKST	No	Live	Money				Diverts resources to a project used that will be used by very few people. May impact trails used by snow machines and wildlife. This road will siphon an incredible amount of public funds for maintenance each year. Leave the resources alone for future generations.	Just seems like a waste of money. We need our existing roads brought up to code. We need sewer systems and treatment plants. Other roads and bridges are deteriorating. Give us a Wasilla bypass. I have no interest in developing the gas/mineral reserves so someone else can get rich. Port Mack was a waste, and so is this.		Live	99623
17	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 7:13:58 PM AKST	Yes	Live	Money				We believe it would not only open up the possibility of future mining (i.e., a good thing), and a A new road and/or a new Sunday drive. There would be more cabins and access for folks to live the Alaska lifestyle. It would also mean more property taxes that would help offset existing property taxes.	Yes! We all know it's going to happen. Please install a dirt bike / walking path alongside the new road. It's a MUST! We need to make it possible for ATV, snow-machining and other activities to safely travel into new territory. Keep our kids safe! Also, need pullouts for toy trailers.		Live	99652
18	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 7:31:57 PM AKST	No		Wilderness preservation				The detrimental effect of the project would be devastating to me and my family. The devastation wrought from pushing a road into a roadless area for development of mining interest is contrary to the future well being of our planet. The wild lands should be preserved as much as possible and the sanctity of the land and animals preserved for the future well being of our environment. I hope you realize that wild areas are sacred and need to be treated as sacred before it is too late for the endangered planet we now live on. Climate change is a real thing and the sooner you realize it the better for Alaska and me and my family.	Please do not continue promoting this project.		Interested person	99508
19	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 8:15:59 AM AKST	No		Money				The funding needed from this effects me as a taxpayer in the state, borough, and country if any federal funds are used. Even though your fact sheet says phase 3 is state funded, my MSB tax dollars are still funding MSB staff time.	How about we finish the rail extension first? I am tired of these MSB grandiose projects that end up in failures, wasted money, and scars on the land. The PM you have listed is the same PM for: the failed port project, the failed ferry project, and the failed rail extension project to name a few. Haven't we learned our lesson yet? No! Just No! 20	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 9:03:05 PM AKST	No	Business	Wilderness preservation				I currently am a new business owner running Remote Cabin Rentals of Alaska. I have both private property and state leased land with cabins. It would be difficult to run a remote business on the roads system as the plotted road would run through multiple parcels I occupy in the Alexander creek basin. My family depends on the remote hunting and fishing opportunities in those areas to provide food for the long Alaska winters. As far as the state of Alaska is concerned you would still profit from the mines without a permanent road, between winter trails and barges the beluga oil field has been very successful for the last 60 years. This is another pipe dream road on the backs of tax payers that would have crippling effects on an already strained salmon run over multiple rivers. 32	Online Survey 1	2022/02/15 10:14:30 AM AKST	Yes, but only if it has public access	Live	Recreation				I support a new road to provide more access for Alaskans, without planes, to enjoy fishing, hunting, and camping. I live on Point Mackenzie and I understand a new road out here would create more traffic going past my house, and possibly more hassles to deal with. We already have a severely reduced moose population, and the little sue king fishing has been dismal. Point Mackenzie road is network of tar patches pot holes, and frost heaves so bad I have replaced my shocks twice already. KGB road running out here is the most dangerous road in Alaska according to the DOT. But maybe if there is a reason to improve KGB and Point Mackenzie, like a new road going west, maybe it will benefit our little community. Since I don't own a plane, I have to drive to the Denali highway, Kenai peninsula, or Eureka for access to hunting and fishing via the road system. These road accessible trail and fishing systems are getting more and more crowded every year. Its a shame we have such a huge state and limited access to it. If we fight building roads we limit the growth and opportunities to make the state better. I am not a huge supporter of mining, but I can see that we can't always rely on oil as the industry that pays our bills. I think we need to develop all of our resources. Maybe with a road we could better supervise mining operations. Maybe we could even build a hatchery on the big sue, or even little sue, to begin to rebuild the red and king salmon population while also providing more access for fishing areas to reduce pressure on other rivers. The parcel is on a small lake that keeps most of the guided flight services away from the immediate area due to its difficulty for landings/takeoffs. The proposed road almost cuts right through my parcel off of the north tip of Beluga mountain. This means that if the proposition goes through I've just wasted my money and time.  Plainly put this road is a bad idea that will open up yet another area to further unneeded exploitation. While I know the remote Matsu region gets a heavy amount of recreational services like guided hunting, fishing, etc..., the splendor of it to me and I think so many others is that the only ways to get into it were plane, boat, or snowmobile. Putting an access road through the heart of it ruins what makes it, and so much of the state of Alaska so great. Please don't allow this project to go through.		Play	12032

74	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 12:20:55 PM AKST	Not enough information to decide	Live					As one of the only agricultural producers in the affected area west of the Susitna River it has the potential to have significant impact on my family and farm. It will most definitely have an impact on the lands identified by Div. of Ag as suitable for agriculture west of the Susitna.  My family has lived here for 28 years. We have enjoyed the remoteness the region provides and we have seen continued efforts to exploit the many natural resources West Susitna holds. We knew that some day a serious push for development would take place. Maybe, this is that time.  The negative impact such a road will have evolves primarily around the loss of its remoteness. The impact on wildlife and private stake holders is the most pronounced of impacts. This is true where ever expanded access takes place in the State.  On a positive note it has the potential to not only develop a mining district, but create an agricultural district that could have direct access to a tidewater port and rail. Port MacKenzie and the unfinished rail spur need the West Susitna Access Road to inject sustainable life into both projects.	I am in favor of a detailed analysis of the proposed project. Potential resource development west of the Susitna will not stop by killing the road project. It will subside for a time, but attempt after attempt will continue so let's go thru the process and get it all out on the table for everyone to see and assess.  Since this is to be primarily a road for heavy industry I would like an analysis of a potential rail spur rather than a road to be part of the process. A rail spur may have less impact and be a potential compromise.  Little is being said about the road paralleling the proposed Donlin Gas Line Project. The gas line will potentially occupy the same right of way for over 50 miles. We are told the road and gas line have nothing to do with each other. I don't believe that for a minute. Nova Mineral has stated in the past it might be able to use gas coming from the pipeline for its purposes too. Let's get these relationship out in the open...we aren't stupid. Even if the road is not built a 50 mile plus corridor will still exist and continue on to the Kuskokwim. We are really talking about developing a 15 mile stretch from the Susitna River to the Donlin Gas Line.  The west Susitna region is sparsely populated and economically depressed. Let's get serious about the economic impact on stake holders along the road corridor. It will have a negative impact on some tourism based businesses. How can that be mitigated?		Live	99667
75	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 12:27:46 PM AKST	No						I do not frequent this area, so a West Susitna Access Road would not affect me directly, however, I do think it would negatively impact the state. Outdoor recreation is a much bigger segment of our economy, with more employees, than mining. And unlike mining, recreation does not have long-term negative impacts. We need to develop our recreation and tourism industry, which will benefit the state forever, over the short-term gains of foreign mining companies.			Play	99645

With this, comes more people which can be good and bad. If the public is able to use the whole road I would be able to access more area for recreation.	If the road does go, I would like to see improvements like a large parking area and boat launch at the Big Su. If the public is paying for it, it should be open to the public. I am all for progress but at what cost. For most people there is no benefit but yet they will pay for something they have no interest in. Who is going to maintain the road? The state, the Matsu Borough? If the state feels this in benefit to them they should cover those costs, not raise MSB taxes as they are already increasing at a severe rate. 77	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 2:49:34 PM AKST	No	Own undeveloped property					It would run a road close to our remote property that we own and are building on for the benefit of a foreign mine. Access is easy for those who want to be there. We do not want the road.	The idea that this road will create access is the tip of the spear for those in favor of this project. This is a terrible lead point given the fact that the access already exists. The residents and users of this area access it year round via boat, snowmobile, airplane, ATV you name it. A boat to run that river can be had for substantially cheaper than the price of a new vehicle today. Access is there for users who want to be there, it is also there for industry. Many conduct business on that watershed myself included and have never needed the aid of a road. Recreation is being sold as another driver for the project. Anyone who is remotely familiar with the area is well aware that the hunting and fishing recourses have been on the decline for some years now. Any user who thinks they will be walking into prime hunting and fishing areas will be gravely disappointed and the added pressure will only deplete these resources further. There have been expensive efforts to bring the fish runs back to what they once were especially at Alexander creek, what would building a road, with bridges and water crossings into that area say about the continued effort of salmon restoration in the area? Unavoidably, creating effortless access would increase poaching not only for fish, but wildlife also. I have heard claims of the road being an avenue for land sales that the state would profit from. DNR already has land auctions annually in the area, they also have. Over the counter land sales throughout the basin. 82	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 6:44:20 PM AKST	No	Live					I'm worried that building this road will affect people who have chose to live out their lives out of the way from most of the population. Having a road will create more people to have access to our hard work and would make it easier for theft to begin. This is why most people have chose to live so far out of the way. I'm worried it will affect our livelihood of fishing and hunting to provide food for our families. I think this road is only a positive for the gold mining out of states. If we provide jobs for people that only live in Alaska it would be better but this will do nothing positive for us Alaskans. It is only a step up for out of state people. As Alaskans we should stick together on making Alaska better for ALASKANS.	I don't think this road will lead anywhere useful and it will only divide us as Alaskans and affect our wilderness & animals. Such as spawning salmon, moose etc..		Live	99654

YET ANOTHER COSTLY PROJECT WITHOUT PAYBACK (Delta Grain project, Port McKenzie dock that cannot hold a ship in wind, Anchorage Fish Processing plant).	This project cost is grossly under estimated. The amount of wetlands, stream crossing damage, enormous bridges required, the amount of material removed and relocated is enormous. Timber harvest has never provided economic benefit. We are closing coal mines all over the nation and the economic benefit of opening a new one is unfounded. A new gas pipeline project where there are already limited gas resources is another issue. 85	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 8:46:41 PM AKST	No						It would affect the State, my family and I all very greatly. It would in fact be very detrimental in my eyes. No one would benefit except the state through taxes as this Australian company wants to exploit our salmon beds, rivers, beaver, moose and many other critters all for a road that no resident would be able to use.  How in the hell has our government even considered this? All for money and blinded by greed you would fancy whoring our natural resources? Whatever building is done cannot be un done. We need to save these resources for the future of our great state.  Let's say these mother fuckers spill something in our river during summer. Killing an entire return of King, Sockeye, Chum, Pink and Silver salmon. Completely destroying a river. Killing trout, eagles, porcupines etc.. They cannot guarantee a spill of horrendous proportions that would kill a number of fish we couldn't possibly comprehend.  Something like this would effect my family's ability, and my own to collect returning salmon to feed us year round. That would effect a tremendous amount of Alaskans. It would ruin us. No fish would ensure poverty in remote parts of Alaska. It would destroy a way of life for us, our children, and our children's children.  Traffic on KGB with the amounts of machinery, material, trucks increasing traffic on an already dangerous road. All this traffic.	Why would we build a road this long, with the known risks for any company in our State? Our state is very unique with considerable untouched wilderness that supports so much wildlife the risk is not worth it. With that much money they can helicopter anything they need.  Not allowing citizens to drive this road because of potential crime? If this were to happen because of corrupt politicians, this foreign company should sign a contract to fully fund an entire station of State Troopers for the next 150 years. The idea of spending state money and Matsu borough tax money to build a road that primarily benefits foreign mining companies is not a wise use of funds. Further, spending public funds to build what will be functionally a private mining road really makes me mad. I and my property will suffer all the negative impacts of this road with no potential benefit. I suffer a loss of value of my property and loss of quality of life, just so a foreign mining company can profit.  I believe your cost estimates are overly optimistic and the ultimate build cost and maintenance will be unsustainable. The cost of the road will likely be in excess of 400 million dollars, with the ultimate goal of generating about 1500 jobs. The net investment then is over 1/4 million dollars for each job created. Your financial analyses paint a rosy picture of potential future tax incomes to the borough, but failed to include the annual costs for maintenance of this 100 miles of remote road. Further, your analysis fails to consider the LOSS OF JOBS in the tourism, fishing, guiding, flying industries that will result from the destruction of the remote character of this region. The jobs lost in this case are completely sustainable and do not deplete the resource. So in reality, your net gain in jobs will be way less than 1000 resulting in a much higher cost per job created. All in support of non-sustainable jobs with a relatively short time horizon. I think this represents a very poor investment for the state.  The road would impact all of the above positively. Nearly all mature spruce out there has been killed of by beetles. What about milling? I am not aware of any mills large enough to handle that projected volume.				A. Ramirez
122	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Development					Is the Mat-Su Borough desiring to sell dead spruce timber resources on Borough or State land along this route ?				Stephen Ranger
123	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Environment					Have you guys taken into consideration that the Mat-Su Fish and Wildlife Commission is procuring monies to change out all the culverts that are round and making them a flat bottom? We don't want to have to go back to change out culverts.	We'll make sure that we put in the appropriate drainage structure for the stream that we're going across. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Neil De Witt
124	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Environment					The area is very historical, as far as the people that live there in the past, and there were many native people that died in the villages right out there where you're crossing the Susitna River. Hundreds of people buried out there and what's your plan? I'm afraid you're going to dig up graves. What are you going to do about that? Are you going to have an archaeologist on site? Because I can tell you where that bridge goes there's a grave that I personally found that is feet from where that bridge is going to be and that's just one person that actually had a headstone. The natives there only had wooden crosses for all the hundreds of people that are buried out there so you can't even know where they are. You know you're going to be digging up just all kinds of people. I know that I've found a headstone that was buried myself.	That is taken into serious consideration and is a part of the NEPA process. The locations are kept secret in order to protect them. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)  Cultural resources are one of the big boxes that you have to check off for the Environmental Impact Statement. We've looked at the State historic preservation office's database to see what they have on file as far as where these cultural resources are, like graves and prehistoric pit houses. The process would be to hire a consultant that has the expertise in archaeology and cultural resources. They produce a very detailed report about all of these things that			Cindy

129	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Information					I live at the Finger Lakes checkpoint along the Iditarod Trail. I've lived in the West Susitna valley for 40 years. I've raised my children there. My husband and I have made a business living there. Certainly talking about pullouts and restroom facilities is way out of the scope of what we're talking about. We're talking about creating an industrial road that the can public access right now. Don't think that there's not a road. There now is an ice road going to Whiskey Bravo airstrip and almost every night there's rumblings of huge pieces of equipment moving from Knik to Whiskey Bravo and these very large, fast-moving construction vehicles are bringing in lots of things to Whiskey Bravo. A man camp came in last week. There was just like a zillion little tiny houses moving up to Whiskey Bravo. Finger Lake is located along the Iditarod Trail, and to some degree the trail has been fabricated from some old historic Indian trail traveling lines, but it has been designated as a national historic trail. How is this industrial road going to interface with the Iditarod trail? Early on in the process some planners decided to use the Iditarod Trail footprint for ease and for a cost reduction. I don't see how that compatibility happens. Maybe it's the end of the whole Iditarod era for us potentially. What I want to go back to is this man who wants to bring his family out on this road for a Sunday drive. Think of being on a dirt gravel road with dust blowing up, and a massive earth moving truck going a 100 miles an hour ahead of you and one behind you. Its not pull out availability. Its not restrooms. Its not us resisting and having opinions on this road. Its an extraction More information about Australian extraction company, Nova Minerals information available at https://novaminerals.com.au/portfolio/estelle-gold/	I'm going to have to do some follow-up with our Division Mining, Land and Water to find out who that permittee is. One thing I do want to say about the Iditarod Trail is that the State and Federal environmental review and permitting processes include a thorough evaluation of cultural and historical resources within the project area and potential effect must be avoided, minimized, or mitigated fully. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)			Kirsten Dixon

134	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Money					Does the Nova Mining Co have a plan to pay into the PFD similar to the oil and gas from the slopes?	Yes, mining companies pay taxes and royalties to the State of Alaska and do contribute into the PFD. - Lorali Simon			Haskell
135	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Money					So yes, substantially more expensive [as a public road than a private road].	Like 3 times the amount from what I have heard - Steve Perrins II			Lee McKnight
136	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Money					I realize it's an estimate but is there not a difference in cost if it's a private road versus a public road? Isn't the public road going to cost more money to build because you have to go with DOT highway standards? Is that going to be part of figuring out the cost for the whole road?	Yes, DOT standard roads are typically more expensive, and there would have to be elements that are designed into this roadway, for instance, signage and guard rail. Some of the curvatures change and so, and if we go that route it will be more expensive. We'll have to account for that. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Carl Kenny
137	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Opportunities					What type of opportunities will this project provide for the Alaska engineering/land development community?	There will be contractors to assist with environmental impact analysis and compliance. After that there will be opportunities for design and construction. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Max Frey, RESPEC

155	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	N/A		Process					When do you have to decide if it is going to be a public or private road?	The next steps will be to sit down and have a pre-application meeting with the Corps of Engineers. We don't necessarily have to decide whether it's public or private, before we submit the permit application. There's a little bit of a lag between submission and kicking off the EIS process. We'll get the answer to that question in the pre-application meeting with the Corps on when exactly they need to know if it's going to be public or private. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

To answer the questions regarding the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan, DNR would ensure compliance with this and other applicable plans when considering AIDEA's application for an easement through state lands. 166	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Access					Not everywhere needs easy access, a wild-ish area that is making the local businesses as much money as the Mat-Su region is a gold mine already. There are very few places like this area left in the world and that is worth more than any dollar amount. I have to pay the prices to get flown into my property, or anywhere else I've gone in the region when I go and no, I don't make a lot of money at all, so it stings, but it's been worth every hour of overtime and I wouldn't want it to be cheap and easy.				Chris Cernak

168	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Access					I live Wasilla, my wife and I and our two children have fallen in love with the West Susitna area over the last few years. We spend considerable amount of time out there. I believe, from my own experience, the value of this West Susitna area is almost impossible to grasp without spending some time in the area for yourself. If you would have asked me 10 years ago, if I would approve of a road into the West Susitna area. I would have been fully on board. I believe the reason for having that decision, not knowing what the value of the land had to me, due to the fact that I had not experienced it. It is for that reason that I believe folks that easily make the decision to be for this project. The West Susitna area is literally the last of its kind. Do to the fact that it's so close to home, a 20 minute flight, one to two hour snow machine ride, a boat ride, and you would see and feel the value that I'm talking about I strongly encourage anyone that hasn't had the chance to take a day or a weekend. Call a lodge, get a place to stay, see it for yourself before you make a decision. The road could devalue the area as to not allow it again for yourself or the generations to follow. If this project were to become unfeasible or just cease to exist and stop, would AIDEA have other projects that they could infuse this $8,500,000 into?	The funding was specifically for the West Susitna Access Road. If we were to stop all activity, we would have to take direction from the State and State Legislature. Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Gabe Kitter
169	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Design					I was just looking at your interactive map and it looks like you're going through Road Service Area 17 to connect to this road. Are you planning to reimburse the property owners of RSA 17? Are the property owners of RSA 17 going to be responsible for maintaining the road for mining trucks to go up and down? I support the project except for that. I live in Point MacKenzie, so I am concerned about that.	That's a great question, and I don't think we have the answer to that. We're so early in the project. That's a question that needs to be answered along with who will maintain the rest of the road. - Brad Sworts (Mat-Su Borough)
170	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Design					I think parking is an important issue, because parking then turns into a de facto trail head, and not only that but an unmanaged trailhead and that can cause pretty significant impacts to the resources, especially wetlands, especially in the summertime. I'm not really that concerned about the snow machines because they travel in the wintertime, but in the summertime ATVs would certainly go out there, and parking would concentrate the use. It would cause adverse impacts to wildlife. It would cause resource damage and unmanaged or substandard stream crossings and erosion. I haven't heard any talk about that, and I would like you to consider that. I think it's important. I think it has adverse impact on our salmon and other fish.	You bring up a good point about an unmanaged trail head. Managed access is critical to make sure the traffic doesn't go all over the place and that we manage our resources responsibly. The majority of properties are State land at this point. There definitely needs to be some strategy and planning done to determine whether there will be pullouts or not, and if there are other kind of impacts. Those are all big questions that get answered during the NEPA process. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
171	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Development					Most of the area is marsh. This road would access possibly 7,000 acres of agricultural land, but there are already 38,000 acres only 8 miles from Willow and another 20,000 acres available by Petersville.				Steve Perrins II
172	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Development					Yes, please substantiate your claim of "beneficial" forestry, agriculture and alternative energy (salmon river dams) projects. There seems to be many things touted that can't be delivered. Alaskans should challenge what is being promised when being "sold" on this road project. Even for recreational opportunities...there aren't as many as what many people think.				Jason R
173	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Development					I just want to officially voice my opposition to this road and development. I don't believe that any benefits to Alaskans will outweigh the negative short and long term impacts of this development.				Sam Christman
174	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Development					Please address the idea that timber can be pulled from the area.	There is no living marketable timber. The spruce beetles claimed that 4 years ago. - Jason R.  All the timber is beetle killed, road construction wouldn't start until 2028 at the earliest and all the timber will be deadfall and rotting for 6-7+ years by then. Trees at the end of the road take 75 years to get 12" diameter at the base and taper off quickly. AIDEA doesn't even register an economic benefit for timber on their in-house economic report - Steve Perrins II				A. Ramirez
175	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					It took decades to clean up Jim Creek.				Lee McKnight

176	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					One of the first things learned in natural resource management is it's much easier and cheaper to prevent problems than it is to try and remediate them. A road like this will wreak havoc on the different ecosystems in the region. Easy road access (public or private) through wetland and wild regions has led to millions of dollars wasted remediating problems that should have never been caused in the first place. Here in the Adirondacks where I grew up (even when they were built with "proper" oversight), you can't find a body of water or wetland that isn't polluted due to runoff, trails are overrun to the point where some need permit systems for use, overfishing and over-hunting are major issues, the list goes on.				Chris Cernak
177	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					Where is all of the gravel going to come from to build this road? Will the gravel sourcing be included in the NEPA process? Considering the wetlands makeup of most of this road, the gravel needs will be enormous.	Gravel sources are critical for any road project. Available gravel sources will need to be identified and disclosed in the EIS document. Any gravel source located on State lands would need to be permitted through the material sale processes. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)			Melissa Heuer - Susitna River Coalition
178	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					Has nothing been identified yet as a potential area [for gravel extraction]? The gravel will be a huge project in and of itself.	Jesse (AIDEA) would be best to answer whether potential gravel sources have been identified at this early stage in their field evaluations. To clarify my earlier point, specific new gravel sources will need to be disclosed and permitted prior to their construction/use. Any impacts from that new disturbance would be evaluated with the other potential effects from the overall project. Existing gravel pits that are already permitted could also be used. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)			Melissa Heuer - Susitna River Coalition
179	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					I would say that the potential impact on the Cook Inlet salmon fisheries is hugely important. This road would go through the watershed and spawning areas for Cook Inlet salmon. Major stream crossings are one thing and would be hopefully be regulated by the Recreation Rivers Management Plan, but the small creeks and feeder streams in the wetlands would not be adequately protected. The Cook Inlet salmon fishery is important to all of us - commercial fishing, sports fishing, tourism, private use.				Dulce Ben-East
180	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					The proposed Little Susitna River crossing is located right on top of King Salmon spawning grounds.	One of the things that needs to be accounted for is obviously spawning grounds for salmon. So if somebody knows of a location where spawning is taking place, I would definitely get that comment into the Borough, into the Corps of Engineers, and into the Alaska Department of Natural Resources when the public comment periods are open for all those. Any activity below the ordinary high water mark of fish streams, whether anadromous or not, requires a fish habitat permit from Fish and Game. Culverts were mentioned earlier in the conversation today. It was spot on that Fish and Game has to permit the design of every fish crossing along the entire route, and they take that job			Miller's Riverboat Service - Ben Allen

181	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					I own FishHound Expeditions. We bring hundreds of thousands of dollars to the State of Alaska and the Mat-Su Valley every year. And that's just my company. Hunting, fishing, and ecotourism generate millions of dollars for the state of Alaska, and that money stays in Alaska. It does not go to foreign mining companies and it benefits Alaskans whether that be restaurant owners, or others, everything stays in the State, and this needs to be looked at as a very serious threat to what we are doing. People come to Alaska because it is wild and roadless, putting a road across a 156 known water crossings will forever change our area. I think that really needs to be considered before moving ahead. It has been very clear that the public does not want this. Landowners do not want this and the public comment period needs to be extended and listened to, because most people in the valley don't even know that this is going on and this is a huge impact all of us that call Alaska and the Valley home.	People are starting to hear about the project now. As part of the outreach, we sent out over 13,000 postcards. There will be more opportunities to comment during the environmental process. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)			Adam Cuthriell
182	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					Just hearing the term "heavy industrial use" in regards to a wild area such as this with so many fragile wetlands and waterways makes me sad and I am certainly opposed to this road.				shelly1
183	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					If the utilization of a roadway to access remote areas is something someone is interested in, there are hundreds of miles of road available to do so. Wild areas like the West Su are becoming few and far between. Especially being that it is so close to town. If the road were to be developed, the option of that area being as wild and untouched as it is now would go away forever.	N/A			Gabe Kitter
184	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment Money Design					You lose me when you don't really have an understanding about whether this is public or this is a mining road. From the standpoint of a business owner and a person that lives out in that area, we've all moved into that area with full knowledge that we have to use an airplane or a boat to get to where we're going and you know that's really the heritage of the area. Sticking a road right through the middle of all of this rather pristine country would really be a shame. How are Alaskans going to be compensated for this road and how do the economics of this road work with a payback to Alaskans for financing this road for Nova Gold. One other question I have for AIDEA that I would really like to hear an answer to is years ago there was another alignment. If this gold mine is just so productive, and it's so important to Alaska, would it be possible to consider a different route, that would go out to Tyonek which is 30 miles shorter. It's all gravel in that area and has a lot less wetlands and salmon to disturb.	The 2014 Road to Resources Study took a look at different routes and really focused on a few to study. We honed it down to this route as the most direct and least impactful. Going to Tyonek presents some other challenges. There's a substantial amount of wetlands there. The proposed route was the most direct route to tie into existing infrastructure along the road system. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

187	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Lifestyle					This road and public access is going to change the way that many of us who have recreated out in this area, and possibly own land or cabins, or operate businesses, is going to change the way that the land is being used and while some people may see it as positive, there are a lot of us who are going to see it as very negative. This is going to run right through an area that I've enjoyed trapping in for the last 15 to 20 years. It's going to change the experience that I have in my cabin that I've built out there over time. You're going to probably hear that a lot from the private landowners out in this area because it is going to change what they've come to enjoy.				Carl Kenny
188	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Lifestyle Access Process Money Maintenance					As a land and cabin owner in the area, I strongly oppose this road. This road is going to change the way of life for so many people who choose to live or recreate remotely. The area that the bridge that is going across the river has been open to dip netting, and this bridge is going to affect the fishing. This area is only accessible by snow machine, boat, or plane right now and a road is going to change that completely. To say that there has been good outreach is NOT true. We received our first and only information on this project this month. The only way we knew about this project was by word of mouth from a fellow land owner. Not only will this change our way of life but the cost to maintain this road is going to be high. From a previous meeting in December, the public was told that the Borough is going to be responsible for maintaining up to the bridge, that is a huge undertaking. When are we going to know how this road and bridge is going to change our land taxes?				Rachael Rolondo

189	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money					When will an independent cost benefit analysis be completed? The one AIDEA did was done in house and didn't list a single downside of the project. Which is highly unrealistic and misleading.	If that's something the Borough would like to request, we're certainly open to a third party opinion but there's no requirement to do that prior to permit submission. We're still in a pre-feasibility stage. We haven't committed to building anything yet. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Melissa Heuer - Susitna River Coalition
190	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money					We strongly recommend the Borough request a third party independent cost benefit analysis as soon as possible and before any more money is spent on this road.				Melissa Heuer - Susitna River Coalition
191	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money					Mr. Brown, many of us question some of your most basic assumptions, aside from the omissions, in your planning documents. Chief among them concern financial feasibility. You'll need a very serious, state-of-the-art economic study using Outside experts. It should account for external costs and show confidence intervals expected with modern economic methods.				Mike Bronson
192	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money					There is a ton of revenue generated from the businesses and the people that exist in its curtain state in the West Susitna area.				Melissa Heuer - Susitna River Coalition
193	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money					Why would you even be doing it if it's not going to be feasible or if you don't know if it will make money? Right now we don't even have enough money to pay for our government services, you're having to steal our pfd's every year, because you don't have any money for government services. And yet you're going to use all this kind of money to pay for a road that may or may not even be feasible. I'm a little irritated at the way that AIDEA's projects go. They general lose money for the State and we end up spending tons of money and then we don't have money for our basic services. It seems to me that the development should continue right now on a fly-in basis until you know that that it's really going to be worth it, and you can actually guarantee it. We should pay for our normal services first before we dole out all this money on wasted boondoggle projects. You just want to do it as some dream thing and then you lose money on it, and then we lose money on it, and then we don't have money for our normal services.	One thing that I wanted to highlight is the success of the Red Dog mine and the infrastructure that AIDEA invested in. It has provided returns to the State of Alaska, and for a number of years since the early '90s, and that gets paid back to the State via dividend. This is a similar type of project that could develop. We're still in the fact finding stage, and really trying to determine what this looks like. It's okay that we don't have all those answers just now, and I know that there are some anxious folks out there want us to have all the answers, but we don't, and we're really in this process trying to get smarter about this project, and make sure that it's going to be a good project for the Borough and for the public of Alaska.			Cindy
194	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money					If this is not a public road why is the state paying for it? It seems to me the Australia company is getting a free ride and all the benefits. They should be required to pay the state back for the road supplied for them.				Mike Darrar
195	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money					Then why are you pushing it through so fast I say give it some more time. It doesn't seem like you're ready to spend this kind of money when we don't even have money for government services.	We haven't fully committed to building anything and this has been a staged process from day one. We don't move forward without support from the Borough and industry partners. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

202	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money Security					It's going to change the way of life for a lot of people. We are strongly opposed to it. I haven't heard too much on policing. We were wondering about property taxes. When will we know? Because if this road goes in that is going to increase property taxes out there. I was also wondering what the pink dotted line was on the slides.	I would imagine it would be the State troopers, if it's a public road, however it is too early in the process to know. Same with the property taxes. There are still many questions that have to be answered. The pink dotted line is a mineral district boundary line. - Brad Sworts (Mat-Su Borough)

205	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					Steve Perrins II from Rainy Pass Lodge. I'm glad there is a comment period, but we wanted a comment period in phases 1 and 2. I talked with DNR today, and it looks like there's only one exploration company currently in operation up there. Everybody knows that the primary purpose for this road is the hard rock minerals up there. It doesn't sound like there's even a ton of interests other than that one Australian company at this point.	We are starting to see some interest from other parties and other industries as well. Companies are looking at oil and gas, coal, and hard rock mining, especially gold. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Steve Perrins II
206	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					Has the mine been permitted yet? How do we even know it will be developed?	I am not aware of any mine permitted in the region. However, there are some mineral exploration activities occurring in the region. 210	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					My name is Eric Booton. I am the Sportsmen Coordinator for Trout Unlimited's Alaska Program. Thank you for this opportunity provide comment and ask questions about the West Susitna Access Road.  Trout Unlimited has strong local roots in Alaska and the Mat-Su and we have heard loud and clear from our membership and local sportfishing businesses that they are concerned about the staggering impacts this project will have to fish habitat and a healthy watershed, with little benefit to Alaskans.  I am very appreciative that the MatSu Borough created this opportunity for public engagement. AIDEA was required to conduct public engagement during phase 2 of the project and did a disappointing job in doing so. However, a 6 week comment period and two virtual meetings is just a start and not enough. I encourage the borough to continue to facilitate a robust and public engagement process where others have not.  With so much missing information, it's impossible to have an informed conversation. Here are some suggestions to help inform the conversation as AIDEA and the borough move forward - please respond if you have any insight:  I echo the need for an independent cost benefit analysis of the road and encourage the borough to request one.	I will highlight that much of that will be addressed in this next step with Phase 3. The NEPA process, the environmental impact statement, will consider the effects on the businesses and effects on the resources. That all gets handled at the next level. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Eric Booton

211	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					I'm amazed at how little advocates of this project really know about it's design, scope and context. How many phases does it take before anyone actually knows what is going on?	We are in the pre-feasibility stage of this project, and we haven't committed to building anything. We're trying to figure out the viability of this road and it takes a little bit of effort to do that. We've selected bite sized chunks to make it manageable. The next step in this process is submitting a 404 permit application, and then that will trigger the NEPA process. Then we'll just follow right along with a very well defined permitting and regulatory process to make sure that we're in compliance with the Corps of Engineers and all of the environmental stipulations. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Jason R

214	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					Shouldn't we wait until there's a determination of whether this road will be public or not before we acknowledge any anticipated 'public' benefits? Also, current agricultural constraints are primarily storage, packing and processing facilities, and access to markets. Regarding more development = more revenues for the state that is so not true. Lots of money has been wasted on developing development that have never been developed.				Thomas Cappiello
215	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					There was a question about the minerals that have been identified in this area, and a reference to the Frontiersman article yesterday, which also said that none of those minerals have actually been confirmed yet. They've just been assessed through aerial scans and some limited testing. This seems like a huge impact to a number of things for not having any confirmed minerals out there, or more than one company to do this project. That's not how this happens in other parts of the of the State or the country. It seems like putting the cart before the horse, and like another huge AIDEA boon doggle that we're all too familiar with, I'm curious if this will be a public or private road, because the impacts will be very different with different resources needed and access points. It would be a very different design plan for a public versus a private road. Why is the Borough touting this as a public road when AIDEA isn't at this point. It seems very misleading that they are and I think it's pretty clear that you're not going to have support unless there's a public aspect to this road. It seems really misleading as well to tell people that this might be a public road and that's really not what it's designed for through either the road design or the cost design. I feel like you guys do know what you're aiming for, and it needs to be more transparent to the public. My last question at this point is, what is the traffic volume you've talked about? I've heard a couple different numbers over the last year and a half and interaction with private vehicles will certainly be a consideration.	As far as the public access, we're looking at the feasibility of public elements of this road along with industrial use and so that means a lot of different things to different users. We need to get better educated on what that looks like. It's a part of the feasibility stage of this project, and it's okay to not have all the answers. We're trying to engage with the public to understand where the desires lie, and make sure that we're putting something out there that the public wants and is supported. We'll work also for industry and resource development. This is a dynamic process and we don't have definitive answers. We're going to engage with the experts to see if there is the ability to.			Melissa Heuer - Susitna River Coalition
216	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					This road proposal is being treated as a stand-alone action, when in fact it is a keystone to numerous proposals (gas line to Donlin, coal bed methane, timber harvest) that would affect a very large undeveloped region. The first and foremost step is to review the Susitna Area Plan in a thorough and transparent process that allows the public to determine the collective beneficial or negative effects of these collective projects that will radically change this region. STOP the road process until all of the regional reviews have been done.	In response to Tom Rothe the NEPA process requires a cumulative effects analysis, which considers past, present, and reasonably foreseeable future projects/activities and their potential cumulative effects with AIDEA's proposed action. That analysis would be disclosed in the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS). Also, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will offer public notice and commenting periods following receipt of AIDEA's 404 permit application and publication of the Draft EIS. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)			Tom Rothe

217	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					So in order to build this road you have to lift current protection of the Susitna Recreational Rivers Plan in order to build bridges over the Little Susitna River and the Talachulitna River, correct? And that opens those rivers to further development proposals in the future including more roads, bridges, etc. Future expansive development within salmon strongholds should be considered by everyone that is doing their diligence on the impacts of this initial access road.	"Coincidentally" The Rec Rivers plan has been re-opened up and they are simultaneously working on that. - Steve Perrins II			Jason R
218	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					I am opposed to taking on any more Borough projects until we get the ones we have going finished. Examples are the railroad spur to Port Mackenzie and the port. We have already spent tons of funds on these projects not to mention the high speed ferry debacle.				Dave Class
219	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					It's kind of hard to believe when the Borough is actively looking to sell their conveyor belts, and if the port does not work out, is this anticipation for a bridge across Knik Arm? Or are you anticipating trucking out? Or maybe is it the new rail system that's supposed to be going out there? I fully support this as a resident of Wasilla. I've been hunting on the west side of the Susitna River my entire life. The impact for the traffic on KGB is still pretty crucial. This needs to be included into the thought process and the development process of the impact of traffic. Is there an encompassed timeframe, a schedule with estimated times that each step is going to that we can look at? Is this a 10 year process?	Our goal is to get a permit in front of the Corps of Engineers sometime this spring, and at that point it's really in the core's hands on how long that takes. We're planning for about 2 years. But it could go longer or could be a little shorter. At that point we've got a decision to make, if we get the approval from the Corps. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
220	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					Steve Perrins Rainy Pass Lodge. I've had a hard time finding out information about this project the last couple of years, and the Susitna River Coalition Facebook page has been a great way to stay in touch with meetings and what's going on. I think that it's important as we develop Alaska that we have to be in intentional on how we want to do that. You know this is the last frontier and there are not many places in the world that you can go to that are remote and wild, and I think that's why most of us have come to Alaska or have stayed here. We live and work and play here. In tourism, because it is wild and remote. We want to be careful we don't turn this into the lower 48. I'm not anti-development or anti-mining, but I think it's important that we are careful on how we develop because we don't want to be the lower 48. You know tourism's the second largest industry in Alaska. That's people who come here because it's remote and wild. Roads are going to turn us into the lower 48. My only question is, I know you're going to be summarizing these comments. Are you going to be posting them on a website somewhere, or a place where people can preview them? Also, it seems like at every step of the way, 80 to 100% of the comments have been against this road. How has AIDEA taken that into consideration with this process?	First of all, our process of taking these public comments is not a vote. What I'm doing is collecting a summary of what people are thinking, and what the specific reasons are, and coalescing them into themes that are easier for agencies to review and process. The comment process is a big part of the environmental permitting process. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)	I would first I'd like to say that we take all the comments we receive seriously. We document them. We've got them on file. We've met with individual stakeholders on one-on-one basis. We have $8.5 million bucks, and that's not going to get a road built. These are future decisions.			Steve Perrins II
221	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process Money					How is it possible that the DNR representative at this hearing is not familiar with the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan, which is a DNR plan? 223	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Route					Why can't the road tie into the existing system on the west side of Cook Inlet, following their gas line route? It would put less people out and preserve more area, including the area where the road runs through the Susitna flats wildlife refuge. That would give the mine all the access it wants without many of the negatives that have been commented on.	Our focus has been on connecting to the existing infrastructure along the highway system, with the focus on Port MacKenzie as the port of choice for exporting the resources. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Lee McKnight
224	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		hunting/fishing					Is this road going to be open to the public, so that hunting and fishing opportunities are going to increase in that area?	We are still evaluating the extent of public access on this route, and you know we're getting some feedback through this engagement session. The question is if they can use the same corridor at the same time. That's the question that we need to answer. We need to get some feedback from the public, and also from the experts that have experience permitting multi-use roads that are open to heavy haul and the general public. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Neil De Witt

225	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Public vs private					I understand some individuals will always be opposed to new roads, but I also know that most of these individuals really want to be the only ones able to utilize a new area. Similar to closing millions of acres to the public by retaining its remoteness. I am comfortable with this road addition especially regarding not restricting it to non-company-only travel as they did to the Shaw Creek road for Pogo.	N/A			Haskell
226	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Public vs private					It seems like most of the land owners in the area who are participating in this meeting want to keep the area all to themselves, but that unfairly excludes other Alaskans. The land being considered for a road is on public property and should be accessible to all Alaskans.				Lorali Simon
227	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Economic development					We're just mainly concerned about it being public access. It's a good like economic opportunity for the State to make some money. It's resource development, which I think is great. But I also see the potential risk of creating a road over so many water crossings and going into new lands and whatnot. I believe you know most of that area is inaccessible to the average Alaskan, and if we put a road through there, I think that's a great opportunity for the average Alaskan family to be able to recreate and explore new parts of our State that they otherwise would not be able to see or explore without a boat or a plane or significant snow machine rides. This would just provide easier access to vast majority of Alaskans. I want to see the road done safe, but I think this could be a really cool opportunity for people to gain access to new areas of our home, I can see it being kind of like a Denali Highway with tons of fishing and hunting and recreational opportunities here in South Central and I think it's a great opportunity. But again, I fully believe that if this project happens the State and the Borough should really push to ensure that there's public access from start to finish. Maybe even some primitive boat launches, or campgrounds at some of the major water crossings. I just wanted to say thanks and say that I support it as long as it's done right. I believe it will be and as long as it's public all right, thank you.				Grant Copeland

230	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Development					A comment about "multi national mining companies." There are few Alaskan owned companies that can afford to develop projects. Remember that multi national companies hire Alaskans, spend money in Alaska in support of their operations. Most of the money stays in Alaska.				Lorali Simon
231	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Information					Folks, there is a lot of inaccurate information about mining being thrown around in the chat. Be responsible enough to learn about law and regulations on modern mining practices.				Lorali Simon
232	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Economic development					"Normal [government] services" are paid for with State revenue, which comes from taxes and royalties. If there are more development projects in Alaska, there will be more state revenue to pay for services.				Lorali Simon
233	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Recreation					When will the proposed Little Susitna River crossing be built and will boating be impeded. The Little Susitna Public Use Facility boat launch is a very popular venue for boating and fishing.	The Little Susitna is a navigable river, so the Coast Guard is involved in the permitting of the bridges. The Coast Guard permitting process requires that if there's already boating on the river the bridge has to accommodate that boating traffic. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Miller's Riverboat Service - Ben Allen

234	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Process					No decision has been made to build a road. AIDEA and the Borough are in the research phase. Anyone saying this project needs to slow down, doesn't understand that there is currently NO project. A topic is being researched. Taking all of our comments tonight is part of the research process. Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably roads, is a challenge for future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain is important to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step. While active mining exploration is taking place in the area, it is important to note that it is just that – exploration. For an actual mine to be developed – or even a road project, it would involve an extensive regulatory process involving multiple local, state, and federal agencies with dozens of science-based environmental permits, many of which have a public involvement process. The topic being discussed tonight is not a mining or road construction decision. It is to discuss the continued evaluation of the access route to pursue access for public opportunities. The MatSu Borough is the fastest-growing area of the state. It is easy to see why; there is something for everyone. The acreage is massive, and includes growing population centers, economic opportunities, and remote locations to enjoy Alaska's recreational				Lorali Simon

I pay 500 dollars a month in property taxes to the borough to have graders block my driveway in with snow, constant congestion on KGB, Palmer-Wasilla, and Bogard, and potholes everywhere. There is infrastructure development that needs to happen, but not this. Not yet at least. There are immediate needs for infrastructure overhaul within the population centers that need to be addressed before putting in a 400 million dollar road that may or may not have public access so big mining companies can profit. 248	Online Survey 1	2022/02/19 12:04:48 PM PST	No						My name is Dylan Jacobs. Born and raised in the Matanuska Valley, I love this land more with every sunset. I believe development of access to the Susitna Valley is in order. I support as much of the road as possible being public access, surely the development of something to enforce respect of our land is a navigable concern. As far as the "devastating" concerns of wilderness lodge owners...with all due respect, acknowledging my lack of business ownership experience and that I speak broadly of an industry with which I am not familiar, there is a process called creative destruction as things move forward. It's the idea that some of the past needs to be let go of to create resources for the future (e.g. the astonishing volume of labor and money that is poured like an N into the vegetative phone book business, knowing full well 90% of people throw them straight into the trash (and the rest keep them for kindling!) this is finances and labor not being used in areas that need laborers and is not being applied to moving forward, say in the tech sector, but is actually a dead weight on us, of course I'm not saying the lodges are dead weight but there is an opportunity to champion the move forward or to resist and delay the future). I do not believe a 100 mile dead-end road revokes your wilderness status, even if it does the demographic you serve might shift slightly but there will still be one! If navigated wisely and taken advantage of this could easily boost the success of these lodges, in my opinion. My family loves to fish, hunt, boat, and recreate in the lower Susitna region, and this road would cause the loss of game, and over harvesting. The MSB has an unfortunate history of promoting projects using fraudulent studies showing positive economic benefits. See Port MacKenzie, Point Mackenzie dairy farms, Knik Arm Bridge, etc. The cost of crossing the Susitna River as far downriver as proposed will mean that the bridge will likely need costly protection or to be moved, due to the meandering river. "Normal" spills from vehicles will cause pollution that will harm fish populations, not to mention the likelihood of larger spills from tankers, etc.	The state of Alaska should not use state money to benefit private corporations. In recent years, the West-Su Road, the Donlin Pipeline, Susitna Valley Oil and Gas Development, colossal gravel needs for road construction and building pads in a predominately wetland area, weakened habitat protections, and removal of the Recreational Rivers habitat plan have all been proposed for this region of Alaska. These proposals are being looked at individually while the cumulative impacts of these projects need to be addressed as a whole. Individually, these projects will alter and impact the landscape, together they will exacerbate negative impacts from habitat loss, fragmentation, illegal harvest, vandalism, pollution including air, ground noise, and overwhelming change the face of the region forever. We are full-time residents of Trail Lake near the base of Mt. Little Susitna in Fish and Game Zone 16B. We have owned our property since 2007. We vote and we pay property taxes.  The West Susitna Access Road is expected to pass close to our quiet, remote property. We are concerned about a decrease in property values and the quietude, attractive views, and wild animal sightings for which we bought this property and spent over a decade developing it into a home where we forage, hunt, fish, and raise many of our foods and resources.  Based on the results of mining developments and roads in other remote parts of Alaska, we are logically alarmed by the possibility of increases in noise, erosion, pollution, invasive species, and road access for illegal human activities that have occurred elsewhere. For example, we hope that if this project starts or finishes, it will not repeat the polluting tailings of a mine on Jonesville Road, the murder victim dumping on Jim Creek, and the many, many neglected cleanups after a company moved on to the next, new parcel. Businesses like ours bring outside money into the State, a foreign mining company will take their money out of country.	This project will destroy what Alaska is all about, its culture, its way of life, the reason why people come to Alaska, it will start turning Alaska into the lower 48. Tourism is our 2nd largest industry and people come here because it's remote and wild. The Susitna Valley is very important to many lodges, fishing guides, charter services and recreators. A road through that area will have tremendous impact in a negative way to all those stakeholders. A 100 mile road with 156 river crossing and common 2-3' snow dumps will cost a fortune to maintain and it will ultimately be put on the backs of tax payers to pay for that. Hard rock mining is the only possible viable economic reason for this road but there are other ways to extract their minerals. There is currently only 1 exploration company in operation at the end of the road and they have never developed a mine. If they decide not to develop or sell out like all the other companies have done since the 1970's, then we have a huge economic burden with many long-standing businesses put out of work. I love long, mostly empty roads. But these need to be few and far between in Alaska. We need to preserve areas where people have already carved out businesses that depend on remoteness and wildness – there aren't many of these left in the US, and it cannot be re-created once paved over and divided into farms and suburbs.  We need to understand the habitat corridors that animals and birds will need as climate affects their current habitat, both up here and, for migratory species, in other parts of the world.  It would be better for roads to extend slowly, a dozen miles or so at a time and in ways that grow organically out of communities than to create grand long very expensive roads and bridges to projects known for volatility, like "potential" mines.  I am against this project because it is not coming organically out of community need, but out of a central government vision, which is frankly little different than the way some communist government would operate. I am also against this project because there are always negative impacts to wildlife and fish habitat, regardless of mitigation (and later, inevitable remediation) work. I am especially against this project if the road is to be a public road, with no control over the off-road vehicles that will then access the area.		Play	99674

322	Online Survey 1	2022/03/14 2:42:41 PM PDT	No						The development of this road is completely irresponsible, from start to finish. Not only would this construction disrupt an area with highly valuable recreation opportunities that boost the tourist economy within the state, but most importantly, the construction of this road and the resource development that would follow would be irreversibly damaging to a vast ecosystem that supports abundant terrestrial wildlife and all 5 species of Pacific salmon. Crossing more than 150 streams within the Susitna River watershed, the 15th largest river in the US, this development would disturb or destroy critical habitat for salmon, the lifeblood of Alaska and many of its ecosystems. Furthermore, the habitat disruption and widespread ecological change that would occur as a result of this project's development is NOT worth the resources extracted. At a time when our state is facing unprecedented and irreversible change due to a warming climate, it is incredibly irresponsible to continue pushing projects for oil and gas extraction that would contribute further to the climate crisis and ecological and infrastructural damage to our state. 332	Online Survey 1	2022/03/24 2:18:29 PM PDT	No						Our family loves fishing and boating adventures on the Susitna River and its tributaries. We love how, with our small jet boat, we can get off the road system, fish on uncrowded river banks and experience (and share with our kids) all the things we love about living in Alaska (wildlife, beauty, and fairly easy access to the backcountry). We also use these trips to teach our kids about safety, fishing and hunting skills...key ingredients for living and enjoying life in Alaska. We also often catch fish that feed our family and have helped pack moose out with friends that has done the same. While we live in Anchorage -- we love to recreate in the West Susitna region. During these family outings, we typically spend money on groceries, food and gas and at other local businesses in Wasilla and Willow. If the West Susitna Road, an industrial corridor, crossed this region we would choose to spend our money elsewhere for an experience that doesn't involve dump truck noise and dust. Additionally, science has confirmed, repeatedly, that roads cut off access to important habitat for salmon and trout -- and if this project goes through we can reasonably expect continued salmon declines in the region. And if the fish don't come back - neither will the anglers and other visitors!	I am personally opposed to the West Susitna Road, and have heard the same from many other families. I urge you to reconsider the Borough's involvement in advancing the road. The Borough has an incredible asset in the remote, unroaded West Su already - abundant fish and wildlife and the source of inspiration for many trips by visitors and residents alike. Like so many of our neighbors and friends, our family chooses to live in Alaska for the incredible abundance of wild places, fish and wildlife. You can find roads and struggling salmon runs all over the world -- Alaska is one of the few remaining places where salmon thrive and the land and rivers aren't bisected with roads. Let's recognize what an important asset we have and use it to our advantage -- but to do that we have to say no to projects that compromise what we have, creatively solve problems our communities are facing and stop pandering to companies that want to use Alaska's limited cash to help line their own pockets. We have now realized how much biodiversity is needed to ensure our survival, and at a time when most of the world is trying to repair the damage caused by decades of overdevelopment, the degradation of an area like the remote mats valley is the last thing that should be happening, especially for no other reason than needless greed. What that region holds is worth more than anything that will be extracted from the ground and the true financial cost of pursuing this road will be much higher than any short term monetary gains. It takes planning and thought. That is what draws people to the area, it's still wild! You can fish a stream that hasn't been fished in weeks or months, there isn't trash all over the place from people driving through. This road would destroy that part of the state all for a mine? Economic harm - Loss of tourism/shutting businesses down, destroying Alaskans way of life and our culture.	No		Rather than applying for work I would actually be put out of business and have to fire our 18+ annual employees. Along with about 15 - 20 other lodges and operators. When someone finally does an economic analysis on this project they will see that this is a bad project for Alaska, culturally, historically, and economically. Fish and game populations would be drastically hurt by this road and the eventual access that would accompany it, that's why the Mat-Su fish and game AC is against it as well. The road would put animals on a drawing system which would close down non-resident hunting in the area and non-resident hunters pay for about 78% of fish and games budget. The road would ultimately cost Alaskans a lot of money to maintain with 156 river crossings and regular 2-3' snow dumps. This road would ruin the way many Alaskans currently recreate in the area which is currently a remote wild area that is already accessible as it is close to many cities. 482	Online Survey 2	2022/03/16 1:46:21 PM PDT	No		wetland impact		wetland impact	No		I am a professional wildlife biologist familiar with the area. This road is a disaster to the ecological integrity and health of the entire watershed. A private gravel road, funded with public money, to benefit mining corporations is unacceptable and reeks of corporate welfare funded by tax payers money. This road would be devastating to the area, its cultural and natural heritage. The impacts to streams, water quality, fish and wildlife resources and air quality would be exorbitant. The climate impacts of this project would be unmitigable. All in all this is an exceedingly bad idea, promoted by greedy corporations looking for welfare from the public. It seems this project aims to garner public support with the prospects of a public access road only to limit it to private industrial use after approval. Can MSB/AIDEA be explicitly clear on the intention of this road, if they are willing to make it public access for everyone? That does not seem like an $8M dollar question to me. Of course a mining company does not want. Their haul road congested with recreational traffic. But the state corporations have a duty to benefit all Alaskans, and have enough forethought to foster comprehensive development of the area for all Alaskans, which means the smaller but more numerous industries that go along with private property development, recreation, hunting, fishing, and small-scale mining which can coexist with influential, publicly-traded mining companies. South central, and Alaska at large has a significant access deficiency despite the incredible amount of public lands. This project could synergize resource development with creating recreational and tourism opportunities in the state. Don't compromise the quality of our natural, recreational areas without the compromise of increased, more equitable access for all Alaskans.		Recreation;Own undeveloped property;Hunting;Fishing;Interested person	99507

616	Online Survey 2	2022/03/19 12:18:08 PM PDT	No	Own developed property	high cost		high cost	No		The Mat-Su Borough is unable or unwilling to maintain existing roads and make them usable year round. For example, the simple expedient of using "gates" on snow plows to keep driveway access to roads open for emergency vehicles and getting to work on time is specifically not done. The Borough has wasted millions of dollars on projects that were not properly planned, such as the railroad bed to (almost) Pt. McKenzie, a Wasilla bypass that stops at KGB Road instead of bypassing Wasilla, a plethora of subsidized farms that haven't panned out, and the infamous ferry. All of these projects mostly benefited a few landowners and out-of-state based construction companies, such as Granite, but have done little for Alaskans. The West Susitna Road is another boondoggle that will benefit a few foreign or alien companies. It is already contemplated that public access will be denied, which will create enormous enforcement problems both by government and through private litigation and, practically speaking, public access will happen whether allowed or not. Take a look at the McKenzie railroad bed: it is used regularly by recreational vehicles. To be useful for a railroad, it will have to be substantially rebuilt. How many more hair-brained projects will it take before they start doing a more thorough job vetting the outcomes? This 100 mile road and the 156 river, creek, wetlands crossing would create a maintenance nightmare and would require significant public dollars to keep passable for vehicles. The State should NOT be in the business of building roads to access mining claims for private companies. Let free enterprise play its role and if a company thinks they can make money from our natural resources extraction then THEY should pay for all cost incurred, including access roads, it should not fall on public money to support private enterprises. The Matanuska Susitna Borough and the State of Alaska is once again in the process of throwing the residences finances down the drain. There is little to no Alaska public sediment for this project and yet big brothers are bound and determined to undermine the public resident sentiment. To my understanding, the State and Mat-Su Borough have teamed with Nova Minerals (not even an American company) to move this project forward. Nova Minerals is listed on the Grey Market Over the Counter market. It is a micro-Cap stock and has a Market Capitalization of $101M. If this company fails residents will again no doubt pay for it. This market is Extremely illiquid with the least number of regulations making this company a maximum high-risk adventure. This has all the merits and ideas of the Mat-Su Borough high speed ferry, the de-funked Port Mackenzie and now the sale of the conveyer system there, the Railroad spur to (nowhere) the port that is now just a very long idel gravel pit, the dairy business and farms. I could go on and on.  On the virtual public meetings there was talk of: • Beetle kill timber harvest. • Beetle kill is now, would be on ground & rotted before road is completed • Public access - No commitment on who gets to use what parts of road • Other mining activities. • Don't have any other prospects at this point. 789	Online Survey 2	2022/03/30 3:14:05 PM PDT	No		environmental impact		environmental impact	No		This is a short sided proposal. Although the history of our state includes resource extraction, the true nature and value of this land lies in its preservation. Opening up a road and mineral extraction does NOT benefit Alaska and Alaskans in the short or long term. Nova Minerals is a foreign company and regardless of the nationality of interested corporations, the financial benefits of resource extraction are not shared with Alaskans in any legitimate sense. In terms of access, so much of the public comment that I've heard was founded in concern over accessibility to wild lands. By adding a road, it negates this interest. The allure and value of Alaska is that is untouched and preserved. Coming to Alaska on a cruise ship is on so many Americans' life bucket list, and they never come close to taking advantage of the opportunities that Alaska residents have to experiencing true wilderness. Road access is the mainstay of the lower 48, and development of that kind of access kills the character of our state, which has been and must continue to be hard fought to maintain. Potentially benefits are unclear and at this juncture do not sound substantial. On the other hand, the immediate and long-term negative consequences are many and significant. I do not support the idea of reducing this vast remote area to just another stretch of road-accessible Alaska. Our salmon are already under threat. There are roads all over the world and all of them impact the environment simply by existing. However, this road would lead to a mine, which would put a giant hole in the ground, and immensely impact the wildlife in the area and beyond. You mention 156 stream crossings. Well everything flows downstream. The direct area the road is in will not be the only area affected. No matter how clean or beneficial the mine would be, I have grown up in Alaska, visited the abandoned Hatcher mines, have seen the remnants of the mines in McCarthy, I just don't believe that once the mining is over the area will go back to normal. This far north, the regrowth and recovery of the environment, even after a four wheeler has driven over the tundra, takes years. A road and a mine and a timber area will create a scar that will not heal within yours or my lifetime, and probably not the lifetime of our grandchildren. What a legacy.		Interested person	99508

It continues to be no more than a slush fund for dream projects proposed by politically connected individuals. There was supposed to be an economic analysis conducted much earlier in this process. It has not been completed. You intend to take public funds to build a private road through public land for private business interests. If this road can't get private money to finance it, then it should die now. You are just stealing public money and public land to appease a political ideology. There has been almost zero public input. It seems your plan is to keep this as quiet as possible and let people think it's about public access.  You have continued to push the idea that industry will pay for this road, but you have yet to show how or even attempt to address the concern. How much additional public land and public money will be stolen to try to further develop the area with industrial infrastructure? How will mining, forest clearing and petroleum extraction pay? You are going down the same path all previous AIDEA debacles have traveled.  You intend to destroy a massive area of valuable wetlands and cross 156 streams, all seriously impacting critical salmonid spawning/rearing habitat and terrestrial wildlife habitat. This is currently a healthy and intact fish and wildlife production area that is of high value for Southcentral human populations. You allow a road, public or private and open pit coal and gold mines and how many people are going to spend the money to fly to a "REMOTE" lodge to see same thing that is all over the rest of the world and country? 846	Public Meeting 2	0:44:40	No		Process					Just to be clear to the public - individual comments and concerns will need to be submitted again during the EIS process. The comments submitted from this process are expected to be a summary and the Federal EIS process will not address them as individual comments - and is unlikely to receive them all. I appreciate the Borough submitting these comments to the Assembly and AIDEA, though the Borough can do little at this point and AIDEA hasn't made a single change in relation to public comments. I was hoping Brad or Jesse can address how people can make comments until March 31.	Camden: the purpose of this effort is to collect all the comments that people want to make. Jesse: Again we've done some field work and we've refined some of this past summer, confirmed the wetland mapping data we've collected. As we advance through this next phase, there will be additional efforts to collect more data. This is a step process that gets more and more detailed as we get more field work. That will build on the field work that we've already been done. Brad: I'd like to add that the public involvement is very important. There are folks who've lived out there for a long time. It's very important for us to know if there is anything that we've missed and make sure that it's added.			Tina:

The road was supposed to tie into the road system at Point Mac in order to utilize the rail bed and port for export. Neither of those projects are completed. Is it in the budget to finish the rail bed by adding tracks and finishing the port to handle that kind of export?	Jesse: No, finishing those two is not part of this project. 868	Public Meeting 2	0:53:26	N/A		Maintenance					Will the road be open for winter use?	Jesse: again, we're working to determine what the level of public access will be.			Tina:
869	Public Meeting 2	0:54:52	N/A		Money					Does the Alaska cost include the EIS?	Jesse: That project cost that was stated is all inclusive, so yes. Brad: Could you restate what the estimate cost was? Jesse: $300M to $400M Camden: Does that include the EIS? Jesse: Yes.			Tina:
870	Public Meeting 2		No		Money					I've lived in Alaska since 1967 and own 6 acres on the Yentna River. I've used the Yentna River since the 60's for hunting and fishing. As a grandma, I use the area out there for subsistence. People get out there on boats, snow machines, fat tire bikes. I also live in Palmer, AK and I have a subdivision in Houston, AK. In our subdivision, we own roads. For our phase 2, the MSB decided we have to ... That doubled our costs. I can't imagine crossing all these wetlands, etc. As I said, my cost to build keeps growing. I can't imagine how we can determine the cost. I feel this should be wilderness. I'm against this road.		Own undeveloped property; Hunting; Fishing		Ms. Budd
871	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Money					When they reference the State giving the funding, can you specify specifically who in the government gave the funding for this?	Camden: yes, the Alaska State Legislature.			Meredith Babcock
872	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Money					I'm staff to represent Christopher Kurka and listen to the comments on both side of the issue. I like what was said about how things change and we don't know. I guess my question is how old is the $3M - $4M estimate for the project?	Jesse: It would be an access road to the upper Skwentna road open to all types of users. A thickened gravel section that could support all types of vehicles. I think we have the road at 26'. It's all in our estimate what the basis of design is on our website. We may make it wider as we get more definition of the users. I looked at it to support ...	Something else		Andrew Elliott
873	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Maintenance					The maintenance costs that others have brought up. There will be many different things to be maintained. Is there any kind of estimate of what or who? What would the maintenance look like based on what is being built?	Jesse: We can engineer solutions to mitigate potential problems. We don't have - we don't know who's going to take care of it yet. That's okay. We haven't crossed into that development but before we get there, we will have an idea of who's going to take care of the maintenance and what it will look like.			Andrew Elliott

874	Public Meeting 2		No		Feasibility					Lifelong Alaskan in Anchorage, I have property, I like to hunt and fish. For the record, I concur with the comments of Brad and Kathleen and Meredith. I'm strongly opposed to this. One of my questions is if indeed Nova determines that it's not going to be suitable at the end of the road at Whisky Bravo Strip, could this road actually still take place if there's not a mine out there?	Brad: Jesse, you might want to talk about how there's references to only one mine interested in the road. Can you talk about the others? Jesse: There's hard rock mining, timber, fishing, hunting, agriculture, oil and gas exploration, coal gasification. The way we looked at this road is that it will spur developments and create jobs through the state. Accessing stranded resources for the benefit of the Borough.			Paul Ferucci
875	Public Meeting 2		Yes		Access					I just wanted to say that this is a great, great project. Wow, how lucky we will be if this gets done. It will get access to the land, better opportunities. People drive over the bridges on the Alaska highways all the time. I'm from Willow. I'm a past ... This is a great opportunity for the public. Just getting across the Susitna River, this is a great thing. Of course, you're going to get a few people that will say this will be too close to their land or will hurt a stick or something. I'm all for it.				Bob Shumaker
876	Public Meeting 2	0:56:51	No		Money					How can you even propose this project if you don't have the funding or know if it's private or public? Agreeing to this as a public it is imperative that we know this information.	Jesse: This access to the West Susitna region has been studied for years and years.			Tina:
877	Public Meeting 2	0:59:15	N/A		Feasibility					Would the Port of MacKenzie need to be improved for this project to be feasible? If so, who would pay for that?				Tina:
878	Public Meeting 2	0:59:20	No		Feasibility					Clearly mining is the main driver of this road. The mine has no 43-101 report submitted and no feasibility study has been completed so why are we considering a road to this mining area where no mine currently exists at this point?				Lee McKnight:
879	Public Meeting 2	1:00:41	No		Access					I am a off grid land and home owner on the East Papoose Twin lake. When the Point Mackenzie to Houston "railway" went in right next to our eastern shore of the lake...it changed not just the landscape around us but the unauthorized access by anyone with a way to get past the original gates and concrete barriers. 881	Public Meeting 2	1:01:45	No		Money					To clarify - AIDEA is proposing building unto a $1 billion dollar road and currently has one investor - Nova Minerals for this project. Seems like a bad business model.				Melissa Heuer - Susitna River Coalition:
882	Public Meeting 2	1:02:01	Yes		Money					I'm all for the proposed access you are discussing, as long as the funding is in place to actually make it happen and complete the road				Katie:
883	Public Meeting 2	1:02:31	N/A		Process					How will the final decision be made whether this road is built or not? In other words, what is the exact process?	Jesse: Well that's really be driven by the Borough. It's going to be a hybrid approach to determine if this project moves forward. Camden: Do you want to talk about environmental permitting? Jesse: We have $8.5M to get through permitting. We should get through the EIS too but this is a multi-step process that will take years to get through.			Paul's iPad:
884	Public Meeting 2	1:03:38	N/A		Process					What is the hydrology process?	Jesse: Going to the streams, figuring out these as they go, the characteristics, where they go in the spring during breakup. It helps them form.			Becky Long:
885	Public Meeting 2	1:03:56	No		Feasibility					Mining also drove the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension and that project was never finished. 886	Public Meeting 2	1:05:43	No		Wilderness preservation					So, in general in the West Susitna valley, there is no protection for any natural resources (fish, wildlife, critical habitat, riparian areas etc.) other than the current Recreational Rivers Plan, correct? And the Rec. Rivers Plan is currently under evaluation and likely will be amended to allow for future development in/around/through these rivers?	Camden: I don't believe that is the case. Kyle, can you speak to that? Kyle: The rivers plan is a planning document from DNR from 1991 and it is still in effect today. It is on our website. There are specific unit policies defined in that plan and the units are roughly defined through ecological functionality and processes within the area of the region. And those policies set guidelines for future permitting decisions by the DNR. And then we consult with Fish and Game as well. So those are management policies that inform DNR so the conditions are actually placed on the project. So DNR has the ability to deny or approve an application with or without conditions.			David Olson:
887	Public Meeting 2	1:06:01	No		Money					Are you looking at any foreign investors or funders/organizations/companies for this project? Not excited about China's Belt and Road Initiative that could possibly end up owning anything in Alaska!!!!				Tina:
888	Public Meeting 2	1:06:13	No		Feasibility					Please elaborate on the possible timber harvest - most spruce are dead and rotting due to beetle kill and where is there a mill that can handle the board feet estimated by the proposed project?	Jesse: I can only speak to the beetle kill that is out there. From what I know of it, it is harvestable. We've received many calls from local mills that would love to have access over there because there's a very strong demand for cabin packages and that makes great cabin lumber. Brad: I just want to point out that when the Assembly had their hearings on the project, there was a mill operator of Twin Papoose Road that was in favor. Kyle: I just want to point out that any timber sales on state or private lands will also need to adhere to the State of Alaska Forest Practices Act which is a jointly implemented act.			Amy Ramirez:

890	Public Meeting 2		No		Feasibility					I didn't actually come with prepared comments but after listening to the comments it's incredibly apparent that this project has way too many holes in it. Right now the State of Alaska has multiple fisheries disaster declarations, we haven't been able to meet the Federal match for Pittman Roberson money to fund. I sincerely doubt that the money will be there from the state. If the road is ever open to public access, it will be easier access. It will not be better hunting and fishing. If your desire is to hunt for fish off a road, there are plenty of opportunities for that in the state from Haines to Dead Horse.				Jacob Manix
891	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Process					Is this going to be the last time you guys are going to meet?	Camden: Yes, this is the last public meeting that the borough is putting on for this phase, then the project will go back to Jesse and his team. I don't know what the public engagement process is going to look like after this. Jesse: There will be more opportunities for public comments that will happen as we submit the 5404 permit.			Neil

892	Public Meeting 2		No		Environment					In light of what we know about the changing climate, how can we allow more oil, gas, and mining exploration at this point in history.	Jesse: I think I would highlight that the only thing I can comment on is that Alaska is a resource state and in this state operating on the ability to extract and sell our resources. So it's up to us to figure out the best way to harvest them in a responsible manner. And there's all kinds of factors that come into play and we're really sitting in a beautiful state. 894	Public Meeting 2		No		Money					They're not going to employ 6,000 people. Are they paying royalties right now?	Jesse: No but they've got leases that they've purchased from the State of Alaska. Kyle: There are fact sheets from DNR that talk about the mineral lease process. Some folks have commented on mineral royalties. I just wanted to also point out that the State of Alaska also collects corporate income taxes. 896	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Process					It appears there's no one from Fish and Game involved in these meetings so far. It seems to me they should be. They should be able to speak up as to how they're seeing this project.	Jesse: Yes, we're working with the Fish and Game together. The data that they need for their stuff. It's still super early in the process and we haven't even submitted ... Kyle: The State will move to be a cooperating agency to the Federal Agency. That gives the State of Alaska a seat at the table. They my office coordinates with Fish and Game, multiple divisions of Fish and Game. So they will be involved through the federal process as well. Once the project gets to that state, then Fish and Game will have a formal regulatory role as far as permitting.			Dulce
897	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Design					Do you know how many water crossings there are?	Jesse: There are 156 stream crossings and 11 bridges. Some of the work that we're going to do this summer is to categorize what type of structure would be for the stream crossings, simple culverts or a fish passage.			Dulce
898	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Route					Is this road's route set in stone and what kind of land does that cross? Is it state land, federal land, or anyone's private property?	Jesse: Based on our info it is all Borough and State lands, no private property. This route is the best proposed route but there is a chance that it could change.			Andrew Elliott

899	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Route					Is any of the proposed route in a floodplain?	Jesse: Not that I'm currently aware of. We've specifically routed this to avoid the floodplains. When they take a look at this, they might analyze things a little different but we made sure to avoid as many wetlands and floodplains as possible. Camden: You can see an interactive map on the website that you can see they've avoided the wetlands as much as possible.			Michelle
900	Public Meeting 2		No		Opportunities					What happens in 20 years? Have they considered regenerative long-term sustainable projects rather than just active ones?	Jesse: Our sister organization, Alaska Energy Authority looks at quite a few of those sustainable energy projects to a certain extent so they look for the benefit of Alaska but there's nothing specific at this time.
901	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Process					How many seasons of field studies were there?	Jesse: Well we started in 2019 so we've done two seasons but like I highlighted before there were ___ done in 2014 Roads to Resources.
902	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Environment					Will the Alaska Fish and Game survey all the streams that have not been surveyed for anadromous fish?	Jesse: That will be started this summer.  Kyle: All of the stream crossings will have to be evaluated. It doesn't necessarily mean that Fish and Game habitat biologists are in the field doing every one of those samplings. Often the project applicants do the work but they have to coordinate ... subconsultants qualified that the applicant contracts with and then that work is turned in to Fish and Game. And all of that data is then sampled.
903	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Process					I just want to say thank you to everybody who is participating: the public, the borough and AIDEA. The state, our constitution requires that we do our due diligence and use our resources to the maximum benefit of all Alaskans. And this is part of the process so the information that we're gathering through this study as well as the public comment is all very valuable to see. So I just want to thank everybody. 922	Public Meeting 2	1:41:56	No		Environment					A hundred-mile road can never be undone. Crossing 156 streams into a wilderness area will forever impact this remote area and the aquatic species that depend on the ability to travel up and down stream unimpeded. Humans are the only species that degrade habitat in every part of the world they enter. In particular degraded habitat when exploring for oil, gas, and mining. All of which are for the benefit of the company(s) extracting the resource. Please recognize that Alaska has something that is unique. Please calculate how community members are benefiting from this wilderness before you sell it off to the latest bidder. The resources themselves need to be given a monetary value to Alaska and the future if they are left intact, in the land, within the living waters and tree's roots left in the ground as a comparative analysis. These resources are not just sitting there waiting for humans to extract them. These resources support habitats and complex ecosystems.				Meredyth Babcock:

Mining, gas and industrialization would displace tourism in the West Susitna. We don't need a road, nor state-funded industrial projects to create jobs and value for Alaska.				WPL:

943	Public Meeting 2	2:11:15	No		Money					One time royalty? Fish give a royalty every year. Could you share a photo of the mining operation you are referring to so we can see what our pristine area will look like?				Meredyth Babcock:
944	Public Meeting 2	2:11:40	No		Money					Net income could let them deduct a lot of expenses before the royalty is applied? Royalty on gross income would be better. And 3% is tiny compared to oil and gas royalties.				Kendra Zamzow:
945	Public Meeting 2	2:12:36	No		Access					NOVA Gold has a mine, in operation on the Kuskokwim River. They have talked about an access road for years. This access road will be just the beginning, they want a road all the way to the Kuskokwim!				Jamie:
946	Public Meeting 2	2:13:53	N/A		Information					Nova Gold hasn't started building the Donlin mine yet and Nova Gold is a completely different company from the Australian company Nova Minerals that has the leases this road would go to. Camden: Yes, keep in mind that this is the Borough website for this project that we set up. Once we're done with this phase of the project, we won't really be updating the website any more. Maybe Brad can speak to how long it will stay up. Brad: It will turn more into a library where it will have documentation of all the comments and public involvements. 963	Public Meeting 2	2:45:50	No		Feasibility					There is no economic rationale for this road. There is still no independent economic analysis of the costs and benefits to the Mat-Su as recommended in Phase 1. There are no credible descriptions as to how timber, hard rock mining, or coal will pay for this road. This is a private industrial road: there are multiple public costs and no clear commensurate public benefits.				Nancy Pease:
964	Public Meeting 2	2:47:56	No		Access					I agree about keeping the remoteness. And that opening up this type of road to the public would allow criminals to easy access to breaking into many of the remote cabins in the area.				Ken S:

966	Public Meeting 2	2:50:04	No		Environment					Red Dog Mine was mentioned as a success. Are there any learnings from the prior AIDEA investment in Red Dog Mine, North America's most Toxic Mine (America's most toxic site is in the Alaskan Arctic - CRYOPOLITICS), which need to be considered in the NEPA review given the Mine's proximity to established Tourism, Fisheries, private businesses, the Iditarod trail, and private land owners who recreate here? As part of the current study, will required financial reserve estimates be established for environmental cleanup? Will this be Nova's responsibility or State's?				CW:
967	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Process					Is there a list of everyone that attended the Zoom meeting?	Camden: Yes.
968	Public Meeting 2		No		Wilderness preservation					I've spent 32 years out in the Skwentna area building some log structures and cabins. My point is I understand that people want access to this land but we chose to fly out there or snow machine out there away from the road system. We didn't go to Talkeetna. We chose the mosquitoes. There will be a complete dust bowl. There's going to be trucks with Jake brakes. It's going to ruin the whole wilderness. When that's gone you're going to have to go on the other side of the Alaska range to access remoteness and people will not do that. It's just too far away.		Own developed property		Ralph Oleg
969	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Maintenance					I remember in the first meeting there was some talk about the maintenance of the road about dust, snow, and grading. Has anything been determined since that last meeting?	Camden: Unfortunately no.			Michelle
970	Public Meeting 2		No		Money					I'm really concerned about the lack of a cost-benefit analysis that shows clear public benefits to this. The risks and the costs to the public are obvious and of great magnitude. And those include the impacts to the fish and wildlife resources. The potential for illegal activities like poaching. There is not clear benefits. The idea that this is to promote mining, hard rock mining, coal, you know, it's unclear how the state collects revenues. Certainly with hard rock ... resource locations, those have not been spelled out that. Their track record is abysmal. If we need to go over the list really briefly, you know there's a dead rail ... but that study is not there and right now it's money being flung across the river. The possible benefit of a variable industrial investors, and the detriment and the burden.	Jesse: The extension and the ferry are Borough projects, not AIDEA.			Nancy Pease
971	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Feasibility					The feasibility is really hard to determine. Right now you've done a benefits-cost estimate but it doesn't really ... so I took a look at the cost estimate that you did in 202 and it ... I also looked at the cost estimate that was done in 2014. The most recent study is about $200M short of what was estimated in 2014.	Jesse: I can speak in general terms. As we advance the project we get a little smarter and quantities to this route. We apply 2020 unit cost to those quantities. That's how we developed that price. But you know they probably use the length ... we took it a step further actually penned ... but as we ...			Shawn
972	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Money					I'm a civil engineer with about 35 years' experience. 973	Public Meeting 2		No		Money					Clearly mining is the main driver of the road but there is no report submitted, there's no feasibility study, no cost-benefit analysis. So why are we considering a road to this mining area?	Jesse: I'll consider that more of a comment, but to put out numbers we've got to qualify them. So we as a public-facing corporation, we are informing the public of a potential investment that we are considering to make. And so we've got to spend a little bit of money to determine what that looks like. Then the private developers have to do ... but right now we are so early that to throw out numbers gets us into a difficult situation to talk to. So until we get more ...

974	Public Meeting 2		N/A		Environment					Will there be required financial reserve estimates established for environmental cleanup? And is that Nova's responsibility or the State's?	Kyle: The interest is outside the scope of what AIDEA's proposing but generally speaking, with mineral development, in Alaska reclamation of mining activities is required by state law, and with that comes the requirement to provide proof of financial responsibility ... Now as I understand it, the question was posed as far as environmental cleanup, I'm going to interpret that a bit because I often get this ... so the permitting process for any mineral activity, we permit engineered facilities and the operation of those facilities to make sure that they're functioning. 985	Public Meeting 2	3:04:59	N/A		Route					Does it go through the former Susitna Station/townsite - it's at a high point on the Lower Susitna? The Borough, because there were so many comments, decided to put in money to do some extra outreach to members of the public and that's what this is part of. We did a fairly broad outreach. We sent postcards to over 13,000 people, both residents and property owners in the surrounding area of this project. We did outreach in terms of email lists. 1034	Email	12/4/21	No	Other	Environment					Alaska is the final frontier. No roads through important ecosystems should be developed for the small, immediate, and incremental economic gain. A road through the Matsu watershed would greatly damage and destroy sensitive habitat for one of Alaska's main economic contributors; fish and game. Destroying this sensitive ecosystem, much like proposed road through the Izembek, would result in a ravaging ripple effect which will destroy the livelihood of commercial aspirations, and those of local and native inhabitants. Not to mention, the reduction of sensitive areas for successful salmon habitat. Every year, the state of Alaska has two announcements; the amount of the yearly oil profits for individual dividends, and the State of the Fish Report. If a road is developed through the Matsu watershed, that report, and the economic and personal benefits exhibited, may no longer exist. Please do the right thing, for yourself, your posterity, the vast amount of species which rely on these habitats, and the state of Alaska.			Noah Mabon

1038	Email	12/7/21	No	Live there	Wilderness					Dear Assembly Members, My wife Laura and I are full-time residents of Trail Lake near the base of Mt. Little Susitna in Fish and Game Zone 16B. We have owned our property since 2007. We vote and we pay property taxes. We encourage the Assembly to reject the Phase III Susitna Access Road MOU for both personal reasons and others based on many deleterious impacts of mines and roads in other remote parts of Alaska. Personally, the West Susitna Access Road is expected to pass close to our quiet, remote property. We are concerned about how it might negatively affect our quality of life and that of the wildlife that lives in and migrates through this region. We are naturally also concerned about a corresponding decrease in property values and the quietude, attractive views, and wild animal sightings for which we bought this property and spent over a decade developing it into a home where we forage, hunt, fish, and raise many of our foods and resources. Based on the results of mining developments and roads in other remote parts of Alaska, we are logically alarmed by the possibility of increases in noise, erosion, pollution, invasive species, and road access for illegal human activities that have occurred elsewhere. For example, we hope that if this project starts at Mat Su Borough Assembly,				Bryan and Laura Emerson

I am opposed to approval of Phase III of the MOU between Nova Minerals, AIDEA and the Mat Su Borough for the following reasons: 1)There has been very little public outreach conducted for a project of this magnitude. It will completely change the use of this land for land owners, lodges, businesses, hunters and fishermen. All of these individual entities deserve a comprehensive review and vote on the proposed project. 2)This project seems to have been fast tracked through the system without adequate impact studies in an attempt to sneak it into the budget. The road would completely change the use of the Western Susitna Borough as we know it today and probably in a negative direction as viewed by the current interested parties (except of course Nova Minerals). Most of us would remember, despite numerous promises, that there has never been a "clean" operation in the history of mining. Numerous examples abound. 3)The proposed project is for a completely private industrial road with no guarantees regarding public access. This is absolutely unacceptable considering the amount of public money being spent. The economic analysis of costs and benefits to the Mat Su Borough has not been completed nor has an environmental impact study been completed.				Clem Myers

I reviewed the published data on the prospect of the small Australian Junior Exploration Company (with a name similar to Nova Gold) that had signed an MOU with the Matsu Borough to construct the WSAR. They only had some soil samples and rock chip samples, and NO drill holes. I order to have a bankable feasibility study, that Australian company would need at least a hundred drill holes and a resource estimate; they were no where near that. When the Matsu government alludes to "untold riches and				Steven F. 1041	Letter	12/7/21	No	Business	Environment					Dear Members of the Matanuska-Susitna Borough Assembly, Thank you for the opportunity to provide comment on RS 21-134 supporting Phase 3 of the West Susitna Access Road. On behalf of our members and business members who fish and utilize the west Susitna River basin, Trout Unlimited encourages the Matanuska-Susitna Borough Assembly to reject Resolution 21-134 and to take an honest look at the costs and benefits of the West Susitna Access Road for borough residents and the state. Trout Unlimited (TU) has strong local roots in Alaska and the Mat-Su -- with more than 20,000 members and supporters throughout the state that are avid anglers, lodge owners, fishing and hunting guides, and commercial fishermen, among various other occupations. TU is dedicated to ensuring Alaska's wild trout and salmon populations continue to thrive and the rivers and clean water they depend on remain healthy. We have a well-established history of supporting bipartisan efforts to protect, conserve, and restore fishery resources and contributing to habitat restoration projects in southcentral Alaska. Many of our members and supporters' fish for food and for fun in the Susitna River and its tributaries. The Susitna drainage is a wild space within close proximity to Alaska's urban centers that is irreplaceable and well loved for the abundance of fish and wildlife. Well, it's test time again! I hope all of you have been studying hard and reading those history books, and getting ready for this test. Because the Mat-Su Assembly has failed this test many times before! What test am I talking about? Why ... it's the Projects To Nowhere test, of course! Soon your logic and morals will be tested. You will be tested on whether to become involved in an uneconomical, highly-speculative and unwanted fiscal fantasy mega project. The West Susitna Access Road project. There will be many distractions when you take this test. There will be lots of political posturing, pandering, lies, hand waving, smoke, mirrors and corruption. Just like with all the Project To Nowhere tests of the past. And a big part of this test will be whether you decide to get in bed with AIDEA again. 1046	Email	12/18/21	No	Business	Wilderness					Good morning, I am writing in regards to the upcoming meeting for approval of this road access project. I am a life king Alaskan who loves Alaska and the great outdoors. My parents own The Perrins' Rainy Pass Lodge where I spent my my childhood and where I am a hunting guide. This lodge is the oldest hunting lodge in Alaska, established in 1937. My parents have owned the lodge since 2003 and we have worked to conserve the area and keep this way of life for generations to come. I frequently love riding my snowmachine to the lodge which is 140 miles through the Skwetna river system. Along the way, there are hundreds of people who enjoy the same way of life and live out there because 300000 other people don't. The impact of building a road through this beautiful country would not only devastate the wilderness we as Alaskans hold so dear, it would ruin the economy of so many businesses and families. This road would effectively put an 85 year old lodge that pilots, hunters and families depend on out of business. There has not been enough research to account for the damages it would create to the environment, wildlife and cost to the state for maintenance. This is a mine that I have worked closely with and also helped develop when I worked for Kiska Metals. My family has always worked closely with all the previous owners of this mine and we have always compromised and collaborated to create the best outcome for all parties involved. In Closing, I ask you to consider the impact of this road project until all impacts have been fully assessed. My name is Michael Williams, I along with my wife Paula have lived at the north base of Mt. Susitna on Trail Lake (Alexander Creek drainage) fulltime since May 1994. We've raised our 4 children and created 2 businesses here. We created EagleSong Lodge in 1994 closing it in 2009 due to the collapse of salmon runs. At that time we created EagleSong Peony Farm and today are one of the largest peony producers in Alaska. We ship fresh cut peonies and peony roots all over the U.S. and Canada. We employ over a dozen workers in the summer and are a new source of income for local air taxis moving our stems to our processing facility at Ted Stevens Anchorage Intl. Airport. Many of our supplies, materials and equipment are purchased from local businesses. As longtime residents and business owners we are not here to testify pro or con to the proposed West Susitna Access Road. We are writing to identify some of the ambiguities and issues that are not being discussed regarding this project. Our 37 acre farm is less than 2 miles from the proposed intersection of the West Susitna Road and Donlin Gas Pipeline. This leads me to the first issue I do not hear being addressed. From my understanding, Donlin Gold already has a right of way identified for their gas pipeline that will bring it over, or more appropriately, between Mt. Susitna and Little Mt. Susitna down Wolverine Creek and then head west to the Alaska Range and beyond. At this point the West Susitna Road would intersect that pipeline corridor and parallel the pipeline to its end near Happy			Collon Perrins

The Roads to Resources has been working on West Susitna access for nearly 20 years. Finally were starting to see some headway. As a business owner in the Mat-Su Borough me and my family support this road. This road will provide much needed access for tourism and industry. The Susitna Valley has long been known to hold mineral wealth. Many attempts to develop the areas oil and gas resources have been sidelined because there is no access. Winter access is not sustainable for oil and gas development. The largest undeveloped coal resource in the world lies in this region. The area's developing copper, gold, lead, zinc, molybdenum resources are becoming world class. Timber in the region is a huge undeveloped resource All of these resources need access to be developed. All of these resources need access to a port facility. The borough just happens to have one sitting idle that borough residents are paying for. If the road is built and provide access to the port the residents of the Mat-Su will receive financial benefit from the port.				John C. Lamborn Redacted

Assembly contacts might need to be updated. In response to Matanuska-Susitna Borough Resolution Serial No 21-134 Let me start by saying I have been a land owner in the Susitna Valley area for almost 40 years. I just recently I learned of this project. As outlined by AIDEA, The resource development for the Mat Su Borough is defined as timber from the West Susitna Access Project. The infestation of the spruce bark beetle in Alaska since 2013 has devastated the timber in the Susitna Valley. Almost all of the trees are dead now. The only use for the timber is firewood. Timber is NOT a viable industry source in this area. The majority of the area outlined for this project is considered wetlands according to the Alaska wetland maps. The Mat Su Borough will not benefit from this project as outlined.				John Faao

While I was not able to attend the last meeting, it sounds as if the comments against approving the MOU were overwhelmingly against and that there were a number of important questions raised. I am strongly opposed to this MOU phase- and the project overall- proceeding when the outreach and public process has been shorted. I do believe that it is OK to not know all the answers about a project prior to moving forward, as long as there is at least some significant showing of public interest and some significant indication that the project will benefit MSB residents. I don't believe this project has either at this time. Nor has there been (at least that I have heard) a robust debate about the proposed benefits and risks of the project- to people, communities, fish and wildlife and wetlands and other habitats. (As recommended in the Phase I MOU but not completed.) AIDEA has not met their obligations for public outreach to date (promised in earlier MOUs), so I am not confident they are acting in good faith and in the interests of residents. As Assembly members, I believe it is your responsibility to speak up when the public good and your constituents are not served.				Lynn Fuller Palmer AK

As sportfishing business owners, outfitters, and organizations who are based or operating in the Matanuska-Susitna valley, we encourage the Borough Assembly to reject Resolution 21-134, which supports Phase 3 of the West Susitna Access Road, for the absence of public support and the lack of public and stakeholder engagement that was supposed to have already occurred. The sportfishing industry is a significant economic engine in the Mat-Su, providing employment opportunities for residents and direct contributions to the local and state-wide economy. The recent study conducted by Southwick Associates, on behalf of the Mat-Su Borough, found that the sportfishing industry contributed $57.4 million to the local economy in 2017 and supported 370 jobs. These are annual jobs and contributions that can be relied upon and can continue to grow, if we manage our fisheries and fish habitat appropriately. However, we have heard very little about the West Susitna Access Road. Although Phase 2 of the West Susitna Access Road required public outreach and stakeholder engagement, no opportunities were made to engage the public and stakeholders like our industry beyond an Online Open House that few were made aware of and the project website that hasn't been updated.				Airventures Alaska Casey Long Happy River, AK (907)631-3377 Northwoods Lodge Eric &amp; Shan Johnson Skwentna, AK (907)733-3742 Wilderness Place Lodge Jason Rockvam &amp; Cody Wendt Lake Creek, AK (907)733-2051 Talvista Lodge Chris &amp; Sarah Poynter Talachulitna River, AK (907)733-3066

I write to you now to bring attention to our concerns for this proposal. We have been operating our Lodge since 1988. Every year we bring approximately one hundred European guests to our lodge, for a remote fishing experience/trip. We are a small family-operated business and the impact of this Road proposal will have a detrimental affect on our ongoing business. My understanding of the plan for the proposed road is that it would go right past our remote lodge on Seven Mile Lake. Environmentally this will have a negative effect on the pristine wilderness and have a negative response from our European guests in the future. We are deeply concerned of the devastating outcome that this proposed road will have on our family business in the future. After 33 years in the business, I am strongly against this Road proposal.				Erich, Lynne & Ashley Napflin Moosehom Lodge Seven Mile Lake Alaska

A road across the Susitna River valley and up the Yentna River watershed will create problems that will far exceed any benefits it may create. Alaska has a wilderness resource that all too often is taken for granted and overlooked. This wilderness resource is what drives our thriving fishing industry and tourism economy. A road with dozens of bridges will negatively effect salmon habitat. To adequately protect fish stocks from illegal fishing will require robust law enforcement. There is neither the funding or staffing to undertake adequate fish and game enforcement. The forest of the area are not high value forest to cut, but they are high value forest left in place for the protection of streams and rivers and fish. Left in place for wildlife habitat and scenery. A road is needed to access the timber on the west side of the Susitna River. It is obvious that the main driving force behind the proposed road is for mining. Projections of the economic benefits of mines are always very high. What company wouldn't want financial assistance in building a road and maintaining it? We are concerned with the consequences of mining. The waterways that we oppose the West Susitna Access Road.				Brian and Diane Okonek

1065	Letter	12/21/21	No	Other	Process					Dear Assembly: I am not in favor of the above MOU for several reasons:  1.It is not ok to spend public funds on a private road. (I also think that the public should not take over an existing private road or trail).  2. There has been little transparency with this going forward. Money should not be spent when we don't know the details concerning that spending.  3. Alaska is a unique destination for tourists because it is one of the few remaining places with vast, pristine beauty...opportunity for photographers, fishermen, hunters, recreation. The state depends on tourist revenue.  4. Since AIDEA is unable to answer basic questions, this should be tabled until we have answers to the many questions that have been asked.  Please vote No on this.				Cathy Teich

When will AIDEA submit the permit application? This spring, unless the Corp of Engineers requires more information or field work. 3. Will the road be public as stated in our project information? Yes, according to AIDEA the road will be public, however that may ultimately depend on the type of construction funding. I made sure she was aware there would be other opportunities to comment. 1073	Email	2/13/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Wilderness					We have been property owners in the Yentna River area for 34 years and we are very opposed to the building of the West Susitna Access Road. When one buys property in this area, they are not just buying a physical piece of property, but a lifestyle, the core of which is wilderness, away from any road system. If a road was built, it would destroy this lifestyle for many, taking away the reason that they purchased their properties in the first place. If a road was built, crime would increase, wildlife and fishing habitat would suffer. Fishing would change with the river crossings. Freighters, lodge owners, and wilderness guides would be put out of business. And how many jobs would you add, and what would the jobs be? And would they even be Alaskans? There would be no logging in the area, as most trees are already dead from beetle kill; there is not a sustainable forest in this area currently or in the foreseeable future. Why are public funds being used to enrich a private company? Corporate greed? What is the connection between the owners of this company and employees of the State in a decision making position? You don't have the funds to build this road, and if you are serious about this, the funds should be identified before you even start the permitting process. This is a waste of public money that could be used in a much more beneficial manner.				Dawayne and Chris Anderson

At most, it will only be public to the Susitna River. Can you please update this language so that the public isn't misled about the intentions and access of this project? Also, are you working with AIDEA to coordinate a feasibility study? My understanding is that the Borough and AIDEA are now working independently, AIDEA on their own track, and the Borough working to collect comments that will be presented during the next federal permitting stage. I don't think these comments and the work the Borough is doing now will have any effect on AIDEA's plans. Some members of the public have stated that the road may be public to the Little Su, but beyond private, and I believe this could be the case, in which case I think outreach material should clarify that detail. Also, I think it would be most transparent to be clear that the activity that this road is being built to service is gold mining by Australian and Canadian companies. Thank you for your hard work on getting the word out about this proposed road.				Rachel James
1080	Email	2/15/22	No	Other	Environment					Camden Yehle, I have tried to be concise rather than verbose, so have not listed any of the pros for the AIDEA for they are far outweighed by the cons. 1.KGB Road already has more traffic congestion than it can safely handle. KGB Road should be brought up to current and possible future needs before increasing the problems. The AIDEA road to the Yenta Mining district would increase this traffic load. 2.The environmental impact of this proposed road would be vast. A.Moose populations will suffer through road strike, increased legal and illegal (poaching) hunting and loss of habitat over time as we all know that where there is access there will be traffic and the State of Alaska will open up further staking on land. B.Fish populations will also suffer from excess pollution and litter in around streams and fishing in areas previously only a few could easily access. C.Those who drive the road will cause detriment to the environment through noise, exhaust and litter. 3.FUNDING TO BE DETERMINED?? ... We ALL know that this funding, one way or another, will be on the backs of Alaskan's and especially the valley residents. Our assessments, fees and taxes will be raised and we will be asked to raise indebtedness.				Koreen and Gus Lamoureux Valley resident near Settlers Bay

1085	Email	2/15/22	No	Other	Access, negative					I'm writing to express my opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road. This proposal is bad on multiple levels and should not go forward. The road will impact business owners, private land owners and wildlife all in a negative way. It will further reduce the wilderness area experience by increasing public access. While the number of lodges impacted may be small the consequences to these lodges will be devastating. Private landowners, which are numerous on both sides of the proposed road will encounter increased trespassing and along with that an increase in vandalism and theft. This increase in public pressure will also negatively impact the wildlife along the corridor. I don't see the proposed road as a benefit to Alaskans. I do see it as a benefit to outside companies with little interest in the long term impacts of the road and who only hope to benefit economically and then depart. AIDEA funds can be better spent elsewhere on projects that will benefit Alaskans and not foreign companies. As an Alaskan and as a tax paying property owner I'm asking that this bad idea be rejected.				James Witthaus

1086	Phone	2/15/22	N/A	Own developed property	Information					Roy Carlson, Ph. [Redacted]. Roy called to ask if the public meetings would be held in-person or virtual only, and I said virtual only. He asked why he received a postcard; I said postcards were sent to people who owned property within a broad area encompassing "West Susitna" and even including Big Lake, Knik, and the Point MacKenzie area. He said he owns a cabin at Kroto Creek. He asked if there was a larger map he could view of the area. I referred him to our website. He was not at a computer so I referred him to the www.matsugov.us web site and let him know there is currently a link to the West Susitna Access info right on the home page, and described how he can scroll down to access the maps and more info. I encouraged him to call again if he had any additional feedback at some point. Roy says he was the MSB Public Works Director from about 1989-1993 or so.				Roy Carlson
1087	Phone	2/15/22	Yes	Own undeveloped property	Information					Steve Hart, Ph. [Redacted]. This one will need a follow-up contact. Steve owns property at Otter Lake Estates, and he would like to know just how close the new access road would come to that subdivision. He's very excited to think that could improve his prospects for developing that property. His phone number is a California number, so he offered his email address as well. It is [Redacted]. 1088	Phone	2/15/22	No	Other	Route					Dan Drape, Ph. [Redacted]. Detailed comments here.  Dan says he's pretty familiar with the West Susitna Access area; he flies over the area somewhat frequently. He received the mailing and since then has been looking over the proposed route with the help of topo maps, including the one on our web site. He had spoken some with Kayla in Platting and then was directed to Brad.  If you go to the map on our web site https://west-susitna-access.matsugov.us/ and then zoom in to where you can see the mile markers on the road, that will help you follow Dan's comments below. (I am zoomed so that the one-inch scale in the lower left of the map equals two miles.)  Dan says his main concern is regarding "the large parcel of land between the Little Su and the Big Su; the proposed road would go right through there". -In that area is a section marked Fish Creek NRMU; he can guess what that means but would like to know for sure.  -He was also looking at the map where he saw the notation "2013-R5-007". I was not able to locate that as he was talking. (In hindsight, I think it might be 2013-R5-007, that is a section marked Fish Creek NRMU.)				Dan Drape

1090	Phone	2/15/22	No	Other	Environment					L. Anita Watts Soquet, [Redacted]. Anita called with several questions and comments.  1. Who owns the land? The ownership is mixed, but mostly owned by the State of Alaska. 2. She thinks only the people doing the mining would mainly benefit. 3. Are there wetlands? Yes. 4. She would rather keep the wetlands. 5. How will oil and gas be developed when we don't even have ANWAR anymore? Won't climate change affect the viability of the project? That is a good question that I don't have an answer for. 6. She would rather use the funds for other things.				L. Anita Watts Soquet
1091	Phone	2/15/22	No	Other	General					Balchen, [Redacted]. Balchen lives in the Big Lake area during the summer. He called to say the less roads, the better in his opinion. If the road is for the mining district, let them pay for it.				Balchen
1092	Phone	2/15/22	Yes	Business	Information					Ray Rose, 352-797-9797. Ray called to support the road project which is long overdue. He owns Goose Bay Hideaway, a campground at mile 13 of Knik Goose Bay Road. He asked how they would move materials from the mine if there is no road. He also asked when it would be built. He would like to see it built sooner rather than later.				Ray Rose

1094	Phone	2/15/22	Yes	Own undeveloped property	Development					Steve Hart, [Redacted]. Steve owns a property in the Otter Lakes Estates. He asked if the project goes near the subdivision. I responded that the proposed route does go near the subdivision. He is excited about road access and would be able to start building his cabin. He wanted to know when it would be built. I made sure he was aware the build year of 2028 was an estimate. He commented that the area would still be remote even with road access (no utilities). He asked to be added to the email list. 1099	Email	2/16/22	No	Other	Environment					It's hard for me to believe that this project has moved along this far and this is the first public meeting I have been made aware of. Yes, I have read articles and seen references to it on certain government websites, but I honestly never thought it would become a reality because I wasn't made aware of the progress that has happened. Though I'm not surprised. Wherever there are natural resources there is greed and deception. This land and the water that runs through it are more precious than any fuel or minerals you can pull from the earth, AIDEA just cannot see it through this greed and deception. As a citizen of Alaska I stand with the many people who DO NOT want to see this area of vast beauty and biodiversity destroyed for the benefit of a few. When will they learn? When will enough money be enough? When every last corner of Alaska is "explored" and developed? When every last habitat is polluted with the waste and garbage of organizations like NOVA and AIDEA. A river watershed is too valuable of a thing to destroy. 1100	Email	2/16/22	No	Business	Money					Camden, here are a few thoughts I might have not included in my earlier communiqué. Objections: The road would benefit a very few people. Mining and mineral harvesting, unlike oil and gas, does not create a reasonable revenue share to the state/ residents. Hundreds of water crossings will easily triple the cost. Some of the wetlands the road is traveling over are literally bottomless bogs and will create road maintenance nightmares in perpetuity. Jobs, the few permanent jobs are???? (As an example, as I write this, the Alaska Railroad is looking for at least 30 full time employees and currently has three applicants..... Every other business in the state is also looking for workers! It seems there are enough jobs for the people that want to work.) Another waste of money: I have been here to witness the ferry debacle, the port fiasco and most recently the railroad spur without tracks, without customers nor goods to transport. (as a side bar, the rail spur was "sold" with a bunch of falsehoods. First there was going to be a daily train exporting lime from Livengood, cost of lime would have to increase tenfold to make that feasible. Then it was going to be for daily coal export, no customers. Then it was for timber..... no timber to sell and no customers to buy.)				Martin Buser

I will submit a comment for the record at a later date. I would appreciate clarification on the statement that this will be a public road. Please send me specific language from AIDEA that reflects that statement. I attended a presentation in which it was clearly stated that this would not be a public road, and in fact, will be a private road. Some members of the public have stated that the road may be public to the Little Su, but beyond private, and I believe this could be the case, in which case I think outreach material should clarify that detail. Also, I think it would be most transparent to be clear that the activity that this road is being built to service is gold mining by Australian and Canadian companies. Thank you for your hard work on getting the word out about this proposed road.				Rachel James
1102	Email	2/16/22	N/A	Tribe	Process					On another note CVTC has not received information on the planned West Susitna Access Road. It is important for MSB to consult with the Dene (Athabaskan) Tribes regarding the planned road. It is tantamount for the Tribes to be involved at the initial design stages of the project. The area being proposed for the road extension is highly sensitive to Dene cultural sites. Very little archaeological survey work has occurred west of the Susitna. The project region encompasses numerous native village sites with interconnecting indigenous trails. Linguistic studies suggest Dene's earliest migrations into the valley came from the Kuskokwim into the Yentna-Skwentna River valley. It is for that reason construction conducted in the Yentna-Skwentna region is a major concern. Vital information on migration routes may be compromised by construction of the road. CVTC would like to be included in the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1)CVTC requests consultation directly by the project manager on the proposed road</li> <li>2)informed and included in the decision making with good aerial and LiDar maps.</li> <li>3)CVTC is interested in assisting with the archaeological field work and being present when any ground disturbing activities are undertaken</li> </ol>				Fran Seager-Boss Archaeologist M.A. CVTC Historical Advisor
1103	Email	2/16/22	No	Other	Access					I do not support the proposed access road. This will greatly impact the residents and cabin owners who have exhausted resources to access this area that is so close to the largest population in Alaska. A road will put strain on hunting and fishing in the area which will lead to a decline in resources and ultimately more regulations or closures. Historically, all road accessible fishing and hunting has declined and caused further regulations limiting the opportunity. Because the road would allow vehicle and trailer access, ATVs could gain access to otherwise inaccessible areas. With the advancement of ATVs, the landscape would become inendated with trails, bogs, and camp sites changing the current landscape forever. Recreational camps would drastically increase the chance of wildfire. Human conflict will be inevitable, trespassing and theft will be an immediate concern. Many cabins are left unattended for months at a time creating opportunity for thieves. This road only benefits the mining industry. Aircraft and snowcats have been a substantial means of access for decades. Destroying a recreational area for many is not worth the benefit to companies that has the capacity to use alternative means of transportation.				Matt Soloy

His worst case scenario would be for the road to not have public access.				Todd Blessing

1107	Email	2/17/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Money					As a remote land owner that will be directly affected by the proposed road, I am 100% OPPOSED to this project. The idea of spending state money and Matsu borough tax money to build a road that primarily benefits foreign mining companies is not a wise use of funds. Further, spending public funds to build what will be functionally a private mining road really makes me mad. I and my property will suffer all the negative impacts of this road with no potential benefit. I suffer a loss of value of my property and loss of quality of life, just so a foreign mining company can profit.  I believe your cost estimates are overly optimistic and the ultimate build cost and maintenance will be unsustainable. The cost of the road will likely be in excess of 400 million dollars, with the ultimate goal of generating about 1500 jobs. The net investment then is over 14 million dollars for each job created. Your financial analyses paint a rosy picture of potential future tax incomes to the borough, but failed to include the annual costs for maintenance of this 100 miles of remote road. Further, your analysis fails to consider the LOSS OF JOBS in the tourism, fishing, guiding, flying industries that will result from the destruction of the remote character of this region. The jobs lost in this case are completely sustainable and do not deplete the resource. So in reality, your net gain in jobs will be way less than 1000 resulting in a much higher cost per job created. All in support of non-sustainable jobs with a relatively short time horizon. I think this represents a very poor return on the money.				Paul L. Flint

1110	Email	2/17/22	Yes	Own undeveloped property	Development					I feel this is a great development opportunity for Matsu and the State. Landowners, CO-OPs, developers and private citizens will benefit from the increased infrastructure, resources and access into new areas of Alaska on so many levels. Unified efforts like this help to build economic resiliency and self sustainability. While connecting communities to the road system will bring challenges it will undoubtedly help to make access to everyday supplies and resources more economical for everyone. Access to the interior has always been dangerous, difficult and often limited to small planes, boats and seasonal off road solutions. This is clear case where pros outweigh the cons. Lets build tomorrows Alaska today, make the financial investment in this key infrastructure investment and do it in a way that benefits future generations and the environment. 1111	Email	2/17/22	No	Other	Money					I oppose the State of Alaska, AIDEA or the Mat-Su Borough wasting public money on what is essentially a private road to benefit the officers, directors and shareholders of a foreign mining corporation. This is typical corporate Socialism that AIDEA and the Mat-Su Borough love to inflict on the Alaskan public. The only thing public about this project is that public funds are being used to benefit a private interest. The State, AIDEA and the Mat-SU Borough are batting well below .125 on these "build it and they will come" projects. The Agricultural Project, Port McKenzie, the fast Ferry, and the Railroad Spur to nowhere. "No taxation without representation." The Mat-Su Borough taxes remote land unfairly to pay for its schools, roads, fire protection and public safety, then cuts off people's access to their private property (that they created) by blocking trails with road improvements, railroad rights-of-way or rip-rap. I attended the "public hearings" on the railroad spur. It was very clear that the function of the "hearing" was window dressing so the State or the Borough could check the "public engagement box" on the environmental impact statement or some other regulatory requirement without paying one iota of attention to the public comments. The State has already pissed away more than 8.5 million dollars on planning, permitting and engineering that could have funded education in the Mat-Su Borough or the rest of Alaska to benefit the public interest. This is government by the corporations, of the corporations and for the corporations. Nova is not even an American multi-national corporation. This is really fraud and theft. What's new? 1127	Email	2/21/22	No	Business	Wilderness					Ouch, how can I begin? First and foremost, the western Susitna valley is primarily roadless. The Susitna Borough is about the size of Massachusetts and the western part is the only part roadless. This section of the borough is the boroughs and Anchorage's playground. Millions of dollars are spent each year traveling to this remote area for recreational use and for work ( many lodges offering fishing and hunting expeditions). The tax basis for the borough is tremendous as a thousand or more properties that are taxed expect nothing for their tax monies as they get nothing in return. Their tax money goes to the road service areas. What a deal for the borough, taxation without representation, I guess we heard that before! ( 250 years ago).  I heard that an ore truck will come down this road every 10 minutes in the summer. Dust galore and the private section of the road will experience the same traffic. Would you like to live next to such a road? Are you letting this happen to Alaskans over an Australian company? If 100 miles of this road is only for one mine, then let them build and maintain it!!! The mine in Kotzebue is nothing like this Australian mine. First and utmost, if the Kotzebue population was going to be connected to the Anchorage population and the road system outside, they would never have wanted that project. Please take the advice of the people that pay your wage, Alaskans, and stand firm against another AIDIA failed project. I explained it was because the State decided to put money into finding out if the road could acquire the necessary permits for construction as the mining companies didn't want to invest too much until they knew the road was possible. She also asked about mining royalties. I responded that I don't know what royalties the State would get.				Lorrie Shepard, [Redacted] called on behalf of her mother Lana Shepard

In 2016 out of state visitors spent $98 million in the Mat-Su. The development of this road and mine will destroy many long standing lodges and fishing operations that attract those visitors wanting a remote Alaskan experience. It is an important part of Alaska tourism, people come here because it's the last frontier, we don't want to turn Alaska into the lower 48. This road is being built on behalf of the Wiskey Bravo mine and should not be at the expense of tax payers. Mining is almost 90% of the economic value of this road so what if the mine cannot be developed? An open pit mine several thousands of feet in the ground near the headwaters of the Skwentna river running into the Big Su &amp; Cook Inlet could have major Clean Water Act issues or other regulations that have come into effect since Pebble Mine, the price of gold could drop again					Nic Cunningham Regal Air 4506 Lakeshore Dr. Anchorage, AK 99502

My Wife, Angela, and I Own Property on Derf Lake. We have invested to Date over $100,000.00 building a very nice Cabin with out buildings on a secluded Lake. This proposed road would travel approx. 200-300 Yards behind our property, and having it there would kill any seclusion that we may have. In our opinion it would completely Destroy everything about this property that we hold dear. We chose to buy and build in this location due to distance that you have to travel to get there. It is on the outer reaches of what can be feasibly reached via boat and snow machine. This road would usher in people, truck traffic and may other items that we do not want in our back yard. It is hard to understand how we can invest all of this time and effort into something that we hold dear just to have the State come in a take away the seclusion that we hold on too. I for one am very gained this as I see that there is no up side to it but only an expense to the state. Nothing good will come of this road for the people that own property out there.					Christopher DeHart

I am very appreciative that the MatSu Borough created this opportunity for public engagement. AIDEA was required to conduct public engagement during phase 2 of the project and did a disappointing job in doing so. However, a 6 week comment period and two virtual meetings is just a start and not enough. 1144	Email	2/23/22	No		Wilderness					I would like to file my opposition to the West Susitna Access Road. There is many reasons that this project should not go forward. This area is a wilderness area that is used as recreation by thousands of people. It would destroy a way of life for people that have carved out a home and a place to live. If the people that have bought their land from the state and built cabins would have wanted a road close to their cabin, then they would have bought on the road system me included. Also, the people that have their entire lifes saving invested in the different business. This road would render their business worthless. It will destroy more lives than what the state thinks that they will gain. I could go on all day and night, but I have stated my total opposition to this project in any form.				Wayne Bowman

1148	Email	2/23/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Access					My name is Lee McKnight, I am a resident of the Mat-Su Borough where I own and pay taxes on properties in Wasilla and Alexander Creek in the lower Susitna River Basin. I also own Northern Plumbing & Heating, a mechanical contracting business. We do a majority of our work with home builders, general contractors and land developers. That being said I will lay out my reasons for my complete opposition to the West Susitna Access Road project. I am requesting that funding be suspended for the West Susitna Access Road in current and future budgets. The idea that this 100 mile industrial road will create access is the tip of the spear for those in favor of this project. This is a terrible lead point given the fact that the access already exists. The residents and users of this area access it year round via boat, snowmobile, airplane, atv you name it. A boat to run that river can be had for substantially cheaper than the price of a new vehicle today. Access is there for users who want to be there, it is also there for industry. Many conduct business on that watershed myself included and have never needed the aid of a road. Recreation is being sold as another driver for the project. However, anyone who is remotely familiar with the area is well aware that the hunting and fishing resources have been on the decline for some years now. Any user who thinks they will be walking into prime hunting and fishing areas will be gravely disappointed and the added pressure will only deplete these resources further. There has been over 1.5 million dollars spent to bring the fish runs back to what they once were essentially. My family and I are very opposed to this proposed road. We have a cabin in the area and are worried about more people having access to our area. We built the cabin because we loved the wilderness feel of the place. We are also greatly concerned about the environmental impacts of build the road across all these sensitive areas, mostly the wetlands and rivers. Coal is a dying fuel and isn't likely to be a good financial investment. I'm very skeptical that there's enough or will be enough funding for the road. We think you're vastly underestimating the actual cost of constructing the road.  A very concerned citizens!!  Please don't be short sighted! 1150	Email	2/23/22	Yes	Business	Mining					No decision has been made to build a road. AIDEA and the Borough are in the research phase. Anyone saying this project needs to slow down, doesn't understand that there is currently NO project. A topic is being researched. Taking all of our comments tonight is part of the research process.  Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably roads, is a challenge for future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain is important to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step.  While active mining exploration is taking place in the area, it is important to note that it is just that – exploration. For an actual mine to be developed – or even a road project, it would involve an extensive regulatory process involving multiple local, state, and federal agencies with dozens of science-based environmental permits, many of which have a public involvement process. The topic being discussed tonight is not a mining or road construction decision. It is to discuss the continued evaluation of the access route to pursue access for public opportunities.  The MatSu Borough is the fastest-growing area of the state. It is easy to see why; there is something for everyone. The acreage is massive, and includes growing population centers, economic opportunities, and remote locations to enjoy Alaska's recreational				Lorali Simon

1152	Email	2/23/22	No		Money					I am opposed to the West Susitna Access road because of the costs involved. The state and local governments have a bad habit of funding projects that literally go nowhere. When I hear that 'the funding source is yet to be determined', I'd pack up and head out the door. This is another 'build it and they will come' fiasco. If I wanted a house built and the contractor gave me an estimate of between $300,000 and $400,000 I'd tell him to go pound sand. I don't believe the estimated cost of this project will be less than $400 million because I'm familiar with this country and the obstacles it presents to building anything. And what are the costs going to be to maintain it year round? When private industry can pay for this massive project then I'd reconsider my comments. In the meantime shelve this monster. I thought Dunleavy was trying to decrease the budget. All this administration in doing is passing on the costs and consequences to the next administration that will finally put an end to the lunacy in December of this year. If you need more specifics: .Timber, agriculture, coal, and hard rock mining have been touted as justifications for this road. There has yet to be a compelling description as to how these various resources would help pay for the road or benefit Alaskans. .The road and cost estimates as presented by AIDEA are for a private industrial road. The public has been misled. .The Susitna bridge will not withstand the first five winters and breakups. I mined on the Chulitna River far smaller and farther upstream and we had to repair the bridge every summer. .Two open houses with no agenda and minimal information on how to participate is not adequate outreach. .Studies from Susitna-Watana Hydro Project and Donlin Natural Gas Pipeline studies are not a good fit for the challenges such as To the Permitting Agency. 1166	Email	2/25/22	No	Business	Wilderness					To whom it may concern. My name is Evan Druce a resident of Wasilla and Alexander creek. Opposition against the road project has been pretty prevalent among the community not only in city limits but mostly permanent and part time residents that live west of the big susitna river. I share many of the same concerns these folks do. It is of my opinion the west susitna access road will be detrimental to the area and is not a need as much as it is a want of convenience to the mining companies. My family and I rely on the remoteness west of the susitna river for hunting and fishing opportunities. Between the land that I own and land leased from the state of alaska our family operates a remote cabin rental / recreational business. For obvious reasons if there were to be road access to those locations it would simply defeat the purpose of the business re shaping the experience and model our clients rely on. Many other lodges and air taxi services stand to loose business as well from hunting and fishing clients, there's with good reason no one books a hunting trip on the outskirts of wasilla city limits. The state of Alaska has put an immense amount of work trying to restore the fish population specifically in Alexander creek which this road system I believe will undo. There's to many regions in the state suffering from over pressure and reshaping of water streams for roads as is. Why do the mining companies not need a road? The oil and gas industry has proven for well over 40 years now both in the Cook inlet and North Slope major resource development can be achieved by temporary water made, homes, and aircraft services. This would show where *possible commercial development could occur on fed/state/msb lands *where MSB and State could subdivide lands for sale into private ownership *where private ownership might welcome or discourage having a road to give access to their property  You do show lands that it appears have permits or could have permits for developing natural resources but I didn't pick up on the ownership of those areas. You will be impacting countless Fish and Wildlife populations. Is it worth it? How is this project any different from the MatSu Borough's ferry boondoggle, et. al? More info on funds should certainly be a priority as this projected budget is WAY under reality! 1177	Email	3/2/22	No		Wilderness					I want to make clear my opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road.  I am employed by the state's resource industry, so I value the good jobs provided by mining, oil, and other resource industries in Alaska. Constructing the West Susitna Access Road would permanently impair the significant recreational opportunities that depend on roadless wilderness in the area of the proposed project. Those activities provide significant economic and cultural value that cannot be replaced. For almost 20 years, I have hunted in areas that will be negatively affected if this road is built (including the mountains of the Alaska Range near the Swenka River). Those wilderness hunting opportunities will be forever lost if this road is built. That would result in a loss of valuable wildlife resources and hunting opportunities for future generations of Alaskans. I strongly oppose construction of the West Susitna Access Road. 1181	Email	3/4/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Access					I wish to submit my comments in support of this project. However, my support is based on the road being publicly accessible. Shaw Creek road, for example, is public for about the first mile and then private all the way to the Pogo mine. I do not wish to see the same for this road.  Foreign mining companies operate in Alaska and hire Alaskans to work for them, bringing money to the state. Every time I see similar in AK (eg Pebble) everyone gets up in arms about foreign ownership and money flowing out of state. My experience is the opposite. Pogo is Australian owned. Ft. Knox is Canadian owned. I know lots of people that work for those operations and are paid well. I see little to no evidence of this outflow that people fear.  The proposed road is listed to cross 156 waterways if I recall. Shaw Creek crosses far less and in my mind I do not see disruption to the waterways that people fear. If a company or entity were to truly operate with little regard to the surrounding environment, they would not be operating for long IMHO. Public sentiment and activism simply doesn't allow it to happen.  For those that fear more people operating in areas that are currently remote and isolated, I welcome it. 1182	Email	3/4/22	Not enough information to decide	Own undeveloped property	Money					In order to decide whether or not to support this project, I believe the public needs the answers to several questions. This email is a request for specific information that can be used during the scoping process.  Please include the following information for public scrutiny:  What are the overall anticipated annual maintenance costs for this road? Who will be conducting the maintenance? How will the maintenance be paid for? What are the anticipated annual income/receipts the state will receive from mineral, oil and gas receipts?  It seems that non-DOT departments, such as Fish & Game, might require additional funds/resources if this road is built.  What assistance will other State Agencies receive and what will the anticipated costs be to other State Agencies to manage this road and the surrounding area? Alaska has a mixed record for resource development of this type. Frequently these types of projects have resulted in what Jay Hammond called "malignant growth"; meaning, we've gotten bigger but not better. Often the benefits of the project go to a few construction companies and extraction industries, while the residents/citizens will receive little in return and will only subsidize the total costs for the public road and access to the area. Thus these monies went into someone's pocket and no project has or will be done. The Railroad from Houston to Pt. Are they not protected and realistically the cost will be much greater with all the water crossings that are "unknown" until you get into the project. What about waterfowl, migration patterns, wildlife and habitats you are destroying?? We have raised our children and created a number of businesses to include EagleSong Lodge and today EagleSong Peony Farm. We are one of the only commercial farms in the region. Our farm is located within a mile or so of the proposed intersection of the West Susitna Access Road and the Donlin gas line. I believe this will have an undetermined impact on our life and business if either is developed. Because of this I am once again compelled to comment on the current state of affairs regarding the West Susitna Road Project. We truly feel there are a number of questions that are not being asked. I see a large emotional public response to this project that I feel is less than objective. We have not decided if we are in favor of the project or not. Over our 28 years we have encountered numerous teams and projects with the goal of developing West Susitna resources. The road project itself has seen many starts and stops over the years. It is for this reason that we prefer to see the process proceed and flesh out what this project actually means. Otherwise, the project fades from the public eye to only reappear in the future to repeat the process in hopes it will at that time succeed. We are in favor of getting the science on this project and make an informed decision. We do not want our children to have to deal with this in the future.				Mike Williams EagleSong Family Peony Farm 200 W. 34th Ave #295 Anchorage, Alaska 99503

The thought of a new road to access the west side of the susitna and that portion of the Alaska range is very exciting. I am in support of the road, along with many friends and family members ONLY IF the entire road is public. We are avid outdoors people and believe that the road if it is again let for the average person to use and access the land is worth whatever change or risk the road could pose. If it is not public in its entirety, I will oppose the road along with the fore mentioned friends and family members. I really need the borough to drive home That this road if developed needs to be public all the way through. Other wise it's not worth the risk to the landscape and changes it'll bring. 1195	Email	3/17/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Process					The project Fact Sheet indicated that Phase II of this project, now completed, was pre- engineering and cost estimating. Phase III is purposed for environmental permitting. From the information presented, I understand we are at phase III The project description indicates the study as a whole is for a "multi-use, public access road". However, now the public meeting for Mar 23 indicates now the project involves determining if the proposed road would be "public or strictly individual" This to me sounds like a step backward to Phase I or Phase II. I don't understand how this is a topic continued to "Phase III" as such a fundamental aspect of the project should be determined at pre-engineering level, long before advancing the project to permitting. It was seemingly decided because you have been providing the project overview as a public roadway for Phase III public outreach materials. The project progression and fluid fundamentals and goals is frustrating, and it makes it impossible to follow the intent. It makes me wonder, what are you doing advancing the project to advanced engineering if you do not know what kind of standards and guidance you are using for design. I have a feeling that those involved in the project do know what kind of road is being designed, but they refuse to tell the public outright.				Albert Perryman

1196	Email	3/17/22	Not enough information to decide	Tribal	Process					The Tyonek Tribal Conservation District serves the subsistence and agricultural needs of the communities and landowners in our district by mitigating invasive fish and plants, maintaining habitat for salmon and subsistence species, monitoring the health of natural resources, and providing technical assistance within a 6.6M acre district defined by Tyonek's traditional hunting and fishing grounds (boundaries equivalent to Alaska's Game Management Unit 16B). Currently, our key programs include annual culvert installation and maintenance for salmon passage; suppression of Northern pike, elodea, and non-aquatic invasive plants; and monitoring stream health that includes submissions to the Anadromous Waters Catalog. The West Susitna Access Road would be over 100 miles long and involve 156 known water crossings. The majority of a future road, as currently proposed, would run through extensive watershed habitat in the Tyonek Tribal Conservation District. An industrial corridor of this magnitude generates substantial conservation concerns for this remote, relatively pristine area with abundant wetlands, and fish and wildlife resources. In its initial report, HDR Alaska, Inc. (2014) identified several fields requiring additional study for the impacted region, including fish streams and essential fish habitat, wildlife, vegetation, hydrology, and historic and archaeological resources. It remains imperative for road development in this region to investigate and address these key issues before construction.				Laurie Stuart, EdD (She/Her)   Executive Director TYONEK TRIBAL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

I have made a living out of building roads to make our state a safer place to drive and bring our natural resources to market. So I have seen what new roads can bring for better or for worse. As for the proposed West Susitna Access Road project, I am against it in more ways than one. First, the company wanting to open the mines at the end of the road are a foreign company that will take all the profits out of state and country, and not benefit our economy in the long run. Second, if such a road was to be built it shouldn't be "PRIVATE", it should be open to the public use since it is going across public land and not run by a foreign company for its own profits. Sooner or later that state land will be opened up that's not what I'm opposed to. What I'm opposed to is how that land is developed for the people of the State of Alaska, or for a foreign company after the gold in the ground! What about the future generations that will deal with whatever the foreign company leaves behind? So in my personal opinion if the road project is not a public use DOT safe roadway it should not be built period!				Fred A Bacon P.O. Redacted home # Redacted email: Redacted

1205	Email	3/21/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Public vs private					Four comments:  The first three are, "Yes, yes, and yes!"  The fourth one is that the road should be public and not strictly industrial. There are as many fishing and game opportunities as there are mining prospects. To use public money and then deny public access is disingenuous and hypocritical. The North Slope Haul Road is also gravel and for industrial purposes, but has operated seamlessly and without problem to the public sector. If industry wants the road private, then they should build it with their own funds. If that turns out to be the case, then it should be limited by an expiration date so that the public gets eventual use of it in exchange for public lands being made available for the road. 1206	Email	3/21/22	No		Money					I wish to submit several comments of significant concern, and therefore likely in opposition, regarding the proposed West Susitna Access Road.  1. I am deeply concerned about spending this sum of money on a road in the current economic setting. I think there are far more important roads (Ambler, Knik Arm Crossing) and projects worthy of consideration well ahead of this project if money were to be spent.  2. Without a road across the Knik Arm, this project would seem to be ill-informed. It will force even more traffic and concern through the KGB corridor, which is becoming ever more crowded and problematic. The area was popular because of its remoteness and limited access. This project will make it a large vehicle corridor, further exacerbating traffic, safety, and noise concerns for residents (of which I am one). The project, if ever undertaken, should be tied to a Knik Arm crossing, which should be completed first.  3. The road is primarily in support of industry. They should be the ones funding the project, not tax-payers, be it through the Federal government or the State of Alaska.  4. Many sensitive habitats and fisheries will be crossed by this road. It should never be public if developed, as the impact on...				Ben Schöffmann

Disclosure: My family has owned recreation property for 52 years on West Lake next to Horseshoe Lake just north of Big Lake.  I fully support meaningful and viable development in Alaska.  This proposed road project reminds me of another project about 13 or 14 years ago. It was called the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project. If I recall correctly, the intent was to shorten the current rail route for moving minerals (Coal and other possible mineral finds) from the interior to the Port of Seward.  Originally, The Matanuska-Borough (MSB) assembly had approved a rail route from Port MacKenzie to Willow. It was called the Willow Route. Someone decided that just one route was not sufficient enough for the public to make an informed decision. Because this was a route for a railroad, The National Surface Transportation Board (STB) had to become involved. (The STB was the only carryover after the U. S. Department of Commerce ended)  After further reviews were concluded, three routes were selected - Willow, Big Lake, and Houston. New public meetings were held by the borough and the STB. The STB would later issue a thick...				Pat Sharrock

The way things are only those with significant means can access and enjoy these areas. Many of those are not even from this state. My husband and I homesteaded 40 acres in the mid 80s, surveyed it and have paid taxes on it every year since. Yet here we are, 3 generations of our Alaskan family later. My husband has passed away and still access to this land is not feasible for us. This road would come approximately within 5 miles of our property. This would change everything. It would be wonderful if at last our family, as well as other Alaskans of lesser means could at last have access to these lands				Maria Gertzen.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the West Susitna Road Access Project (Project). For the reason discussed below, I currently oppose the Project as a yet unjustified expenditure of State and Borough resources.  The State of Alaska and the Matanuska Susitna Borough have failed to perform a cost benefit analysis to determine whether the benefits from the Project outweigh the associated costs to and expenditures by the State and Borough. If not, the State and Borough are subsidizing private development at the cost of Alaskan and Borough residents without a commensurate return. The Project should not proceed until supporters demonstrate the benefits of the West Susitna Access Road (the Road) outweigh the costs to and for the State and Borough.  Importantly, the State and the Borough have failed to require the private mining interest promoting the Project to demonstrate that its own private development plans are financially solid and will be profitable. To the extent that the State or Borough are relying on a private entity to develop, maintain and operate the Road, knowing that the proposed mining development will be profitable is critical to the State and Borough's decision making. Evidence exists that the mining development may not be profitable without State and Borough subsidy. 1214	Email	3/22/22	No		Money					I do not believe this project is a valuable use of Borough funds. The main purpose for the Borough to be interested is the development of property and an increase in the tax base. Both laudable interests.  It is inappropriate for the Borough to be subsidizing the businesses in that area. One would have to question why the Borough would not improve the existing roads in more efficient business locations. These roads they have already undertaken and are unable or unwilling to keep in good repair.  This road will be utilized by recreational interests if the road is officially open to the public or not. If you build it, it will get utilized. And yet, the Borough has no plan for how to maintain the road.  Much of this area is poorly suited for a road. There are numerous water crossings in fish rich areas. The negative impacts on the wildlife as well as the full year and part-time residents will be certain. I do not know if the road will be fully permitted as there are many obstacles among the "No, No Nannettes" of our community.  I would be in favor of this road if it were to be privately funded and maintained. I have no problem with the Borough providing the planned route and assisting with the permitting process.  Let a private company build and maintain the road. As an area landowner, this project is exciting and necessary to open the West Susitna area. However, I would like to suggest that the PWSAR start in Knik instead of extending off the end of Ayrshire Avenue. Moving the start point to Knik would add several miles to the east end of the project, but the advantages would be numerous. 1)It would revitalize the townsite of Knik. The Knik residents have long publicly spoke in favor of events and opportunities to bring commerce back to Knik. 2)Road easements were historically established in 1911-1912 by the Alaska Road Commission which built Route 20A (a portion of the historic Iditarod Trail) from Knik to Susitna Station. Route 20A was professionally located, engineered, and built to road/trail standards of the day. As a route built on federal land, the easements and location have already been secured. 3)Using Route 20A today would have the advantages of directly linking the communities of Knik, South Big Lake, and Fish Creek. Currently, people have to use various routes like Hollywood &amp; Vine roads, Parks Highway &amp; Knik Goose-Bay, or Knik Goose-Bay and Burma roads. A direct link would provide residents and travelers superior access and reduce travel miles. The previously engineered Route 20A is almost a direct straight line from Knik to Susitna Station. The cabins throughout the valley that are out there will now be broken into because of easy access and the authorities won't do anything about it. Please leave it a wilderness area. A lot of the lodges and flying businesses will be hurt. Right now it's accessed by Riverboats, floatplanes, and wheel planes, and snowmachine's in the winter, and I feel it should be left at that. We submitted previous testimony twice, recommending rejection of this project.  In my opinion, as an MBA and licensed securities professional who has raised money for many private and public companies, Nova Minerals, an Australian company trading publicly under the ticker symbol of NVAAF, lacks the experience, finances and leadership to successfully develop the proposed gold mine. I do not understand how Nova passed due diligence with Alaska regulators.  Operationally, it has never succeeded in commercializing any other similar mining project. Nova admits on its website that, "there is no certainty of eventual conversion to Ore Reserves or that the production target itself will be realized." Also, "there is a low level of geological confidence associated with Inferred Mineral Resources and there is no certainty that further exploration work will result in the determination of Indicated Mineral Resources or that the production target itself will be realized." 1229	Email	3/23/22	No		Environment					I'm writing to express that I am opposed to spending further public monies to advance the W Susitna Access road by AIDEA, the Mat-Su Borough, and the State of Alaska.  The proposed route crosses through thousands of acres of relatively undisturbed land, of which includes approximately 1,228 acres of high-value wetlands and water bodies. These wetlands and water bodies support a vibrant tourism and hunting and fishing industry. The wetlands and water bodies are a vital component of salmon habitat for the rivers and streams that feed Cook Inlet.  The proposed road runs generally east-west, perpendicular to the prevailing drainage patterns in the proposed project area. Not only will the road cross approximately 156 rivers and streams, but the massive industrial road will intersect sub-surface flow that supports adjacent wetlands and associated salmon habitat.  Recreational, guided, and commercial hunting and fishing in the MSB are proven, lucrative industries that directly and indirectly benefit the residents of the borough. Recreational fishing by residents and non-residents was estimated to generate $44.6 million in economic output, $14.3 million in labor incomes, and more than 470 jobs (MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission Agenda, Sep. 19, 2019). The Susitna River is the fourth largest king salmon run in Alaska. Commercial fishing in upper Cook Inlet is				Sincerely, Lorene Lynn Palmer, AK

1231	Email	3/24/22	N/A		Money					These comments result from yesterday's public zoom session: 1. Current mining royalty for extracted minerals is 3% of net. 2. A cost-benefit analysis should be conducted with at least a twenty year projection, and should include a comparison of the all weather gravel road versus a rail extension, most large mines built in the past century and a half needing heavy haul transportation used rail or water, not gravel roads. 3. Where will the minerals extracted be refined? Alaska? United States? Some other location? 4. One of the principal minerals under discussion is coal - how does that fit with the current "global-warming" mantra? All for now, thanks!				Dave Palmer cell Redacted
1232	Email	3/24/22	N/A		Public vs private					As we all know, it's just not road access to the Whisky Bravo site, Rainy Pass Lodge and to other mining resources in the mining district area. It is a offset absorption of public and State infrastructure and local taxes and additional increases to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough land and property tax. The overall depression of local byways and infrastructure have not been weighed in, for the public interest. If this road is built, it must be open for the AIDEA and Alaskans for public use, set aside by using the existing State land use of public lands. Examples are ( NFMA ) of 1976 and the National Environment Policy Act of 1970 to name a few . If this road is to be built for access, it must also serve public interest... Have the road open to the public for use in conjunction with the Alaskan Industrial Development and Export Authority, the majority of all concerns will be mute, as the burden will be shared.. 1233	Letter	3/24/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own developed property	Yes to road, no to the mine					I have a cabin at Shell Lake. We have always hoped for a road into that area. A road would make a major impact on constructing residences in the area. It would also make it possible for lots more full time residents.  Never the less there are major concerns about if a major industrial road could be used by residents, I envision open pits and major haul trucks, do not go well with resident use. In my history with major projects as soon as they have taken what they want they lock the gates on access.  Alaska has a bad history of supporting boom and bust industries. People in Alaska sell their souls for work, and after all, it has only taken a hundred years to grow trees over gravel pits left by the dredging of so many of the water ways, in the first gold boom.  I understand industrial projects, I was an industrial estimator for forty years. Big money is always going to win out, they always do.  Mining is a non-sustainable venture, rape and run, take money and run. Residential development is slower process but is sustainable and easy to control ecological damage.				Cal Moure, Redacted

1241	Email	3/25/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Public vs private					Any road out through Alaska wilderness, lands owned by everyone, deciding if it is for public use shouldn't really be under consideration. Not only is a 100 mile road through an area with a large concentration of remote properties a benefit for the companies extracting Alaskan owned minerals, it would be a benefit to all around who use that area. Don't create a conflict by disconnecting from the reality of the situation. If the road is there Alaskans will want to and will use it putting in a road and then restricting it even though it is on our lands, that will only create man made criminals, borderline entrapment with a side serving of rules for thee and not for me. People will use it either way, do the right thing. It's public. I support a road there.				Dale Mitchell

I also live in the big lake area. I'm for developing our natural resources and creating good paying jobs for Alaskan, so I would be for this project as long as it our state dollars are paying for the road so you can access the kind site, but the road needs to be usable by the public. If it is our money building it we need to be able to use the road for other types of development, along with hunting and fishing grounds. This road can not be just for mining use.				Dale Chalender
1245	Email	3/27/22	No	Tribe	Money					Please stop all efforts to build the proposed West Susitna Access Road. It is a mistake. And it is a classic mistake that has been made in Alaska many times before. A definition of insanity is: doing the same thing multiple times and expecting different outcomes. This principle of insanity has been proven by the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and AIDEA many times before. Mega-project after mega-project have failed because the MSB and AIDEA put the "cart before the horse". They committed to massive projects without having the economic justification for the projects in place. The MSB and AIDEA's record of economic insanity is horrendous: Pt. Mackenzie dairy farms were built without a market for the milk. A ferry was built with no port for it to dock at in Anchorage. A port facility that was built when there were hardly any customers or need for it. Money was poured into studies for a Knik Arm bridge that made no economic sense. The same with the proposed Susitna River dam. A Houston to Pt. Mackenzie rail spur was constructed without a justifiable reason for it. Billions of dollars in federal, state and taxpayer money were corruptly squandered on these ill-conceived projects. And now the MSB and AIDEA want to do it all again? Another mega-project without a good reason for doing it? This is criminal. The proposed West Susitna Access Road is a very speculative venture. The foreign mining interests do not have proof that mining in the Veneta district will be profitable. And no, an article >The session I watched said the proposed road would not be open to the >public beyond a short first part. It appears to be planned for future industrial use and that use only. >1. I am opposed to any State funds being used to build a road that does not allow public use for recreation, cabin sites, and tourism uses for the full distance of that road. >2. I oppose building a road for private industrial use at all, unless there is an existing, financially capable business with a signed lease >along the proposed road and that business pays for at least 50% of the costs to develop that road. This "if we build it, they will come" >attitude has simply not worked in the past and Alaska dollars should not pay for access without the proposed industrial use contributing to that >expense. There are always options to encourage businesses to come to Alaska but financial support from the state should be given as credits >AFTER the business has started bringing new revenues to the state. The Matanuska Susitna Borough and the State of Alaska is once again in the process of throwing the residences finances down the drain. There is little to no Alaska public sediment for this project and yet big brothers are bound and determined to undermine the public resident sentiment. To my understanding, the State and Mat-Su Borough have teamed with Nova Minerals (not even an American company) to move this project forward. Nova Minerals is listed on the Grey Market Over the Counter market. It is a micro-Cap stock and has a Market Capitalization of $101M. If this company fails residents will again no doubt pay for it. This Grey Market Over the Counter exchange is extremely illiquid with the least number of regulations making this company a maximum high-risk adventure. This has all the merits and ideas of the Mat-Su Borough high speed ferry, the de-funked Port Mackenzie and now the sale of the conveyer system there, the Railroad spur to (nowhere) that is now just a very long idel gravel pit to the Port, the Mat - Maid dairy business and farms. I have expressed this opposition since early 2020 regarding Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) resolutions in front of AIDEA, the MSB Assembly, and the MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission. A pause in the momentum of this project permitting was deemed necessary by many members of the public. This obviously did not happen. This should NOT move to the federal permitting stage. 1.How can AIDEA with MSB backing apply in April 2020 for a 404 wetland permit lacking essential baseline studies?  These studies will be ongoing this spring, summer and probably through the fall. For instance, the actual route has not been decided.  The AIA notification kicks off the NEPA process with a scoping. It was a great opportunity for the public to get informed on where the process is at right now and get the facts of the road. However, I think the only thing that the informational sessions made clear to me is that there are a lot of questions about this project that need to be answered before it is permitted.  Where will the gravel for this road come from? Who will maintain the road? Who will have access to the road? How will the stream crossings be handled? How will erosion from this road impact local wildlife and fish habitat? Where will the tailings from this mine be stored? What will happen to the mine when it closes? Who will rehabilitate the landscape? These are all very important questions that I or others in those sessions asked only to be given watered down answers of "We aren't sure yet".  I am fully opposed to the road being put in. I do not think that the short term job growth and economic gains that would result from this mine being put in outweigh the long term effects it would have on the environment and communities of the Susitna. 1270	Email	3/30/22	No		Process					As residents of Big Lake, Alaska, 1 mile off state maintained Big Lake Road, we will not support the consortium of 3 partners WSAR project after reading the complete AIDEA website with WSA documents including but not limited to their June 2021 Economic Impacts Report, MSB Projects WSA website and watching &amp; listening to the MSB's online presentations &amp; public meetings, and the Nova Minerals Ltd. (AKO) website unless our following questions are answered to our satisfaction. Given the Alaska State mineral extraction royalty rate as per DNR documents is 3% in a world where international (Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Indonesia, Jamaica, Japan, Papua New Guinea, Philippines, Peru, Poland, Russia, South Africa) mining royalty rates for strategic minerals is 2-12% (excluding outliers, 2020), Alaska falls into the 3rd world mineral extraction class. While AIDEA's 2021 Economic Impacts Report was short on explanations, it honestly warned their input/output analysis reliance on unrealistic hypothetical single year for simultaneous development for construction &amp; resource extraction results in severe overestimation over the life of the road. With the report stating an Opinion of Probable Capital Cost (OPCC) of $356,900,000, AIDEA's Jesse Peterson quotes a base design road width of 28 feet during MSB public meeting, and WSAR documents list an approximate 100 mile length, our questions I would like to voice my support for the construction of this road. This has been needed in Alaska for nearly 40 years. There will likely be a substantial increase in traffic on the Parks Highway as this area develops. To this end, please consider a Knik Arm crossing at Goose Bay (near the runway). Should this road be connected to this new road, traffic would be able to bypass Wasilla and instead enter the Glen Highway near Highland Drive in Eagle River, giving Mat-Su residents a second alternative for access to Anchorage and alleviating traffic on the Parks.				Norm Lawler
1271	Email	3/30/22	Yes		Development					As a Mat-Su Borough taxpayer, let our voice be heard... If my tax dollars are going to help build a road, it had better be one that EVERY TAXPAYER in this Borough can use, NOT "strictly industrial". If the State of Alaska is paying for it, then every resident of Alaska should have access. We are tired of putting our local taxes into things that we cannot or do not use, and the same goes for State funded uses. We are not ready to stand by and watch as those with "industrial" usage stickers take advantage of all that a road like this has to offer while those of us who help pay for the road are locked out. And why is there already an "upcoming environmental permitting process" if it has not yet been established that a road will be built in the first place?				Stephen Pidgeon
1272	Email	3/30/22	No		Public vs private					I listened to the comments and most were trying the ploy of costs associated with the project. Most costs we will not know but most costs are estimated in the cost of the road. Please go forward with this project. This time, while oil is up things are looking better, but once again oil while up may come down. I have a question that you may not know. But, those opposing the project are going to make a plan (I am sure they already have) regarding whom (who) they need to target with negative comments regarding this getting done. Say for instance, who would be the recipient of comments that works at Alaska Development Authority? I would like to forward pro project query's to them. They are organized, look at the comments back at me for using the word "stick" in my discussion. We need this kind of thing all over Alaska. 1275	Email	3/30/22	No		Environment					These are my comments regarding the proposed West Susitna Access Road. I came to Alaska many years ago for the vast wild, unspoiled wilderness. I now live in Talkeetna and have recreated in the West Susitna Valley for over 50 years. I have travelled throughout the area by dog team. It has been my backyard wilderness. I have visited Skwentna, Yentna, Trail Lake, Winter Lake, Lake Creek, Moose Creek, and points in between. I depend on the Susitna watershed for the fish that I eat. I value highly the wilderness character of West Susitna, its fish and wildlife, largely unspoiled rivers and lakes, wetlands, and forests. It is a place where subsistence living is still possible. There are many wilderness lodges, where visitors can observe and photograph wildlife, catch fish, and experience the wilderness. It supports hunting and fishing guiding and other outdoor recreation related businesses. If industrial civilization comes to this place, these existing economies and wilderness values will be lost. I oppose this West Susitna Access Road and ask that AIDEA end the project. What's at stake is much more than a road; it is also all that a road will bring, such as Estelle mine, Donlin Mine pipeline, Susitna Valley Coal Road, Matanuska development, timber harvests, and				John Strassenburgh Redacted

AIDEA and the State have not given adequate analysis to this project and the Mat-Su Borough should not be supporting another boondoggle. This road is touted to give access to all sorts of natural resources, but to whose benefit and at what cost? Most mining provides lots of income to the company developing the mine, but very little to the residents of the state or borough. Most of the jobs offered to local residents are low level, and many are temporary. What is the total cost of the road? Who will pay for it? What auxiliary roads will be necessary. Who will pay for them. Who is responsible for maintaining the road and auxiliary roads? Will the Mat-Su Borough have to maintain the road or roads, and will our taxes be used to pay for that maintenance? 1281	Email	3/31/22	No		Crime					Hello, I believe the MatSu Borough should cease all efforts with the West Susitna Road access for a number of reasons. First, currently the Borough is inadequately served by law enforcement, as well as road maintenance and adding another 100 miles of rural service area doesn't make sense. Secondly, adding easier access to rural mining claims only makes it easier for foreign entities the privilege of exporting our valuable resources overseas. Currently over 85% of Alaska's gold not only leaves the state but also the country. Alaska collectively receives very minimal royalties from mineral extraction as it is and this access road would only be selling out more of what little is left to mostly foreign entities. Third, we have an issue with rural trash and litter and there are remnants of all various types of mining infrastructure littered across the state from derelict buildings to broken down equipment, to illegal dams and everything else down to barrels and outhouses. Mining is invasive and to make it easier to mine makes it easier to compromise a healthy environment and waterways. Lastly, I've been recreational prospecting and mining for almost 30 years, mostly on the current road system in recreational areas open to the public, and have never been checked by law enforcement of the AK DNR who issues the permits...not once; not to check if I even had a permit, not to check on tailings leachate, not to check on boundaries...nothing. Alaska has no state mining law enforcement except the state troopers, again an already heavily taxed agency. 1282	Email	3/31/22	No		Public opinion					I am writing to express my opposition to the West Susitna Industrial Access Road. There are numerous reasons why I believe the risks of this project outweigh any possible rewards to the borough and borough residents but out of respect for your time I will keep my comments limited to 3 points. 1. The road as proposed is slated to be public only to the Susitna. All of the cost estimates AIDEA has presented are for a private industrial road. Why should AK residents and US citizens pay to develop a road for a foreign company? 2. An independent economic analysis of the costs and benefits to the Mat-Su was recommended back well before this phase of the process. It has still not been undertaken. If AIDEA has nothing to hide and truly believes this will be a benefit to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and borough residents then certainly they wouldn't have any problem with an independent assessment being completed before going forward with the project. This is simply a good business practice. A means of protecting public tax dollars - something that I think we can all agree needs to be taken seriously. 3. 1287	Email	3/31/22	No		Wilderness					We strongly oppose the project. We see absolutely no focus on assessing the permanent impacts of such a project on the sensitive wetlands. The project is focused only on a (short-term) economic assessment. We'd like to know how much money the companies will make at the expense of Alaska's wildlands, its citizens, and its resources. We'd like to know how this project will forever change a wild area so close to Anchorage and Wasilla, and how any of that destruction is worth the relative pittance Alaska will receive in the short run. Any claim that the project will "open" up recreation areas for Alaska's residents, is baseless. Opening up recreation is not the goal. Stop pretending that it is. Mining is the only goal. We access our private property in the target area, as do many people. We also know many people who are not local landowners but who venture out to the target area for various recreational activities. The target area has a strong, vibrant history of year-round recreation. We seek the area precisely because there are no roads and because it is a stellar wild area, quintessentially Alaskan, and close to the urban centers. A plan to introduce roads and to mine in the target area is not development. It is not beneficial or best use of sensitive wildlands. The project is not undertaken with the interests of Alaska citizens in mind. It is ultimately destructive, and undermines the efforts of Alaska to preserve its Big Wild Life and enhance its tourism economy. Tal, Inc. opposes the proposed road. The proposed road alignment runs approximately a mile north of our lodge. The owners use the river and surrounding area for recreation, fishing, and hunting. There is no demonstrated feasibility for the road and there is a lack of any discussion on cost vs benefit. Construction of the proposed road would adversely impact our use of the area, as well as adversely impact environmental and social values in the area. Specific areas of concern include: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Increased traffic and hunting/fishing pressure, resulting in degradation of habitat and fish &amp; game populations.</li> <li>2. Potential for increased trespass and other crime.</li> <li>3. 1298	Email	3/31/22	No		Public vs private					It should be private at the very least. See below. Thanks I do not support the proposed access road. This will greatly impact the residents and cabin owners who have exhausted resources to access this area that is so close to the largest population in Alaska. A road will put strain on hunting and fishing in the area which will lead to a decline in resources and ultimately more regulations or closures. Historically, all road accessible fishing and hunting has declined and caused further regulations limiting the opportunity. Because the road would allow vehicle and trailer access, ATVs could gain access to otherwise inaccessible areas. With the advancement of ATVs, the landscape would become mangled with trails, bogs, and camp sites changing the current landscape forever. Recreational camps would drastically increase the chance of wildfire. Human conflict will be inevitable, trespassing and theft will be an immediate concern. Many cabins are left unattended for months at a time creating opportunity for thieves. This road only benefits the mining industry. Aircraft and snowcats have been a substantial means of access for decades. Destroying a recreational area for many is not worth the benefit to companies that has the capacity to use alternative means of transportation.				Matt Soloy   President

1302	Email	3/31/22	No	Tribes	Environment					Dear Ms. Yehle and Mat-Su Borough: I have many concerns about this road, and particularly about the process that this project seems to be on towards approval. Basic information is missing: public road or private mining road? Downsides of a private mining road AIDEA (the project developers) have continually flip-flopped between whether this would be a private road, a public road, or a "mix". If it is a private road, it would be a road to a mining district which currently appears to have one interested mining developer. This appears to be a small junior exploration company that would need to attract a major -- a company that has actually built and run mines -- before any actual mines would go into operation. This means that any income or benefit to the state and borough would be years down the road, and could potentially never be seen. They would need to drill enough to show high enough grade and ore body extent to attract investors, then go through the permitting process, and meanwhile very likely have to fight off lawsuits, which could cause investors or "major" company partners to exit the project. As far as I can see, the ore in this area is mostly gold -- which we don't need -- or coal -- which we should actively avoid as we transition off of carbon-emitting fuels. Building a private road now, for a project that is currently in such early stages of development, with potentially no benefit at the end, seems -- at the very least -- unwise.				Kendra Zamzow [Redacted]

I explained the meetings will be online because of the large geographic area the project covers and on-going Covid-19 concerns. Overall we have heard very positive feedback about the online format and many people will be able to attend who would not have otherwise. I offered to mail him the meeting materials, but he refused. I added that participation from Community Councils is important to this project and they are a good venue to talk to neighbors. He still seemed unhappy with the process and did not tell me what his concerns with the actual project were.				Redacted

1232	Email	3/24/22	N/A		Public vs private					As we all know, it's just not road access to the Whisky Bravo site, Rainy Pass Lodge and to other mining resources in the mining district area. It is a offset absorption of public and State infrastructure and local taxes and additional increases to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough land and property tax. The overall depression of local byways and infrastructure have not been weighed in, for the public interest. If this road is built, it must be open for the AIDEA and Alaskans for public use, set aside by using the existing State land use of public lands. Examples are ( NFMA ) of 1976 and the National Environment Policy Act of 1970 to name a few . If this road is to be built for access, it must also serve public interest.... Have the road open to the public for use in conjunction with the Alaskan Industrial Development and Export Authority, the majority of all concerns will be mute, as the burden will be shared.. 1231	Email	3/24/22	N/A		Money					These comments result from yesterday's public zoom session: 1.Current mining royalty for extracted minerals is 3% of net. 2.A cost-benefit analysis should be conducted with at least a twenty year projection, and should include a comparison of the all weather gravel road versus a rail extension, most large mines built in the past century and a half needing heavy haul transportation used rail or water, not gravel roads. 3.Where will the minerals extracted be refined? Alaska? United States? Some other location? 4.One of the principal minerals under discussion is coal - how does that fit with the current "global-warming" mantra? All for now, thanks! 1102	Email	2/16/22	N/A	Tribe	Process					On another note CVTC has not received information on the planned West Susitna Access Road. It is important for MSB to consult with the Dene (Athabaskan) Tribes regarding the planned road. It is tantamount for the Tribes to be involved at the initial design stages of the project. The area being proposed for the road extension is highly sensitive to Dene cultural sites. Very little archaeological survey work has occurred west of the Susitna. The project region encompasses numerous native village sites with interconnecting indigenous trails. Linguistic studies suggest Dene's earliest migrations into the valley came from the Kuskokwim into the Yentna-Skwentna River valley. It is for that reason construction conducted in the Yentna-Skwentna region is a major concern. Vital information on migration routes may be compromised by construction of the road. CVTC would like to be included in the following:  1)CVTC requests consultation directly by the project manager on the proposed road  2)informed and included in the decision making with good aerial and LiDar maps.  3)CVTC is interested in assisting with the archaeological field work and being present when any ground disturbing activities are undertaken				Fran Seager-Boss Archaeologist M.A. CVTC Historical Advisor

1168	Email	2/25/22	N/A		Information					It would be very helpful to have a map showing the proposed access and all the ownership around the proposed road: such as all MSB-owned lands, all state lands, all federal lands, and what lands are in private ownership- in colored blocks on the map.  This would show where *possible commercial development could occur on fed/state/msb lands *where MSB and State could subdivide lands for sale into private ownership *where private ownership might welcome or discourage having a road to give access to their property  You do show lands that it appears have permits or could have permits for developing natural resources but I didn't pick up on the ownership of those areas. How many more hair-brained projects will it take before they start doing a more thorough job vetting the outcomes? This 100 mile road and the 156 river, creek, wetlands crossing would create a maintenance nightmare and would require significant public dollars to keep passable for vehicles. The State should NOT be in the business of building roads to access mining claims for private companies. Let free enterprise play its role and if a company thinks they can make money from our natural resources extraction then THEY should pay for all cost incurred, including access roads, it should not fall on public money to support private enterprises. Just from a recreational standpoint but I mean this bridge crossing which you bridge crossings are awesome access points but it's a mile from the premier access point on the lower Little Susitna River. 1149	Email	2/23/22	No	Own developed property	Access					My family and I are very opposed to this proposed road. We have a cabin in the area and are worried about more people having access to our area. We built the cabin because we loved the wilderness feel of the place. We are also greatly concerned about the environmental impacts of build the road across all these sensitive areas, mostly the wetlands and rivers. Coal is a dying fuel and isn't likely to be a good financial investment. I'm very skeptical that there's enough or will be enough funding for the road. We think you're vastly underestimating the actual cost of constructing the road.  A very concerned citizens!!  Please don't be short sighted!  We aren't anti-development, but wrong road for the wrong reason and a bad investment!  Please don't do this!!				Benjamin Rapp

166	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Access					Not everywhere needs easy access, a wild-ish area that is making the local businesses as much money as the Mat-Su region is a gold mine already. There are very few places like this area left in the world and that is worth more than any dollar amount. I have to pay the prices to get flown into my property, or anywhere else I've gone in the region when I go and no, I don't make a lot of money at all, so it stings, but it's been worth every hour of overtime and I wouldn't want it to be cheap and easy.				Chris Cernak
161	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Access					There are currently auctions for land in the area now and if it was DNR's intent to develop and sell more land, can't they do that without a road?	The land sale program that DNR administers doesn't rely on this road. DNR is not an applicant for this road. We'd be a regulatory agency to evaluate the proposed road that is being pursued by AIDEA. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)			Gabe Kitter

1103	Email	2/16/22	No	Other	Access					I do not support the proposed access road. This will greatly impact the residents and cabin owners who have exhausted resources to access this area that is so close to the largest population in Alaska. A road will put strain on hunting and fishing in the area which will lead to a decline in resources and ultimately more regulations or closures. Historically, all road accessible fishing and hunting has declined and caused further regulations limiting the opportunity.  Because the road would allow vehicle and trailer access, ATVs could gain access to otherwise inaccessible areas. With the advancement of ATVs, the landscape would become inundated with trails, bogs, and camp sites changing the current landscape forever. Recreational camps would drastically increase the chance of wildfire. Human conflict will be inevitable. Trespassing and theft will be an immediate concern. Many cabins are left unattended for months at a time creating opportunity for thieves.  This road only benefits the mining industry. Aircraft and snowcats have been a substantial means of access for decades. Destroying a recreational area for many is not worth the benefit to companies that has the capacity to use alternative means of transportation.				Matt Soloy

1085	Email	2/15/22	No	Other	Access, negative					I don't think it is a good thing. There would be that much more traffic out there, leading to cars, campers, and fires.  I'm writing to express my opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road.  This proposal is bad on multiple levels and should not go forward. The road will impact business owners, private land owners and wildlife all in a negative way. It will further reduce the wilderness area experience by increasing public access.  While the number of lodges impacted may be small the consequences to these lodges will be devastating. Private landowners, which are numerous on both sides of the proposed road will encounter increased trespassing and along with that an increase in vandalism and theft. This increase in public pressure will also negatively impact the wildlife along the corridor.  I don't see the proposed road as a benefit to Alaskans. I do see it as a benefit to outside companies with little interest in the long term impacts of the road and who only hope to benefit economically and then depart. AIDEA funds can be better spent elsewhere on projects that will benefit Alaskans and not foreign companies.  As an Alaskan and as a tax paying property owner I'm asking that this bad idea be rejected.			James Witthaus

This part of the process is to determine if the road is feasible. Who would pay for construction and maintenance is yet to be determined. It continues to be no more than a slush fund for dream projects proposed by politically connected individuals. There was supposed to be an economic analysis conducted much earlier in this process. It has not been completed. You intend to take public funds to build a private road through public land for private business interests. If this road can't get private money to finance it, then it should die now. You are just stealing public money and public land to appease a political ideology. There has been almost zero public input. It seems your plan is to keep this as quiet as possible and let people think it's about public access.  You have continued to push the idea that industry will pay for this road, but you have yet to show how or even attempt to address the concern. How much additional public land and public money will be stolen to try to further develop the area with industrial infrastructure? How will mining, forest clearing and petroleum extraction pay? You are going down the same path all previous AIDEA debacles have traveled.  You intend to destroy a massive area of valuable wetlands and cross 156 streams, all seriously impacting critical salmonid spawning/rearing habitat and terrestrial wildlife habitat. This is currently a healthy and intact fish and wildlife production area that is of high value for Southcentral human populations. The Matanuska Susitna Borough and the State of Alaska is once again in the process of throwing the residences finances down the drain. There is little to no Alaska public sediment for this project and yet big brothers are bound and determined to undermine the public resident sentiment. To my understanding, the State and Mat-Su Borough have teamed with Nova Minerals (not even an American company) to move this project forward. Nova Minerals is listed on the Grey Market Over the Counter market. It is a micro-Cap stock and has a Market Capitalization of $101M. If this company fails residents will again no doubt pay for it. This market is extremely illiquid with the least number of regulations making this company a maximum high-risk adventure. This has all the merits and ideas of the Mat-Su Borough high speed ferry, the de-funked Port Mackenzie and now the sale of the conveyor system there, the Railroad spur to (nowhere) the port that is now just a very long idel gravel pit, the dairy business and farms. 1281	Email	3/31/22	No		Crime					Hello, I believe the MatSu Borough should cease all efforts with the West Susitna Road access for a number of reasons. First, currently the Borough is inadequately served by law enforcement, as well as road maintenance and adding another 100 miles of rural service area doesn't make sense. Secondly, adding easier access to rural mining claims only makes it easier for foreign entities the privilege of exporting our valuable resources overseas. Currently over 85% of Alaska's gold not only leaves the state but also the country. Alaska collectively receives very minimal royalties from mineral extraction as it is and this access road would only be selling out more of what little is left to mostly foreign entities. Third, we have an issue with rural trash and litter and there are remnants of all various types of mining infrastructure littered across the state from derelict buildings to broken down equipment, to illegal dams and everything else down to barrels and outhouses. Mining is invasive and to make it easier to mine makes it easier to compromise a healthy environment and waterways. Lastly, I've been recreational prospecting and mining for almost 30 years, mostly on the current road system in recreational areas open to the public, and have never been checked by law enforcement of the AK DNR who issues the permits...not once; not to check if I even had a permit, not to check on tailings leachate, not to check on boundaries...nothing, Alaska has no state mining law enforcement except the state troopers, again an already heavily taxed agency. Unless there is a guarantee all extracted resources are to stay in			Erik Anderson Redacted

169	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Design					I was just looking at your interactive map and it looks like you're going through Road Service Area 17 to connect to this road. Are you planning to reimburse the property owners of RSA 17? Are the property owners of RSA 17 going to be responsible for maintaining the road for mining trucks to go up and down? I support the project except for that. I live in Point MacKenzie, so I am concerned about that.	That's a great question, and I don't think we have the answer to that. We're so early in the project. 170	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Design					I think parking is an important issue, because parking then turns into a de facto trail head, and not only that but an unmanaged trailhead and that can cause pretty significant impacts to the resources, especially wetlands, especially in the summertime. I'm not really that concerned about the snow machines because they travel in the wintertime, but in the summertime ATVs would certainly go out there, and parking would concentrate the use. It would cause adverse impacts to wildlife. It would cause resource damage and unmanaged or substandard stream crossings and erosion. I haven't heard any talk about that, and I would like you to consider that. I think it's important. I think it has adverse impact on our salmon and other fish.	You bring up a good point about an unmanaged trail head. Managed access is critical to make sure the traffic doesn't go all over the place and that we manage our resources responsibly. The majority of properties are State land at this point. There definitely needs to be some strategy and planning done to determine whether there will be pullouts or not, and if there are other kind of impacts. Those are all big questions that get answered during the NEPA process. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			170

When someone finally does an economic analysis on this project they will see that this is a bad project for Alaska, culturally, historically, and economically. Fish and game populations would be drastically hurt by this road and the eventual access that would accompany it, that's why the Mat-Su fish and game AC is against it as well. The road would put animals on a drawing system which would close down non-resident hunting in the area and non-resident hunters pay for about 78% of fish and game budget. The road would ultimately cost Alaskans a lot of money to maintain with 156 river crossings and regular 2-3' snow dumps. 181	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					I own FishHound Expeditions. We bring hundreds of thousands of dollars to the State of Alaska and the Mat-Su Valley every year. And that's just my company. Hunting, fishing, and ecotourism generate millions of dollars for the state of Alaska, and that money stays in Alaska. It does not go to foreign mining companies and it benefits Alaskans whether that be restaurant owners, or others, everything stays in the State, and this needs to be looked at as a very serious threat to what we are doing. People come to Alaska because it is wild and roadless, putting a road across a 156 known water crossings will forever change our area. I think that really needs to be considered before moving ahead. It has been very clear that the public does not want this. Landowners do not want this and the public comment period needs to be extended and listened to, because most people in the valley don't even know that this is going on and this is a huge impact all of us that call Alaska and the Valley home.	People are starting to hear about the project now. As part of the outreach, we sent out over 13,000 postcards. There will be more opportunities to comment during the environmental process. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)		Adam; FishHound

As sportfishing business owners, outfitters, and organizations who are based or operating in the Matanuska-Susitna valley, we encourage the Borough Assembly to reject Resolution 21-134, which supports Phase 3 of the West Susitna Access Road, for the absence of public support and the lack of public and stakeholder engagement that was supposed to have already occurred. The sportfishing industry is a significant economic engine in the Mat-Su, providing employment opportunities for residents and direct contributions to the local and state-wide economy. The recent study conducted by Southwick Associates, on behalf of the Mat-Su Borough, found that the sportfishing industry contributed $57.4 million to the local economy in 2017 and supported 370 jobs. These are annual jobs and contributions that can be relied upon and can continue to grow, if we manage our fisheries and fish habitat appropriately. However, we have heard very little about the West Susitna Access Road. 1295	Email	3/31/22	No		Environment					We do not need another mine here in such a sensitive ecosystem with so many other valuable resources, people, and subsistence lifestyles that would be impacted. Our salmon are already under threat. There are roads all over the world and all of them "impact the environment" simply by existing. However, this road would lead to a mine, which would put a giant hole in the ground, and immensely impact the wildlife in the area and beyond. You mention 156 stream crossings. Well everything flows downstream. The direct area the road is in will not be the only area affected. No matter how "clean" or "beneficial" the mine would be, I have grown up in Alaska, visited the abandoned Hatcher mines, have seen the remnants of the mines in McCarthy. I just don't believe that once the mining is over the area will go back to normal. This far north, the regrowth and recovery of the environment, even after a four wheeler has driven over the tundra, takes years. A road and a mine and a timber area will create a scar that will not heal within yours or my lifetime, and probably not the lifetime of our grandchildren. What a legacy.				Hannah Pratt
1275	Email	3/30/22	No		Environment					These are my comments regarding the proposed West Susitna Access Road.  I came to Alaska many years ago for the vast wild, unspoiled wilderness. I now live in Talkeetna and have recreated in the West Susitna Valley for over 50 years. I have travelled throughout the area by dog team. It has been my backyard wilderness. I have visited Skwentna, Yentna, Trail Lake, Winter Lake, Lake Creek, Moose Creek, and points in between. I depend on the Susitna watershed for the fish that I eat. I value highly the wilderness character of West Susitna, its fish and wildlife, largely unspoiled rivers and lakes, wetlands, and forests. It is a place where subsistence living is still possible. There are many wilderness lodges, where visitors can observe and photograph wildlife, catch fish, and experience the wilderness. It supports hunting and fishing guiding and other outdoor recreation related businesses.  If industrial civilization comes to this place, these existing economies and wilderness values will be lost.  I oppose this West Susitna Access Road and ask that AIDEA end the project.  What's at stake is much more than a road; it is also all that a road will bring, such as Estelle mine, Donlin Mine pipeline, Susitna Valley Coal Road, Mat-Su development, timber harvest, and Dear Ms. Yehle and Mat-Su Borough. 1302	Email	3/31/22	No	Tribe	Environment					I have many concerns about this road, and particularly about the process that this project seems to be on towards approval.  Basic Information is missing: public road or private mining road? Downsides of a private mining road AIDEA (the project developers) have continually flip-flopped between whether this would be a private road, a public road, or a "mix". If it is a private road, it would be a road to a mining district which currently appears to have one interested mining developer. This appears to be a small junior exploration company that would need to attract a major -- a company that has actually built and run mines -- before any actual mines would go into operation. This means that any income or benefit to the state and borough would be years down the road, and could potentially never be seen. They would need to drill enough to show high enough grade and ore body extent to attract investors, then go through the permitting process, and meanwhile very likely have to fight off lawsuits, which could cause investors or "major" company partners to exit the project. As far as I can see, the ore in this area is mostly gold -- which we don't need -- or coal -- which we should actively avoid as we transition off of carbon-emitting fuels.  Building a private road now, for a project that is currently in such early stages of development, with potentially no benefit at the end, seems...at the very least...unwise. 922	Public Meeting 2	1:41:56	No		Environment					A hundred-mile road can never be undone. Crossing 156 streams into a wilderness area will forever impact this remote area and the aquatic species that depend on the ability to travel up and down stream unimpeded. Humans are the only species that degrade habitat in every part of the world they enter. In particular degraded habitat when exploring for oil, gas, and mining. All of which are for the benefit of the company(s) extracting the resource. Please recognize that Alaska has something that is unique. Please calculate how community members are benefiting from this wilderness before you sell it off to the latest bidder. The resources themselves need to be given a monetary value to Alaska and the future if they are left intact, in the land, within the living waters and tree's roots left in the ground as a comparative analysis. These resources are not just sitting there waiting for humans to extract them. These resources support habitats and complex ecosystems.				Meredith Babcock

Yes, I have read articles and seen references to it on certain government websites, but I honestly never thought it would become a reality because I wasn't made aware of the progress that has happened. Though I'm not surprised. Wherever there are natural resources there is greed and deception. This land and the water that runs through it are more precious than any fuel or minerals you can pull from the earth, AIDEA just cannot see it through this greed and deception. As a citizen of Alaska I stand with the many people who DO NOT want to see this area of vast beauty and biodiversity destroyed for the benefit of a few. When will they learn? When will enough money be enough? When every last corner of Alaska is "explored" and developed? When every last habitat is polluted with the waste and garbage of organizations like NOVA and AIDEA. A river watershed is too valuable of a thing to destroy. 180	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment					The proposed Little Susitna River crossing is located right on top of King Salmon spawning grounds.	One of the things that needs to be accounted for is obviously spawning grounds for salmon. So if somebody knows of a location where spawning is taking place, I would definitely get that comment into the Borough, into the Corps of Engineers, and into the Alaska Department of Natural Resources when the public comment periods are open for all those. Any activity below the ordinary high water mark of fish streams, whether anadromous or not, requires a fish habitat permit from Fish and Game. Culverts were mentioned earlier in the conversation today. It was spot on that Fish and Game has to permit the design of every fish crossing along the entire route, and they take that job			Miller's Riverboat Service - Ben Allen

1034	Email	12/4/21	No	Other	Environment					Alaska is the final frontier. No roads through important ecosystems should be developed for the small, immediate, and incremental economic gain. A road through the Matsu watershed would greatly damage and destroy sensitive habitat for one of Alaska's main economic contributors: fish and game. Destroying this sensitive ecosystem, much like the proposed road through the Izebek, would result in a ravaging ripple effect which will destroy the livelihood of commercial aspirations, and those of local and native inhabitants. Not to mention, the reduction of sensitive areas for successful salmon habitat. Every year, the state of Alaska has two announcements; the amount of the yearly oil profits for individual dividends, and the State of the Fish Report. If a road is developed through the Matsu watershed, that report, and the economic and personal benefits exhibited, may no longer exist. Please do the right thing, for yourself, your posterity, the vast amount of species which rely on these habitats, and the state of Alaska.				Noah Mabon

It was a great opportunity for the public to get informed on where the process is at right now and get the facts of the road. However, I think the only thing that the informational sessions made clear to me is that there are a lot of questions about this project that need to be answered before it is permitted. Where will the gravel for this road come from? Who will maintain the road? Who will have access to the road? How will the stream crossings be handled? How will erosion from this road impact local wildlife and fish habitat? Where will the tailings from this mine be stored? What will happen to the mine when it closes? Who will rehabilitate the landscape? These are all very important questions that I or others in those sessions asked only to be given watered down answers of "We aren't sure yet". I am fully opposed to the road being put in. I do not think that the short term job growth and economic gains that would result from this mine being put in outweigh the long term effects it would have on the environment and communities of the Susitna. I hope for the next public information session there are more answers and less questions.				Rachel Christensen Redacted

You will be impacting countless Fish and Wildlife populations. Is it worth it? How is this project any different from the MatSu Borough's ferry boondoggle, et. al.? More info on funds should certainly be a priority as this projected budget is WAY under reality! 1292	Email	3/31/22	No	Tribal	Environment					Ugheli Dzaen (Good Day),  Attached are comments from Chickaloon Village Traditional Council (CVTC) regarding the proposed development of the West Susitna Access Road.  Dear Ms. Yehle and Mr. Sworts: Chickaloon Native Village (CNV) is a federally-recognized Ahtna Dene Tribe in southcentral Alaska, governed by Chickaloon Village Traditional Council (CVTC). Dene ancestral territory includes much of southcentral Alaska including upper Cook Inlet and most of the Matanuska-Susitna Borough. CNV's traditional area of influence overlaps with neighboring Dene Tribes. Actions that occur within CNV's traditional ancestral territory impact our environment, Dene cultural resources, and the health of our Tribal citizens and community members.  CNV opposes the development of the West Susitna Access Road based on the probable negative impacts to cultural resources, traditional lifeway uses, fish and wildlife habitat, and economics.  Cultural and Traditional Use The West Susitna area is rich in cultural and ecological resources and has been stewarded by Ahtna and Dena'ina Dene (Peoples) for thousands of years. Streams in the area are home to multiple fish species. Just hearing the term "heavy industrial use" in regards to a wild area such as this with so many fragile wetlands and waterways makes me sad and I am certainly opposed to this road. 1229	Email	3/23/22	No		Environment					I'm writing to express that I am opposed to spending further public monies to advance the W Susitna Access road by AIDEA, the Mat-Su Borough, and the State of Alaska.  The proposed route crosses through thousands of acres of relatively undisturbed land, of which includes approximately 1,228 acres of high-value wetlands and water bodies. These wetlands and water bodies support a vibrant tourism and hunting and fishing industry. The wetlands and water bodies are a vital component of salmon habitat for the rivers and streams that feed Cook Inlet.  The proposed road runs generally east-west, perpendicular to the prevailing drainage patterns in the proposed project area. Not only will the road cross approximately 156 rivers and streams, but the massive industrial road will intersect sub-surface flow that supports adjacent wetlands and associated salmon habitat.  Recreational, guided, and commercial hunting and fishing in the MSB are proven, lucrative industries that directly and indirectly benefit the residents of the borough. Recreational fishing by residents and non-residents was estimated to generate $44.6 million in economic output, $14.3 million in labor incomes, and more than 470 jobs (MSB Fish and Wildlife Commission Agenda, Sep. 19, 2019). The Susitna River is the fourth largest king salmon run in Alaska. Commercial fishing in upper Cook Inlet is a vital industry. He owns a cabin on 8 Mile Lake, south of Skwentna. He thinks the road would ruin hunting and fishing and the mining companies should use helicopters.			Sincerely, Lorene Lynn Palmer, AK

184	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Environment Money Design					You lose me when you don't really have an understanding about whether this is public or this is a mining road. From the standpoint of a business owner and a person that lives out in that area, we've all moved into that area with full knowledge that we have to use an airplane or a boat to get to where we're going and you know that's really the heritage of the area. Sticking a road right through the middle of all of this rather pristine country would really be a shame. How are Alaskans going to be compensated for this road and how do the economics of this road work with a payback to Alaskans for financing this road for Nova Gold. One other question I have for AIDEA that I would really like to hear an answer to is years ago there was another alignment. If this gold mine is just so productive, and it's so important to Alaska, would it be possible to consider a different route, that would go out to Tyonek which is 30 miles shorter. It's all gravel in that area and has a lot less wetlands and salmon to disturb.	The 2014 Road to Resources Study took a look at different routes and really focused on a few to study. We honed it down to this route as the most direct and least impactful. Going to Tyonek presents some other challenges. There's a substantial amount of wetlands there. The proposed route was the most direct route to tie into existing infrastructure along the road system. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)		184

Although the history of our state includes resource extraction, the true nature and value of this land lies in its preservation. Opening up a road and mineral extraction does NOT benefit Alaska and Alaskans in the short or long term. Nova Minerals is a foreign company and regardless of the nationality of interested corporations, the financial benefits of resource extraction are not shared with Alaskans in any legitimate sense. In terms of access, so much of the public comment that I've heard was founded in concern over accessibility to wild lands. By adding a road, it negates this interest. The allure and value of Alaska is that is untouched and preserved. Coming to Alaska on a cruise ship is on so many Americans' life bucket list, and they never come close to taking advantage of the opportunities that Alaska residents have to experiencing true wilderness. Road access is the mainstay of the lower 48, and development of that kind of access kills the character of our state, which has been and must continue to be hard fought to maintain. The Matanuska Susitna Borough and the State of Alaska is once again in the process of throwing the residences finances down the drain. There is little to no Alaska public sediment for this project and yet big brothers are bound and determined to undermine the public resident sentiment. To my understanding, the State and Mat-Su Borough have teamed with Nova Minerals (not even an American company) to move this project forward. Nova Minerals is listed on the Grey Market Over the Counter market. It is a micro-Cap stock and has a Market Capitalization of $101M. If this company fails residents will again no doubt pay for it. This Grey Market Over the Counter exchange is extremely illiquid with the least number of regulations making this company a maximum high- risk adventure. This has all the merits and ideas of the. Mat-Su Borough high speed ferry, the de-funked Port Mackenzie and now the sale of the conveyer system there, the Railroad spur to (nowhere) that is now just a very long idel gravel pit to the Port, the Mat - Maid dairy business and farms. 890	Public Meeting 2		No		Feasibility					I didn't actually come with prepared comments but after listening to the comments it's incredibly apparent that this project has way too many holes in it. Right now the State of Alaska has multiple fisheries disaster declarations, we haven't been able to meet the Federal match for Pittman Roberson money to fund. I sincerely doubt that the money will be there from the state. If the road is ever open to public access, it will be easier access. It will not be better hunting and fishing. In response to Matanuska-Susitna Borough Resolution Serial No 21-134  Let me start by saying I have been a land owner in the Susitna Valley area for almost 40 years. I just recently I learned of this project.  As outlined by AIDEA. The resource development for the Mat Su Borough is defined as timber from the West Susitna Access Project. The infestation of the spruce bark beetle in Alaska since 2013 has devastated the timber in the Susitna Valley. Almost all of the trees are dead now. The only use for the timber is firewood. Timber is NOT a viable industry source in this area. The majority of the area outlined for this project is considered wetlands according to the Alaska wetland maps. The Mat Su Borough will not benefit from this project as outlined.				John Faeo
963	Public Meeting 2	2:45:50	No		Feasibility					After reviewing an overview of the proposed gas line for Barick There is no economic rationale for this road. There is still no independent economic analysis of the costs and benefits to the Mat-Su as recommended in Phase 1. Brad: Jesse, you might want to talk about how there's references to only one mine interested in the road. Can you talk about the others? Jesse: There's hard rock mining, timber, fishing, hunting, agriculture, oil and gas exploration, coal gasification. The way we looked at this road is that it will spur developments and create jobs through the state. Accessing stranded resources for the benefit of the Borough.			Paul Ferucci
1297	Email	3/31/22	No	Tribe	Feasibility					I am the President of Tal, Inc. and submit these comments on behalf of the corporation, which is composed of 18 shareholders who own a private lodge near the mouth of the Talachulitna River. Tal, Inc. opposes the proposed road. The proposed road alignment runs approximately a mile north of our lodge. The owners use the river and surrounding area for recreation, fishing, and hunting. There is no demonstrated feasibility for the road and there is a lack of any discussion on cost vs benefit. Construction of the proposed road would adversely impact our use of the area, as well as adversely impact environmental and social values in the area. Specific areas of concern include:  1. Increased traffic and hunting/fishing pressure, resulting in degradation of habitat and fish & game populations. 2. Potential for increased trespass and other crime. 3. Increased fire danger. 4. Alteration of wetlands and water resources causing harm to fish and game populations. 5. Noise impacts which degrade the wilderness aspects of the area.				Phil Santerre President, Tal, Inc.

1153	Email	2/23/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Feasibility					To the permitting agency Sirs: Succinctly and sincerely:  This is another rush job by the Dunleavy administration, for a project that scars the landscape, introduces suburbanites into areas they cannot understand or handle, and is mainly to benefit industries that cannot sustain themselves or clean up after the lode is gone. I thought Dunleavy was trying to decrease the budget. All this administration in doing is passing on the costs and consequences to the next administration that will finally put an end to the lunacy in December of this year. If you need more specifics: .Timber, agriculture, coal, and hard rock mining have been touted as justifications for this road. There has yet to be a compelling description as to how these various resources would help pay for the road or benefit Alaskans. .The road and cost estimates as presented by AIDEA are for a private industrial road. The public has been misled. .The Susitna bridge will not withstand the first five winters and breakups. I mined on the Chulitna River far smaller and farther upstream and we had to repair the bridge every summer. .Two open houses with no agenda and minimal information on how to participate is not adequate outreach. .Studies from Susitna-Watana Hydro Project and Donlin Natural Gas Pipeline studies are not a good fit for the challenges such as				Robert Vernon [Redacted]
1289	Email	3/31/22	No	Own developed property	Feasibility					Thank you for compiling these comments. I've worked on these projects in the past and know how much work it can be. Note that we've written several comments and have provided some bolded sections that may help if you need to summarize what is here.  To Whom It May Concern:  This letter provides comments based on the current status of the above referenced project. We appreciate the opportunity to offer these comments and request that you forward these comments in their entirety to all decision-makers for consideration.  We own a remote cabin property located on Homestead Creek in Sub-Unit 7 (Flathom Lake) of the Fish Creek Management Plan. Our property is in close proximity (approximately 1 mile) to the proposed road alignment. Our comments reflect our concerns that the project may not be economically viable and that there will be significant impacts to us, to other remote property owners along the alignment, and to the state.  I have spent much of my career as a civil engineer – now retired – planning resource development projects in Alaska. As such, I have some understanding of and support the idea that these types of projects can help to build and support our economy. However, many of these projects are either never built or are delayed for years because the economics are not sound or front-				Shawn Florio:

616	Online Survey 2	2022/03/19 12:18:08 PM PDT	No		high cost		high cost	No		The Mat-Su Borough is unable or unwilling to maintain existing roads and make them usable year round. For example, the simple expedient of using "gates" on snow plows to keep driveway access to roads open for emergency vehicles and getting to work on time is specifically not done. The Borough has wasted millions of dollars on projects that were not properly planned, such as the railroad bed to (almost) Pt. McKenzie, a Wasilla bypass that stops at KGB Road instead of bypassing Wasilla, a plethora of subsidized farms that haven't panned out, and the infamous ferry. All of these projects mostly benefited a few landowners and out-of-state based construction companies, such as Granite, but have done little for Alaskans. The West Susitna Road is another boondoggle that will benefit a few foreign or alien companies. It is already contemplated that public access will be denied, which will create enormous enforcement problems both by government and through private litigation and, practically speaking, public access will happen whether allowed or not. Take a look at the McKenzie railroad bed: it is used regularly by recreational vehicles. To be useful for a railroad, it will have to be substantially rebuilt. 187	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Lifestyle					This road and public access is going to change the way that many of us who have recreated out in this area, and possibly own land or cabins, or operate businesses, is going to change the way that the land is being used and while some people may see it as positive, there are a lot of us who are going to see it as very negative. This is going to run right through an area that I've enjoyed trapping in for the last 15 to 20 years. It's going to change the experience that I have in my cabin that I've built out there over time. You're going to probably hear that a lot from the private landowners out in this area because it is going to change what they've come to enjoy.				Carl Kenny

This road is going to change the way of life for so many people who choose to live or recreate remotely. The area that the bridge that is going across the river has been open to dip netting, and this bridge is going to affect the fishing. This area is only accessible by snow machine, boat, or plane right now and a road is going to change that completely. To say that there has been good outreach is NOT true. We received our first and only information on this project this month. The only way we knew about this project was by word of mouth from a fellow land owner. Not only will this change our way of life but the cost to maintain this road is going to be high. From a previous meeting in December, the public was told that the Borough is going to be responsible for maintaining up to the bridge; that is a huge undertaking. When are we going to know how this road and bridge is going to change our land taxes?				Rachael Rotondo

4	Online Survey 1	2022/02/09 9:20:44 AM AKST	No		Money				West Susitna access, broadly, would open this area for expansion of civilization and population growth. However, see my objections below.	The West Susitna Access Road, "as proposed", stinks of blatant corruption on the part of the Borough. Plans for the project are closely tied to the proposed Donlin gas pipeline, following its route for much of the road's length. While this is not in and of itself a problem, marketing material about the project is clear that the proposed road is intended for a specific purpose which serves Donlin's interests and very few if any others, and therefore must not be funded by taxpayers. Corporate and public interests need not be mutually exclusive, but of special concern with the Access Road is its eastern terminus and its heavy weight towards the corporate interest.  If private development is desired west of the Susitna, reasonable planners would connect the road where it would most directly access civilization. The most direct route from the proposed Susitna crossing to civilization would be via Big Lake (Susitna Pkwy) or Houston. This would incentivize Alaskans to settle west of the Susitna, potentially even those Alaskans who would fill jobs created by the mines.  The West Susitna Access Road as proposed connects instead to Ayrshire Road, providing inconvenient and indirect access for the public to the West Susitna area, but very convenient access for Donlin et al. from their mine to the white elephant Port Mackenzie that the Borough can't bring itself to take off life support. The impression given by these plans is that Donlin has convinced the	Interested person	99688	4

1214	Email	3/22/22	No		Money					I do not believe this project is a valuable use of Borough funds. The main purpose for the Borough to be interested is the development of property and an increase in the tax base. Both laudable interests.  It is inappropriate for the Borough to be subsidizing the businesses in that area. One would have to question why the Borough would not improve the existing roads in more efficient business locations. These roads they have already undertaken and are unable or unwilling to keep in good repair.  This road will be utilized by recreational interests if the road is officially open to the public or not. If you build it, it will get utilized. And yet, the Borough has no plan for how to maintain the road.  Much of this area is poorly suited for a road. There are numerous water crossings in fish rich areas. The negative impacts on the wildlife as well as the full year and part-time residents will be certain. I do not know if the road will be fully permitted as there are many obstacles among the "No, No Nannettes" of our community. I access my remote recreational property up the Hayes River where the West Susitna Access Road is proposed. I oppose construction of this road. 1. Alaska and Valley taxpayers should not be funding an expensive private road project for the benefit of a foreign company. Even if this were a public road, it is expensive and serves no purpose except for the mining company that wants it. It will ruin the remote quality of my property. 2. AIDEA is famous for throwing Alaska money away supporting private companies. No doubt these private companies are lining the pockets of elected officials but the people don't want it. 3. The Hayes and connected river systems are critical for salmon, other fisheries and wildlife areas that actual Alaskan people use recreationally and that is their best use and doesn't cost the public. 4. Mining is a disaster. Mining companies create waste, leave town, & the public pays for cleanup. 5. A bunch of black spruce and softwood trees is not a viable timber project. Fake justification. 6. 1206	Email	3/21/22	No		Money					I wish to submit several comments of significant concern, and therefore likely in opposition, regarding the proposed West Susitna Access Road. 1.I am deeply concerned about spending this sum of money on a road in the current economic setting. I think there are far more important roads (Ambler, Knik Arm Crossing) and projects worthy of consideration well ahead of this project if money were to be spent. 2.Without a road across the Knik Arm, this project would seem to be ill-informed. It will force even more traffic and concern through the KGB corridor, which is becoming ever more crowded and problematic. The area was popular because of its remoteness and limited access. This project will make it a large vehicle corridor, further exacerbating traffic, safety, and noise concerns for residents (of which I am one). The project, if ever undertaken, should be tied to a Knik Arm crossing, which should be completed first. 3.The road is primarily in support of industry. They should be the ones funding the project, not tax-payers, be it through the Federal government or the State of Alaska. 4.Many sensitive habitats and fisheries will be crossed by this road. It should never be public if developed, as the impact on returned a call to Bill. He said he talked to Brad already, but reiterated that the mining company should pay for the road themselves. The less roads, the better.				Ben Schoffmann

1212	Email	3/22/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Money					I am a property owner in the Matanuska Susitna Borough. Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the West Susitna Road Access Project (Project). For the reason discussed below, I currently oppose the Project as a yet unjustified expenditure of State and Borough resources. The State of Alaska and the Matanuska Susitna Borough have failed to perform a cost benefit analysis to determine whether the benefits from the Project outweigh the associated costs to and expenditures by the State and Borough. If not, the State and Borough are subsidizing private development at the cost of Alaskan and Borough residents without a commensurate return. The Project should not proceed until supporters demonstrate the benefits of the West Susitna Access Road (the Road) outweigh the costs to and for the State and Borough. Importantly, the State and the Borough have failed to require the private mining interest promoting the Project to demonstrate that its own private development plans are financially solid and will be profitable. To the extent that the State or Borough are relying on a private entity to develop, maintain and operate the Road, knowing that the proposed mining development will be profitable is critical to the State and Borough's decision making. Evidence exists that the mining development may not be profitable without State and Borough subsidy. AIDEA and the Borough have a history of investment in such private projects and the projects failing, leaving my wife and I live full-time near the proposed Susitna Access Road. We submitted previous testimony twice, recommending rejection of this project. In my opinion, as an MBA and licensed securities professional who has raised money for many private and public companies, Nova Minerals, an Australian company trading publicly under the ticker symbol of NVAAF, lacks the experience, finances and leadership to successfully develop the proposed gold mine. I do not understand how Nova passed due diligence with Alaska regulators. Operationally, it has never succeeded in commercializing any other similar mining project. Nova admits on its website that, "there is no certainty of eventual conversion to Ore Reserves or that the production target itself will be realized." Also, "there is a low level of geological confidence associated with Inferred Mineral Resources and there is no certainty that further exploration work will result in the determination of Indicated Mineral Resources or that the production target itself will be realized." Financially, market confidence is not built on this company.				Blythe Marston [redacted]

1111	Email	2/17/22	No	Other	Money					I oppose the State of Alaska, AIDEA or the Mat-Su Borough wasting public money on what is essentially a private road to benefit the officers, directors and shareholders of a foreign mining corporation. This is typical corporate Socialism that AIDEA and the Mat-Su Borough love to inflict on the Alaskan public. The only thing public about this project is that public funds are being used to benefit a private interest. The State, AIDEA and the Mat-SU Borough are battling well below .125 on these "build it and they will come" projects. The Agricultural Project, Port McKenzie, the fast Ferry, and the Railroad Spur to nowhere. "No taxation without representation." The Mat-Su Borough taxes remote land unfairly to pay for its schools, roads, fire protection and public safety, then cuts off people's access to their private property (that they created) by blocking trails with road improvements, railroad rights-of-way or rip-rap. I attended the "public hearings" on the railroad spur. It was very clear that the function of the "hearing" was window dressing so the State or the Borough could check the "public engagement box" on the environmental impact statement or some other regulatory requirement without paying one iota of attention to the public comments. The State has already pissed away more than 8.5 million dollars on planning, permitting and engineering that could have funded education in the Mat-Su Borough or the rest of Alaska to benefit the public interest. This is government by the corporations, of the corporations and for the corporations. Nova is not even an American multi-national corporation. This is really fraud and theft. What's new? 193	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Money					Why would you even be doing it if it's not going to be feasible or if you don't know if it will make money? Right now we don't even have enough money to pay for our government services, you're having to steal our pfd's every year, because you don't have any money for government services. And yet you're going to use all this kind of money to pay for a road that may or may not even be feasible. I'm a little irritated at the way that AIDEA's projects go. They general lose money for the State and we end up spending tons of money and then we don't have money for our basic services. It seems to me that the development should continue right now on a fly-in basis until you know that that it's really going to be worth it, and you can actually guarantee it. We should pay for our normal services first before we dole out all this money on wasted boondoggle projects. You just want to do it as some dream thing and then you lose money on it, and then we lose money on it, and then we don't have money for our normal services.	One thing that I wanted to highlight is the success of the Red Dog mine and the infrastructure that AIDEA invested in. It has provided returns to the State of Alaska, and for a number of years since the early '90s, and that gets paid back to the State via dividend. This is a similar type of project that could develop. We're still in the fact finding stage, and really trying to determine what this looks like. It's okay that we don't have all those answers just now, and I know that there are some anxious folks out there want us to have all the answers, but we don't, and we're really in this process trying to get smarter about this project, and make sure that it's going to be a good project for the Borough and for the public of Alaska. The state and local governments have a bad habit of funding projects that literally go nowhere. When I hear that "the funding source is yet to be determined" I'd pack up and head out the door. This is another "build it and they will come" fiasco. If I wanted a house built and the contractor gave me an estimate of between $300,000 and $400,000 I'd tell him to go pound sand. I don't believe the estimated cost of this project will be less than $400 million because I'm familiar with this country and the obstacles it presents to building anything. And what are the costs going to be to maintain it year round? When private industry can pay for this massive project then I'd reconsider my comments. In the meantime shelve this monster. This road is not in the interest of the citizens and taxpayers of the borough.  As a taxpayer I am concerned that we will be on the hook for maintenance and construction of this road in the future, a road which will have multiple bridges and numerous culverts.  This is a proposal for an industrial road that will be constructed and maintained with public funds, yet is built to benefit an international mining corporation, not the taxpayers of the borough. The road plans are even calling for this to be a private road, excluding us from using it. There is very little to no benefit to the taxpayers of this borough, yet plenty of potential costs and future liabilities.  This project appears to be similar to the "free" M/V Susitna Fe1Ty and the P01t MacKenzie rail spur, something that sounds great in the sales pitch but ends up costing millions for no results. The development of this road and mine will destroy many long standing lodges and fishing operations that attract those visitors wanting a remote Alaskan experience. It is an important part of Alaska tourism, people come here because it's the last frontier, we don't want to turn Alaska into the lower 48. This road is being built on behalf of the Wiskey Bravo mine and should not be at the expense of tax payers. Mining is almost 90% of the economic value of this road so what if the mine cannot be developed? An open pit mine several thousands of feet in the ground near the headwaters of the Skwentna river running into the Big Su &amp; Cook Inlet could have major Clean Water Act issues or other regulations that have come into effect since Pebble Mine, the price of gold could drop again on the mining companies could decide not to develop for whatever Ladies and Gentlemen,				Nic Cunningham Regal Air 4506 Lakeshore Dr. Anchorage, AK 99502

It was called the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project. If I recall correctly, the intent was to shorten the current rail route for moving minerals (Coal and other possible mineral finds) from the interior to the Port of Seward. Originally, The Matanuska-Borough (MSB) assembly had approved a rail route from Port MacKenzie to Willow. It was called the Willow Route. Someone decided that just one route was not sufficient enough for the public to make an informed decision. Because this was a route for a railroad. The National Surface Transportation Board (STB) had to become involved. (The STB was the only carryover after the U. S. Department of Commerce ended) After further reviews were concluded, three routes were selected - Willow, Big Lake, and Houston. New public meetings were held by the Borough and the STB. The STB would later issue a "think" until there are some clear costs and returns, this project should not go forward. As of now this is a very vague, speculative venture that no wise investor would want to jump on.				Pat Sharrock
856	Public Meeting 2		No		Money					As a remote land owner that will be directly affected by the proposed road, I am 100% OPPOSED to this project. The idea of spending state money and Matsu borough tax money to build a road that primarily benefits foreign mining companies is not a wise use of funds. Further, spending public funds to build what will be functionally a private mining road really makes me mad. I and my property will suffer all the negative impacts of this road with no potential benefit. I suffer a loss of value of my property and loss of quality of life, just so a foreign mining company can profit. I believe your cost estimates are overly optimistic and the ultimate build cost and maintenance will be unsustainable. The cost of the road will likely be in excess of 400 million dollars, with the ultimate goal of generating about 1500 jobs. The net investment then is over 14 million dollars for each job created. Your financial analyses paint a rosy picture of potential future tax incomes to the borough, but failed to include the annual costs for maintenance of this 100 miles of remote road. Further, your analysis fails to consider the LOSS OF JOBS in the tourism, fishing, guiding, flying industries that will result from the destruction of the remote character of this region. The jobs lost in this case are completely sustainable and do not deplete the resource. So in reality, your net gain in jobs will be way less than 1000 resulting in a much higher cost per job created. All in support of non-sustainable jobs with a relatively short time horizon. I think this represents a poor use of public funds.				Paul L. Flint

To my knowledge, this has not happened yet. A good example if the Red Dog Mine, Cominco probably would have developed that deposit even if AIDEA did NOT help with the road. It was a world class mine, and I'm sure there was a bankable feasibility study associated with it. Matsu does NOT have anywhere near such a project in the pipeline. I reviewed the published data on the prospect of the small Australian Junior Exploration Company (with a name similar to Nova Gold) that had signed an MOU with the Matsu Borough to construct the WSAR. They only had some soil samples and rock chip samples, and NO drill holes. I order to have a bankable feasibility study, that Australian company would need at least a hundred drill holes and a resource estimate; they were no where near that. When the Matsu government alludes to "untold riches" and I am glad you are asking opinions, and not just going blindly forward. Reading the funding alone makes me KNOW this is a VERY BAD IDEA. Next 156 KNOWN WATER CROSSING, habitat interferences, permits state, federal etc The road appears to be ONLY helping Yentna Mining District. People live and adventure in this area, being LESS accessible is the whole idea. Whose idea was this? It sounds very UN-ALASKAN from the get go.				Steven F. 1245	Email	3/27/22	No	Tribal	Money					Please stop all efforts to build the proposed West Susitna Access Road. It is a mistake. And it is a classic mistake that has been made in Alaska many times before. A definition of insanity is: doing the same thing multiple times and expecting different outcomes. This principle of insanity has been proven by the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and AIDEA many times before. Mega-project after mega-project have failed because the MSB and AIDEA put the 'cart before the horse'. They committed to massive projects without having the economic justification for the projects in place. The MSB and AIDEA's record of economic insanity is horrendous: Pt. Mackenzie dairy farms were built without a market for the milk. A ferry was built with no port for it to dock at in Anchorage. A port facility that was built when there were hardly any customers or need for it. Money was poured into studies for a Knik Arm bridge that made no economic sense. The same with the proposed Susitna River dam. A Houston to Pt. Mackenzie rail spur was constructed without a justifiable reason for it. Billions of dollars in federal, state and taxpayer money were corruptly squandered on these ill-conceived projects. And now the MSB and AIDEA want to do it all again? Another mega-project without a good reason for doing it? This is criminal. The proposed West Susitna Access Road is a very speculative venture. We have now realized how much biodiversity is needed to ensure our survival, and at a time when most of the world is trying to repair the damage caused by decades of overdevelopment, the degradation of an area like the remote matsu valley is the last thing that should be happening, especially for no other reason than needless greed. With the report stating an Opinion of Probable Capital Cost (OPCC) of $356,900,000, AIDEA's Jesse Peterson quotes a base design road width of 28 feet during MSB public meeting, and WSAR documents list an approximate 100 mile length, our questions I hope you are doing well and that you've not sustained damage from the recent wind events.				Norm Lawler

216	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	No		Process					This road proposal is being treated as a stand-alone action, when in fact it is a keystone to numerous proposals (gas line to Donlin, coal bed methane, timber harvest) that would affect a very large undeveloped region. The first and foremost step is to review the Susitna Area Plan in a thorough and transparent process that allows the public to determine the collective beneficial or negative effects of these collective projects that will radically change this region. STOP the road process until all of the regional reviews have been done.	In response to Tom Rothe, the NEPA process requires a cumulative effects analysis, which considers past, present, and reasonably foreseeable future projects/activities and their potential cumulative effects with AIDEA's proposed action. That analysis would be disclosed in the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS). Also, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will offer public notice and commenting periods following receipt of AIDEA's 404 permit application and publication of the Draft EIS. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)			Tom Rothe

1282	Email	3/31/22	No		Public opinion					I am writing to express my opposition to the West Susitna Industrial Access Road.  There are numerous reasons why I believe the risks of this project outweigh any possible rewards to the borough and borough residents but out of respect for your time I will keep my comments limited to 3 points.  1.The road as proposed is slated to be public only to the Susitna. All of the cost estimates AIDEA has presented are for a private industrial road. Why should AK residents and US citizens pay to develop a road for a foreign company?  2.An independent economic analysis of the costs and benefits to the Mat-Su was recommended back well before this phase of the process. It has still not been undertaken. If AIDEA has nothing to hide and truly believes this will be a benefit to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and borough residents then certainly they wouldn't have any problem with an independent assessment being completed before going forward with the project. This is simply a good business practice. A means of protecting public tax dollars - something that I think we can all agree needs to be taken seriously.  3.The overwhelming majority of the individuals that I have heard provide testimony on this project live and/or make their livings in. Many many concerns regarding the road's construction, numerous water crossings, etc. If the road is mainly being considered for responsible resource development, that is one thing. But if opened to public use it would negatively affect the landscape, the wildlife, and the residents of the area.			Talon Boeve Willow AK

1201	Email	3/21/22	No	Own developed property	Public vs private					My name is Fred A Bacon a lifelong resident born 4-26-59, I am an at large stockholder in Cook Inlet Region Inc. and a retired heavy equipment operator with 30 years of service out of the I.U.O.E Local 302, plus I am trustee of the family property on Flatthom Lake(tax acct ID # 5637500L006). I have made a living out of building roads to make our state a safer place to drive and bring our natural resources to market. So I have seen what new roads can bring for better or for worse. As for the proposed West Susitna Access Road project, I am against it in more ways than one. First,the company wanting to open the mines at the end of the road are a foreign company that will take all the profits out of state and country, and not benefit our economy in the long run. Second,if such a road was to be built it shouldn't be "PRIVATE", it should be open to the public use since it is going across public land and not run by a foreign company for its own profits. Sooner or later that state land will be opened up that's not what I'm opposed to,What I'm opposed to is how that land is developed for the people of the State of Alaska, or for a foreign company after the gold in the ground! What about the future generations that will deal with whatever the foreign company leaves behind? So in my personal opinion if the road project is not a public use DOT safe roadway it should not be built period!			Fred A Bacon P.O. Redacted home # Redacted email: Redacted

1272	Email	3/30/22	No		Public vs private					As a Mat-Su Borough taxpayer, let our voice be heard... If my tax dollars are going to help build a road, it had better be one that EVERY TAXPAYER in this Borough can use, NOT "strictly industrial". If the State of Alaska is paying for it, then every resident of Alaska should have access. We are tired of putting our local taxes into things that we cannot or do not use, and the same goes for State funded uses. We are not ready to stand by and watch as those with "industrial" usage stickers take advantage of all that a road like this has to offer while those of us who help pay for the road are locked out.  And why is there already an "upcoming environmental permitting process" if it has not yet been established that a road will be built in the first place?			Randy and Kelley Poppert Redacted

My concern is that this project will obligate AIDEA funds and focus on more important economic development opportunities. My perception from news is that that is nothing by a political project that opens up hunting access for Matsu residents and gains conservative votes in an election year. I have not seen any mining or energy access projects that are of a scale that need this project and would be able to pay road toll such as the Ambler or Red Dog projects. Surely the AIDEA can come up with many other better projects that could use the money. Heck, I'd even support building some of the railroad to Canada rather than a road to new moose hunting grounds.	As you go through the planning, I'd suggest an economic development plan be developed that looks at how the project could help stimulate new Alaska industry and opportunity during construction; and economic and community development projects after the project is done. If we are going to have a road to nowhere, might as well plan on investing some money in a legacy benefit beyond the short term construction spending. (Remember the Whittier tunnel project that failed to consider the infrastructure and economic opportunity after the project was completed..lets not do that again!) at least make sure there is a parking lot and toilet included at the end of the project. Our salmon are already under threat. There are roads all over the world and all of them impact the environment simply by existing. However, this road would lead to a mine, which would put a giant hole in the ground, and immensely impact the wildlife in the area and beyond. You mention 156 stream crossings. Well everything flows downstream. The direct area the road is in will not be the only area affected. No matter how clean, or beneficial, the mine would be, I have grown up in Alaska, visited the abandoned Hatcher mines, have seen the remnants of the mines in McCarthy. I just don't believe that once the mining is over the area will go back to normal. This far north, the regrowth and recovery of the environment, even after a four wheeler has driven over the tundra, takes years. A road and a mine and a timber area will create a scar that will not heal within yours or my lifetime, and probably not the lifetime of our grandchildren. What a legacy.		Interested person	99508	823

1300	Email	3/31/22	No		Wilderness					I am writing to express opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road. There is no reason that the State of Alaska or the Mat Su Borough should be paying for an incredibly expensive mining road that will benefit an Australian mining company. Additionally, the road passes through sensitive wilderness and fish habitat that should be protected. I am strongly opposed to this project. 1131	Email	2/22/22	No	Own developed property	Wilderness					My Name is Christopher DeHart, and I am writing in regards to the proposed West Susitna Road access. My Wife, Angela and I Own Property on Deer Lake. We have invested to Date over $100,000.00 building a very nice Cabin with out buildings on a secluded Lake. This proposed road would travel approx. 200-300 Yards behind our property, and having it there would kill any seclusion that we may have. In our opinion it would completely Destroy everything about this property that we hold dear. We chose to buy and build in this location due to distance that you have to travel to get there. It is on the outer reaches of what can be feasibly reached via boat and snow machine. This road would usher in people, truck traffic and may other items that we do not want in our back yard.  It is hard to understand how we can invest all of this time and effort into something that we hold dear just to have the State come in a take away the seclusion that we hold on too. I for one am very gained this as I see that there is no up side to it but only an expense to the state. Nothing good will come of this road for the people that own property out there. 1046	Email	12/18/21	No	Business	Wilderness					Good morning, I am writing in regards to the upcoming meeting for approval of this road access project. I am a life long Alaskan who loves Alaska and the great outdoors. My parents own The Penins Rainy Pass Lodge where I spent my my childhood and where I am a hunting guide. This lodge is the oldest hunting lodge in Alaska, established in 1937. My parents have owned the lodge since 2003 and we have worked to conserve the area and keep this way of life for generations to come. I frequently love riding my snowmachine to the lodge which is 140 miles through the Skwetha river system. Along the way, there are hundreds of people who enjoy the same way of life and live out there because 300000 other people don't. The impact of building a road through this beautiful country would not only devastate the wilderness we as Alaskans hold so dear, it would ruin the economy of so many businesses and families. This road would effectively put an 85 year old lodge that pilots, hunters and families depend on out of business. There has not been enough research to account for the damages it would create to the environment, wildlife and cost to the state for maintenance. This is a mine that I have worked closely with and also helped develop when I worked for Kiska Metals. My family has always worked closely with all the previous owners of this mine and we have always compromised and collaborated to create the best outcome for all parties involved. In Closing, I ask you to consider denying final approval of this road project until all impacts have been fully studied and accounted for. He owns property on Deer Lake at the base of Mt. Susitna. It would destroy the whole area. The purpose of the location is to be remote. Route the road further north if it has to be built.				Colton Perms

1167	Email	2/25/22	No		Wilderness					I'm writing this on behalf of myself an Alaska resident. I oppose the West Susitna road project. This looks like a road to nowhere without any direct benefit. It does not link a major population center to the road system or is there any clear project in mind. It looks like it just going to be a huge eyesore cutting through untouched wilderness. I love Alaska because it is mostly untouched wilderness and I think many Alaskans want to preserve our wilderness for future generations and reduce urban sprawl.				Daniel Parks

1073	Email	2/13/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Wilderness					We have been property owners in the Yentna River area for 34 years and we are very opposed to the building of the West Susitna Access Road. When one buys property in this area, they are not just buying a physical piece of property, but a lifestyle, the core of which is wilderness, away from any road system. If a road was built, it would destroy this lifestyle for many, taking away the reason that they purchased their properties in the first place. If a road was built, crime would increase, wildlife and fishing habitat would suffer. Fishing would change with the river crossings. Freighters, lodge owners, and wilderness guides would be put out of business. And how many jobs would you add, and what would the jobs be? And would they even be Alaskans? There would be no logging in the area, as most trees are already dead from beetle kill; there is not a sustainable forest in this area currently or in the foreseeable future. Why are public funds being used to enrich a private company? Corporate greed? What is the connection between the owners of this company and employees of the State in a decision making position? You don't have the funds to build this road, and if you are serious about this, the funds should be identified before you even start the permitting process. This is a waste of public money that could be used in a much more beneficial manner. To				Dawayne and Chris Anderson

I write to you now to bring attention to our concerns for this proposal. We have been operating our Lodge since 1988. Every year we bring approximately one hundred European guests to our lodge, for a remote fishing experience/trip. We are a small family-operated business and the impact of this Road proposal will have a detrimental affect on our ongoing business. My understanding of the plan for the proposed road, is that it would go right past our remote lodge on Seven Mile Lake. Environmentally this will have a negative effect on the pristine wilderness and have a negative response from our European guests in the future. We are deeply concerned of the devastating outcome that this proposed road will have on our family business in the future. After 33 years in the business, I am strongly against this Road proposal.				Erich, Lynne & Ashley Napflin Moosehorn Lodge Seven Mile Lake Alaska
1166	Email	2/25/22	No	Business	Wilderness					To whom it may concern. My name is Evan Druce a resident of Wasilla and Alexander creek. Opposition against the road project has been pretty prevalent among the community not only in city limits but mostly permanent and part time residents that live west of the big susitna river. I share many of the same concerns these folks do. It is of my opinion the west susitna access road will be detrimental to the area and is not a need as much as it is a want of convenience to the mining companies. My family and I rely on the remoteness west of the susitna river for hunting and fishing opportunities. Between the land that I own and land leased from the state of alaska our family operates a remote cabin rental / recreational business. For obvious reasons if there were to be road access to those locations it would simply defeat the purpose of the business re shaping the experience and model our clients rely on. Many other lodges and air taxi services stand to loose business as well from hunting and fishing clients, there's with good reason no one books a hunting trip on the outskirts of wasilla city limits. The state of Alaska has put an immense amount of work trying to restore the fish population specifically in Alexander creek which this road system I believe will undo. There's to many regions in the state suffering from over pressure and reshaping of water streams for roads as is. Why do the mining companies not need a road? The oil and gas industry has proven for well over 40 years now both in the Cook inlet and North Slope major resource development can be achieved by temporary water roads, barges, and aircraft services. This mine is no destroy more wilderness, more rural lifestyles for the short term profits of a couple corporations? oh hell no				Evan druce

1287	Email	3/31/22	No		Wilderness					We strongly oppose the project. We see absolutely no focus on assessing the permanent impacts of such a project on the sensitive wetlands. The project is focused only on a (short-term) economic assessment. We'd like to know how much money the companies will make at the expense of Alaska's wildlands, its citizens, and its resources. We'd like to know how this project will forever change a wild area so close to Anchorage and Wasilla, and how any of that destruction is worth the relative pittance Alaska will receive in the short run. Any claim that the project will "open" up recreation areas for Alaska's residents, is baseless. Opening up recreation is not the goal. Stop pretending that it is. Mining is the only goal. We access our private property in the target area, as do many people. We also know many people who are not local landowners but who venture out to the target area for various recreational activities. The target area has a strong, vibrant history of year-round recreation. We seek the area precisely because there are no roads and because it is a stellar wild area, quintessentially Alaskan, and close to the urban centers. A plan to introduce roads and to mine in the target area is not development. It is not beneficial or best use of sensitive wildlands. The project is not undertaken with the interests of Alaska citizens in mind. It is ultimately destructive, and undermines the efforts of Alaska to preserve its Big Wild Life and enhance its tourism economy. The Duglavy administration, the Matanuska Susitna Borough. We live in Skwentna. We love living there and being part of the close-knit, quirky, quaint and slightly eccentric river community along the Yenitna. It's unique, it's one of the very last pioneer, off-grid communities in the US. It's special! A road will irrevocably change the the character of the area and begin the process of making the valley just another part of the road network, festooned with housing subdivisions and businesses. A part of the nation's history will be swallowed up and lost forever. We are writing to object, even though we know perfectly well that it won't change anything. When all's said and done, money will talk loudest ... It always does. We've all seen the Hallmark movies where the "bad guys" come from the big city, intent on bringing development that will make them big bucks. There's always one local "Mr Big" who sees the dollar signs and tries to persuade his neighbors that the new development will benefit them. By the end of the movie, the "bad guy" from the big city realizes how special the community is and what would be lost if the development went ahead. His local accomplice gets his comeuppance and everyone else lives happily ever after.				Lisa Rosano

1222	Email	3/23/22	No		Wilderness					I think there should not be a road it's all about the money and you would ruin the wilderness! The cabins throughout the valley that are out there will now be broken into because of easy access and the authorities won't do anything about it. Please leave it a wilderness area. A lot of the lodges and flying businesses will be hurt. Right now it's accessed by Riverboats, floatplanes, and wheel planes, and snowmachine's in the winter, and I feel it should be left at that. 1177	Email	3/2/22	No		Wilderness					I want to make clear my opposition to the proposed West Susitna Access Road.  I am employed by the state's resource industry, so I value the good jobs provided by mining, oil, and other resource industries in Alaska. I am also a life-long Alaskan for more than 40 years and greatly value the wilderness recreational opportunities offered in Alaska. Constructing the West Susitna Access Road would permanently impair the significant recreational opportunities that depend on roadless wilderness in the area of the proposed project. Those activities provide significant economic and cultural value that cannot be replaced. For almost 20 years, I have hunted in areas that will be negatively affected if this road is built (including the mountains of the Alaska Range near the Sverknna River). Those wilderness hunting opportunities will be forever lost if this road is built. That would result in a loss of valuable wildlife resources and hunting opportunities for future generations of Alaskans. I strongly oppose construction of the West Susitna Access Road.				Scott Collins Anchorage, Alaska
1144	Email	2/23/22	No		Wilderness					I would like to file my opposition to the West Susitna Access Road. There is many reasons that this project should not go forward. This area is a wilderness area that is used as recreation by thousands of people. It would destroy a way of life for people that have carved out a home and a place to live. If the people that have bought their land from the state and built cabins would have wanted a road close to their cabin, then they would have bought on the road system me included. Also, the people that have their entire lifes saving invested in the different business. This road would render their business worthless. It will destroy more lives than what the state thinks that they will gain. I could go on all day and night, but I have stated my total opposition to this project in any form.				Wayne Bowman

One of the biggest assets Alaska has its ability to entice people to invest time, money, and energy in the wilderness, invest for travel, fish, build cabins, hunt, snow machine, and that is its own economic development for Alaska that is renewable and lasts for ever. A road will take that opportunity away for ever.	This project has not reached out to the public, has not adequately asked for input or responded to the input given. Effectively the State of Alaska is investing in a road and project that may or may not provide benefit to Alaska. The only thing that is happening right now is that the investment in time, money, phases and studies it to raise the stock value of non Alaskan mining companies who may or may not ever return anything to Alaska. AIDEA and the State should first be required to do independent feasibility and cost benefit studies for the State of Alaska.		Interested person	99517	2

The tourism industry in the MatSu Valley and Alaska as a whole would be hit with a black eye. The most sustainable profitable resource in Alaska is tourism. People visit Alaska for its wilderness and raw beauty, not to fly over industrial roads, pipelines and gas fields. This is not just about one road, but the key to a pandora's box of development that will leave an irreparable scar to the landscape. Not to mention a domino effect of environmental concerns.	This project is being pushed against the will of the majority. Alaska as a whole does not benefit from this project. If built, 50 years from now this project will be regretted. 8	Online Survey 1	2022/02/11 2:28:32 PM AKST	No		Wilderness preservation				The west Su access road is an absolute horrible idea for those of us who call Alaska home. The proposed road would directly impact my life and livelihood. I am one of the largest fly fishing outfitters in the area and my business brings hundreds of thousands of dollars each year to the state of Alaska and the Mat Su Valley. This money brought EACH year is sustainable and directly helps local businesses and families. This proposal is also bad for the state as tourism generates millions of dollars for the state and if we ruin it tourists will choose to travel elsewhere.	This proposal is so single minded and will only benefit a very small amount of people and will hurt many, many more. Not only is this bad for Alaskans it is bad for Alaska itself. The proposed areas are environmentally sensitive and the construction of this road will forever harm this area. These areas need to remain roadless.		Work	99688	8

From what I understand, the road might possibly lead to tax revenue for the State, but would be of little benefit to residents otherwise, and would be detrimental to residents and businesses in the area. Basically, an Australian mining company gets a private road.	The interests of Alaskan-owned businesses, even small ones, should be prioritized over international resource extraction. Remote lodges will only become more rare and valuable - wild areas are a forever resource if they are cared for, while mining provides some local jobs and revenue for a generation or two, and a whole bunch of money for some CEO in a far-off country. 20	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 9:03:05 PM AKST	No	Business	Wilderness preservation				I currently am a new business owner running Remote Cabin Rentals of Alaska. I have both private property and state leased land with cabins. It would be difficult to run a remote business on the roads system as the plotted road would run through multiple parcels I occupy in the Alexander creek basin. My family depends on the remote hunting and fishing opportunities in those areas to provide food for the long Alaska winters. As far as the state of Alaska is concerned you would still profit from the mines without a permanent road, between winter trails and barges the beluga oil field has been very successful for the last 60 years. This is another pipe dream road on the backs of tax payers that would have crippling effects on an already strained salmon run over multiple rivers. Listen to the public and look to other opportunities.	N/A		Work	99654	20
886	Public Meeting 2	1:05:43	No		Wilderness preservation					So, in general in the West Susitna valley, there is no protection for any natural resources (fish, wildlife, critical habitat, riparian areas etc.) other than the current Recreational Rivers Plan, correct? And the Rec. Rivers Plan is currently under evaluation and likely will be amended to allow for future development in/around/through these rivers?	Camden: I don't believe that is the case. Kyle, can you speak to that? Kyle: The rivers plan is a planning document from DNR from 1991 and it is still in effect today. It is on our website. There are specific unit policies defined in that plan and the units are roughly defined through ecological functionality and processes within the area of the region. And those policies set guidelines for future permitting decisions by the DNR. And then we consult with Fish and Game as well. So those are management policies that inform DNR so the conditions are actually placed on the project. So DNR has the ability to deny or approve an application with or without conditions. My point is I understand that people want access to this land but we chose to fly out there or snow machine out there away from the road system. We didn't go to Talkeetna. We chose the mosquitoes. There will be a complete dust bowl. There's going to be trucks with Jake brakes. It's going to ruin the whole wilderness. 1018	Public Meeting 2	3:33:48	No		Wilderness preservation					I own property out there. I am opposed to this road. We all know that a road makes the destruction of the land and living animals so much faster. As soon as making money is based on activities other than the appreciation of the wilderness and its sustainable use, the sooner the land will be destroyed. No one benefits when land that is only sustainable in its most natural state is opened up for exploitation. The gains are short lived and benefit only few with such use. It should be apparent that we are on the brink of disaster environmentally. Why are we even thinking about land uses that are so destructive?			Own undeveloped property		steph:

941	Public Meeting 2	2:08:22	No		Wilderness preservation					There tax-paying people who are creating jobs and industry in the West Susitna region and have been doing so for decades. These are "sustainable jobs" driven by tourism. Tourism creates big money and you don't have to "harvest the resources" nor displace anything. The tourism in the area exists because of wilderness. Mining, gas and industrialization would displace tourism in the West Susitna. We don't need a road, nor state-funded industrial projects to create jobs and value for Alaska.					WPL:

I've spent a fair amount of time in the region that the proposed road will be cutting through over the years and just last year purchased a few remote acres for the purpose of building a place to get away from anywhere with road access and the people/tourists that come along with it. The parcel is on a small lake that keeps most of the guided flight services away from the immediate area due to its difficulty for landings/takeoffs. The proposed road almost cuts right through my parcel off of the north tip of Beluga mountain. This means that if the proposition goes through I've just wasted my money and time. Plainly put this road is a bad idea that will open up yet another area to further unneeded exploitation. While I know the remote Matsu region gets a heavy amount of recreational services like guided hunting, fishing, etc..., the splendor of it to me and I think so many others is that the only ways to get into it were plane, boat, or snowmobile. Access is easy for those who want to be there. We do not want the road.	The idea that this road will create access is the tip of the spear for those in favor of this project. This is a terrible lead point given the fact that the access already exists. The residents and users of this area access it year round via boat, snowmobile, airplane, ATV you name it. A boat to run that river can be had for substantially cheaper than the price of a new vehicle today. Access is there for users who want to be there, it is also there for industry. Many conduct business on that watershed myself included and have never needed the aid of a road.  Recreation is being sold as another driver for the project. Anyone who is remotely familiar with the area is well aware that the hunting and fishing recourses have been on the decline for some years now. Any user who thinks they will be walking into prime hunting and fishing areas will be gravely disappointed and the added pressure will only deplete these resources further. There have been expensive efforts to bring the fish runs back to what they once were especially at Alexander creek, what would building a road, with bridges and water crossings into that area say about the continued effort of salmon restoration in the area? Unavoidably, creating effortless access would increase poaching not only for fish, but wildlife also.  I have heard claims of the road being an avenue for land sales that the state would profit from. As far as the "devastating" concerns of wilderness lodge owners...with all due respect, acknowledging my lack of business ownership experience and that I speak broadly of an industry with which I am not familiar, there is a process called creative destruction as things move forward. It's the idea that some of the past needs to be let go of to create resources for the future (e.g. the astonishing volume of labor and money that is poured like an IV into the vegetative phone book business, knowing full well 90% of people throw them straight into the trash (and the rest keep them for kindling!) this is finances and labor not being used in areas that need laborers and is not being applied to moving forward, say in the tech sector, but is actually a dead weight on us. 276	Online Survey 1	2022/02/23 11:49:11 AM PST	No	Live there					The West Susitna Access Road would have a hugely negative impact on my community. Indigenous groups, hunting and fishing guides, lodge owners, and people living in the area have expressed concern for the impact of this road and AIDEA has not listened.	The borough doesn't have the resources to properly manage this area and keep the community safe if the road goes in.		Live	99645	276
277	Online Survey 1	2022/02/23 3:00:02 PM PST	No	Live there					We (Bryan and Laura Emerson) are full-time homesteaders at Trail Lake, near which the Susitna Access Road will likely pass if approved and we are concerned about how it might negatively affect our quality of life and that of the wildlife that lives in and migrates through this region.	We are full-time residents of Trail Lake near the base of Mt. Little Susitna in Fish and Game Zone 16B. We have owned our property since 2007. We vote and we pay property taxes.  The West Susitna Access Road is expected to pass close to our quiet, remote property. We are concerned about a decrease in property values and the quietude, attractive views, and wild animal sightings for which we bought this property and spent over a decade developing it into a home where we forage, hunt, fish, and raise many of our foods and resources.  Based on the results of mining developments and roads in other remote parts of Alaska, we are logically alarmed by the possibility of increases in noise, erosion, pollution, invasive species, and road access for illegal human activities that have occurred elsewhere. For example, we hope that if this project starts or finishes, it will not repeat the polluting tailings of a mine on Jonesville Road, the murder victim dumping on Jim Creek, and the many, many neglected cleanups after a company moved on to the next, new parcel. We have a cabin in the area and are concerned that the access from the road will bring in more people. We are also very concerned about the environmental impact of building the roads, especially crossing the wetlands and rivers.	We love the wildness of AK and don't like the idea of more and more people coming into our remote area. We see the project as short sighted. Copper would seem to be the most intriguing resource in the area. Coal is a dying/dirty fuel. Our world is changing fast and the amount of investment this road would take doesn't seem like it would be worth large investment it would take. Businesses like ours bring outside money into the State, a foreign mining company will take their money out of country.	This project will destroy what Alaska is all about, its culture, its way of life, the reason why people come to Alaska, it will start turning Alaska into the lower 48. Tourism is our 2nd largest industry and people come here because it's remote and wild. The Susitna Valley is very important to many lodges, fishing guides, charter services and recreators. A road through that area will have tremendous impact in a negative way to all those stakeholders. A 100 mile road with 156 river crossings and common 2-3' snow dumps will cost a fortune to maintain and it will ultimately be put on the backs of tax payers to pay for that. Hard rock mining is the only possible viable economic reason for this road but there are other ways to extract their minerals. There is currently only 1 exploration company in operation at the end of the road and they have never developed a mine, if they decide not to develop or sell out like all the other companies have done since the 1970's, then we have a huge economic burden with many long-standing businesses put out of work. 291	Online Survey 1	2022/02/24 11:18:59 AM PST	No						As a property owner in the Mat-Su, I strongly urge the borough to reconsider advancing the West-Su road project. This road has the potential to significantly degrade the world-class fishing and recreation opportunities that draw people to the valley in the first place and contribute millions to the local economy. The potential economic benefits of the road have not been researched enough to rationalize the state spending over $350 million on project, let alone the vast ecological cost. 303	Online Survey 1	2022/03/02 3:36:33 PM PST	No						I believe it would negatively affect fish, and particularly for my friends and I, affect Fish Creek and the Little Su.	I love long, mostly empty roads. But these need to be few and far between in Alaska. We need to preserve areas where people have already carved out businesses that depend on remoteness and wildness - there aren't many of these left in the US, and it cannot be re-created once paved over and divided into farms and suburbs.  We need to understand the habitat corridors that animals and birds will need as climate affects their current habitat, both up here and, for migratory species, in other parts of the world.  It would be better for roads to extend slowly, a dozen miles or so at a time and in ways that grow organically out of communities than to create grand long very expensive roads and bridges to projects known for volatility, like "potential" mines.  I am against this project because it is not coming organically out of community need, but out of a central government vision, which is frankly little different than the way some communist government would operate. I am also against this project because there are always negative impacts to wildlife and fish habitat, regardless of mitigation (and later, inevitable remediation) work. I am especially against this project if the road is to be a public road, with no control over the off-road vehicles that will then access the area.			Play	99674	303

318	Online Survey 1	2022/03/11 11:22:23 AM PST	No						This proposed road would degrade a pristine area that many Alaskans already use and access through a variety of means. Both powered and non-powered means of transportation can be used to access this wild area currently during the both the summer and winter.  The cost of building and maintaining this road appears to fall mostly on the public sector and as a resident of Alaska for 22 years, I do not need another bump in my property taxes to allow for even more. Alaskans can have partial access to even more of Alaska to go drive their trucks, four wheelers, and snow machines all over the place from a more remote starting point just to shoot and trap things and generally run amok.  I see what may eventually happen to this area once, and if, full access is granted is that it will mirror the Petersville Road area or the Denali Highway area. While both these areas are still unique and retain a certain aspect of their wilderness, at times the year each is over run by thousands of motorized outdoor enthusiasts who trash the land. Many of these visitors harass, run off, or kill the wildlife for a variety of legal and non-legal reasons. The detritus and muddy, rutted trails they leave being further degrade the land and deeply extend their reach into the wilderness that make Alaska a special place.  While State income revenue will benefit to some degree from this, my tax dollars will be used to pay for this fiasco.			Play	99577	318

322	Online Survey 1	2022/03/14 2:42:41 PM PDT	No						The development of this road is completely irresponsible, from start to finish. Not only would this construction disrupt an area with highly valuable recreation opportunities that boost the tourist economy within the state, but most importantly, the construction of this road and the resource development that would follow would be irreversibly damaging to a vast ecosystem that supports abundant terrestrial wildlife and all 5 species of Pacific salmon. Crossing more than 150 streams within the Susitna River watershed, the 15th largest river in the US, this development would disturb or destroy critical habitat for salmon, the lifeblood of Alaska and many of its ecosystems. Furthermore, the habitat disruption and widespread ecological change that would occur as a result of this project's development is NOT worth the resources extracted. At a time when our state is facing unprecedented and irreversible change due to a warming climate, it is incredibly irresponsible to continue pushing projects for oil and gas extraction that would contribute further to the climate crisis and ecological and infrastructural damage to our state. 332	Online Survey 1	2022/03/24 2:19:29 PM PDT	No						Our family loves fishing and boating adventures on the Susitna River and its tributaries. We love how, with our small jet boat, we can get off the road system, fish on uncrowded river banks and experience (and share with our kids) all the things we love about living in Alaska (wildlife, beauty, and fairly easy access to the backcountry). We also use these trips to teach our kids about safety, fishing and hunting skills...key ingredients for living and enjoying life in Alaska. We also often catch fish that feed our family and have helped pack moose out with friends that has done the same. While we live in Anchorage -- we love to recreate in the West Susitna region. During these family outings, we typically spend money on groceries, food and gas and at other local businesses in Wasilla and Willow. If the West Susitna Road, an industrial corridor, crossed this region we would choose to spend our money elsewhere for an experience that doesn't involve dump truck noise and dust. Additionally, science has confirmed, repeatedly, that roads cut off access to important habitat for salmon and trout -- and if this project goes through we can reasonably expect continued salmon declines in the region. And if the fish don't come back - neither will the anglers and other visitors!	I am personally opposed to the West Susitna Road, and have heard the same from many other families. I urge you to reconsider the Borough's involvement in advancing the road. The Borough has an incredible asset in the remote, unroaded West Su already - abundant fish and wildlife and the source of inspiration for many trips by visitors and residents alike. Like so many of our neighbors and friends, our family chooses to live in Alaska for the incredible abundance of wild places, fish and wildlife. You can find roads and struggling salmon runs all over the world -- Alaska is one of the few remaining places where salmon thrive and the land and rivers aren't bisected with roads. Let's recognize what an important asset we have and use it to our advantage -- but to do that we have to say no to projects that compromise what we have, creatively solve problems our communities are facing and stop pandering to companies that want to use Alaska's limited cash to help line their own pockets. 833	Text Survey	2/20/22 23:39	No						I am 100% AGAINST the road! It would make our remote property not remote anymore. Also it would affect the area in which we hunt and have hunted for years to feed our family and years to come. I know this road, which we would not even be allowed to use, would draw unwelcome people out in the area who would break into our cabins and steal. It has taken us years and years to have our piece of heaven and you would be taking it away from everyone who has property in the area. Look at big lake for example and all of the break ins.					833
834	Text Survey	2/22/22 3:17	No						Please don't build this road. I bought remote property because it's remote. I would like it to stay that way. I believe it would ruin the wetlands along the route and the hunting that my family relays on. We intend to fight this invasion with everything and every trick in the book.					834
835	Text Survey	2/22/22 23:19	No						This road would destroy the closest area to urban Alaska that is still a roadless wilderness area that exemplifies what we all proudly brag about that is different than every other state in the union. The State tourism board constantly points out in their marketing worldwide "come see our beautiful wilderness. Come fish, hike and hunt in our unspoiled unique state". You allow a road, public or private and open pit coal and gold mines and how many people are going to spend the money to fly to a "REMOTE" lodge to see same thing that is all over the rest of the world and country? This road into this almost pristine area is a very bad idea and I am totally opposed to it. Very bad for residents in this area, all the local lodges and jobs they now support and bad for the state of Alaska. V Wesolowski					835

I am not confident in the process, the businesses with claims that they want to develop, or if the public will even be able to use the road. Ultimately this is a degradation of land, wetlands and water and likely comes with significant expense to the state and revenue generated will largely be lost and earned by businesses and investors outside of Alaska, so that certainly begs the question of whether or not it's worth it. 74	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 12:20:55 PM AKST	Not enough information to decide	Live					As one of the only agricultural producers in the affected area west of the Susitna River it has the potential to have significant impact on my family and farm. It will most definitely have an impact on the lands identified by Div. of Ag as suitable for agriculture west of the Susitna.  My family has lived here for 28 years. We have enjoyed the remoteness the region provides and we have seen continued efforts to exploit the many natural resources West Susitna holds. We knew that some day a serious push for development would take place. Maybe, this is that time.  The negative impact such a road will have evolves primarily around the loss of its remoteness. The impact on wildlife and private stake holders is the most pronounced of impacts. This is true where ever expanded access takes place in the State.  On a positive note it has the potential to not only develop a mining district, but create an agricultural district that could have direct access to a tidewater port and rail. Port MacKenzie and the unfinished rail spur need the West Susitna Access Road to inject sustainable life into both projects.	I am in favor of a detailed analysis of the proposed project. Potential resource development west of the Susitna will not stop by killing the road project. It will subside for a time, but attempt after attempt will continue so let's go thru the process and get it all out on the table for everyone to see and assess.  Since this is to be primarily a road for heavy industry I would like an analysis of a potential rail spur rather than a road to be part of the process. A rail spur may have less impact and be a potential compromise.  Little is being said about the road paralleling the proposed Donlin Gas Line Project. The gas line will potentially occupy the same right of way for over 50 miles. We are told the road and gas line have nothing to do with each other. I don't believe that for a minute. Nova Mineral has stated in the past it might be able to use gas coming from the pipeline for its purposes too. Let's get these relationship out in the open...we aren't stupid. Even if the road is not built a 50 mile plus corridor will still exist and continue on to the Kuskokwim. We are really talking about developing a 15 mile stretch from the Susitna River to the Donlin Gas Line.  The west Susitna region is sparsely populated and economically depressed. Let's get serious about the economic impact on stake holders along the road corridor. It will have a negative impact on some tourism based businesses. How can that be mitigated? In general, I support development and expanding land area for business, residential, recreational and industrial land use in the proposed area.		Live	99667	74

This email is a request for specific information that can be used during the scoping process.  Please include the following information for public scrutiny:  What are the overall anticipated annual maintenance costs for this road? Who will be conducting the maintenance? How will the maintenance be paid for? What are the anticipated annual income/receipts the state will receive from mineral, oil and gas receipts?  It seems that non-DOT departments, such as Fish & Game, might require additional funds/resources if this road is built.  What assistance will other State Agencies receive and what will the anticipated costs be to other State Agencies to manage this road and the surrounding area? Alaska has a mixed record for resource development of this type. Frequently these types of projects have resulted in what Jay Hammond called "malignant growth", meaning, we've gotten bigger but not better. Often the benefits of the project go to a few construction companies and extraction industries, while the residents/citizens will receive little in return and will only subsidize the true total costs for the public road and access to the area. 1196	Email	3/17/22	Not enough information to decide	Tribal	Process					The Tyonek Tribal Conservation District serves the subsistence and agricultural needs of the communities and landowners in our district by mitigating invasive fish and plants, maintaining habitat for salmon and subsistence species, monitoring the health of natural resources, and providing technical assistance within a 6.6M acre district defined by Tyonek's traditional hunting and fishing grounds (boundaries equivalent to Alaska's Game Management Unit 16B). Currently, our key programs include annual culvert installation and maintenance for salmon passage; suppression of Northern pike, elodea, and non-aquatic invasive plants; and monitoring stream health that includes submissions to the Anadromous Waters Catalog. The West Susitna Access Road would be over 100 miles long and involve 156 known water crossings. The majority of a future road, as currently proposed, would run through extensive watershed habitat in the Tyonek Tribal Conservation District. An industrial corridor of this magnitude generates substantial conservation concerns for this remote, relatively pristine area with abundant wetlands, and fish and wildlife resources. In its initial report, HDR Alaska, Inc. (2014) identified several fields requiring additional study for the impacted region, including fish streams and essential fish habitat, wildlife, vegetation, hydrology, and historic and archaeological resources. It remains imperative for road development in this region to investigate and address these key issues before construction.				Laurie Stuart, EdD (She/Her)   Executive Director TYONEK TRIBAL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

We ship fresh cut peonies and peony roots all over the U.S. and Canada. We employ over a dozen workers in the summer and are a new source of income for local air taxis moving our stems to our processing facility at Ted Stevens Anchorage Int. Airport. Many of our supplies, materials and equipment are purchased from local businesses. As longtime residents and business owners we are not here to testify pro or con to the proposed West Susitna Access Road. At this point the West Susitna Road would intersect that pipeline corridor and parallel the pipeline to its end near Hapev.				Michael W. & Paula A. Williams EagleSong Peony Farm

Because of this I am once again compelled to comment of the current state of affairs regarding the West Susitna Road Project. We truly feel there are a number of questions that are not being asked. I see a large emotional public response to this project that I feel is less than objective. We have not decided if we are in favor of the project or not. Over our 28 years we have encountered numerous teams and projects with the goal of developing West Susitna resources. The road project itself has seen many starts and stops over the years. It is for this reason that we prefer to see the process proceed and flesh out what this project actually means. Otherwise, the project fades from the public eye to only reappear in the future to repeat the process in hopes it will at that time succeed. We are in favor of getting the science on this project and make an informed decision. It will get access to the land, better opportunities. People drive over the bridges on the Alaska highways all the time. I'm from Willow. I'm a past... This is a great opportunity for the public. Just getting across the Susitna River, this is a great thing. Of course, you're going to get a few people that will say this will be too close to their land or will hurt a stick or something. 1181	Email	3/4/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Access					I wish to submit my comments in support of this project. However, my support is based on the road being publicly accessible. Shaw Creek road, for example, is public for about the first mile and then private all the way to the Pogo mine. I do not wish to see the same for this road.  Foreign mining companies operate in Alaska and hire Alaskans to work for them, bringing money to the state. Every time I see similar in AK (eg Pebble) everyone gets up in arms about foreign ownership and money flowing out of state. My experience is the opposite. Pogo is Australian owned. Ft Knox is Canadian owned. I know lots of people that work for those operations and are paid well. I see little to no evidence of this outflow that people fear.  The proposed road is listed to cross 156 waterways if I recall. Shaw Creek crosses far less and in my mind I do not see disruption to the waterways that people fear. If a company or entity were to truly operate with little regard to the surrounding environment, they would not be operating for long IMHO. Public sentiment and activism simply doesn't allow it to happen.  For those that fear more people operating in areas that are currently remote and isolated. Welcome to AK is an amazing				Darryn Rose
1194	Email	3/12/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Access					Hello my name is grant kopplin and I live in Palmer Alaska. The thought of a new road to access the west side of the susitna and that portion of the Alaska range is very exciting. I am in support of the road, along with many friends and family members ONLY IF the entire road is public. We are avid outdoors people and believe that the road if it is again let for the average person to use and access the land is worth whatever change or risk the road could pose. If it is not public in its entirety, I will oppose the road along with the fore mentioned friends and family members. I really need the borough to drive home That this road if developed needs to be public all the way through. Other wise it's not worth the risk to the landscape and changes it'll bring. Thank you and please look out for the average Alaskan in the borough and push for public access on the entire road if it's going to happen. If it's no public. We don't want it or need it			grant kopplin

1211	Email	3/22/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Access to property					My comments are simple. The way things are only those with significant means can access and enjoy these areas. Many of those are not even from this state. My husband and I homesteaded 40 acres in the mid 80s, surveyed it and have paid taxes on it every year since. Yet here we are, 3 generations of our Alaskan family later. My husband has passed away and still access to this land is not feasible for us. This road would come approximately within 5 miles of our property. This would change everything. It would be wonderful if at last our family, as well as other Alaskans of lesser means could at last have access to these lands				Maria Gertzen.
1058	Email	12/21/21	Yes	Business	Access to property					Mat-Su Borough Assembly Members:  I have lived in Alaska 41 years. My children live in Alaska. My grandchildren live in Alaska. I have served Alaskans as a clinical neuropsychologist for four decades. I was not born here. But I have chosen Alaska as my home since I was a young adult. Alaska will undoubtedly remain my family's home for many generations to come.  I am writing this email in FULL SUPPORT of the West Susitna Access Road.  Your vote this evening is focused on whether to allow the project to be forwarded for more thorough vetting and review. There will be many more opportunities for public input regarding the merits - or lack thereof - of the access road.  Please vote FOR moving the proposal forward for further review.  In the 1990s, I owned personal property (5 acres) on the Beluga River but sold it due to access problems (I'm not a pilot and crossing the Inlet in a boat is harrowing, at best).  I own 80% of GeoAlaska, LLC that has been issued a license for geothermal prospecting on Mt. Spurr. Once again, access is an issue with respect to developing this sustainable green energy. As an out-of-state landowner on Onestone Lake, I would see the proposed West Susitna Access Road project as a very positive development which would give me greater access to that property for recreational purposes. 99	Online Survey 1	2022/02/17 7:38:23 PM AKST	Yes, but only if it has public access		Agriculture				It sounds as if agricultural land will become available for farming. Alaska's food security problems have become all too evident during the recent shipping problems resulting in empty store shelves. Access to farmable land should be a priority of the project.	I believe that a lot of the adverse public comments related to potential over-use and abuse of the newly accessible land could be resolved if instead of a public road being built, the railroad was extended out this route. Whistle stop service could be provided to disperse hunters and fishers, without causing the problems of shot up vehicles found at places like Jim Creek.		Interested person	99645	99

Have my heart and soul in what is best for our state.  We strongly support the advent and construction of the proposed West Susitna Access Road, it is at least 50 years over due. Every state in the US has been developed in conjunction with access provided initially by road and then rail access. The United States would not exist without those means of transportation access.  Try to name a town or village in the South 48 that does not have road access. They all have 'a road home'. 40% of the towns in Alaska have no road access, reachable only by air or sea. 1110	Email	2/17/22	Yes	Own undeveloped property	Development					I feel this is a great development opportunity for Matsu and the State. Landowners, CO-OPs, developers and private citizens will benefit from the increased infrastructure, resources and access into new areas of Alaska on so many levels. Unified efforts like this help to build economic resiliency and self sustainability. While connecting communities to the road system will bring challenges it will undoubtedly help to make access to everyday supplies and resources more economical for everyone. Access to the interior has always been dangerous, difficult and often limited to small planes, boats and seasonal off road solutions. This is clear case where pros outweigh the cons. Lets build tomorrows Alaska today, make the financial investment in this key infrastructure investment and do it in a way that benefits future generations and the environment. 1050	Email	12/19/21	Yes	Other	Development					To All Mat-Su Borough Assembly Members,  I urge the Mat-Su Assembly to support AIDEA and its on going efforts to promote a proposed road in the West Susitna region. The Roads to Resources has been working on West Susitna access for nearly 20 years. Finally were starting to see some headway.  As a business owner in the Mat-Su Borough me and my family support this road.  This road will provide much needed access for tourism and industry. The Susitna Valley has long been known to hold mineral wealth. Many attempts to develop the areas oil and gas resources have been sidelined because there is no access. Winter access is not sustainable for oil and gas development. The largest undeveloped coal resource in the world lies in this region. The area's developing copper, gold, lead, zinc, molybdenum resources are becoming world class. Timber in the region is a huge undeveloped resource All of these resources need access to be developed.  All of these resources need access to a port facility. The borough just happens to have one sitting idle that borough residents are paying for. If the road is built and provide access to the port the residents of the Matsu will receive financial benefit from the port. John asked where the meeting would be held. I explained the Zoom link. He plans to attend. He is a 40 year resident of the area and used to own Sheep Creek Lodge at mile 88 of the Parks Highway. People need more opportunities to make money. 1199	Email	3/19/22	Yes		Development					I encourage and support the proposed access road across the Susitna River and Alexander Creek up to the Yentna Mining District. Mines today take so many years to discover, explore, permit and build, and the footprints after reclamation often offer further development opportunities. Responsible land development is no different than space or sub-sea exploration. If you do not explore, and analyze, you will never know what you do not know. Well planned road access is necessary and long past due. Further, there are ANSCA lands, homesites and holdings in the West Susitna basin and along Mt. Susitna (that have been only fly-in or boat via the Big Susitna) that will benefit.				Michael Brogan Redacted
1271	Email	3/30/22	Yes		Development					I would like to voice my support for the construction of this road. This has been needed in Alaska for nearly 40 years.  There will likely be a substantial increase in traffic on the Parks Highway as this area develops. To this end, please consider a Knik Arm crossing at Goose Bay (near the runway). Should this road be connected to this new road, traffic would be able to bypass Wasilla and instead enter the Glen Highway near Highland Drive in Eagle River, giving Mat-Su residents a second alternative for access to Anchorage and alleviating traffic on the Parks. 69	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 11:38:29 AM AKST	Yes, but only if it has public access		Development				Public road access is critically important to developing communities, developing land, and developing resources. I look forward to having more opportunities to access public land for recreational activity, small mining access, and road accessible public land for purchase.	I accept that large corporate interests may help fund projects such as these and be an economic driver, but this road should absolutely be a public road, either state or borough, and not prohibit access to private or public land. Currently, only the wealthy or dedicated with boats and planes have access to these areas and a road primarily on public land and built using public funds should be a public road. 227	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Economic development					We're just mainly concerned about it being public access. It's a good like economic opportunity for the State to make some money. It's resource development, which I think is great. But I also see the potential risk of creating a road over so many water crossings and going into new lands and whatnot. I believe you know most of that area is inaccessible to the average Alaskan, and if we put a road through there, I think that's a great opportunity for the average Alaskan family to be able to recreate and explore new parts of our State that they otherwise would not be able to see or explore without a boat or a plane or significant snow machine rides. This would just provide easier access to vast majority of Alaskans. I want to see the road done safe, but I think this could be a really cool opportunity for people to gain access to new areas of our home. I can see it being kind of like a Denali Highway with tons of fishing and hunting and recreational opportunities here in South Central and I think it's a great opportunity. But again, I fully believe that if this project happens the State and the Borough should really push to ensure that there's public access from start to finish. Maybe even some primitive boat launches, or campgrounds at some of the major water crossings. I just wanted to say thanks and say that I support it as long as it's done right. I believe it will be and as long as it's public all right, thank you.				Grant Copeland

We are still evaluating the extent of public access on this route, and you know we're getting some feedback through this engagement session. The question is if they can use the same corridor at the same time. That's the question that we need to answer. We need to get some feedback from the public, and also from the experts that have experience permitting multi-use roads that are open to heavy haul and the general public. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)			Neil De Witt

1150	Email	2/23/22	Yes	Business	Mining					No decision has been made to build a road. AIDEA and the Borough are in the research phase. Anyone saying this project needs to slow down, doesn't understand that there is currently NO project. A topic is being researched. Taking all of our comments tonight is part of the research process.  Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably roads, is a challenge for future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain is important to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step.  While active mining exploration is taking place in the area, it is important to note that it is just that - exploration. For an actual mine to be developed - or even a road project, it would involve an extensive regulatory process involving multiple local, state, and federal agencies with dozens of science-based environmental permits, many of which have a public involvement process. The topic being discussed tonight is not a mining or road construction decision. It is to discuss the continued evaluation of the access route to pursue access for public opportunities.  The MatSu Borough is the fastest-growing area of the state. It is easy to see why; there is something for everyone. The acreage is massive, and includes growing population centers, economic opportunities, and remote locations to enjoy Alaska's recreational				Lorali Simon

17	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 7:13:58 PM AKST	Yes	Live	Money				We believe it would not only open up the possibility of future mining (i.e. a good thing), and a new road and/or a new Sunday drive. There would be more cabins and access for folks to live the Alaska lifestyle. It would also mean more property taxes that would help offset existing property taxes.	Yes! We all know it's going to happen. Please install a dirt bike / walking path alongside the new road. It's a MUST! 702	Online Survey 2	2022/03/23 1:56:59 PM PDT	Yes		opportunity	opportunity		Maybe		Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably of which is roads, is a key recurring theme when looking at the challenges facing future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain remains paramount to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step. Access to the West-Susitna region has long been a stated goal to expand the Mat-Su Borough's tax-based and economic and recreational opportunities.		Interested person;Something else	99709	702
1044	Letter	12/17/21	Yes	Business	Opportunities					I am the owner & manager of the Skwentna Roadhouse, I have been here 11 years and actually live here year round. The Roadhouse is my only home and my main source of income -  To my knowledge the west Susitna Access Road will not help me or my business in the long run but may be a hindrance to it, down the road, with this in mind I support at least completing phase 3 of the study on the west Susitna access road project We need the actual knowledge- so we can determine for ourselves as individuals if we want to support the road or not support the road. It is my understanding that this corridor follows at least 60 percent of the Donlin Pipeline corridor which has already been approved. I personally support this project and have since the 2014 road to resource's consultation for this project that provided complete support for this corridor. It has the promise of years of income for the surrounding folks that actually live here year around and actually try to eek out a living. Raising families - and living off the land. - There's a whole generation of Alaskans that need this Road will support. I think the state would be far better off to start providing other revenues besides oil and tourism, start using the resources given to us and do it in a responsible manner. Thank you for your time once again. I support this project wholeheartedly & not for any reason to benefit myself - but to help support the future of Alaska. To whom it may concern, I have recently moved to Skwentna, AK full time, I moved here partially due to the opportunities the West Susitna Access Road could provide me in the future. I would like to live here full time. My back ground is in Logging and Mining so the resources mentioned are in my wheelhouse. I would like to make it known that I support West Susitna Access Road project I believe that this project can only help local residence by creating jobs, possibly year around The property value along the corridor will only gain in revenue. I believe we should vote yes on this project - Thank you for your time once again.				Cindi Herman Skwentna Roadhouse

1195	Email	3/17/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Process					The project Fact Sheet indicated that Phase II of this project, now completed, was pre-engineering and cost estimating. Phase III is purposed for environmental permitting. From the information presented, I understand we are at phase III The project description indicates the study as a whole is for a "multi-use, public access road". However, now the public meeting for Mar 23 indicates now the project involves determining if the proposed road would be "public or strictly individual" This to me sounds like a step backward to Phase I or Phase II. I don't understand how this is a topic continued to "Phase III" as such a fundamental aspect of the project should be determined at pre-engineering level, long before advancing the project to permitting. It was seemingly decided because you have been providing the project overview as a public roadway for Phase III public outreach materials. The project progression and fluid fundamentals and goals is frustrating, and it makes it impossible to follow the intent. It makes me wonder, what are you doing advancing the project to advanced engineering if you do not know what kind of standards and guidance you are using for design. I have a feeling that those involved in the project do know what kind of road is being designed, but they refuse to tell the public outright.				Albert Perryman

1241	Email	3/25/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Public vs private					Any road out through Alaska wilderness, lands owned by everyone, deciding if it is for public use shouldn't really be under consideration. Not only is a 100 mile road through an area with a large concentration of remote properties a benefit for the companies extracting Alaskan owned minerals, it would be a benefit to all around who use that area. Don't create a conflict by disconnecting from the reality of the situation. If the road is there Alaskans will want to and will use it putting in a road and then restricting it even though it is on our lands, that will only create man made criminals, borderline entrapment with a side serving of rules for thee and not for me. 225	Public Meeting 1	2/23/22	Yes		Public vs private					I understand some individuals will always be opposed to new roads, but I also know that most of these individuals really want to be the only ones able to utilize a new area. 1205	Email	3/21/22	Yes, but only if it is public		Public vs private					Four comments: The first three are, "Yes, yes, and yes!"  The fourth one is that the road should be public and not strictly industrial. There are as many fishing and game opportunities as there are mining prospects. To use public money and then deny public access is disingenuous and hypocritical. The North Slope Haul Road is also gravel and for industrial purposes, but has operated seamlessly and without problem to the public sector. If industry wants the road private, then they should build it with their own funds. If that turns out to be the case, then it should be limited by an expiration date so that the public gets eventual use of it in exchange for public lands being made available for the road. 32	Online Survey 1	2022/02/15 10:14:30 AM AKST	Yes, but only if it has public access	Live	Recreation				I support a new road to provide more access for Alaskans, without planes, to enjoy fishing, hunting, and camping. I live on Point Mackenzie and I understand a new road out here would create more traffic going past my house, and possibly more hassles to deal with. We already have a severely reduced moose population, and the little sue King fishing has been dismal. Point Mackenzie road is network of tar patches pot holes, and frost heaves so bad I have replaced my shocks twice already. KGB road running out here is the most dangerous road in Alaska according to the DOT. But maybe if there is a reason to improve KGB and Point Mackenzie, like a new road going west, maybe it will benefit our little community. Since I don't own a plane, I have to drive to the Denali highway, Kenai peninsula, or Eureka for access to hunting and fishing via the road system. These road accessible trail and fishing systems are getting more and more crowded every year. Its a shame we have such a huge state and limited access to it. If we fight building roads we limit the growth and opportunities to make the state better. I am not a huge supporter of mining, but I can see that we can't always rely on oil as the industry that pays our bills. I think we need to develop all of our resources. Maybe with a road we could better supervise mining operations. Maybe we could even build a hatchery on the big sue, or even little sue, to begin to rebuild the red and king salmon population while also providing more access for fishing areas to reduce pressure on other rivers. This would also provide more tourism activities, instead of taking visitors north or south.			Live	99623	32

The business will blossom also.	Use the thought for future expansion of the road in the design phase of the WSAR route and bridges. Examples: Minimize narrow route crossings, design bridges for ease of expansion of road and utility supports (pipelines and electrical). This will open float trips from the Skwentna River to the Susitna River crossings. Ok, maybe a boat launch at the appropriate water crossings built into the project, such as the Little Susitna River, Big Susitna River, Alexander Creek, Skwentna River and Happy River crossings. It seems this project aims to garner public support with the prospects of a public access road only to limit it to private industrial use after approval. Can MSB/AIDEA be explicitly clear on the intention of this road, if they are willing to make it public access for everyone?  That does not seem like an $8M dollar question to me. Of course a mining company does not want. Àutheir.Àu haul road congested with recreational traffic. But the state corporations have a duty to benefit all Alaskans, and have enough forethought to foster comprehensive development of the area for all Alaskans, which means the smaller but more numerous industries that go along with private property development, recreation, hunting, fishing, and small-scale mining which can coexist with influential, publicly-traded mining companies.  South central, and Alaska at large has a significant access deficiency despite the incredible amount of public lands. This project could synergize resource development with creating recreational and tourism opportunities in the state.  Don't compromise the quality of our natural, recreational areas without the compromise of increased, more equitable access for all Alaskans. 1218	Letter	3/16/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Route					Thank you for requesting comments on the Proposed West Susitna Access Road. As an area landowner, this project is exciting and necessary to open the West Susitna area. However, I would like to suggest that the PWSAR start in Knik instead of extending off the end of Ayrshire Avenue. Moving the start point to Knik would add several miles to the east end of the project, but the advantages would be numerous. 1)It would revitalize the townsite of Knik. The Knik residents have long publicly spoke in favor of events and opportunities to bring commerce back to Knik. 2)Road easements were historically established in 1911-1912 by the Alaska Road Commission which built Route 20A (a portion of the historic Iditarod Trail) from Knik to Susitna Station. Route 20A was professionally located, engineered, and built to road/trail standards of the day. As a route built on federal land, the easements and location have already been secured. 3)Using Route 20A today would have the advantages of directly linking the communities of Knik, South Big Lake, and Fish Creek. Currently, people have to use various routes like Hollywood &amp; Vine roads, Parks Highway &amp; Knik Goose-Bay, or Knik Goose-Bay and Burma roads. A direct link would provide residents and travelers superior access and reduce travel miles. The previously engineered Route 20A is almost a direct straight line from Knik to Susitna Station. A road would make a major impact on constructing residences in the area. It would also make it possible for lots more full time residents. Never the less there are major concerns about if a major industrial road could be used by residents, I envision open pits and major haul trucks, do not go well with resident use. In my history with major projects as soon as they have taken what they want they lock the gates on access. Alaska has a bad history of supporting boom and bust industries. People in Alaska sell their souls for work, and after all, it has only taken a hundred years to grow trees over gravel pits left by the dredging of so many of the water ways, in the first gold boom. I understand industrial projects, I was an industrial estimator for forty years. 1245	Email	3/27/22	No	Tribe	Money					Please stop all efforts to build the proposed West Susitna Access Road. It is a mistake. And it is a classic mistake that has been made in Alaska many times before. A definition of insanity is: doing the same thing multiple times and expecting different outcomes. This principle of insanity has been proven by the Matanuska-Susitna Borough and AIDEA many times before. Mega-project after mega-project have failed because the MSB and AIDEA put the 'cart before the horse'. They committed to massive projects without having the economic justification for the projects in place. The MSB and AIDEA's record of economic insanity is horrendous: Pt. Mackenzie dairy farms were built without a market for the milk. A ferry was built with no port for it to dock at in Anchorage. A port facility that was built when there were hardly any customers or need for it. Money was poured into studies for a Knik Arm bridge that made no economic sense. The same with the proposed Susitna River dam. A Houston to Pt. Mackenzie rail spur was constructed without a justifiable reason for it. Billions of dollars in federal, state and taxpayer money were corruptly squandered on these ill-conceived projects. And now the MSB and AIDEA want to do it all again? Another mega-project without a good reason for doing it? This is criminal. The proposed West Susitna Access Road is a very speculative venture. The foreign mining interests do not have proof that mining in the Westna district will be profitable. And no, an article Ughell Dzaen (Good Day).				Tamara Thiele Member of Alexander Creek Inc and  30 year MSB property tax payer
1292	Email	3/31/22	No	Tribe	Environment					Attached are comments from Chickaloon Village Traditional Council (CVTC) regarding the proposed development of the West Susitna Access Road. Dear Ms. Yehle and Mr. Sworts: Chickaloon Native Village (CNV) is a federally-recognized Ahtna Dene Tribe in southcentral Alaska, governed by Chickaloon Village Traditional Council (CVTC). Dene ancestral territory includes much of southcentral Alaska including upper Cook Inlet and most of the Matanuska- Susitna Borough. CNV's traditional area of influence overlaps with neighboring Dene Tribes. Actions that occur within CNV's traditional ancestral territory impact our environment, Dene cultural resources, and the health of our Tribal citizens and community members. CNV opposes the development of the West Susitna Access Road based on the probable negative impacts to cultural resources, traditional lifeway uses, fish and wildlife habitat, and economics. Cultural and Traditional Use The West Susitna area is rich in cultural and ecological resources and has been stewarded by Ahtna and Dena'ina Dene (Peoples) for thousands of years. Stewardship in this area goes home to our people.				Serena Martino Executive Assistant  Chickaloon Village Traditional Council
1297	Email	3/31/22	No	Tribe	Feasibility					I am the President of Tal, Inc. and submit these comments on behalf of the corporation, which is composed of 18 shareholders who own a private lodge near the mouth of the Talachulitna River. Tal, Inc. opposes the proposed road. The proposed road alignment runs approximately a mile north of our lodge. The owners use the river and surrounding area for recreation, fishing, and hunting. There is no demonstrated feasibility for the road and there is a lack of any discussion on cost vs benefit. Construction of the proposed road would adversely impact our use of the area, as well as adversely impact environmental and social values in the area. Specific areas of concern include: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Increased traffic and hunting/fishing pressure, resulting in degradation of habitat and fish &amp; game populations.</li> <li>2. Potential for increased trespass and other crime.</li> <li>3. Noise impacts which degrade the wilderness aspects of the area.</li> </ol>				Phil Santerre President, Tal, Inc.

1302	Email	3/31/22	No	Tribe	Environment					Dear Ms. Yehle and Mat-Su Borough: I have many concerns about this road, and particularly about the process that this project seems to be on towards approval. Basic Information is missing: public road or private mining road? Downsides of a private mining road AIDEA (the project developers) have continually flip-flopped between whether this would be a private road, a public road, or a "mix". If it is a private road, it would be a road to a mining district which currently appears to have one interested mining developer. This appears to be a small junior exploration company that would need to attract a major -- a company that has actually built and run mines -- before any actual mines would go into operation. This means that any income or benefit to the state and borough would be years down the road, and could potentially never be seen. They would need to drill enough to show high enough grade and ore body extent to attract investors, then go through the permitting process, and meanwhile very likely have to fight off lawsuits, which could cause investors or "major" company partners to exit the project. As far as I can see, the ore in this area is mostly gold -- which we don't need -- or coal -- which we should actively avoid as we transition off of carbon-emitting fuels. Building a private road now, for a project that is currently in such early stages of development, with potentially no benefit at the end, seems a waste of money.				Kendra Zamzow
1196	Email	3/17/22	Not enough information to decide	Tribe	Process					The Tyonek Tribal Conservation District serves the subsistence and agricultural needs of the communities and landowners in our district by mitigating invasive fish and plants, maintaining habitat for salmon and subsistence species, monitoring the health of natural resources, and providing technical assistance within a 6.6M acre district defined by Tyonek's traditional hunting and fishing grounds (boundaries equivalent to Alaska's Game Management Unit 16B). Currently, our key programs include annual culvert installation and maintenance for salmon passage; suppression of Northern pike, elodea, and non-aquatic invasive plants; and monitoring stream health that includes submissions to the Anadromous Waters Catalog. The West Susitna Access Road would be over 100 miles long and involve 156 known water crossings. The majority of a future road, as currently proposed, would run through extensive watershed habitat in the Tyonek Tribal Conservation District. An industrial corridor of this magnitude generates substantial conservation concerns for this remote, relatively pristine area with abundant wetlands, and fish and wildlife resources. In its initial report, HDR Alaska, Inc. (2014) identified several fields requiring additional study for the impacted region, including fish streams and essential fish habitat, wildlife, vegetation, hydrology, and historic and archaeological resources. It remains imperative for road development in this region to investigate and address these key issues before construction.				Laurie Stuart, EdD (She/Her)   Executive Director TYONEK TRIBAL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Box 871565 Wasilla, Alaska 99687
1102	Email	2/16/22	N/A	Tribe	Process					On another note CVTC has not received information on the planned West Susitna Access Road. It is important for MSB to consult with the Dene (Athabaskan) Tribes regarding the planned road. It is tantamount for the Tribes to be involved at the initial design stages of the project. The area being proposed for the road extension is highly sensitive to Dene cultural sites. Very little archaeological survey work has occurred west of the Susitna. The project region encompasses numerous native village sites with interconnecting indigenous trails. Linguistic studies suggest Dene's earliest migrations into the valley came from the Kuskokwim into the Yentna-Skwentna River valley. It is for that reason construction conducted in the Yentna-Skwentna region is a major concern. Vital information on migration routes may be compromised by construction of the road. CVTC would like to be included in the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1)CVTC requests consultation directly by the project manager on the proposed road</li> <li>2)informed and included in the decision making with good aerial and LiDar maps.</li> <li>3)CVTC is interested in assisting with the archaeological field work and being present when any ground disturbing activities are undertaken</li> </ol>				Fran Seager-Boss Archaeologist M.A. CVTC Historical Advisor

We are composed of more than 1,400 members that come from eight statewide branches: Anchorage, Denali, Fairbanks, Haines, Juneau, Kenai, Ketchikan/Prince of Wales, and Nome. Our members include individual prospectors, geologists, engineers, suction dredge miners, small family mines, junior mining companies, and major mining companies, Alaska Native Corporations, and the contracting sector that supports Alaska's mining industry. Efforts to explore the West Susitna Access have occurred for decades, since the very beginning of state land-use planning in the area. The plans have spanned multiple governors and Borough Assemblies. The Alaska Department of Natural Resources' original Susitna Area Plan in 1985 endorsed several road routes to the western Susitna Valley, one of which could originate in the Fish Creek area and included a bridge over the Susitna River, what has been proposed today. Taking all of our comments tonight is part of the research process. Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably roads, is a challenge for future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain is important to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step. While active mining exploration is taking place in the area, it is important to note that it is just that – exploration. For an actual mine to be developed – or even a road project, it would involve an extensive regulatory process involving multiple local, state, and federal agencies with dozens of science-based environmental permits, many of which have a public involvement process. The topic being discussed tonight is not a mining or road construction decision. It is to discuss the continued evaluation of the access route to pursue access for public opportunities. The MatSu Borough is the fastest-growing area of the state. Mining and mineral harvesting, unlike oil and gas, does not create a reasonable revenue share to the state/ residents. Hundreds of water crossings will easily triple the cost. Some of the wet lands the road is traveling over are literally bottomless bogs and will create road maintenance nightmares in perpetuity. Jobs, the few permanent jobs are???? (As an example, as I write this, the Alaska Railroad is looking for at least 30 full time employees and currently has three applicants..... Every other business in the state is also looking for workers! It seems there are enough jobs for the people that want to work.) Another waste of money: I have been here to witness the ferry debacle , the port fiasco and most recently the railroad spur without tracks, without customers nor goods to transport ( as a side bar, the rail spur was "sold" with a bunch of falsehoods. First there was going to be a daily train exporting lime from Livengood ,cost of lime would have to increase tenfold to make that feasible. Then it was going to be for daily coal export, no customers. Then it was for timber..... no timber to sell and no customers to buy.....)				Martin Buser

I am a life king Alaskan who loves Alaska and the great outdoors. My parents own The Perrins' Rainy Pass Lodge where I spent my my childhood and where I am a hunting guide. This lodge is the oldest hunting lodge in Alaska, established in 1937. My parents have owned the lodge since 2003 and we have worked to conserve the area and keep this way of life for generations to come. I frequently love riding my snowmachine to the lodge which is 140 miles through the Skwetna river system. Along the way, there are hundreds of people who enjoy the same way of life and live out there because 300000 other people don't. The impact of building a road through this beautiful country would not only devastate the wilderness we as Alaskans hold so dear, it would ruin the economy of so many businesses and families. This road would effectively put an 85 year old lodge that pilots, hunters and families depend on out of business. There has not been enough research to account for the damages it would create to the environment, wildlife and cost to the state for maintenance. This is a mine that I have worked closely with and also helped develop when I worked for Kiska Metals. My family has always worked closely with all the previous owners of this mine and we have always compromised and collaborated to create the best outcome for all parties involved. In Closing, I ask you to consider denying final approval of this road project until all impacts have				Colton Perrins

Opposition against the road project has been pretty prevalent among the community not only in city limits but mostly permanent and part time residents that live west of the big susitna river. I share many of the same concerns these folks do. It is of my opinion the west susitna access road will be detrimental to the area and is not a need as much as it is a want of convenience to the mining companies. My family and I rely on the remoteness west of the susitna river for hunting and fishing opportunities. Between the land that I own and land leased from the state of alaska our family operates a remote cabin rental / recreational business. For obvious reasons if there were to be road access to those locations it would simply defeat the purpose of the business re shaping the experience and model our clients rely on. Many other lodges and air taxi services stand to loose business as well from hunting and fishing clients, there's with good reason no one books a hunting trip on the outskirts of wasilla city limits. The state of Alaska has put an immense amount of work trying to restore the fish population specifically in Alexander creek which this road system I believe will undo. There's to many regions in the state suffering from over pressure and reshaping of water streams for roads as is. Why do the mining companies not need a road? The Susitna Borough is about the size of Massachusetts and the western part is the only part roadless. This section of the borough is the boroughs and Anchorage's playground. Millions of dollars are spent each year traveling to this remote area for recreational use and for work ( many lodges offering fishing and hunting expeditions). The tax basis for the borough is tremendous as a thousand or more properties that are taxed expect nothing for their tax monies as they get nothing in return. Their tax money goes to the road service areas. What a deal for the borough, taxation without representation, I guess we heard that before! ( 250 years ago). I heard that an ore truck will come down this road every 10 minutes in the summer. Dust galore and the private section of the road will experience the same traffic. Would you like to live next to such a road? Are you letting this happen to Alaskans over an Australian company? If 100 miles of this road is only for one mine, then let them build and maintain it!!! The mine in Kotzebue is nothing like this Australian mine. First and utmost, if the Kotzebue population was going to be connected to the Anchorage population and the road system outside, they would never have wanted that project. Please take the advice of the people that pay your wage. Alaskans, and stand firm against another AIDIA failed project. They spend money like a drunken sailor but wait, even a drunk				Mark Miller Owner for the past 43 years Talaheim Lodge in your valley. PO Box 1072 Willow, Alaska 99688

20	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 9:03:05 PM AKST	No	Business	Wilderness preservation				I currently am a new business owner running Remote Cabin Rentals of Alaska. I have both private property and state leased land with cabins. It would be difficult to run a remote business on the roads system as the plotted road would run through multiple parcels I occupy in the Alexander creek basin. My family depends on the remote hunting and fishing opportunities in those areas to provide food for the long Alaska winters. As far as the state of Alaska is concerned you would still profit from the mines without a permanent road, between winter trails and barges the beluga oil field has been very successful for the last 60 years. This is another pipe dream road on the backs of tax payers that would have crippling effects on an already strained salmon run over multiple rivers. Listen to the public and look to other opportunities.	N/A		Work	99654
11	Online Survey 1	2022/02/12 1:49:10 PM AKST	No	Business	Wilderness preservation				This proposed road would affect me & my photo tour business in a negative way because it will take out more of the appeal of "wilderness ALASKA" from my photo tour clients by making that entire, rich area, just another "roadside attraction" on the Beaten Path.	The road will likely put more pressure on the wildlife of the area as well as create more problems for the many people who live out there and have wanted a wilderness lifestyle.		Work	99516
5	Online Survey 1	2022/02/10 8:19:48 AM AKST	No	Business	Wilderness preservation				We personally be out of a job. The tourism industry in the MatSu Valley and Alaska as a whole would be hit with a black eye. The most sustainable profitable resource in Alaska is tourism. People visit Alaska for it's wilderness and raw beauty, not to fly over industrial roads, pipelines and gas fields. This is not just about one road, but the key to a pandora's box of development that will leave an irreparable scar to the landscape. Not to mention a domino effect of environmental concerns.	This project is being pushed against the will of the majority. Alaska as a whole does not benefit from this project. If built, 50 years from now this project will be regretted. 285	Online Survey 1	2022/02/23 6:13:36 PM PST	No	Business					It would completely put us (Alaska's oldest hunting lodge est. 1937) out of business after 85 years. Businesses like ours bring outside money into the State, a foreign mining company will take their money out of country.	This project will destroy what Alaska is all about, its culture, its way of life, the reason why people come to Alaska, it will start turning Alaska into the lower 48. Tourism is our 2nd largest industry and people come here because it's remote and wild. The Susitna Valley is very important to many lodges, fishing guides, charter services and recreators. A road through that area will have tremendous impact in a negative way to all those stakeholders. A 100 mile road with 156 river crossings and common 2-3' snow dumps will cost a fortune to maintain and it will ultimately be put on the backs of tax payers to pay for that. Hard rock mining is the only possible viable economic reason for this road but there are other ways to extract their minerals. There is currently only 1 exploration company in operation at the end of the road and they have never developed a mine, if they decide not to develop or sell out like all the other companies have done since the 1970's, then we have a huge economic burden with many long-standing businesses put out of work. This is a bad deal for Alaska and for Alaskans.		Work	99522

I am so disappointed in the public officials that we voted into office. They did not do their public duty, and this public outreach is pandering to AIDEA. Three months This is NOT adequate public outreach for a project costing Alaskans more than 350 million for a private road. We behave as if Alaska is endless. It is not. 82	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 6:44:20 PM AKST	No	Live					I'm worried that building this road will affect people who have chose to live out their lives out of the way from most of the population. Having a road will create more people to have access to our hard work and would make it easier for theft to begin. This is why most people have chose to live so far out of the way. I'm worried it will affect our livelihood of fishing and hunting to provide food for our families. I think this road is only a positive for the gold mining out of staters. If we provide jobs for people that only live in Alaska it would be better but this will do nothing positive for us Alaskans. It is only a step up for out of state people. In my opinion, as an MBA and licensed securities professional who has raised money for many private and public companies, Nova Minerals, an Australian company trading publicly under the ticker symbol of NVAAF, lacks the experience, finances and leadership to successfully develop the proposed gold mine. I do not understand how Nova passed due diligence with Alaska regulators.  Operationally, it has never succeeded in commercializing any other similar mining project. Nova admits on its website that, "there is no certainty of eventual conversion to Ore Reserves or that the production target itself will be realized." Also, "there is a low level of geological confidence associated with Inferred Mineral Resources and there is no certainty that further exploration work will result in the determination of Indicated Mineral Resources or that the production target itself will be realized."  Financially, market sentiment is not bullish on this company.				Bryan Emerson

First and foremost is the environmental impact of such a massive project; we're still currently as Mat-su residents paying to have infrastructure removed and replaced because of poor design for juvenile salmon. The economics of this project are also very concerning, why are we putting money towards these huge projects that have little to no economic gain for residents, but all of the downside of the impact. 277	Online Survey 1	2022/02/23 3:00:02 PM PST	No	Live there					We (Bryan and Laura Emerson) are full-time homesteaders at Trail Lake, near which the Susitna Access Road will likely pass if approved and we are concerned about how it might negatively affect our quality of life and that of the wildlife that lives in and migrates through this region.	We are full-time residents of Trail Lake near the base of Mt. Little Susitna in Fish and Game Zone 16B. We have owned our property since 2007. We vote and we pay property taxes.  The West Susitna Access Road is expected to pass close to our quiet, remote property. We are concerned about a decrease in property values and the quietude, attractive views, and wild animal sightings for which we bought this property and spent over a decade developing it into a home where we forage, hunt, fish, and raise many of our foods and resources.  Based on the results of mining developments and roads in other remote parts of Alaska, we are logically alarmed by the possibility of increases in noise, erosion, pollution, invasive species, and road access for illegal human activities that have occurred elsewhere. For example, we hope that if this project starts or finishes, it will not repeat the polluting tailings of a mine on Jonesville Road, the murder victim dumping on Jim Creek, and the many, many neglected cleanups after a company moved on to the next, new parcel. The Mat Su Borough has wasted more tax money on worthless things than enough. Let AOs talk about the wasted money spent on Port McKenzie and the lovely Ferry that they sold at a huge loss. The managers of the Borough are the stupidest criminals in the state and should never be trusted. They are ignorant and line their own pockets at residents expense.		Live	99645

We have now realized how much biodiversity is needed to ensure our survival, and at a time when most of the world is trying to repair the damage caused by decades of overdevelopment, the degradation of an area like the remote matsu valley is the last thing that should be happening, especially for no other reason than needless greed. What that region holds is worth more than anything that will be extracted from the ground and the true financial cost of pursuing this road will be much higher than any short term monetary gains.Ä¶		Live there;Recreation;Own undeveloped property	12032

Economic harm - Loss of tourism/shutting businesses down, destroying Alaskans way of life and our culture.	No		Rather than applying for work I would actually be put out of business and have to fire our 18+ annual employees. Along with about 15 - 20 other lodges and operators. When someone finally does an economic analysis on this project they will see that this is a bad project for Alaska, culturally, historically, and economically. Fish and game populations would be drastically hurt by this road and the eventual access that would accompany it, that's why the Mat-Su fish and game AC is against it as well. The road would put animals on a drawing system which would close down non-resident hunting in the area and non-resident hunters pay for about 78% of fish and games budget. The road would ultimately cost Alaskans a lot of money to maintain with 156 river crossings and regular 2-3' snow dumps. This road would ruin the way many Alaskans currently recreate in the area which is currently a remote wild area that is already accessible as it is close to many cities. I want to hear from the potential industrial players like Nova Mineral and Donlin (they are a player). Has there been any consideration that killing the road only eliminates development of about 7 miles of the corridor west of the Susitna. Donlin's gas line will continue west from the base of Mt. Susitna anyway, if built. You are not asking the right questions! So far opinion is being based on emotion and that is not a good way to make a decision. If the road project is killed right now it doesn't die. It just fades from the public eye for a time and will return. Let's get this thing fleshed out now so our children don't have to deal with it. 74	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 12:20:55 PM AKST	Not enough information to decide	Live					As one of the only agricultural producers in the affected area west of the Susitna River it has the potential to have significant impact on my family and farm. It will most definitely have an impact on the lands identified by Div. of Ag as suitable for agriculture west of the Susitna.  My family has lived here for 28 years. We have enjoyed the remoteness the region provides and we have seen continued efforts to exploit the many natural resources West Susitna holds. We knew that some day a serious push for development would take place. Maybe, this is that time.  The negative impact such a road will have evolves primarily around the loss of its remoteness. The impact on wildlife and private stake holders is the most pronounced of impacts. This is true where ever expanded access takes place in the State.  On a positive note it has the potential to not only develop a mining district, but create an agricultural district that could have direct access to a tidewater port and rail. Port MacKenzie and the unfinished rail spur need the West Susitna Access Road to inject sustainable life into both projects.	I am in favor of a detailed analysis of the proposed project. Potential resource development west of the Susitna will not stop by killing the road project. It will subside for a time, but attempt after attempt will continue so let's go thru the process and get it all out on the table for everyone to see and assess.  Since this is to be primarily a road for heavy industry I would like an analysis of a potential rail spur rather than a road to be part of the process. A rail spur may have less impact and be a potential compromise.  Little is being said about the road paralleling the proposed Donlin Gas Line Project. The gas line will potentially occupy the same right of way for over 50 miles. We are told the road and gas line have nothing to do with each other. I don't believe that for a minute. Nova Mineral has stated in the past it might be able to use gas coming from the pipeline for its purposes too. Let's get these relationship out in the open...we aren't stupid. Even if the road is not built a 50 mile plus corridor will still exist and continue on to the Kuskokwim. We are really talking about developing a 15 mile stretch from the Susitna River to the Donlin Gas Line.  The west Susitna region is sparsely populated and economically depressed. Let's get serious about the economic impact on stake holders along the road corridor. It will have a negative impact on some tourism based businesses. How can that be mitigated?		Live	99667

I moved here partially due to the opportunities the West Susitna Access Road could provide me in the future. I would like to live here full time. My back ground is in Logging and Mining so the resources mentioned are in my wheelhouse. I would like to make it known that I support West Susitna Access Road project I believe that this project can only help local residence by creating jobs, possibly year around. The property value along the corridor will only gain in revenue. I believe we should vote yes on this project - Thank you for your time once again.				Jason Clapshaw

32	Online Survey 1	2022/02/15 10:14:30 AM AKST	Yes, but only if it has public access	Live	Recreation				I support a new road to provide more access for Alaskans, without planes, to enjoy fishing, hunting, and camping. I live on Point Mackenzie and I understand a new road out here would create more traffic going past my house, and possibly more hassles to deal with. We already have a severely reduced moose population, and the little sue king fishing has been dismal. Point Mackenzie road is network of tar patches pot holes, and frost heaves so bad I have replaced my shocks twice already. KGB road running out here is the most dangerous road in Alaska according to the DOT. But maybe if there is a reason to improve KGB and Point Mackenzie, like a new road going west, maybe it will benefit our little community. Since I don't own a plane, I have to drive to the Denali highway, Kenai peninsula, or Eureka for access to hunting and fishing via the road system. These road accessible trail and fishing systems are getting more and more crowded every year. Its a shame we have such a huge state and limited access to it. If we fight building roads we limit the growth and opportunities to make the state better. I am not a huge supporter of mining, but I can see that we can't always rely on oil as the industry that pays our bills. I think we need to develop all of our resources. Maybe with a road we could better supervise mining operations. Maybe we could even build a hatchery on the big sue, or even little sue, to begin to rebuild the red and king salmon population while also providing more access for fishing areas to reduce pressure on other rivers. This would also provide more tourism activities instead of taking visitors north or south.			Live	99623

1086	Phone	2/15/22	N/A	Own developed property	Information					Roy Carlson, Ph.D. [Redacted] Roy called to ask if the public meetings would be held in-person or virtual only, and I said virtual only. He asked why he received a postcard; I said postcards were sent to people who owned property within a broad area encompassing "West Susitna" and even including Big Lake, Knik, and the Point MacKenzie area. He said he owns a cabin at Kroto Creek. He asked if there was a larger map he could view of the area. I referred him to our website. He was not at a computer so I referred him to the www.matsugov.us web site and let him know there is currently a link to the West Susitna Access info right on the home page, and described how he can scroll down to access the maps and more info. I encouraged him to call again if he had any additional feedback at some point. Roy says he was the MSB Public Works Director from about 1989-1993 or so.				Roy Carlson
1131	Email	2/22/22	No	Own developed property	Wilderness					My Name is Christopher DeHart, and I am writing in regards to the proposed West Susitna Road access. My Wife, Angela and I Own Property on Derf Lake. We have invested to Date over $100,000.00 building a very nice Cabin with out buildings on a secluded Lake. This proposed road would travel approx. 200-300 Yards behind our property, and having it there would kill any seclusion that we may have. In our opinion it would completely Destroy everything about this property that we hold dear. We chose to buy and build in this location due to distance that you have to travel to get there. It is on the outer reaches of what can be feasibly reached via boat and snow machine. This road would usher in people, truck traffic and may other items that we do not want in our back yard.  It is hard to understand how we can invest all of this time and effort into something that we hold dear just to have the State come in a take away the seclusion that we hold on too. I for one am very gained this as I see that there is no up side to it but only an expense to the state. Nothing good will come of this road for the people that own property out there. 1149	Email	2/23/22	No	Own developed property	Access					My family and I are very opposed to this proposed road. We have a cabin in the area and are worried about more people having access to our area. We built the cabin because we loved the wilderness feel of the place. We are also greatly concerned about the environmental impacts of build the road across all these sensitive areas, mostly the wetlands and rivers. Coal is a dying fuel and isn't likely to be a good financial investment. I'm very skeptical that there's enough or will be enough funding for the road. We think you're vastly underestimating the actual cost of constructing the road.  A very concerned citizens!!  Please don't be short sighted!  We aren't anti-development, but wrong road for the wrong reason and a bad investment!  Please don't do this!!				Benjamin Rapp
1201	Email	3/21/22	No	Own developed property	Public vs private					My name is Fred A Bacon a lifelong resident born 4-26-59. I am an at large stockholder in Cook Inlet Region Inc. and a retired heavy equipment operator with 30 years of service out of the I.U.O.E Local 302, plus I am trustee of the family property on Flathorn Lake (tax acct ID # 5637500L006). I have made a living out of building roads to make our state a safer place to drive and bring our natural resources to market. So I have seen what new roads can bring for better or for worse. As for the proposed West Susitna Access Road project, I am against it in more ways than one.  First, the company wanting to open the mines at the end of the road are a foreign company that will take all the profits out of state and country, and not benefit our economy in the long run.  Second, if such a road was to be built it shouldn't be "PRIVATE"; it should be open to the public use since it is going across public land and not run by a foreign company for its own profits. Sooner or later that state land will be opened up that's not what I'm opposed to, what I'm opposed to is how that land is developed for the people of the State of Alaska, or for a foreign company after the gold in the ground! What about the future generations that will deal with whatever the foreign company leaves behind? So in my personal opinion if the road project is not a public use DOT safe roadway it should not be built period!				Fred A Bacon P.O. [Redacted] Home # [Redacted] email: [Redacted]

1289	Email	3/31/22	No	Own developed property	Feasibility					Thank you for compiling these comments. I've worked on these projects in the past and know how much work it can be. Note that we've written several comments and have provided some bolded sections that may help if you need to summarize what is here.  To Whom It May Concern:  This letter provides comments based on the current status of the above referenced project. We appreciate the opportunity to offer these comments and request that you forward these comments in their entirety to all decision-makers for consideration.  We own a remote cabin property located on Homestead Creek in Sub-Unit 7 (Flathorn Lake) of the Fish Creek Management Plan. Our property is in close proximity (approximately 1 mile) to the proposed road alignment. Our comments reflect our concerns that the project may not be economically viable and that there will be significant impacts to us, to other remote property owners along the alignment, and to the state.  I have spent much of my career as a civil engineer – now retired – planning resource development projects in Alaska. As such, I have some understanding of and support the idea that these types of projects can help to build and support our economy. However, many of these projects are either never built or are delayed for years because the economic aspect is not in front.				Shawn Florio, PE PMP Rona Florio

616	Online Survey 2	2022/03/19 12:18:08 PM PDT	No	Own developed property	high cost		high cost	No		The Mat-Su Borough is unable or unwilling to maintain existing roads and make them usable year round. For example, the simple expedient of using "gates" on snow plows to keep driveway access to roads open for emergency vehicles and getting to work on time is specifically not done. The Borough has wasted millions of dollars on projects that were not properly planned, such as the railroad bed to (almost) Pt. McKenzie, a Wasilla bypass that stops at KGB Road instead of bypassing Wasilla, a plethora of subsidized farms that haven't panned out, and the infamous ferry. All of these projects mostly benefited a few landowners and out-of-state based construction companies, such as Granite, but have done little for Alaskans. The West Susitna Road is another boondoggle that will benefit a few foreign or alien companies. It is already contemplated that public access will be denied, which will create enormous enforcement problems both by government and through private litigation and, practically speaking, public access will happen whether allowed or not. Take a look at the McKenzie railroad bed: it is used regularly by recreational vehicles. To be useful for a railroad, it will have to be substantially rebuilt. 1224	Email	3/23/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own developed property	Access					I agree with the proposed construction of the Susitna road project. I believe this project will help open up the state to more land for settlement and offer easier access to another part of Alaska.  As the original patent holder of land within 4 miles of this road project I would look forward to better access for hauling building materials and fuel into my cabin. I am at the point where a little less work in supplying the cabin would be nice.				Robert Coffin, Redacted 8 mile Lake
1233	Letter	3/24/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own developed property	Yes to road, no to the mine					I have a cabin at Shell Lake. We have always hoped for a road into that area. A road would make a major impact on constructing residences in the area. It would also make it possible for lots more full time residents.  Never the less there are major concerns about if a major industrial road could be used by residents. I envision open pits and major haul trucks, do not go well with resident use. In my history with major projects as soon as they have taken what they want they lock the gates on access.  Alaska has a bad history of supporting boom and bust industries. People in Alaska sell their souls for work, and after all, it has only taken a hundred years to grow trees over gravel pits left by the dredging of so many of the water ways, in the first gold boom.  I understand industrial projects, I was an industrial estimator for forty years. Big money is always going to win out, they always do.  Mining is a non-sustainable venture, rape and run, take money and run. Residential development is slower process but is sustainable and easy to control ecological damage.				Cal Moure, Redacted

1036	Comment Form	12/7/21	No	Own undeveloped property	Money					Assembly Members, I oppose RS21-134. I am a taxpaying property owner in the Hayes River corridor. I access my remote recreational property up the Hayes River where the West Susitna Access Road is proposed. I oppose construction of this road. 1. Alaska and Valley taxpayers should not be funding an expensive private road project for the benefit of a foreign company. Even if this were a public road, it is expensive and serves no purpose except for the mining company that wants it. It will ruin the remote quality of my property. 2. AIDEA is famous for throwing Alaska money away supporting private companies. No doubt these private companies are lining the pockets of elected officials but the people don't want it. 3. The Hayes and connected river systems are critical for salmon, other fisheries and wildlife areas that actual Alaskan people use recreationally and that is their best use and doesn't cost the public. 4. Mining is a disaster. Mining companies create waste, leave town, & the public pays for cleanup. 5. A bunch of black spruce and softwood trees is not a viable timber project. Fake justification. 6. There has not been adequate environmental or financial assessment or public input. 7. We should fund our schools, university, and PFD before we give away money and wreck fisheries.				Barbara Norris

1212	Email	3/22/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Money					I am a property owner in the Matanuska Susitna Borough. Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the West Susitna Road Access Project (Project). For the reason discussed below, I currently oppose the Project as a yet unjustified expenditure of State and Borough resources. The State of Alaska and the Matanuska Susitna Borough have failed to perform a cost benefit analysis to determine whether the benefits from the Project outweigh the associated costs to and expenditures by the State and Borough. If not, the State and Borough are subsidizing private development at the cost of Alaskan and Borough residents without a commensurate return. The Project should not proceed until supporters demonstrate the benefits of the West Susitna Access Road (the Road) outweigh the costs to and for the State and Borough. Importantly, the State and the Borough have failed to require the private mining interest promoting the Project to demonstrate that its own private development plans are financially solid and will be profitable. To the extent that the State or Borough are relying on a private entity to develop, maintain and operate the Road, knowing that the proposed mining development will be profitable is critical to the State and Borough's decision making. Evidence exists that the mining development may not be profitable without State and Borough subsidy. AIDEA and the Borough have a history of investing in such private projects and the projects failing Mat Su Borough Assembly.				Blythe Marston Redacted
1039	Email	12/7/21	No	Own undeveloped property	Process					My name is Clem Myers and I am a land owner in the Mat Su Borough near the proposed West Susitna Industrial Access Road. I am opposed to approval of Phase III of the MOU between Nova Minerals, AIDEA and the Mat Su Borough for the following reasons: 1) There has been very little public outreach conducted for a project of this magnitude. It will completely change the use of this land for land owners, lodges, businesses, hunters and fishermen. All of these individual entities deserve a comprehensive review and vote on the proposed project. 2) This project seems to have been fast tracked through the system without adequate impact studies in an attempt to sneak it into the budget. The road would completely change the use of the Western Susitna Borough as we know it today and probably in a negative direction as viewed by the current interested parties (except of course Nova Minerals). Most of us would remember, despite numerous promises, that there has never been a "clean" operation in the history of mining. Numerous examples abound. 3) The proposed project is for a completely private industrial road with no guarantees regarding public access. This is absolutely unacceptable considering the amount of public money being spent. The economic analysis of costs and benefits to the Mat Su Borough has not been completed, nor has an environmental impact statement.				Clem Myers

1073	Email	2/13/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Wilderness					We have been property owners in the Yentna River area for 34 years and we are very opposed to the building of the West Susitna Access Road. When one buys property in this area, they are not just buying a physical piece of property, but a lifestyle, the core of which is wilderness, away from any road system. If a road was built, it would destroy this lifestyle for many, taking away the reason that they purchased their properties in the first place. If a road was built, crime would increase, wildlife and fishing habitat would suffer. Fishing would change with the river crossings. Freighters, lodge owners, and wilderness guides would be put out of business. And how many jobs would you add, and what would the jobs be? And would they even be Alaskans? There would be no logging in the area, as most trees are already dead from beetle kill; there is not a sustainable forest in this area currently or in the foreseeable future. Why are public funds being used to enrich a private company? Corporate greed? What is the connection between the owners of this company and employees of the State in a decision making position? You don't have the funds to build this road, and if you are serious about this, the funds should be identified before you even start the permitting process. This is a waste of public money that could be used in a much more beneficial manner. To				Dawayne and Chris Anderson

I just recently I learned of this project. As outlined by AIDEA, The resource development for the Mat Su Borough is defined as timber from the West Susitna Access Project. The infestation of the spruce bark beetle in Alaska since 2013 has devastated the timber in the Susitna Valley. Almost all of the trees are dead now. The only use for the timber is firewood. Timber is NOT a viable industry source in this area. The majority of the area outlined for this project is considered wetlands according to the Alaska wetland maps. I also own Northern Plumbing &amp; Heating, a mechanical contracting business. We do a majority of our work with home builders, general contractors and land developers. That being said I will lay out my reasons for my complete opposition to the West Susitna Access Road project. I am requesting that funding be suspended for the West Susitna Access Road in current and future budgets. The idea that this 100 mile industrial road will create access is the tip of the spear for those in favor of this project. This is a terrible lead point given the fact that the access already exists. The residents and users of this area access it year round via boat, snowmobile, airplane, atv you name it. A boat to run that river can be had for substantially cheaper than the price of a new vehicle today. Access is there for users who want to be there, it is also there for industry. Many conduct business on that watershed myself included and have never needed the aid of a road. Recreation is being sold as another driver for the project. However, anyone who is remotely familiar with the area is well aware that the hunting and fishing resources have been on the decline for some years now. Any user who thinks they will be walking into prime hunting and fishing areas will be gravely disappointed and the added pressure will only deplete these resources further. There has been over 1.5 million dollars spent to build the fish trap. https://www.alaska.gov/utah-ance-when-essentially-at				Lee McKnight Northern Plumbing & Heating, LLC P.O. 1190	Email	3/10/22	No	Own undeveloped property	Access, negative					I am opposed to this plan. I believe that the plan will adversely affect those who reside in the area, and those who own property. It's my belief it's a disrespect to those who have invested time and energy to have a certain way of life in that area. This plan would turn the area into a "Jim Creek" junk free for all. This proposed road project reminds me of another project about 13 or 14 years ago. It was called the Port MacKenzie Railroad Extension Project. If I recall correctly, the intent was to shorten the current rail route for moving minerals (Coal and other possible mineral finds) from the interior to the Port of Seward.  Originally, The Matanuska-Borough (MSB) assembly had approved a rail route from Port MacKenzie to Willow. It was called the Willow Route. Someone decided that just one route was not sufficient enough for the public to make an informed decision. Because this was a route for a railroad, The National Surface Transportation Board (STB) had to become involved. (The STB was the only carryover after the U. S. My concern is that this project will obligate AIDEA funds and focus from more important economic development opportunities. My perception from news is that that is nothing by a political project that opens up hunting access for Matsu residents and gains conservative votes in an election year. I have not seen any mining or energy access projects that are of a scale that need this project and would be able to pay road toll such as the Ambler or Red Dog projects. Surely the AIDEA can come up with many other better projects that could use the money. Heck, I'd even support building some of the railroad to Canada rather than a road to new moose hunting grounds.	As you go through the planning, I'd suggest an economic development plan be developed that looks at how the project could help stimulate new Alaska industry and opportunity during construction; and economic and community development projects after the project is done. If we are going to have a road to nowhere, might as well plan on investing some money in a legacy benefit beyond the short term construction spending. (Remember the Whittier tunnel project that failed to consider the infrastructure and economic opportunity after the project was completed. Lets not do that again!) at least make sure there is a parking lot and toilet included at the end of the project.	Interested person	99516

72	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 11:54:26 AM AKST	No	Own undeveloped property					It would open up a remote region where I have property to the undesirable things that come along with road access. I have plans to build a cabin there this year for eventual relocation to, and after receiving this notice in the mail today am wondering if it is worth the time and effort anymore...	I've spent a fair amount of time in the region that the proposed road will be cutting through over the years and just last year purchased a few remote acres for the purpose of building a place to get away from anywhere with road access and the people/tourists that come along with it. The parcel is on a small lake that keeps most of the guided flight services away from the immediate area due to its difficulty for landings/takeoffs. The proposed road almost cuts right through my parcel off of the north tip of Beluga mountain. This means that if the proposition goes through I've just wasted my money and time. Plainly put this road is a bad idea that will open up yet another area to further unneeded exploitation. While I know the remote Matsu region gets a heavy amount of recreational services like guided hunting, fishing, etc..., the splendor of it to me and I think so many others is that the only ways to get into it were plane, boat, or snowmobile. Putting an access road through the heart of it ruins what makes it, and so much of the state of Alaska so great. Please don't allow this project to go through.		Play	12032
77	Online Survey 1	2022/02/16 2:49:34 PM AKST	No	Own undeveloped property					It would run a road close to our remote property that we own and are building on for the benefit of a foreign mine. Access is easy for those who want to be there. We do not want the road.	The idea that this road will create access is the tip of the spear for those in favor of this project. This is a terrible lead point given the fact that the access already exists. The residents and users of this area access it year round via boat, snowmobile, airplane, ATV you name it. A boat to run that river can be had for substantially cheaper than the price of a new vehicle today. Access is there for users who want to be there, it is also there for industry. Many conduct business on that watershed myself included and have never needed the aid of a road. Recreation is being sold as another driver for the project. Anyone who is remotely familiar with the area is well aware that the hunting and fishing recourses have been on the decline for some years now. Any user who thinks they will be walking into prime hunting and fishing areas will be gravely disappointed and the added pressure will only deplete these resources further. There have been expensive efforts to bring the fish runs back to what they once were especially at Alexander creek, what would building a road, with bridges and water crossings into that area say about the continued effort of salmon restoration in the area? Unavoidably, creating effortless access would increase poaching not only for fish, but wildlife also. I have heard claims of the road being an avenue for land sales that the state would profit from. DNR already has land auctions annually in the area, they also have. Over the counter land sales throughout the basin. Some of the land that was sold off in the last year is very close to this proposed road route. Land is already		Play	99623

Who will be conducting the maintenance? How will the maintenance be paid for? What are the anticipated annual income/receipts the state will receive from mineral, oil and gas receipts? It seems that non-DOT departments, such as Fish &amp; Game, might require additional funds/resources if this road is built. What assistance will other State Agencies receive and what will the anticipated costs be to other State Agencies to manage this road and the surrounding area? Alaska has a mixed record for resource development of this type. Frequently these types of projects have resulted in what Jay Hammond called "malignant growth"; meaning, we've gotten bigger but not better. Often the benefits of the project go to a few construction companies and extraction industries, while the residents/citizens will receive little in return and will only subsidize the total costs for the public road and access to the area.			Blaine Smith Land Owner- West Papoose Lake

Landowners, CO-OPs, developers and private citizens will benefit from the increased infrastructure, resources and access into new areas of Alaska on so many levels. Unified efforts like this help to build economic resiliency and self sustainability. While connecting communities to the road system will bring challenges it will undoubtedly help to make access to everyday supplies and resources more economical for everyone. Access to the interior has always been dangerous, difficult and often limited to small planes, boats and seasonal off road solutions. This is clear case where pros outweigh the cons. But the state corporations have a duty to benefit all Alaskans, and have enough forethought to foster comprehensive development of the area for all Alaskans, which means the smaller but more numerous industries that go along with private property development, recreation, hunting, fishing, and small-scale mining which can coexist with influential, publicly-traded mining companies. South central, and Alaska at large has a significant access deficiency despite the incredible amount of public lands. This project could synergize resource development with creating recreational and tourism opportunities in the state. Don.Åt compromise the quality of our natural, recreational areas without the compromise of increased, more equitable access for all Alaskans.		Recreation; Own undeveloped property;Hunting;Fishing;Interested person	99507

1204	Email	3/21/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Public vs private					I am a property owner at Darf Lakt and I do NOT oppose the Susitna Access Road. However, sine I own property there I would like to have access to my property and totally reject it being used only for the mining district!! There is a way to keep the road from being used by non-residents but putting in a gate with an access code! I hope this road will be approved as now is definitely the time those minerals etc can be mined for our country				Christy Moore REDACTED

1115	Phone	2/17/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Information					Dave had questions about details of the project. He owns a property near Skwentna. Are the trucks going to operate all year? Who will do the maintenance? Will it be kept open all year? Will it be a two-way road, or one-lane and have pull offs? Will the bridge construction avoid salmon spawning times? He would like to have access for the people of Alaska. A positive part of the road would be improved access for fire fighting operations. He would like to see more details about the project before supporting it.				Dave
1218	Letter	3/16/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Route					Thank you for requesting comments on the Proposed West Susitna Access Road. As an area landowner, this project is exciting and necessary to open the West Susitna area. However, I would like to suggest that the PWSAR start in Ilnik instead of extending off the end of Ayrshire Avenue. Moving the start point to Knik would add several miles to the east end of the project, but the advantages would be numerous. 1)It would revitalize the townsite of Knik. The Knik residents have long publicly spoke in favor of events and opportunities to bring commerce back to Ilnik. 2)Road easements were historically established in 1911-1912 by the Alaska Road Commission which built Route 20A (a portion of the historic Iditarod Trail) from Knik to Susitna Station. Route 20A was professionally located, engineered, and built to road/trail standards of the day. As a route built on federal land, the easements and location have already been secured. 3)Using Route 20A today would have the advantages of directly linking the communities of Knik, South Big Lake, and Fish Creek. Currently, people have to use various routes like Hollywood & Vine roads, Parks Highway & Knik Goose-Bay, or Knik Goose-Bay and Burma roads. A direct link would provide residents and travelers superior access and reduce travel miles. The previously engineered Route 20A is almost a direct straight line from Knik to Susitna Station. (See enclosed document titled IDAR image) I support the development and construction of the West Susitna Access Road. I have 3 lots in the Kutna Creek Subdivision ( the first one was purchased in 1983 ) and it looks like in the future my grandchildren will be able to travel by road to develop and use the property. 1211	Email	3/22/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Access to property					My comments are simple. The way things are only those with significant means can access and enjoy these areas. Many of those are not even from this state. My husband and I homesteaded 40 acres in the mid 80s, surveyed it and have paid taxes on it every year since. Yet here we are, 3 generations of our Alaskan family later. My husband has passed away and still access to this land is not feasible for us. This road would come approximately within 5 miles of our property. This would change everything. It would be wonderful if at last our family, as well as other Alaskans of lesser means could at last have access to these lands				Maria Gertzen.
1303	Phone	3/31/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Public vs private					How far away from the proposed route is her property at the Eightmile Lake runway? I looked it up and let her know it is about six miles. She supports the road so long as it is public.				Martha MacDermaid, Redacted
1170	Email	2/25/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Opportunities					As a 2nd generation user of the area and a property owner (near Yensus Lake) I'm fully in SUPPORT of the proposed road, ensuing mining developments and outdoor recreation opportunities. If public access is limited past the Susitna River I am fully OPPOSED to the project.				Matthew Sommer Redacted
1122	Phone	2/18/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Public vs private					Follow-up needed, please. Ron was calling from Florida, but owns property in the Port MacKenzie area and received a mailing. He said he is hearing rumors that Pebble Mine is behind this effort. He said he is "not so much against the road", but feels strongly that it should be a State road and that the State --not private interest - should receive the benefits. Ron would appreciate a return call.				Ron Swicegood, Ph. Redacted
1105	Phone	2/16/22	Yes, but only if it is public	Own undeveloped property	Information					Todd Blessing, Redacted Todd called looking for a Phase 3 Memorandum of Understanding between AIDEA and the Borough. I responded there is no Phase 3 MOU, but there is a resolution of support from the Borough Assembly. The proposed route runs within four miles of their property located near an unnamed lake in the area of Shell Lake. He would like to use the road. His worst case scenario would be for the road to not have public access.				Todd Blessing

Telephonic: 2 - Assemblymember Tim Hale, and Assemblymember Robert Yundt

III. APPROVAL OF AGENDA

Mayor DeVries queried if there were any changes to the agenda.

Mr. Brown requested to pull Resolution Serial No. 21-134 from the consent agenda for discussion and that it be taken up immediately following audience participation so that the presenters could head back to Anchorage before the weather got any worse.

Mayor DeVries queried if there was any objection.

There was no objection noted.

Mayor DeVries queried if there were any other changes to the agenda.

The agenda was approved as amended without objection.

IV. PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Bill Kendig, a member of the audience.

V. SPECIAL ORDERS OF THE DAY

A. Appointment of Deputy Mayor - Jesse Sumner

Mayor DeVries requested a moment of silence in recognition of Pearl Harbor Day.

A moment of silence was observed.

Mayor DeVries queried if there was any objection to Jesse Sumner being appointed as Deputy Mayor.

There was no objection noted.

VI. MINUTES OF PRECEDING MEETINGS

21-222

A. Special Assembly Election Certification Meeting: 11/16/21

B. Regular Assembly Meeting: 11/16/21

The minutes were approved as presented.

VII. REPORTS/CORRESPONDENCE

A. AGENCY REPORTS (MSB 2.12.082; Seven minutes per person)

1. Reports From Cities

There was no report provided.

2. Matanuska-Susitna Borough School District

There was no report provided.

3. State of Alaska

Mr. Todd Smoldon, Executive Director of Governor Dunleavy's Mat-Su Office, reported that Governor Dunleavy is pleased with the continuing push-back about vaccine mandates. Advised that Governor Dunleavy will be releasing his budget on or by December 15, as is constitutionally required. Requested that the Assembly let him know what their priorities are.

B. COMMITTEE REPORTS

1. Joint Assembly/School Board Committee On School Issues

Mr. Brown advised that staff is working on putting together requests for proposals for all projects that were approved by the voters through the bond package. Noted that funding will be needed to award design contracts. Stated that he is still moving forward while continuing to work on funding sources. Advised that legislation will be coming forward that will fund the design portions of those projects so that staff can continue to move forward in the process.

Mr. Spiropoulos welcomed all newly elected members.

Ms. Nowers stated that she would like more information on what the public process will be for the West Susitna access road.

Assemblymember Yundt thanked the body for support reconsideration. Stated that he is looking forward to future meetings of the body.

Assemblymember Hale congratulated Assemblymember Sumner on being appointed as Deputy Mayor.

Assemblymember Sumner stated that he believes there is confusion on the intent of Ordinance Serial No. 22-003. Stated that it is not meant to go mine trough the greenbelt or disturb that area in anyway. Stated that the Borough has to dig large holes to accommodate the landfill and that the gravel has to go somewhere. Opined that the gravel should be sold to offset the cost of the landfill. Noted that he does not see any other viable solution. Stated that the conditional use permit application process is fairly restrictive. Noted that the landfill is already a nuisance and that he is unsure if exempting the landfill is an issue.

PUBLIC MEETINGS - Proposed West Susitna Access Road

PROJECT OVERVIEW

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska-Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range. Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings

STATUS

Phase 3 (current): Permitting & engineering
Phase 1 & 2 (completed): Pre-engineering

FUNDING

Phase 3 Estimate: $8.5 Million
Funding Source: State of Alaska

Final Design & Construction Estimate:
$300 Million to $400 Million
Funding Source: To be determined

SCHEDULE

Permitting & Engineering (AIDEA): 2022-2027
Proposed Construction: 2028

Summary

Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates, Public Engagement Lead) welcomed the group and introduced the team. Brad Sworts (Mat-Su Borough Project Manager) provided a project overview presentation.

The team received many questions and comments during the meeting. This summary includes the team's responses when available, as there were more questions than the team could answer within the duration of the meeting. Verbal questions and team responses are summarized. Written comments are verbatim. All comments are sorted by theme and topic.

Key comment themes included:

- Increased access is good
  - For development
  - For residents without airplane or boat access
  - For recreation
- Increased access is bad
  - For the environment
  - For roadless wilderness
  - For remote tourism
- Process concerns and questions
  - About the design
  - About the route
  - About the timeline
- Economic viability
  - Cost benefit analysis

Comments in Support

Proposed West Susitna Access Road - Public Engagement Project, February 23, 2022, Online Public Meeting Summary

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
Access	Hunting and fishing opportunities	Is this road going to be open to the public, so that hunting and fishing opportunities are going to increase in that area?	We are still evaluating the extent of public access on this route, and you know we're getting some feedback through this engagement session. The question is if they [the public and industrial users] can use the same corridor at the same time. That's the question that we need to answer. We need to get some feedback from the public, and also from the experts that have experience permitting multi-use roads that are open to heavy haul and the general public. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Access	Public access	I understand some individuals will always be opposed to new roads, but I also know that most of these individuals really want to be the only ones able to utilize a new area. Similar to closing millions of acres to the public by retaining its remoteness. I am comfortable with this road addition especially regarding not restricting it to non-company-only travel as they did to the Shaw Creek Road for Pogo.
Access	Public access	It seems like most of the landowners in the area who are participating in this meeting want to keep the area all to themselves, but that unfairly excludes other Alaskans. The land being considered for a road is on public property and should be accessible to all Alaskans.
Access	Public access Money Development	We're just mainly concerned about it being public access. It's a good, like, economic opportunity for the State to make some money. It's resource development, which I think is great. But I also see the potential risk of creating a road over so many water crossings and going into new lands and whatnot. I believe you know most of that area is inaccessible to the average Alaskan, and if we put a road through there, I think that's a great opportunity for the average Alaskan family to be able to recreate and explore new parts of our State that they otherwise would not be able to see or explore without a boat or a plane or significant snow machine rides. This would just provide easier access to vast majority of Alaskans. I want to see the road done safe, but I think this could be a really cool opportunity for people to gain access to new areas of our home. I can see it being kind of like a Denali Highway with tons of fishing and hunting and recreational opportunities here in South Central and I think it's a great opportunity. But again, I fully believe that if this project happens the State and the Borough should really push to ensure that there's public access from start to finish. Maybe even some primitive boat launches, or campgrounds at some of the major water crossings. I just wanted to say thanks and say that I support it as long as it's done right. I believe it will be and as long as it's public. All right, thank you.

Design	Speed	"Huge, earth moving trucks" do not go 100 mph. But if they could, who is there to stop them?
Development	Agriculture	The potential development in the area includes agriculture. Food security is a very important issue for Alaska.
Development	Multi-national mining companies	A comment about "multi-national mining companies." There are few Alaskan owned companies that can afford to develop projects. Remember that multi-national companies hire Alaskans, spend money in Alaska in support of their operations. Most of the money stays in Alaska.

Information	Mining	Folks, there is a lot of inaccurate information about mining being thrown around in the chat. Be responsible enough to learn about law and regulations on modern mining practices.
Money	Increased revenue	"Normal [government] services" are paid for with State revenue, which comes from taxes and royalties. If there are more development projects in Alaska, there will be more state revenue to pay for services.
Process	Little Susitna crossing	When will the proposed Little Susitna River crossing be built and will boating be impeded? The Little Susitna Public Use Facility boat launch is a very popular venue for boating and fishing.	The Little Susitna is a navigable river, so the Coast Guard is involved in the permitting of the bridges. The Coast Guard permitting process requires that if there's already boating on the river the bridge must accommodate that boating traffic. - Brad Sworts (Mat-Su Borough)
Process	Mining permit	No decision has been made to build a road. AIDEA and the Borough are in the research phase. Anyone saying this project needs to slow down, doesn't understand that there is currently NO project. A topic is being researched. Taking all of our comments tonight is part of the research process. Alaska's lack of infrastructure, most notably roads, is a challenge for future opportunities for Alaskans. Access to lands and the resources they contain is important to growing our state. When looking to expand Alaska's highway system, growth into the West-Susitna region seems to be the logical next step.

		While active mining exploration is taking place in the area, it is important to note that it is just that - exploration. For an actual mine to be developed - or even a road project, it would involve an extensive regulatory process involving multiple local, state, and federal agencies with dozens of science-based environmental permits, many of which have a public involvement process. The topic being discussed tonight is not a mining or road construction decision. It is to discuss the continued evaluation of the access route to pursue access for public opportunities. The Mat-Su Borough is the fastest-growing area of the state. It is easy to see why; there is something for everyone. The acreage is massive, and includes growing population centers, economic opportunities, and remote locations to enjoy Alaska's recreational bounty. With planning and sensible land management that considers multiple user groups, the Borough and State of Alaska can expand into the West Susitna region to accommodate everyone - not just those fortunate enough to already own property in the area.
Process	Traffic on Knik Goose Bay Road	It's kind of hard to believe when the Borough is actively looking to sell their conveyor belts, and if the port does not work out, is this anticipation for a bridge across Knik Arm? Or are you anticipating trucking out? Or maybe is it the new rail system that's supposed be going out there? I fully support this as a resident of Wasilla. I've been hunting on the west side of the Susitna River my entire life. The impact for the traffic on KGB is still pretty crucial. This needs to be included into the thought process and	Our goal is to get a permit in front of the Corps of Engineers sometime this spring, and at that point it's really in the Corps of Engineers hands on how long that takes. We're planning for about 2 years. But it could go longer or could be a little shorter. At that point we've got a decision to make, if we get the approval from the Corps. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

Access	Land auctions	There are currently auctions for land in the area now and if it was DNR's intent to develop and sell more land, can't they do that without a road?	The land sale program that DNR administers doesn't rely on this road. DNR is not an applicant for this road. We'd need a regulatory agency to evaluate the proposed road that is being pursued by AIDEA. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)
Access	No road needed for access	I conduct business out there without a road already...
Access	No road needed for access	Anybody can access the area. A boat that'll run the river costs substantially less than new vehicles these days.
Access	No road needed for access	Mines also don't require a road. Ask Red Dog.	The Red Dog Mine has an approximate 52-mile access road (the Delong Mountain Access Road) that is used to take minerals to a port facility on the coast. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)
Access	No road needed for access	Not everywhere needs easy access, a wild-ish area that is making the local businesses as much money as the Mat-Su region is a gold mine already. There are very few places like this area left in the world and that is worth more than any dollar amount. I have to pay the prices to get flown into my property, or anywhere else I've gone in the region when I go and no, I don't make a lot of money at all, so it stings, but it's been worth every hour of overtime, and I wouldn't want it to be cheap and easy.

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
Access	No road needed for access	The road would lead to Alaska's oldest hunting lodge est. in 1937 and put us out of business after 85 years, along with many other long-standing operations in the Susitna Valley.
Access	Recreation Wilderness Money	I live in Wasilla, my wife and I and our two children have fallen in love with the West Susitna area over the last few years. We spend considerable amount of time out there. I believe, from my own experience, the value of this West Susitna area is almost impossible to grasp without spending some time in the area for yourself. If you would have asked me 10 years ago, if I would approve of a road into the West Susitna area, I would have been fully on board. I believe the reason for having that decision, not knowing what the value the land had to me, due to the fact that I had not experienced it. It is for that reason that I believe folks that easily make the decision to be for this project. The West Susitna area is literally the last of its kind, due to the fact that it's so close to home, a 20-minute flight, one-to-two-hour snow machine ride, a boat ride, and you would see and feel the value that I'm talking about. I strongly encourage anyone that hasn't had the chance to take a day or a weekend. Call a lodge, get a place to stay, see it for yourself before you make a decision. The road could devalue the area as to not allow it again for yourself or the generations to follow. If this project were to become unfeasible or just cease to exist and stop, would AIDEA have other projects that they could infuse this $8,500,000 into?	The funding was specifically for the West Susitna Access Road. If we were to stop all activity, we would have to take direction from the State and State Legislature. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
Design	Traffic in Point MacKenzie	I was just looking at your interactive map and it looks like you're going through Road Service Area 17 to connect to this road. Are you planning to reimburse the property owners of RSA 17? Are the property owners of RSA 17 going to be responsible for maintaining the road for mining trucks to go up and down? I support the project except for that. I live in Point MacKenzie, so I am concerned about that.	That's a great question, and I don't think we have the answer to that. We're so early in the project. That's a question that needs to be answered along with who will maintain the rest of the road. - Brad Sworts (Mat-Su Borough)
Design	Parking Trail impacts Environment	I think parking is an important issue, because parking then turns into a de facto trailhead, and not only that but an unmanaged trailhead and that can cause pretty significant impacts to the resources, especially wetlands, especially in the summertime. I'm not really that concerned about the snow machines because they travel in the wintertime, but in the summertime, ATVs would certainly go out there, and parking would concentrate the use. It would cause adverse impacts to wildlife. It would cause resource damage and unmanaged or substandard stream crossings and erosion. I haven't heard any talk about that, and I would like you to consider that. I think it's important. I think it has adverse impact on our salmon and other fish.	You bring up a good point about an unmanaged trailhead. Managed access is critical to make sure the traffic doesn't go all over the place and that we manage our resources responsibly. The majority of properties are State land at this point. There definitely needs to be some strategy and planning done to determine whether there will be pullouts or not, and if there are other kind of impacts. Those are all big questions that get answered during the NEPA process. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Development	Agriculture	Most of the area is marsh. This road would access possibly 7,000 acres of agricultural land, but there are already 38,000 acres only 8 miles from Willow and another 20,000 acres available by Petersville.
Development	Limited opportunities	Yes, please substantiate your claim of "beneficial" forestry, agriculture and alternative energy (salmon river dams) projects. There seems to be many things touted that can't be delivered. Alaskans should

Development	Negative impacts	I just want to officially voice my opposition to this road and development. I don't believe that any benefits to Alaskans will outweigh the negative short- and long-term impacts of this development.
Development	Timber	Please address the idea that timber can be pulled from the area. There is no living marketable timber. The spruce beetles claimed that 4 years ago. All the timber is beetle killed. Road construction wouldn't start until 2028 at the earliest and all the timber will be deadfall and rotting for 6-7+ years by then. Trees at the end of the road take 75 years to get 12" diameter at the base and taper off quickly, AIDEA doesn't even register an economic benefit for timber on their in-house economic report.
Environment	Clean up	It took decades to clean up Jim Creek.
Environment	Clean up	One of the first things learned in natural resource management is it's much easier and cheaper to prevent problems than it is to try and remediate them. A road like this will wreak havoc on the different ecosystems in the region. Easy road access (public or private) through wetland and wild regions has led to millions of dollars wasted remediating problems that should have never been caused in the first place. Here in the Adirondacks where I grew up (even when they were built with “proper” oversight), you can’t find a body of water or wetland that isn’t polluted due to runoff, trails are overrun to the point where some need permit systems for use, overfishing and over-hunting are major issues, the list goes on.

Environment	Gravel sourcing	Where is all of the gravel going to come from to build this road? Will the gravel sourcing be included in the NEPA process? Considering the wetlands makeup of most of this road, the gravel needs will be enormous.	Gravel sources are critical for any road project. Available gravel sources will need to be identified and disclosed in the EIS document. Any gravel source located on State lands would need to be permitted through the material sale processes. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)
Environment	Gravel sourcing	Has nothing been identified yet as a potential area [for gravel extraction]? The gravel will be a huge project in and of itself.	Specific new gravel sources will need to be disclosed and permitted prior to their construction/use. Any impacts from that new disturbance would be evaluated with the other potential effects from the overall project. Existing gravel pits that are already permitted could also be used. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)
Environment	Salmon	I would say that the potential impact on the Cook Inlet salmon fisheries is hugely important. This road would go through the watershed and spawning areas for Cook Inlet salmon. Major stream crossings are one thing and would hopefully be regulated by the Recreation Rivers Management Plan, but the small creeks and feeder streams in the wetlands would not be adequately protected. The Cook Inlet salmon fishery is important to all of us - commercial fishing, sports fishing, tourism, private use.

Environment	Salmon	The proposed Little Susitna River crossing is located right on top of King Salmon spawning grounds.	One of the things that needs to be accounted for is obviously spawning grounds for salmon. So, if somebody knows of a location where spawning is taking place, I would definitely get that comment into the Borough, into the Corps of Engineers, and into the Alaska Department of Natural Resources when the public comment periods are open for all those. Any activity below the ordinary high-water mark of fish streams, whether anadromous or not, requires a fish habitat permit from Fish and Game. Culverts were mentioned earlier in the conversation today. It was spot on that Fish and Game has to permit the design of every fish crossing along the entire route, and they take that job very seriously. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)
Environment	Tourism Wilderness preservation	I own FishHound Expeditions. We bring hundreds of thousands of dollars to the State of Alaska and the Mat-Su Valley every year. And that's just my company. Hunting, fishing, and ecotourism generate millions of dollars for the State of Alaska, and that money stays in Alaska. It does not go to foreign mining companies and it benefits Alaskans whether that be restaurant owners, or others, everything stays in the State, and this needs	People are starting to hear about the project now. As part of the outreach, we sent out over 13,000 postcards. There will be more opportunities to comment during the environmental process. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates) to be looked at as a very serious threat to what we are doing. People come to Alaska because it is wild and roadless, putting a road across 156 known water crossings will forever change our area. I think that really needs to be considered before moving ahead. It has been very clear that the public does not want this. Landowners do not want this, and the public comment period needs to be extended and listened to, because most people in the valley don't even know that this is going on and this is a huge impact all of us that call Alaska and the Valley home.

Environment	Wilderness	If the utilization of a roadway to access remote areas is something someone is interested in, there are hundreds of miles of road available to do so. Wild areas like the West Su are becoming few and far between. Especially being that it is so close to town. If the road were to be developed, the option of that area being as wild and untouched as it is now would go away forever.
Environment	Wilderness	Just hearing the term “heavy industrial use” in regard to a wild area such as this with so many fragile wetlands and waterways makes me sad, and I am certainly opposed to this road.

How are Alaskans going to be compensated for this road and how do the economics of this road work with a payback to Alaskans for financing this road for Nova Gold. One other question I have for AIDEA that I would really like to hear an answer to is years ago there was another alignment. If this gold mine is just so productive, and it's so important to Alaska, would it be possible to consider a different route, that would go out to Tyonek which is 30 miles shorter. It's all gravel in that area and has a lot less wetlands and salmon to disturb.	route was the most direct route to tie into existing infrastructure along the road system. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

Lifestyle	Wilderness	This road and public access are going to change the way that many of us who have recreated out in this area, and possibly own land or cabins, or operate businesses, is going to change the way that the land is being used and while some people may see it as positive, there are a lot of us who are going to see it as very negative. This is going to run right through an area that I've enjoyed trapping in for the last 15 to 20 years. It's going to change the experience that I have in my cabin that I've built out there over time. Process	Lifestyle Wilderness Limited outreach Maintenance Taxes	As a land and cabin owner in the area, I strongly oppose this road. This road is going to change the way of life for so many people who choose to live or recreate remotely. The area where the bridge is going across the [Big Su] river has been open to dip netting, and this bridge is going to affect the fishing. This area is only accessible by snow machine, boat, or plane right now and a road is going to change that completely. To say that there has been good outreach is NOT true. We received our first and only information on this project this month. The only way we knew about this project was by word of mouth from a fellow landowner. Not only will this change our way of life but the cost to maintain this road is going to be high. From a previous meeting in December, the public was told that the Borough is going to be responsible for maintaining up to the bridge; that is a huge undertaking. When are we going to know how this road and bridge is going to change our land taxes?
Money	Cost benefit analysis	Mr. Brown, many of us question some of your most basic assumptions, aside from the omissions, in your planning documents. Chief among them concern financial feasibility. You'll need a very serious, state-of-the-art economic study using Outside experts. It should account for external costs and show confidence intervals expected with modern economic methods.

Money	Cost benefit analysis	When will an independent cost benefit analysis be completed? The one AIDEA did was done in house and didn't list a single downside of the project, which is highly unrealistic and misleading.	If that's something the Borough would like to request, we're certainly open to a third-party opinion but there's no requirement to do that prior to permit submission. We're still in a pre-feasibility stage. We haven't committed to building anything yet. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Money	Existing revenue	There is a ton of revenue generated from the businesses and the people that exist in its curtain state in the West Susitna area.
Money	Feasibility	Why would you even be doing it if it's not going to be feasible or if you don't know if it will make money? Right now, we don't even have enough money to pay for our government services, you're having to steal our PFDs every year, because you don't have any money for government services. And yet you're going to use all this kind of money to pay for a road that may or may not even be feasible. I'm a little irritated at the way that AIDEA's projects go. They general lose money for the State and we end up spending tons of money and then we don't have money for our basic services. It seems to me that the development should continue right now on a fly-in basis until you know that that it's really going to be worth it, and you can actually guarantee it. We should pay for our normal services first before we dole out all this money on wasted boondoggle projects. You just want to do it as some dream thing and then you	One thing that I wanted to highlight is the success of the Red Dog mine and the infrastructure that AIDEA invested in. It has provided returns to the State of Alaska for a number of years since the early '90s, and that gets paid back to the State via dividend. This is a similar type of project that could develop. We're still in the fact-finding stage, and really trying to determine what this looks like. It's okay that we don't have all those answers just now, and I know that there are some anxious folks out there want us to have all the answers, but we don't, and we're really in this process trying to get smarter about this project, and make sure that it's going to be a good project for the Borough and

Money	Poor AIDEA reputation	This road cost would be like three times the Enterprise Value of this company. Good point, and nine times if it's a public road!
Money	Poor AIDEA reputation	Yes, Mr. Brown, we understand that AIDEA has been trying for decades to repeat another Red Dog. Nevertheless, a tally of AIDEA's overall track record is not pretty. Based on that alone, many of us distrust AIDEA's fiscal competency. Your studies will have to overcome that bad reputation.
Money	Poor AIDEA reputation Too expensive	With your $8.5 million, seems like you could study selling AIDEA. Likely selling AIDEA would bring a better financial bonus to Alaskans than your project. Consider the poorly calculated benefits versus the clear direct and high costs of your proposed work.
Process	Lifestyle Policing Property tax increases	It's going to change the way of life for a lot of people. We are strongly opposed to it. I haven't heard too much on policing. We were wondering about property taxes. When will we know? Because if this road goes in that is going to increase property taxes out there. I was also wondering what the pink dotted line was on the slides.	I imagine it would be the State troopers, if it's a public road, however it is too early in the process to know. Same with the property taxes. There are still many questions that have to be answered. The pink dotted line is a mineral district boundary line. - Brad Sworts (Mat-Su Borough)

Process	Limited mining interest	Steve Perrins II from Rainy Pass Lodge. I'm glad there is a comment period, but we wanted a comment period in phases 1 and 2. I talked with DNR today, and it looks like there's only one exploration company currently in operation up there. Everybody knows that the primary purpose for this road is the hard rock minerals up there. It doesn't sound like there's even a ton of interest other than that one Australian company at this point.	We are starting to see some interest from other parties and other industries as well. Companies are looking at oil and gas, coal, and hard rock mining, especially gold. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Process	Mining permit	Has the mine been permitted yet? How do we even know it will be developed?	I am not aware of any mine permitted in the region. However, there are some mineral exploration activities occurring in the region. Any mine that is proposed in the future would be required to secure all federal, state and local authorizations, which would trigger separate public notice and comment periods, evaluations, and analyses. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)
Process	NEPA	When the NEPA process begins, will the cumulative impacts of the proposed Donlin Pipeline, West Su Road and the oil and gas leases be taken into account for economic and environmental impacts in the area or will the West Su Road be looked at as an individual project?
Process	Outreach	I just want to be really clear that the outreach has been atrocious for this project so far.
Process	Outreach	This process is better late than never. This should have been done a long time ago, and I think a lot of people don't even want it to get to the NEPA process.

Process	Outreach Cost benefit analysis Public vs private road	My name is Eric Booton, I am the Sportsmen Coordinator for Trout Unlimited's Alaska Program. Thank you for this opportunity provide comment and ask questions about the West Susitna Access Road. Trout Unlimited has strong local roots in Alaska and the Mat-Su and we have heard loud and clear from our membership and local sportfishing businesses that they are concerned about the staggering impacts this project will have to fish habitat and a healthy watershed, with little benefit to Alaskans. I am very appreciative that the MatSu Borough created this opportunity for public engagement. AIDEA was required to conduct public engagement during phase 2 of the project and did a disappointing job in doing so. However, a 6-week comment period and two virtual meetings is just a start and not enough. I encourage the Borough to continue to facilitate a robust and public engagement process where others have not. With so much missing information, it's impossible to have an informed conversation. Here are some suggestions to help inform the conversation as AIDEA and the borough move forward – please respond if you have any insight: I echo the need for an independent cost benefit analysis of the road and encourage the Borough to request one.	I will highlight that much of that will be addressed in this next step with Phase 3. The NEPA process, the environmental impact statement, will consider the effects on the businesses and effects on the resources. That all gets handled at the next level. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

		Construction of the road will impact existing businesses - please conduct an economic loss study to understand the impact this project will have on existing businesses and operators in the region. The road will bisect wild game habitat, but nothing has been shared on impacts to wild game – will this be thoroughly studied? Economic feasibility and environmental impact studies of projects the road will support is critical to informing the cost/benefit analysis of this road – is this being studied? Can it be added to the Borough project website? At the December Assembly meeting, AIDEA stated the road would be private past the Susitna River - While you may not be required to determine whether or not the road will be public prior to permitting is there anything stopping you from making that decision prior to NEPA? Can you commit to making that decision prior to NEPA for the sake of the public? Lastly, AIDEA needs to slow down – it is alarming that AIDEA intends to apply for a NEPA permit this spring with so many questions and so few answers and public engagement only honestly beginning. Thank you for your time.

The next step in this process is submitting a 404 permit application, and then that will trigger the NEPA process. Then we'll just follow right along with a very well defined permitting and regulatory process to make sure that we're in compliance with the Corps of Engineers and all of the environmental stipulations. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Process	Poor AIDEA reputation	Has AIDEA ever had a project that didn't flop?
Process	Poor maintenance	I am a full-time fishing guide and operate out of the Little Susitna Public Use Facility within the Susitna Flats State Game Refuge. The approximate 1 mile of road that currently exists within the refuge has terrible drainage and is poorly maintained.
Process	Public vs private road	Shouldn't we wait until there's a determination of whether this road will be public or not before we acknowledge any anticipated 'public' benefits? Also, current agricultural constraints are primarily storage, packing and processing facilities, and access to markets. Regarding more development = more revenues for the state that is so not true. Lots of money has been wasted on developing development that has never been developed.

Process	Public vs private road	There was a question about the minerals that have been identified in this area, and a reference to the Frontiersman article yesterday, which also said that none of those minerals have actually been confirmed yet. They've just been assessed through aerial scans and some limited testing. This seems like a huge impact to a number of things for not having any confirmed minerals out there, or more than one company to do this project. That's not how this happens in other parts of the of the State or the country. It seems like putting the cart before the horse, and like another huge AIDEA boondoggle that we're all too familiar with. I'm curious if this will be a public or private road because the impacts will be very different with different resources needed and access points. It would be a very different design plan for a public versus a private road. Why is the Borough touting this as a public road when AIDEA isn't at this point? It seems very misleading that they are, and I think it's pretty clear that you're not going to have support unless there's a public aspect to this road. It seems really misleading as well to tell people that this might be a public road and that's really not what it's designed for through either the road design or the cost design. I feel like you guys do know what you're aiming for, and it needs to be more transparent to the public. My last question at this point is, what is the traffic volume you've talked about? I've heard a couple different numbers over the last year and a half and interaction with private vehicles will certainly be a consideration.	As far as the public access, we're looking at the feasibility of public elements of this road along with industrial use and so that means a lot of different things to different users. We need to get better educated on what that looks like. It's a part of the feasibility stage of this project, and it's okay to not have all the answers. We're trying to engage with the public to understand where the desires lie, and make sure that we're putting something out there that the public wants and is supported. We'll work also for industry and resource development. This is a dynamic process, and we don't have definitive answers. We're going to engage with the experts to see if there is the ability to coexist the public and heavy industrial traffic. As far as volumes of trucks, we haven't had any discussions about that and we don't know what kind of volumes to expect. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

Process	Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan	So, in order to build this road, you have to lift current protection of the Susitna Recreational Rivers Plan in order to build bridges over the Little Susitna River and the Talachulitna River, correct? And that opens those rivers to further development proposals in the future including more roads, bridges, etc. Future expansive development within salmon strongholds should be considered by everyone that is doing their diligence on the impacts of this initial access road. "Coincidentally" the Rec Rivers plan has been re-opened up and they are simultaneously working on that.
Process	Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan	This road proposal is being treated as a stand-alone action, when in fact it is a keystone to numerous proposals (gas line to Donlin, coal bed methane, timber harvest) that would affect a very large undeveloped region. The first and foremost step is to review the Susitna Area Plan in a thorough and transparent process that allows the public to determine the collective beneficial or negative effects of these collective projects that will radically change this region. STOP the road process until all of the regional reviews have been done.	The NEPA process requires a cumulative effects analysis, which considers past, present, and reasonably foreseeable future projects/activities and their potential cumulative effects with AIDEA's proposed action. That analysis would be disclosed in the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS). Also, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will offer public notice and commenting periods following receipt of AIDEA's 404 permit application and publication of the Draft EIS. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)
Process	Too many projects	I am opposed to taking on any more Borough projects until we get the ones we have going finished. Examples are the railroad spur to Port Mackenzie and the port. We have already spent tons of funds on these projects not to mention the high-speed ferry debacle.

Process	Wilderness Tourism Comments	Steve Perrins Rainy Pass Lodge. I've had a hard time finding out information about this project the last couple of years, and the Susitna River Coalition Facebook page has been a great way to stay in touch with meetings and what's going on. I think that it's important as we develop Alaska that we have to be intentional on how we want to do that. You know this is the last frontier and there are not many places in the world that you can go to that are remote and wild, and I think that's why most of us have come to Alaska or have stayed here. We live and work and play here. In tourism, because it is wild and remote. We want to be careful we don't turn this into the lower 48. I'm not anti-development or anti-mining, but I think it's important that we are careful on how we develop because we don't want to be the lower 48. You know tourism's the second largest industry in Alaska. That's people who come here because it's remote and wild. Roads are going to turn us into the lower 48. My only question is, I know you're going to be summarizing these comments. Are you going to be posting them on a website somewhere, or a place where people can preview them? Also, it seems like at every step of the way, 80 to 100% of the comments have been against this road. How has AIDEA taken that into consideration with this process?	First of all, our process of taking these public comments is not a vote. What I'm doing is collecting a summary of what people are thinking, and what the specific reasons are, and coalescing them into themes that are easier for agencies to review and process. The comment process is a big part of the environmental permitting process. - Camden Yehle (Yehle &amp; Associates) I would first I'd like to say that we take all the comments we receive seriously. We document them. We've got them on file. We've met with individual stakeholders on one-on-one basis. We have $8.5 million bucks, and that's not going to get a road built. There are future decisions that are going to have to be made but we're doing our part to make sure we have a smart plan in place that checks all the boxes and make sure that we're prepared if that time does come for us to build this road. This is in the pre-development phase of the project. We want to do everything that we can to be effective on this current phase. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA) I have heard a lot of comments ever since we sent out 13,000 postcards with my phone number on it, and I've heard

Process	Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan Money	How is it possible that the DNR representative at this hearing is not familiar with the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan, which is a DNR plan? Also, where does AIDEA's funding come from? Since the claim is being made that it "isn't the state."
Proximity		Less than one mile from my property
Route	Gas line route	Why can't the road tie into the existing system on the west side of Cook Inlet, following their gas line route? It would put less people out and preserve more area, including the area where the road runs through the Susitna Flats Wildlife Refuge. That would give the mine all the access it wants without many of the negatives that have been commented on.	Our focus has been on connecting to the existing infrastructure along the highway system, with the focus on Port MacKenzie as the port of choice for exporting the resources. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

Access	Public access Maintenance	Will the public be permitted to use this access to its terminus? Will the Borough maintain it? Will we have to pay for that maintenance?
Access	Public vs private road	Last assembly meeting AIDEA said it was only going to be public to the Big Su, then private after that, but it seems to change at every meeting.
Design	Route to Tyonek	The previous exploration companies in that area were looking at putting a road in the back way up the Skwentna River to Tyonek and thought that would be a much better route for mineral extraction.
Design	Boat launches, campgrounds	Is there any consideration of recreational facilities along the road...? boat launches, campgrounds, etc.?
Design	Dust suppression	Is it's going to be a gravel road? Is there going to be some kind of water truck, or something that keeps the dust down?	We're preliminary in our design and analysis here and there are no plans right now for paving, but obviously what drives that is the volume of traffic and the type of traffic. Dust control is a concern that needs to be mitigated. There are other ways to do that aside from water, for example, calcium chloride. It's really going to depend on the ultimate users and the volume of traffic on the road. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Design	Restrooms	Another problem is restroom facilities. What are you going to do if you have a pullout? Is it going to look like toilet paper all over like some pullouts on Parks highway?

Design	Right-of-way width	What is the overall right of way width and how wide where it parallels the Donlin Gas Line?
Design	Route to Willow	Is there a reason that you didn't go up to Willow, where it'd be more straight across and wouldn't take up as many wetlands?	The proposed route is the most direct route to Port MacKenzie. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Design	Secondary roads	Are there plans for auxiliary or secondary roads and access points?
Design	Traffic on Burma Road	Are we going to have to worry about a lot more traffic on Burma Road?	Burma Road will not be part of the route. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)
Design	Width Parking	How wide is the road going to be? Is there a plan as an example to put a parking lot or wider spots of the road so that people who own land around certain areas can park their vehicle on the side of the road? Or parking spots?	During the next phases to refine engineering, there will be opportunities for wider spots in the road, especially if our design vehicle changes throughout this process. Right now, we have a typical 2-lane section of 28 feet wide to as a starting point for this project. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Development	Port MacKenzie	If the focus is Port MacKenzie. There is no actual port there. Are the mining companies going to build that too?
Development	Timber	Can you please explain to us where the thousands of possible board feet of timber (that is mentioned on the MSB project webpage) would be coming from? Nearly all mature spruce out there has been killed off by beetles. What about milling? I am not aware of any mills large enough to handle that projected volume.

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
Development	Timber	Is the Mat-Su Borough desiring to sell dead spruce timber resources on Borough or State land along this route?
Environment	Fish passage culverts	Have you guys taken into consideration that the Mat-Su Fish and Wildlife Commission is procuring monies to change out all the culverts that are round and making them a flat bottom? We don't want to have to go back to change out culverts.	We'll make sure that we put in the appropriate drainage structure for the stream that we're going across. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Environment	Historical significance	The area is very historical, as far as the people that live there in the past, and there were many native people that died in the villages right out there where you're crossing the Susitna River. Hundreds of people buried out there and what's your plan? I'm afraid you're going to dig up graves. What are you going to do about that? Are you going to have an archaeologist on site? Because I can tell you where that bridge goes there's a grave that I personally found that is feet from where that bridge is going to be and that's just one person that actually had a headstone. The natives there only had wooden crosses for all the hundreds of people that are buried out there so you can't even know where they are. You know you're going to be digging up just all kinds of people. I know that I've found a headstone that was buried myself.	That is taken into serious consideration and is a part of the NEPA process. The locations are kept secret to protect them. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)  Cultural resources are one of the big boxes that you have to check off for the Environmental Impact Statement. We've looked at the State historic preservation office's database to see what they have on file as far as where these cultural resources are, like graves and prehistoric pit houses. The process would be to hire a consultant that has the expertise in archaeology and cultural resources. They produce a very detailed report about all of those types of things that are out there along the route, and that would be submitted as part of the EIS. The permitting agency would take a look at that and if those areas needed to be avoided, we would have to change the route to go around those spots rather than impact them, unless it was there was some confining reason why not. As Camden said, it's a very important part of the permitting process. There are stipulations in the permits that

Some of the local tribes have that information available and there is a very formal process, government to government, about that. We have highlighted that area as an area that we need to focus on. If we move forward, you're going to see many more activities surrounding the cultural and historical aspects of this route. General		Thank you for hosting this.
Information	Existing ice road for mining	I live at the Finger Lakes checkpoint along the Iditarod Trail. I've lived in the West Susitna valley for 40 years. I've raised my children there. My husband and I have made a business living there. Certainly, talking about pullouts and restroom facilities is way out of the scope of what we're talking about. We're talking about creating an industrial road that the can public access right now. Don't think that there's not a road. There now is an ice road going to Whiskey Bravo airstrip and almost every night there's rumblings of huge pieces of equipment moving from Knik to Whiskey Bravo and these very large, fast-moving construction vehicles are bringing in lots of things to Whiskey Bravo. A man camp came in last	I'm going to have to do some follow-up with our Division Mining, Land and Water to find out who that permittee is. One thing I do want to say about the Iditarod Trail is that the State and Federal environmental review and permitting processes include a thorough evaluation of cultural and historical resources within the project area and potential effect must be avoided, minimized, or mitigated fully. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources)

		week. There was just like a zillion little, tiny houses moving up to Whiskey Bravo. Finger Lake is located along the Iditarod Trail, and to some degree the trail has been fabricated from some old historic Indian trail traveling lines, but it has been designated as a national historic trail. How is this industrial road going to interface with the Iditarod trail? Early on in the process some planners decided to use the Iditarod Trail footprint for ease and for a cost reduction. I don't see how that compatibility happens. Maybe it's the end of the whole Iditarod era for us potentially. What I want to go back to is this man who wants to bring his family out on this road for a Sunday drive. Think of being on a dirt gravel road with dust blowing up, and a massive earth moving truck going 100 miles an hour ahead of you and one behind you. It's not pull-out availability. It's not restrooms. It's not us recreating and having picnics on this road. It's an extraction method to bring these natural resources out of our valley and into the hands of Nova Minerals. My specific questions are number one: the ice road that's being used now for all the construction happening at Whiskey Bravo, who manages that road, and who's the oversight of that road? You know they did tell us last week, "Please don't get in our way or we'll have to run you over because we can't stop on the ice." Number two is:

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
		who has oversight over Whiskey Bravo?            What company is in control of this piece of state land and who has access to use the airstrip of Whiskey Bravo. Number three: How did we suddenly become surrounded by something called the Yentna Gold district? You know somebody has named all the mountains around my home that I've lived with my entire life with names that are foreign to me now? And they're from Australia or Canada. How does DNR allow foreign people to name our mountains?
Information	Nova Minerals	Just to clarify. The company for the Estelle mining project is Nova Minerals, not Nova Gold.
Information	Nova Minerals	More information about Australian extraction company, Nova Minerals information available at https://novaminerals.com.au/portfolio/estelle-gold/
Information	Nova Minerals	Take a look here: https://novaminerals.com.au/portfolio/estelle-gold/. Thanks for that link, but I wouldn't believe all of that info, they say near surface minerals but they're actually thousands of feet in the ground, also just a couple months ago they said there was 2.4 million ounces of unproven resources, so interesting that all of a sudden, they list it as 9.6 million ounces of proven resources...

Money	Cost benefit analysis	What is the expected financial benefit to the Mat Su Borough and the State of Alaska by building this road, taking into account the cost of studying and building the road?
Money	PFD	Does the Nova Mining Co have a plan to pay into the PFD similar to the oil and gas from the slopes?  Yes, mining companies pay taxes and royalties to the State of Alaska and do contribute into the PFD.
Money	Public vs private road	I realize it's an estimate but is there not a difference in cost if it's a private road versus a public road? Isn't the public road going to cost more money to build because you have to go with DOT highway standards? Is that going to be part of figuring out the cost for the whole road?	Yes, DOT standard roads are typically more expensive, and there would have to be elements that are designed into this roadway, for instance, signage and guard rail. Some of the curvatures change and so, and if we go that route, it will be more expensive. We'll have to account for that. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Money	Public vs private road	So yes, substantially more expensive [as a public road than a private road].  Like 3 times the amount from what I have heard.
Opportunities	Engineering	What type of opportunities will this project provide for the Alaska engineering/land development community?	There will be contractors to assist with environmental impact analysis and compliance. After that there will be opportunities for design and construction. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
Process	Comment summary	Can you please post a summary of tonight's comments online for people to preview?	The meeting summary will be available on the project website. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)
Process	Comment summary	How are these questions and comments being recorded for the record?	We are going to summarize all of these meeting comments and put them into a big comment summary with the rest of the comments we received. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)
Process	Comment summary	Is the comment summary going to be submitted for the Corps of Engineers permit?	Yes, it will be. - Camden Yehle (Yehle & Associates)
Process	Comments	We all want to hear answers to people's questions so stop asking people to write in or talk privately with you. The point of the meetings is to get to all the public during a comment period.
Process	Corps of Engineers	The 404 permit and Corps of Engineering public testimony consists of a notice being posted on their website and accepting written comments for 30 days, that's it.
Process	Field survey	Who did the field surveys?
Process	Mining	Ft. Knox has a heap leach operation, Pogo is exclusively milling (with waste ponds) ... I'm no expert on Nova but would have to imagine it depends on a variety of factors.
Process	Mining	What type of extraction would be needed for the ore? Would there be cyanide leaching? What about holding pods?

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
Process	Mining camps	How many man camps do you anticipate?	That'll be left up to the contractor. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Process	Mining permit	Is the mine already permitted or will it require a separate EIS/NEPA?
Process	NEPA	Has the NEPA process started yet?	The answer is no until AIDEA puts the application in with the Corps of Engineers. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Process	NEPA	If NEPA has not yet begun how can this be part of the public record?	We heard back in December from the Borough Assembly that there needed to be more opportunity for residents to comment on this project. The assembly put money aside to do this public outreach, which will collect comments and summarize them. - Brad Sworts (Mat-Su Borough)
Process	Outreach	I would like to note that I own property in this area and have not received any information about this project. I only found out because of an article in the Alaska Daily News .
Process	Permitting	What will a public permitting process look like?
Process	Project initiation	What precipitated interest in this project? It was stated at an early AIDEA meeting that Nova Minerals was the main pusher behind this project.
Process	Project purpose	What is the primary purpose for the state to build this road?	The primary purpose is to develop access for resource development opportunities in the Western Susitna basin. In this case, AIDEA is the applicant for regulatory permits, not the State of Alaska. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
Process	Public vs private road	When do you have to decide if it is going to be a public or private road?	The next steps will be to sit down and have a pre-application meeting with the Corps of Engineers. We don't necessarily have to decide whether it's public or private before we submit the permit application. There's a little bit of a lag between submission and kicking off the EIS process. We'll get the answer to that question in the pre-application meeting with the Corps on when exactly they need to know if it's going to be public or private. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)
Process	Public vs private road	When will AIDEA decide if this is a public or private road? Will it need to be stated at time of [permit] application?
Process	Railroad	Since this is primarily a road for heavy industry is there any consideration of a rail spur rather than a road?
Process	Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan	What impacts to the Rec Rivers plan does this project have?	To answer the questions regarding the Susitna Basin Recreation Rivers Management Plan, DNR would ensure compliance with this and other applicable plans when considering AIDEA's application for an easement through state lands. Compliance could be achieved through a number of mechanisms, including but not limited to design elements, regulatory stipulations, and best management practices. - Kyle Moselle (Alaska Department of Natural Resources).  Rec Rivers Plan Link: http://dnr.alaska.gov/mlw/planning/mgtplans/susitna/ - Ted Eischeid (Mat-Su Borough)

Theme	Topic	Comment	Response (if available)
Proximity	Lewis Road	Does the proposed road come anywhere close to Lewis Road which is very near the Junction of Kink-Goose Bay Road and the Port Mackenzie Road?	The distance is probably 5 or 6 miles. - Brad Sworts (Mat-Su Borough)
Proximity	Shell Lake	How close to Shell Lake are you actually getting?	If you go to the map on the website, you can scale and see where the center line of the current route is and get an idea of how far away it is from the lake. - Jesse Peterson (AIDEA)

FACT SHEET

PROPOSED WEST SUSITNA ACCESS ROAD

PROJECT OVERVIEW

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska-Susitna Borough is working to determine the feasibility of a multi-use, public access road from Point MacKenzie to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings

STATUS

Phase 3 (current): Apply for US Army Corps of Engineers Clean Water Act permit

Phase 2 (completed June 2021): Pre-engineering, wetland mapping, and cost estimates

Phase 1 (completed December 2021): Route identification and data gathering

FUNDING

Phase 3, Environmental Permitting

Estimate: $8.5 Million

Funding source: State of Alaska (House Bill 69, 2021)

Final Design, Surveying, Platting, Right-of-Way Acquisition, and Construction

Estimate: $300 Million to $400 Million

Funding source: To be determined

SCHEDULE

- Roads to Resources Study (Alaska Department of Transportation): 2014
- Phase 1 Memorandum of Understanding (Borough/AIDEA): 2019
- Phase 2 Memorandum of Understanding (Borough/AIDEA): 2020
- Phase 3 Resolution of support (Borough): December 21, 2021
- Public involvement project (Borough): January to April 2022
- Corp of Engineers permit application (AIDEA): 2022
- Environmental permitting and engineering of entire corridor (AIDEA): 2022-2027
- Proposed construction: 2028

session.

HOUSE KEEPING

- There is an active mining district west of the Susitna River.
- AIDEA received state funding to look at the feasibility of building a road to the mining district from the Point MacKenzie area, about 100 miles away.

WHAT WE KNOW

➤ The area is used by a wide variety of people and means many things to many people.

WHAT WE KNOW

- The proposed route would cross many different types of wildlife habitats, including 156 known water crossings that would need to be mitigated.

WHAT WE KNOW

➤ The project is complex.

WHAT WE KNOW

WHAT WE KNOW

- The proposed road location is not within a Borough Road Service Area (RSA) for maintenance.

WHAT WE KNOW

- Funding was set aside by the Alaska State legislature to find out if the project can secure required environmental permitting.
- AIDEA plans to apply for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Clean Water Act permit this spring.

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Permitting Process Information

Permit Process consists of a number of steps involving the applicant, the Corps of Engineers, public and private organizations, and Federal, state and/or local agencies. General information related to the permitting process is outlined below.

Processing Steps

The basic form of authorization used by Corps districts is the standard permit. Processing such permits involves evaluation of individual, project specific applications in what can be considered three steps: pre-application consultation (for major projects), project review, and decision-making.

The following is a general description of the step-by-step procedure the Corps uses to evaluate a typical standard permit application:

1. A pre-application consultation is recommended (see below).
2. The applicant submits ENG Form 4345 and plans through this web site or to the appropriate Corps regulatory office.
3. The Corps receives the application and assigns it an identification number.
4. The Corps notifies the applicant if additional information is required to make the application complete.
5. A public notice is issued within 15 days of receipt of a complete application, to solicit comments from the public, adjacent property owners, interested groups and individuals, local agencies, state agencies, and Federal agencies.
6. The public notice comment period is 15 to 30 days, depending upon nature of activity.
7. The Corps provides the applicant an opportunity to respond to comments received in response to the public notice.
8. The Corps may ask the applicant to provide additional information to assess environmental impacts or resolve public interest concerns. The Corps may also ask the applicant to modify the project to reduce environmental impacts.
9. The Corps considers all comments and the applicant's responses to those comments, including proposed modifications of the project. The Corps may discuss project modifications with state and Federal agencies and other interested parties.
10. A public hearing is held, if necessary.
11. The Corps conducts a public interest review evaluation and, if necessary, a section 404(b)(1) guidelines evaluation.
12. The Corps makes a decision on the permit application and explains its decision in a decision document. This decision document may include an environmental assessment or environmental impact statement, a statement of findings or record of decision, a Section 404(b)(1) guidelines evaluation (if necessary), and a public interest review evaluation.
13. If the Corps decides to issue the permit, a copy of the permit is sent to the applicant for his or her signature. If the applicant signs the permit, he or she agrees to the terms and conditions of the permit. If the permit is denied, the Corps will explain to the applicant why the permit was denied.
14. If the applicant refuses to sign the permit because he or she does not agree with the conditions of the permit, or if the permit is denied, the applicant can request an administrative appeal of the permit decision.

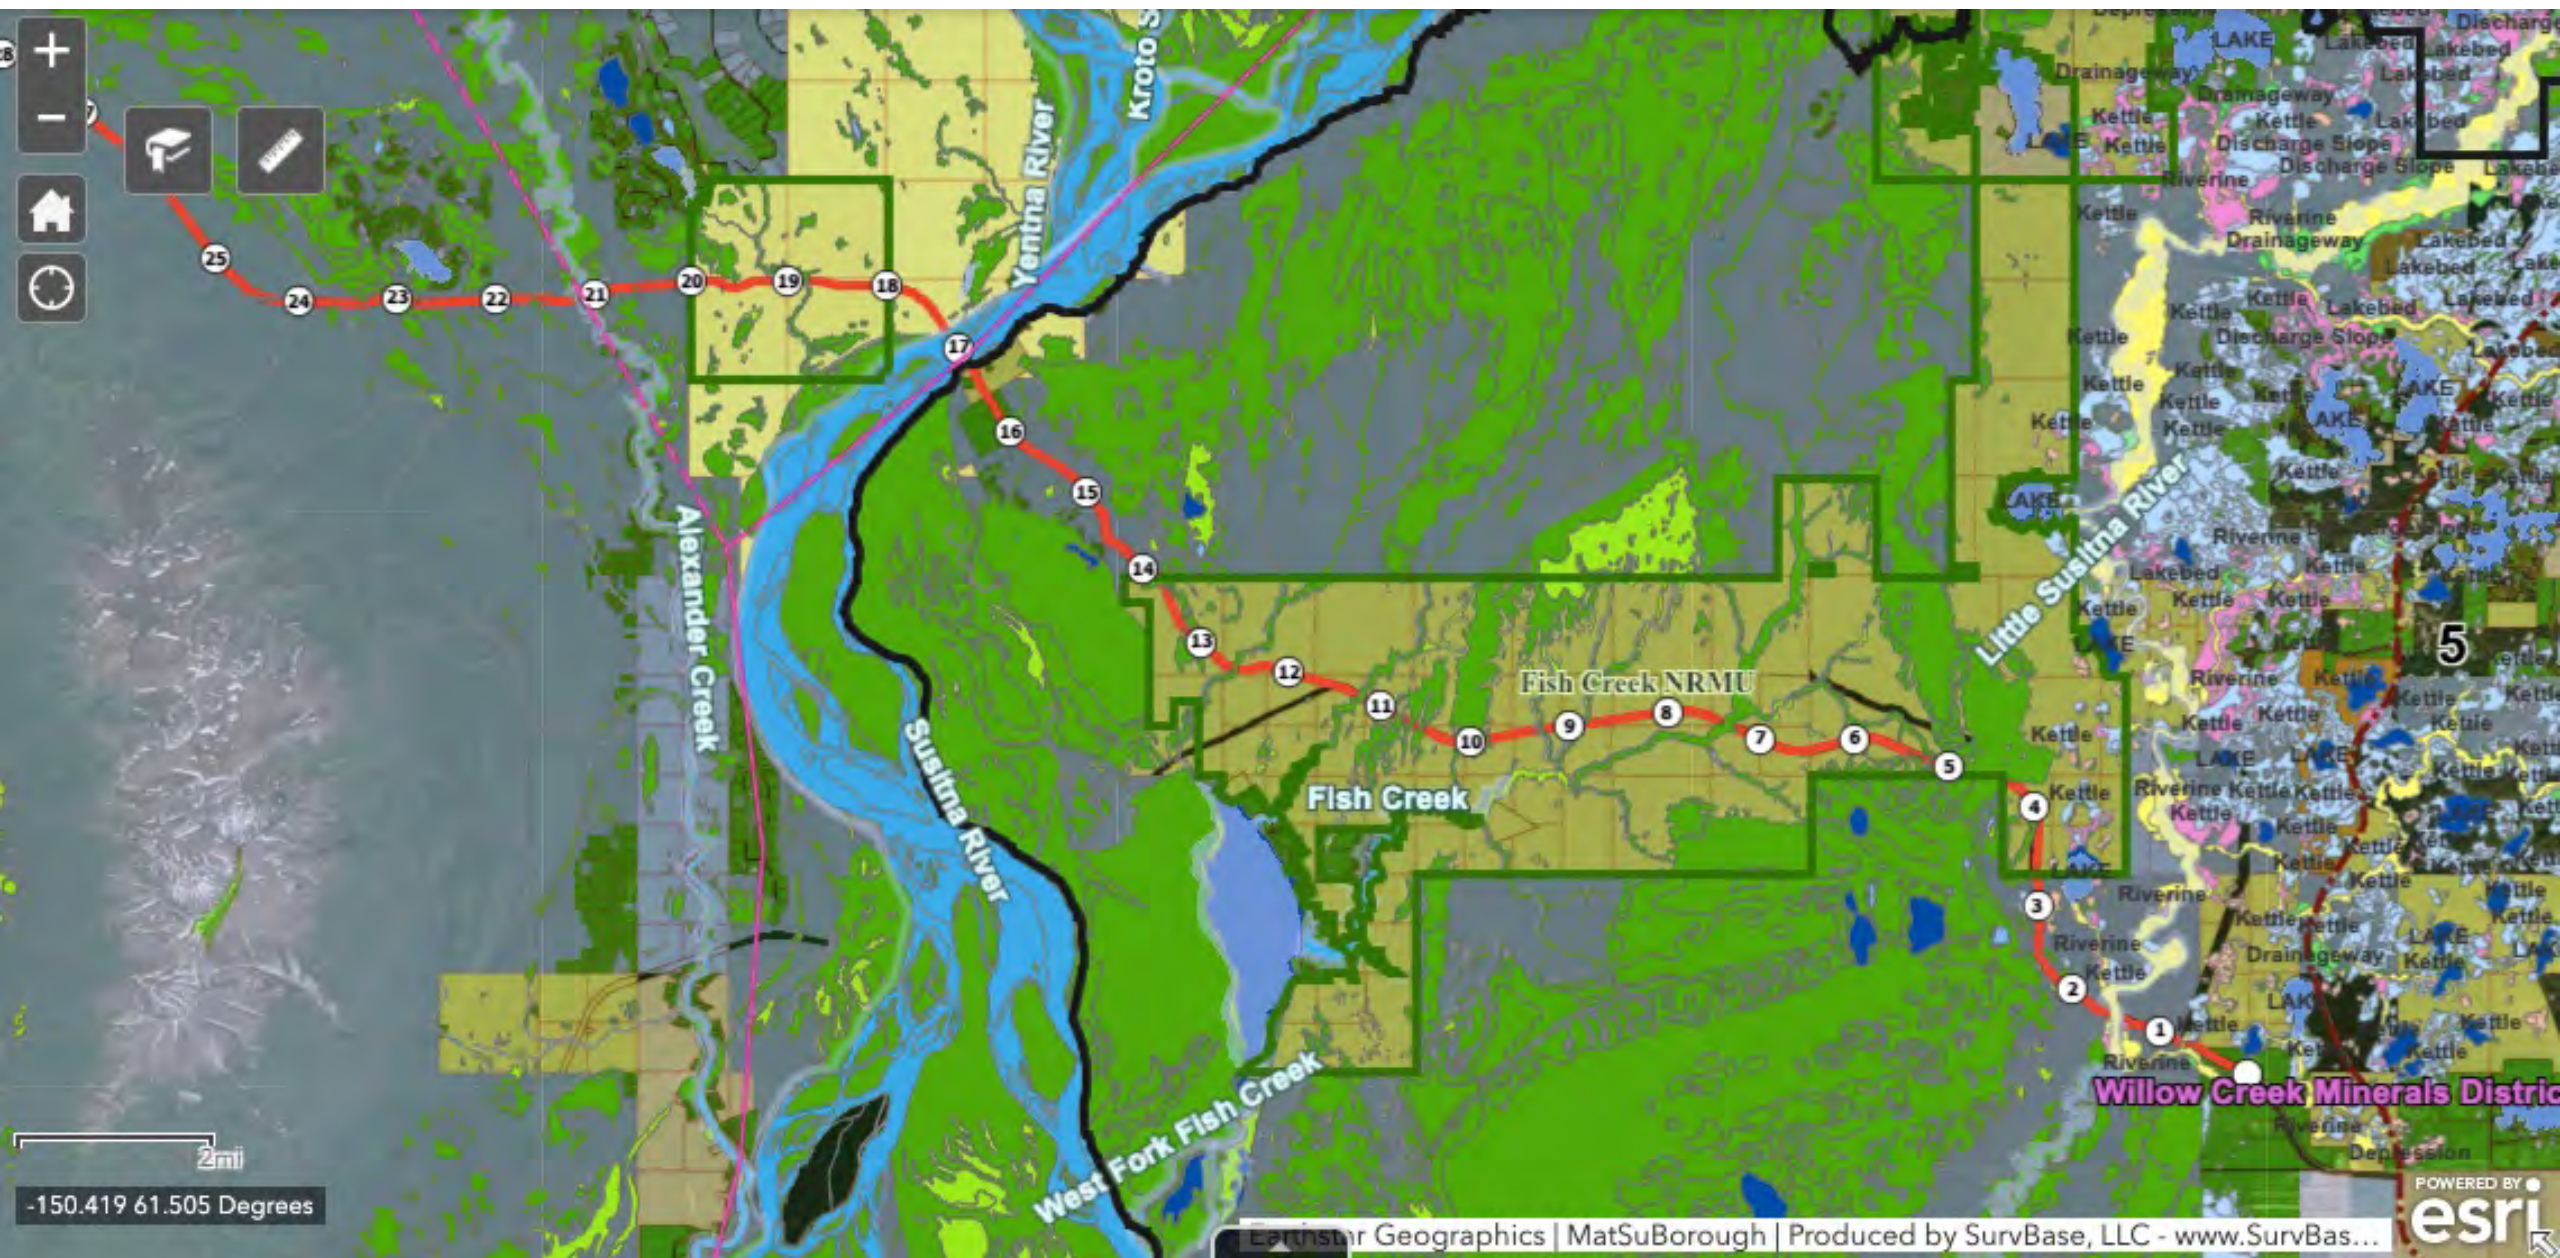

Pre-application consultation usually involves one or more meetings between an applicant, Corps district and interested resource agencies (Federal, state, or local). The basic purpose of such meetings is to provide for informal discussions about a proposed activity before an applicant makes irreversible commitments of resources (funds, detailed designs, etc.). The pre-application process is intended to provide the applicant with an assessment of the viability of some of the more obvious alternatives available to accomplish the project purpose, to discuss measures for reducing the impacts of the project, and to inform the applicant of the factors the Corps must consider in its decision-making process.

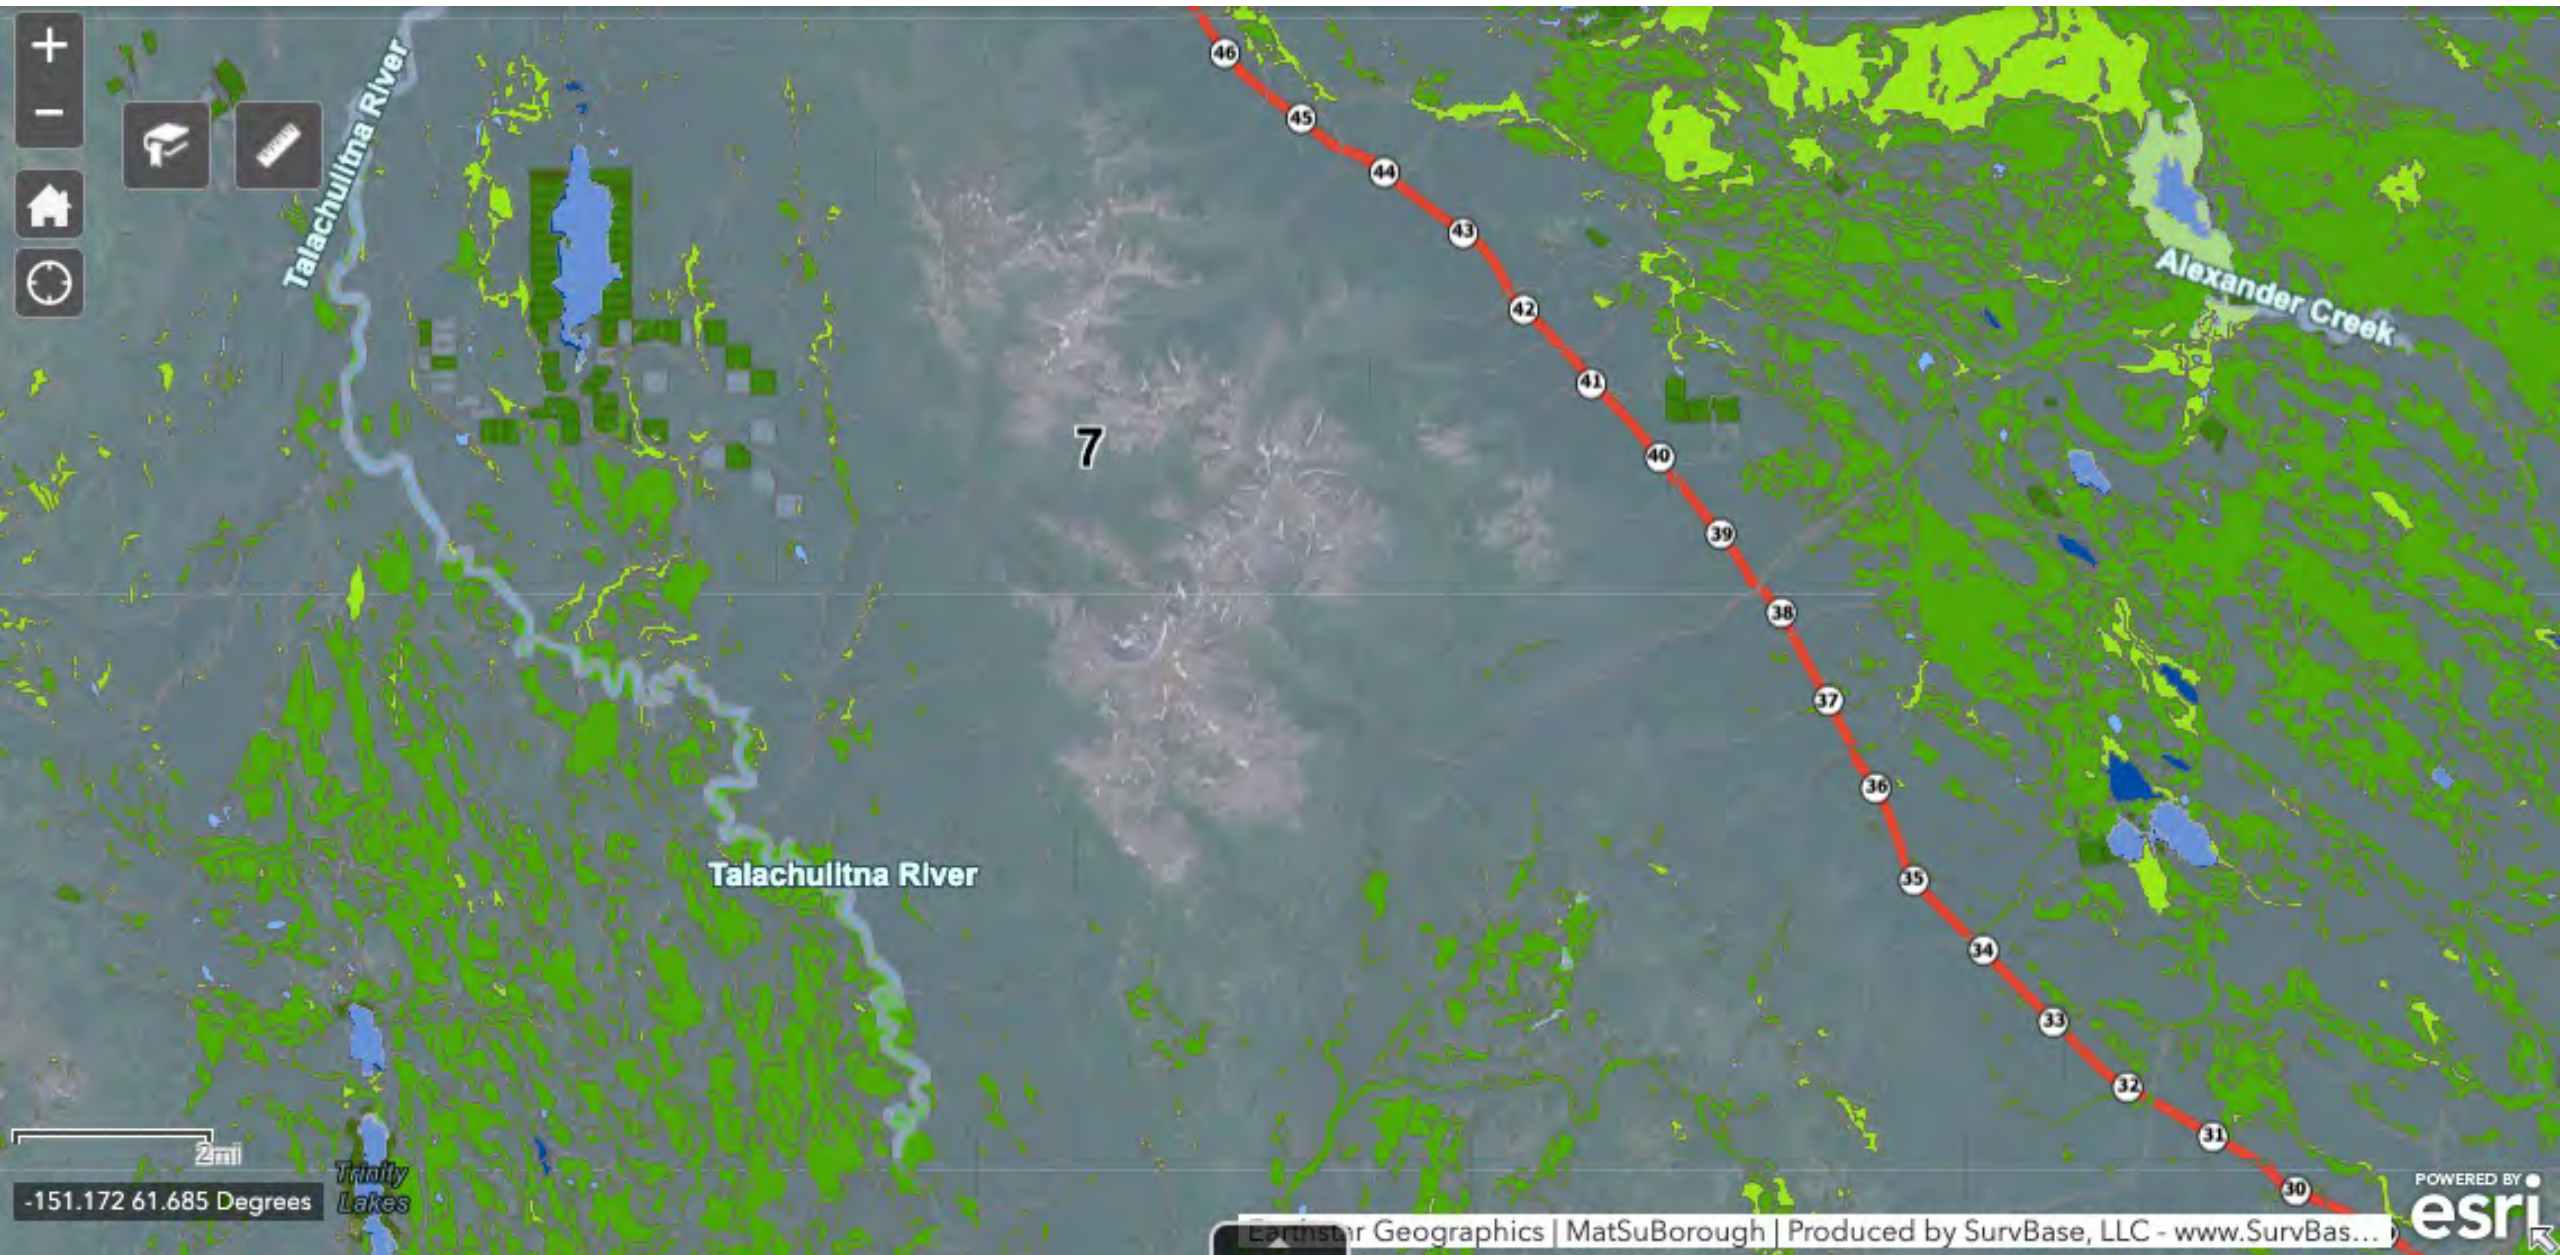

➤ The approximate proposed route location.

WHAT WE LIKELY KNOW

➤ Based on preliminary field studies, how many major water crossings and wetlands areas there are.

WHAT WE LIKELY KNOW

“The worst-case scenario would be for the road to not have public access.”

~ Property owner from the Shell Lake area (mile 66)

➤ Without public access there is likely not public support.

WHAT WE LIKELY KNOW

Is the project feasible?

WHAT WE DON'T KNOW

If the project can acquire the required permits.

If the public generally supports the project.

If public support depends on the road being open to the public.

How construction would be funded.

Who would provide road maintenance.

The exact route.

The exact cost.

KEY PUBLIC COMMENTS

Common supporting comments:

- Safer and easier travel to remote communities and properties for people without a boat or airplane.
- Access for recreation, sport, and subsistence activities.
- Increase in tourism.
- Increase in industrial development.
- Increase in business and private opportunities.

Common opposing comments:

- Reduction to remote lifestyle and tourism; leave the area wild.
- High project cost.
- Money from mining would go to foreign companies.
- Increase in crime and vandalism.
- Increase in hunting and fishing pressure to already low populations.

Project Overview

The Alaska Industrial Development and Export Authority (AIDEA) in coordination with the Matanuska-Susitna Borough (MSB) is working to determine the feasibility of a road from the Point MacKenzie area to a state mining district containing oil and gas deposits, coal, gold, copper, silver, and platinum in the Alaska Range.

Major features:

- Build approximately 100 miles of new gravel road
- Build 156 known water crossings
- Determine if the road would be public or strictly industrial

Comment Summary

Do you support the road?

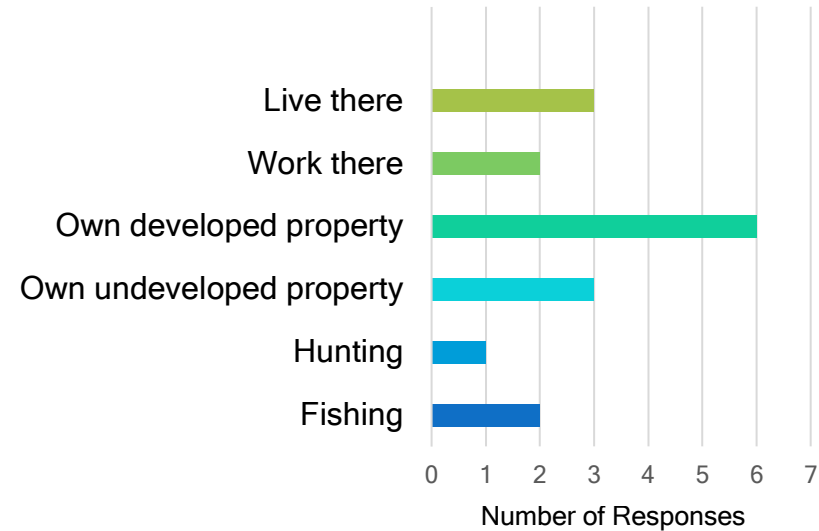

■ No ■ Yes ■ Yes, but only if it has public access

Note 1: 72% of attendees did not directly indicate their level of support and therefore we cannot extrapolate their opinion.

Note 2: This chart includes comments from the other 28% that indicated level of support either directly or by tone and were only counted once per commenter. This is a rough indication of overall public sentiment at this meeting.

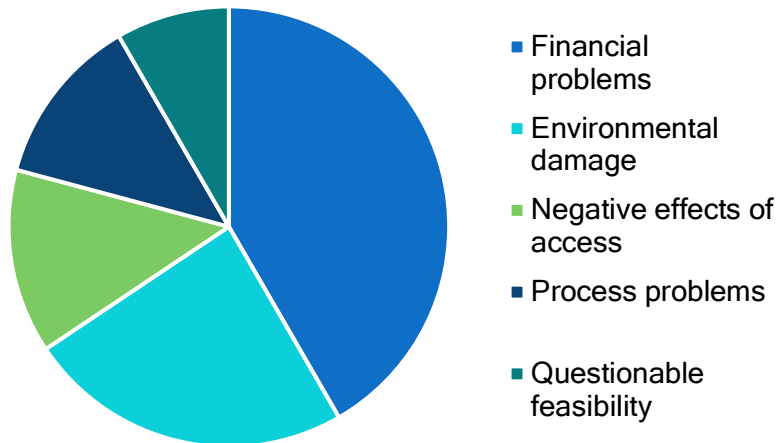

What is your relationship to the project area?

Note 3: This chart includes volunteered information included in comments regarding relationships to the project area. Many commenters did not include this information.

What are the concerns?

Project Opposition: Comment Themes

Sample comments:

- Existing jobs from leisure and hospitality, which include lodges and guide services, far exceed the combined number of jobs in mining, logging, oil, and gas. This project would hurt lodges that depend on the remoteness of the area to attract visitors. [This statement has not been independently verified.]
- It's 2022, are we still talking about extracting coal?
- Where do you plan to mine all the gravel?
- The project team should consult with the Alaska State Troopers who are under-staffed and under-funded already.

What are the positives?

Project Support: Comment Themes

Sample comments:

- Yes, but only if it has public access.
- I think Alaska needs this project; however, the engineering should develop a plan that doesn't negatively affect the environment.
- The Borough has put a lot of facilities out at Point MacKenzie. We have the railbed and the port, the only real deep-water port in the area.
- I'm all for the proposed access, as long as the funding is in place to actually make it happen.

PROPOSED WEST SUSITNA ACCESS ROAD

Public Engagement

Agenda

- Introductions
- What we know
- What we likely know
- What we don't know
- Comments and questions

AGENDA

- There is an active mining district west of the Susitna River.
- AIDEA received state funding to look at the feasibility of building a road to the mining district from the Point MacKenzie area, about 100 miles away.

WHAT WE KNOW

➤ A diverse group of people use the area for many different purposes.

WHAT WE KNOW

➤ The proposed route would pass through many different types of wildlife habitats, including 156 known water crossings. These impacts will be addressed through the environmental permitting process.

WHAT WE KNOW

➤ The project is complex.

WHAT WE KNOW

WHAT WE KNOW

- The proposed road location is not within a Borough Road Service Area (RSA) for maintenance.

WHAT WE KNOW

- Funding was set aside by the Alaska State legislature to find out if the project can secure required environmental permitting.
- AIDEA plans to apply for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Clean Water Act permit this spring.

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Permitting Process Information

Permit Process consists of a number of steps involving the applicant, the Corps of Engineers, public and private organizations, and Federal, state and/or local agencies. General information related to the permitting process is outlined below.

Processing Steps

The basic form of authorization used by Corps districts is the standard permit. Processing such permits involves evaluation of individual, project specific applications in what can be considered three steps: pre-application consultation (for major projects), project review, and decision-making.

The following is a general description of the step-by-step procedure the Corps uses to evaluate a typical standard permit application:

1. A pre-application consultation is recommended (see below).
2. The applicant submits ENG Form 4345 and plans through this web site or to the appropriate Corps regulatory office.
3. The Corps receives the application and assigns it an identification number.
4. The Corps notifies the applicant if additional information is required to make the application complete.
5. A public notice is issued within 15 days of receipt of a complete application, to solicit comments from the public, adjacent property owners, interested groups and individuals, local agencies, state agencies, and Federal agencies.
6. The public notice comment period is 15 to 30 days, depending upon nature of activity.
7. The Corps provides the applicant an opportunity to respond to comments received in response to the public notice.
8. The Corps may ask the applicant to provide additional information to assess environmental impacts or resolve public interest concerns. The Corps may also ask the applicant to modify the project to reduce environmental impacts.
9. The Corps considers all comments and the applicant's responses to those comments, including proposed modifications of the project. The Corps may discuss project modifications with state and Federal agencies and other interested parties.
10. A public hearing is held, if necessary.
11. The Corps conducts a public interest review evaluation and, if necessary, a section 404(b)(1) guidelines evaluation.
12. The Corps makes a decision on the permit application and explains its decision in a decision document. This decision document may include an environmental assessment or environmental impact statement, a statement of findings or record of decision, a Section 404(b)(1) guidelines evaluation (if necessary), and a public interest review evaluation.
13. If the Corps decides to issue the permit, a copy of the permit is sent to the applicant for his or her signature. If the applicant signs the permit, he or she agrees to the terms and conditions of the permit. If the permit is denied, the Corps will explain to the applicant why the permit was denied.
14. If the applicant refuses to sign the permit because he or she does not agree with the conditions of the permit, or if the permit is denied, the applicant can request an administrative appeal of the permit decision.

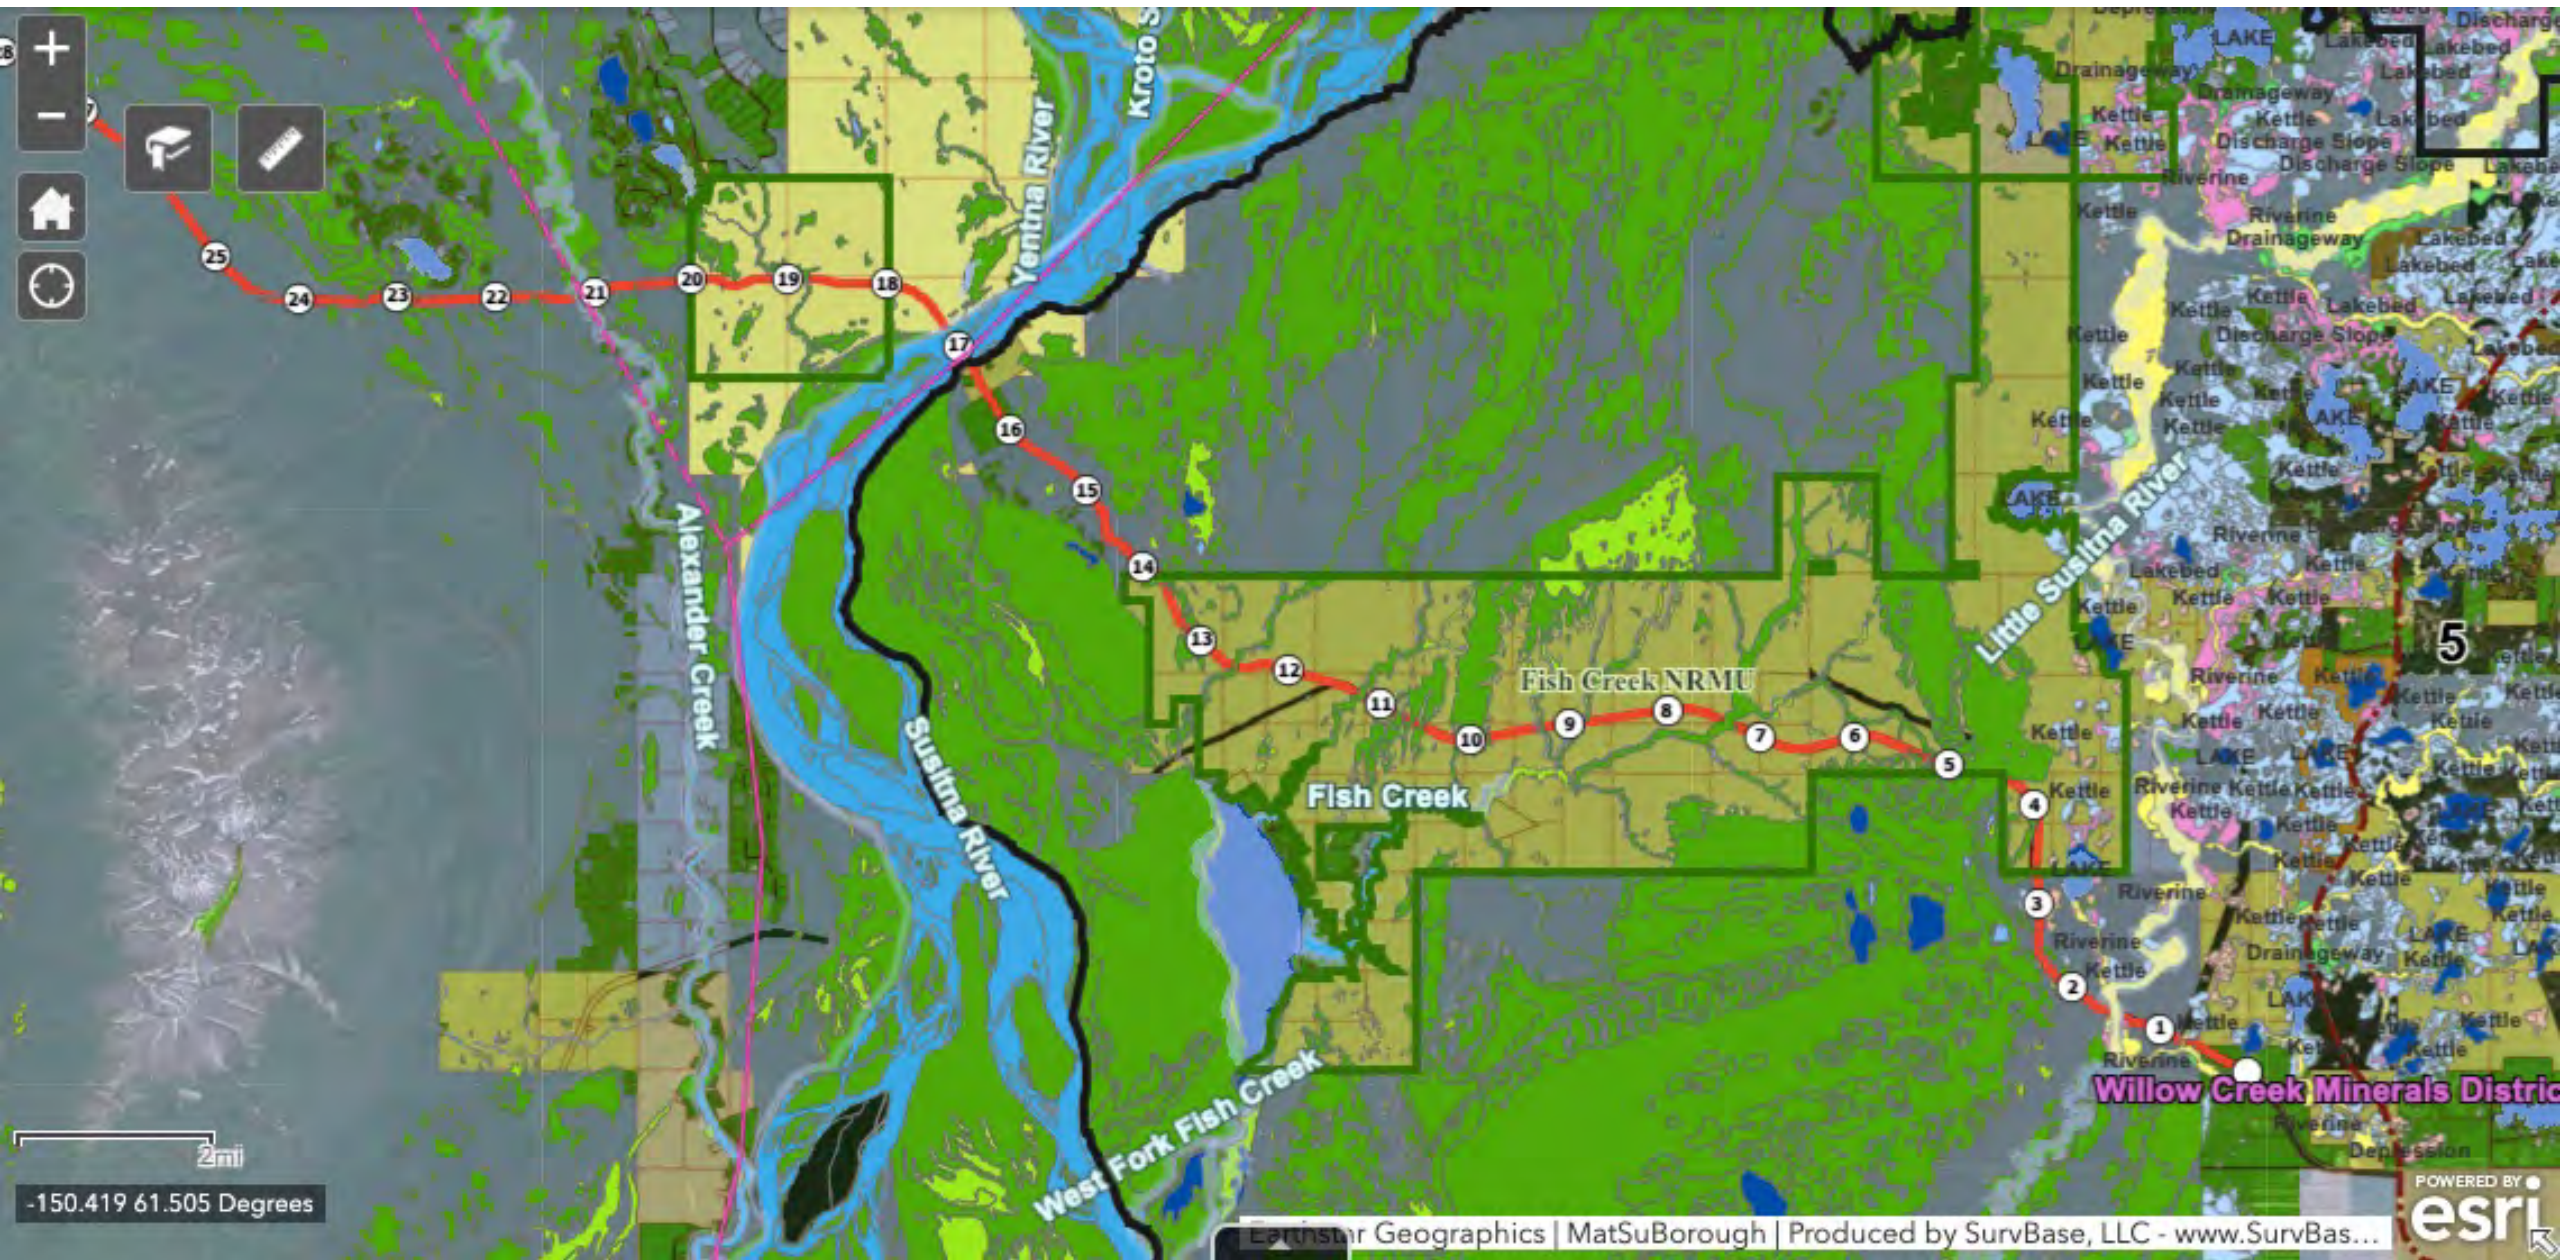

A pre-application consultation usually involves one or more meetings between an applicant, Corps district and interested resource agencies (Federal, state, or local). The basic purpose of such meetings is to provide for informal discussions about a proposed activity before an applicant makes irreversible commitments of resources (funds, detailed designs, etc.). The pre-application process is intended to provide the applicant with an assessment of the viability of some of the more obvious alternatives available to accomplish the project purpose, to discuss measures for reducing the impacts of the project, and to inform the applicant of the factors the Corps must consider in its decision-making process.

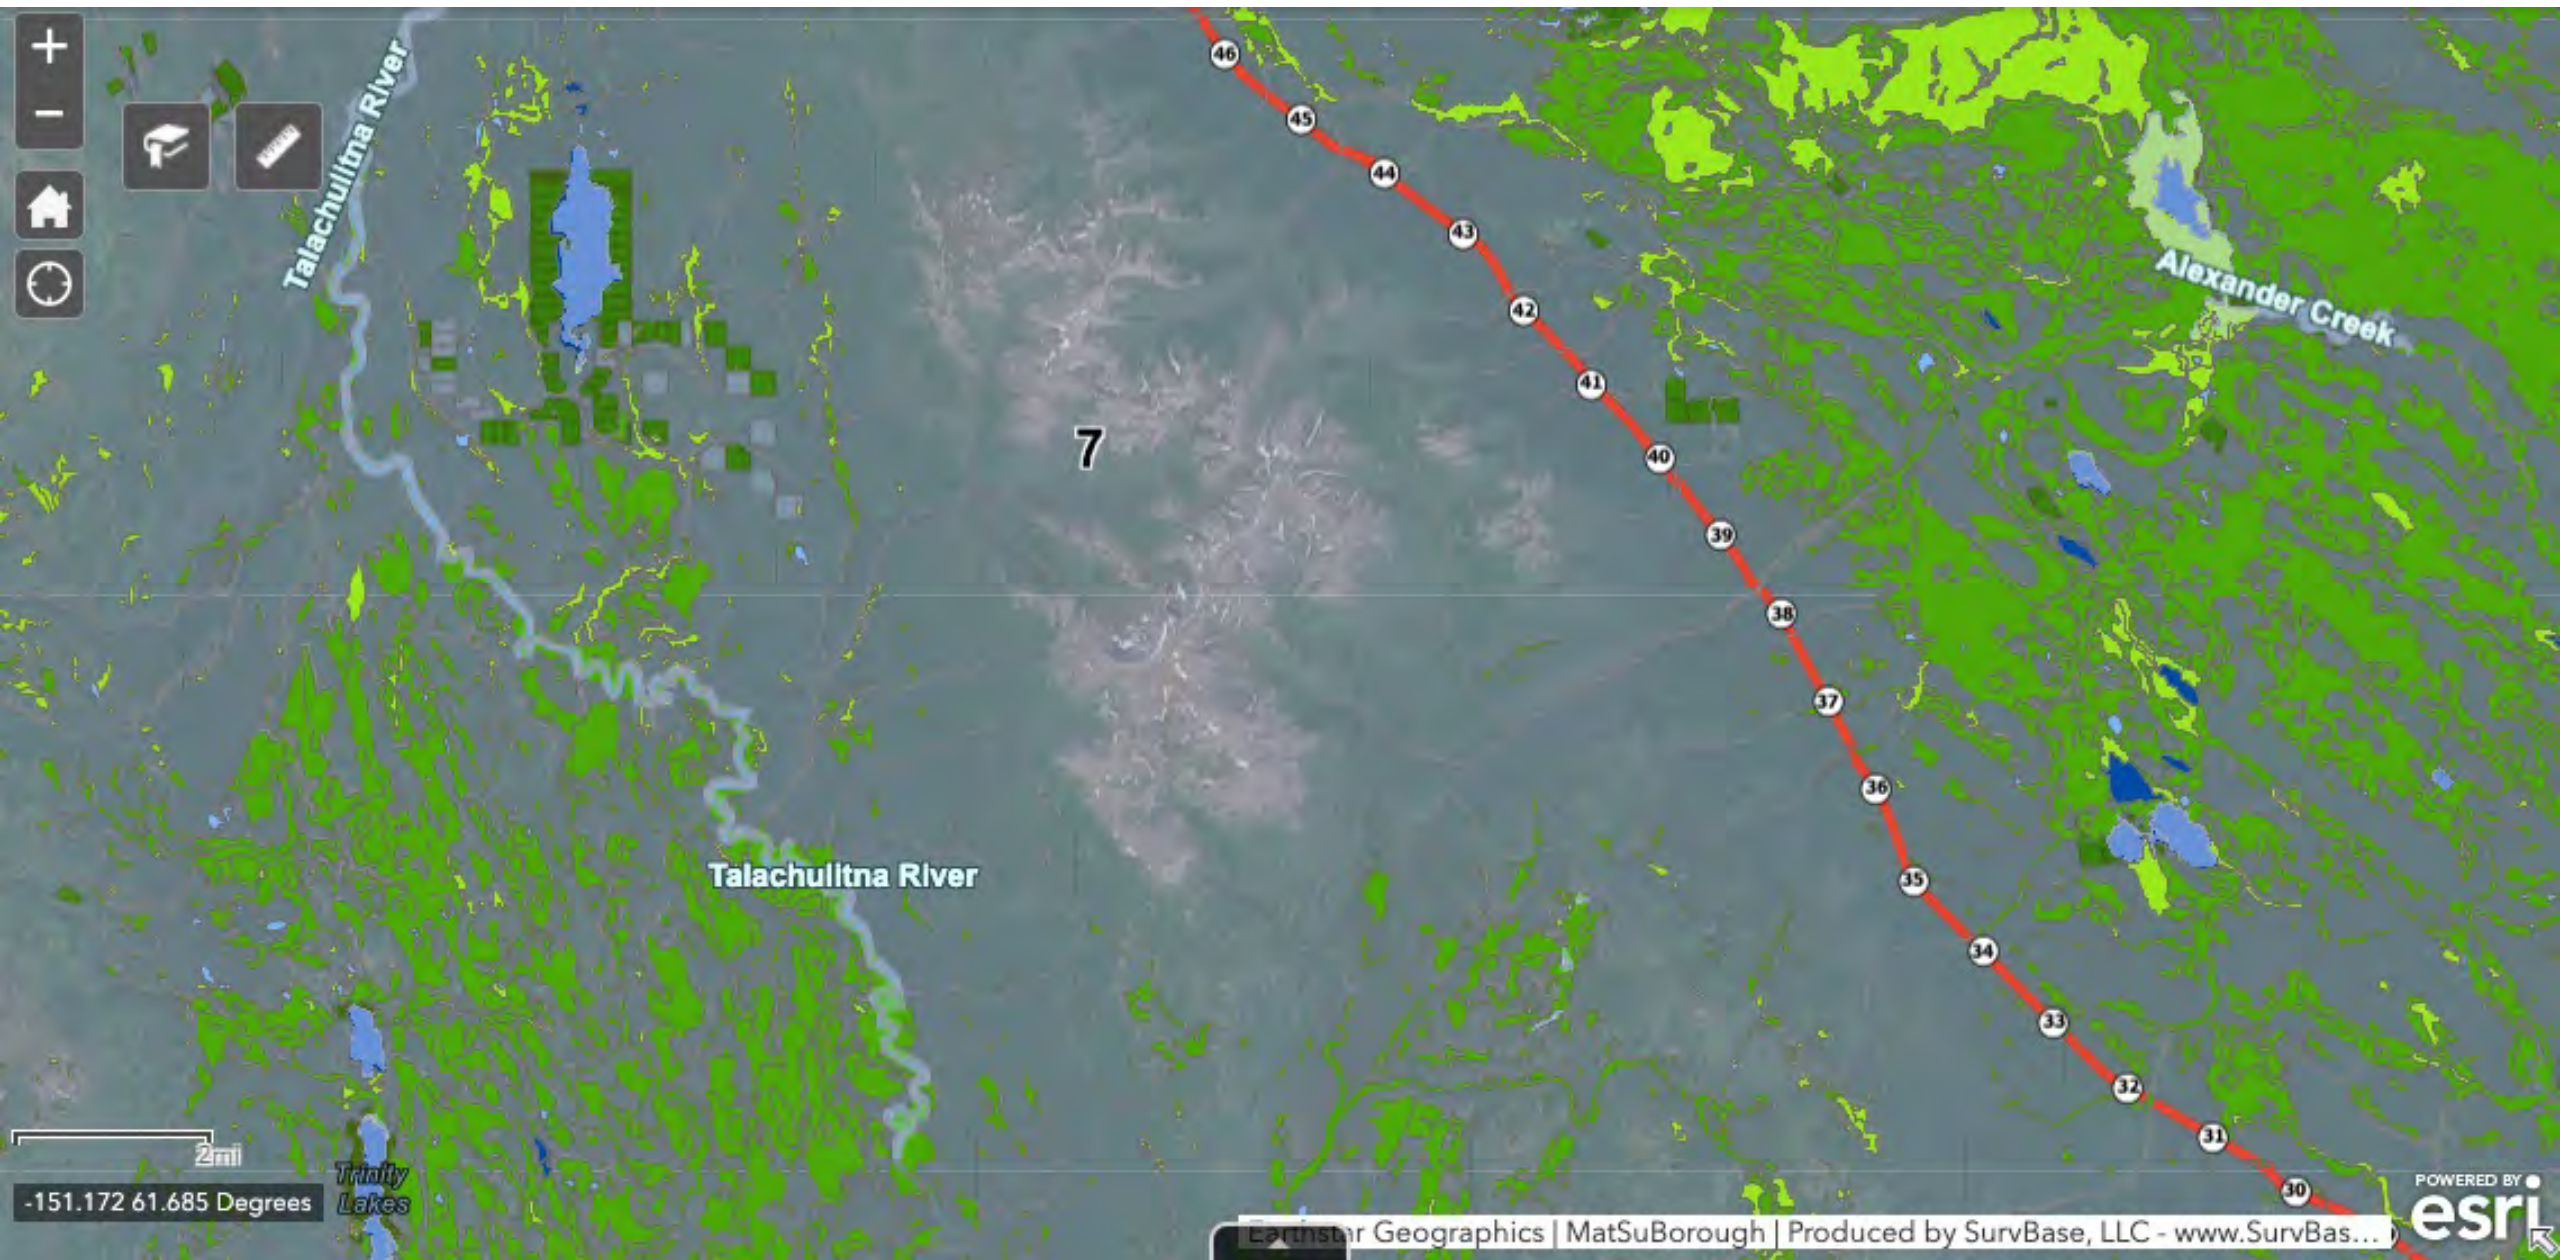

➤ The proposed route location.

WHAT WE LIKELY KNOW

➤ Based on preliminary field studies, how many major water crossings and wetlands areas there are.

WHAT WE LIKELY KNOW

Is the project feasible?

WHAT WE DON'T KNOW

If the project can acquire the required permits.

If the public generally supports the project.

If public support depends on the road being open to the public.

How construction would be funded.

Who would provide road maintenance.

The exact route.

The exact cost.

KEY PUBLIC COMMENTS

Common supporting comments:

- Safer and easier travel to remote communities and properties for people without a boat or airplane.
- Access for recreation, sport, and subsistence activities.
- Increase in tourism.
- Increase in industrial development.
- Increase in income opportunities.

Common opposing comments:

- Reduction to remote lifestyle and tourism; leave the area wild.
- Negative impact to fish habitat.
- Profits from mining would go to foreign companies.
- Increase in crime and vandalism.
- Increase in hunting/fishing pressure.

907-301-0942	AK	The State should not be subsidizing a foreign, (or any for profit company) to degrade and disrupt the Alaskan environment and way of Life for profit.	Oppose.			2/13/22 4:23
Redacted	CA	I own 10.5 acre's on the route, it's been rough trying to fly and snow machine in supplies. Having a road of some form would be a blessing. It would be nice to make that area more accessible.				2/14/22 16:32
Redacted	AK	Extremely negative impact on the already hurting and rapidly decreasing fishery that is the Susitna River and all of the other waters that feed into it.  Most of that "public" land will become private, whether by individuals or corporations and cut off access for any hunter/angler/adventurist looking to get into the real Alaska.  While I may never get the opportunity to experience this part of Alaska, it pains me (as a lifelong Alaskan) to see this area in a development proposal for any reason, all politics aside.				2/14/22 19:59
907-841-4688	AK	The proposed West Susitna Access Road project would have a positive impact for our community and the State of Alaska as a whole if built responsibly.				2/14/22 21:12
907-952-2740	AK	Badly, horrible idea to make foreign mining companies money. Alaska as a colony again.				2/14/22 21:19
Redacted	AK	A negative effect on the fish and wildlife would result if the Access Road was completed.  The public property for private benefit situation is obvious. I don't want another half assed Alaska boondoggle worked into my tax burden!	Poor terrain for a road!	Play	99645	2/15/22 1:05

703-907-9395	VA	After spending 10s of thousands of dollars to buy property off the road system and get the true alaska wilderness experience, this project will have every weekend warrior in South central driving by especially during hunting season. What is so necessary about this project that you will ruin land that was purchased exclusively to get away from the road system? And how will these Alaskans be compensated?	None	Play	99505	2/15/22 14:55
907-575-2100	AK	I support it, it would create jobs in building the road, mining jobs, and maintenance jobs, it could also provide revenue by charging a fee to access this road, the fee could pay for maintenance or offset the price. This road would open up future investment in alaska.	I fully support this project	Play	I live in 99507, I own property in 99667.	2/15/22 15:08
Redacted	NH	Yes, I want the road. I have land near Skwentna.	Build it soon please.	Live	99667	2/15/22 16:43
Redacted	AK	This project like the other pie in the sky projects proposed in the Mat su will result in high risk low return with the destruction of habitat in order to enrich canadian mining companies and a few laboers and truck drivers. All of this subtracts from everyones quality of life and reminds me of West Vir ginia and other states that have destroyed everything for these kinds of if we build it they will come projects.				2/15/22 23:49
907-232-5265	AK	Road access to remote location of our property ruins our investment and the purpose for why we have property out there. The remote way of life is sacred and special. I don't want my tax dollars supporting mining and traffic in a area where we strive for solitude and have done so since staking the land years and years ago	The MSB and AIDEA have been very deceptive and quiet on this project. That would be a road to nowhere that will be used for wanton shooting, abandoning stolen vehicles, mud bogging on the swamps and poaching animals. In other words, it would open up a new Jim Creek or Sutton	Live	99667	2/16/22 13:03

Redacted	AK	It would be a huge mistake to put a road in this area. I have lived in the area right outside Skwentna for 40 years and cannot believe the state would think of destroying such a close to Anchorage/ Wasilla recreational area such as this area. A road would bring an end to the wilderness aspect of thi				2/18/22 15:23

907-331-8264	AK	I am 100% AGAINST the road! It would make our remote property not remote anymore. Also it would affect the area in which we hunt and have hunted for years to feed our family and years to come. I know this road, which we would not even be allowed to use, would draw unwelcome people out in the area who would break into our cabins and steal. It has taken us years and years to have our piece of heaven and you would be taking it away from everyone who has property in the area. Look at big lake for example and all of the break ins.				2/20/22 23:39
Redacted	AK	Please don't build this road. I bought remote property because it's remote. I would like it to stay that way. I believe it would ruin the wetlands along the route and the hunting that my family relays on. We intend to fight this invasion with everything and every trick in the book.				2/22/22 3:17
Redacted	AK	This road would destroy the closest area to urban Alaska that is still a roadless wilderness area that exemplifies what we all proudly brag about that is different than every other state in the union. The State tourism board constantly points out in their marketing worldwide "come see our beautiful wilderness. Come fish, hike and hunt in our unspoiled unique state". You allow a road, public or private and open pit coal and gold mines and how many people are going to spend the money to fly to a "REMOTE" lodge to see same thing that is all over the rest of the world and country? This road into this almost pristine area is a very bad idea and I am totally opposed to it. Very bad for residents in this area, all the local lodges and jobs they now support and bad for the state of Alaska. V Wesolowski				2/22/22 23:19
907-903-4860	AK	Too many people would be near our private cabin. It would loose its privacy and wildness.				2/23/22 5:39
Redacted	AK	It would change the way of life for the people who live out here for the worse. I don't want the road.	It would also be hard on the wild life	Live	99667	2/23/22 18:34

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

West Susitna access, broadly, would open this area for expansion of civilization and population growth. However, see my objections below.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The West Susitna Access Road, *as proposed*, stinks of blatant corruption on the part of the Borough. Plans for the project are closely tied to the proposed Donlin gas pipeline, following its route for much of the road's length. While this is not in and of itself a problem, marketing material about the project is clear that the proposed road is intended for a specific purpose which serves Donlin's interests and very few if any others, and therefore must not be funded by taxpayers. Corporate and public interests need not be mutually exclusive, but of special concern with the Access Road is its eastern terminus and its heavy weight towards the corporate interest.

If private development is desired west of the Susitna, reasonable planners would connect the road where it would most directly access civilization. The most direct route from the proposed Susitna crossing to civilization would be via Big Lake (Susitna Pkwy) or Houston. This would incentivize Alaskans to settle west of the Susitna, potentially even those Alaskans who would fill jobs created by the mines.

The West Susitna Access Road as proposed connects instead to Ayshire Road, providing inconvenient and indirect access for the public to the West Susitna area, but very convenient access for Donlin et al. from their mine to the white elephant Port Mackenzie that the Borough can't bring itself to take off life support. The impression given by these plans is that Donlin has convinced the Borough it will draw traffic to the Port in exchange for building its mining road on the taxpayer dime. This provides wonderful benefits for Donlin and other resource development companies, and very little or even negative benefit for the average Alaskan or Borough voter.

If the Borough wants more tax revenue, it should open up more area for taxpayers to develop and live. Taxpayers will be much more likely to develop and live in areas where they can more directly access supplies from town. Further, the mine may not last forever, but population will stay. For the best of both worlds, the West Susitna Access Road east of the bridge should be rerouted away from Point Mackenzie towards Susitna Parkway and Big Lake, or an extension of Susitna Parkway towards the West Susitna Access Road should be added to the project.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I live in Anchorage and own property in the Matsu area north of the proposed development area so my direct impact or benefit will be negligible. My concern is that this project will obligate AIDEA funds and focus from more important economic development opportunities. My perception from news is that that is nothing by a political project that opens up hunting access for Matsu residents and gains conservative votes in an election year. I have not see any mining or energy access projects that are of a scale that need this project and would be able to pay road toll such as the Ambler or Red Dog projects. Surely the AIDEA can come up with many other better projects that could use the money. Heck, I'd even support building some of the railroad to canada rather than a road to new moose hunting grounds.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

As you go through the planning, I'd suggest an economic development plan be developed that looks at how the project could help stimulate new Alaska industry and opportunity during construction; and economic and community development projects after the project is done. If we are going to have a road to no where, might as well plan on investing some money in a legacy benefit beyond the short term construction spending. (Remember the Whittier tunnel project that failed to consider the infrastructure and economic opportunity after the project was completed.. lets not do that again... at least make sure there is a parking lot and toilet included at the end of the project.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

The West Susitna Access Road would complete change the environment for which we chose to invest in remote Alaska. One of the biggest assets Alaska has its ability to entice people to invest time, money, and energy in the wilderness, invest for travel, fish, build cabins, hunt, snowmachine, and that is its own economic development for Alaska that is renewable and lasts for ever. A road will take that opportunity away for ever.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

This project has not reached out to the public, has not adequately asked for input or responded to the input given. Effectively the State of Alaska is investing in a road and project that may or may not provide benefit to Alaska. The only thing that is happening right now is that the investment in time, money, phases and studies it to raise the stock value of non Alaskan mining companies who may or may not ever return anything to Alaska. AIDEA and the State should first be required to do independent feasibility and cost benefit studies for the State of Alaska.

increased traffic into a roadless area will increase hunting pressure on an already severely stressed moose population. it would bring unrestricted recreational boating access to Shell Lake to the great detriment of nesting ducks, swans, loons, and shorebirds.

increased unrestricted road access would gravely degrade the wilderness quality of life that is the reason i and many other residents chose to make this home

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

We personally be out of a job. The tourism industry in the MatSu Valley and Alaska as a whole would be hit with a black eye. The most sustainable profitable resource in Alaska is tourism. People visit Alaska for it's wilderness and raw beauty, not to fly over industrial roads, pipelines and gas fields. This is not just about one road, but the key to a pandora's box of development that will leave an irreparable scar to the landscape. Not to mention a domino effect of environmental concerns.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

This project is being pushed against the will of the majority. Alaska as a whole does not benefit from this project. If built, 50 years from now this project will be regretted. Listen to the people of Alaska, not those with power and money.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

The west su access road is an absolute horrible idea for those of us who call Alaska home. The proposed road would directly impact my life and livelihood. I am one of the largest fly fishing outfitters in the area and my business brings hundreds of thousands of dollars each year to the state of Alaska and the Mat Su Valley. This money brought EACH year is sustainable and directly helps local businesses and families. This proposal is also bad for the state as tourism generates millions of dollars for the state and if we ruin it tourists will choose to travel elsewhere.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

This proposal is so single minded and will only benefit a very small amount of people and will hurt many, many more. Not only is this bad for Alaskans it is bad for Alaska itself. The proposed areas are environmentally sensitive and the construction of this road will forever harm this area. These areas need to remain roadless.

The funding needed from this effects me as a taxpayer in the state, borough, and country if any federal funds are used. Even though your fact sheet says phase 3 is state funded, my MSB tax dollars are still funding MSB staff time.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

How about we finish the rail extension first? I am tired of these MSB grandiose projects that end up in failures, wasted money, and scars on the land. The PM you have listed is the same PM for: the failed port project, the failed ferry project, and the failed rail extension project to name a few. Haven't we learned our lesson yet? No! Just No! Don't waste any more time and money on this.

If the 100 mile road that is being proposed is developed as a two-lane road with pullouts for parking at 1/2 of the 150 water crossings, then it would be great fishing opportunities. If not, then not so much impact.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I do NOT support ending public access after 30 miles and leaving the remaining 70 miles being private access. Don't build a single lane road 100 miles long. For the first 75 miles of public accessible road, make it at least a double laned road (13' wide traffic lanes to accommodate commercial traffic with 5' shoulders on each side) with pullouts for free parking at all water crossings that contain anadromous fish (e.g. salmon). After the first 75 miles of public accessible road (with pullouts and free parking), the last 25 miles can be a single lane road with no parking and no public access.

Living on Pt. Mackenzie Road I would expect a huge increase in traffic and noise pollution. I see no discussion of where any mining trucks would drop off- the unbuilt railroad spur, the non existent facilities at Port Mackenzie?

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

If public dollars are spent on the road then it must be open for it's full length to public access. Otherwise the mining companies alone should finance any private stretch of the road.

This proposed road would affect me & my photo tour business in a negative way because it will take out more of the appeal of "wilderness ALASKA" from my photo tour clients by making that entire, rich area, just another "roadside attraction" on the Beaten Path.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The road will likely put more pressure on the wildlife of the area as well as create more problems for the many people who live out there and have wanted a wilderness lifestyle.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

My family and I very much appreciate the wildness of Alaska, though our forays into the proposed project area have been minimal in the past. From what I understand, the road might possibly lead to tax revenue for the State, but would be of little benefit to residents otherwise, and would be detrimental to residents and businesses in the area. Basically, an Australian mining company gets a private road.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The interests of Alaskan-owned businesses, even small ones, should be prioritized over international resource extraction. Remote lodges will only become more rare and valuable - wild areas are a forever resource if they're cared for, while mining provides some local jobs and revenue for a generation or two, and a whole bunch of money for some ceo in a far-off country.

This is another boondoggle that will cost Mats Borough residents money to build and maintain without any guarantee of a monetary return. Coal is not a viable resource, the spruce trees are mostly dead and worthless for lumber, the estimates of gold are just estimates by companies that want the road built to their unproven claims.

Diverts resources to a project used that will be used by very few people. May impact trails used by snowmachines and wildlife. This road will siphon an incredible amount of public funds for maintenance each year. Leave the resources alone for future generations.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

Just seems like a waste of money. We need our existing roads brought up to code. We need sewer systems and treatment plants. Other roads and bridges are deteriorating. Give us a wasilla bypass. I have no interest in developing the gas/mineral reserves so someone else can get rich. Port Mack was a waste, and so is this.

We believe it would not only open up the possibility of future mining (ie. a good thing), and a “new road” and/or “a new Sunday drive”. There would be more cabins and access for folks to live the Alaska lifestyle. It would also mean more property taxes that would help offset existing property taxes.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

Yes! We all know it’s going to happen.... Please install a dirt bike / walking path alongside the new road. It’s a MUST! We need to make it possible for ATV, snow-machining and other activities to safely travel into new territory. Keep our kids safe! Also, need pullouts for toy trailers.

The detrimental effect of the project would be devastating to me and my family. The devastation wrought from pushing a road into a roadless area for development of mining interest is contrary to the future well being of our planet. The wild lands should be preserved as much as possible and the sanctity of the land and animals preserved for the future well being of our environment. I hope you realize that wild areas are sacred and need to be treated as sacred before it is too late for the endangered planet we now live on. I currently am a new business owner running Remote Cabin Rentals of Alaska. I have both private property and state leased land with cabins. It would be difficult to run a remote business on the roads system as the plotted road would run through multiple parcels I occupy in the Alexander creek basin. My family depends on the remote hunting and fishing opportunities in those areas to provide food for the long alaska winters. As far as the state of alaska is concerned you would still profit from the mines without a permanent road, between winter trails and barges the beluga oil field has been very successful for the last 60 years. This is another pipe dream road on the backs of tax payers that would have crippling effects on an already strained salmon run over multiple rivers. Listen to the public and look to other opportunities.

It would increase the number of people with access to the area, increase the opportunity for theft and vandalism of our cabin, change the character of our remote property, allow people to access private property where they were unable to before.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

Moose populations in the area have been up and down significantly over the last 10 years. But because of the remoteness of the area, hunting has not played a large role in impacting those populations. Increasing access to those that do not own property in the area will negatively impact an already fluctuating moose population.

Negatively. 156 water crossing equals 156 bridges. Between the bridges, environmental impact studies and mitigation then the actual construction of the actual road, this will easily be a Billion dollar project. The road will have a negative effect on wildlife, fish and water fowl in the area and ruin one of the most pristine natural habitat and outdoor recreation grounds in the region. The initial estimate of jobs created after the construction seems overblown. In short, there is not enough bang for the buck.

There is also additional opportunity for providing food to my family with the road access to expanded hunting areas.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I support a new road to provide more access for alaskans, without planes, to enjoy fishing, hunting, and camping. I live on Point Mackenzie and I understand a new road out here would create more traffic going past my house, and possibly more hassles to deal with. We already have a severely reduced moose population, and the little sue king fishing has been dismal. Point Mackenzie road is network of tar patches pot holes, and frost heaves so bad I have replaced my shocks twice already. KGB road running out here is the most dangerous road in alaska according to the DOT. But maybe if there is a reason to improve KGB and Point Mackenzie, like a new road going west, maybe it will benefit our little community. Since I dont own a plane, I have to drive to the Denali highway, Kenai peninsula, or Eureka for access to hunting and fishing via the road system. These road accessible trail and fishing systems are getting more and more crowded every year. Its a shame we have such a huge state and limited access to it. If we fight building roads we limit the growth and opportunities to make the state better. I am not a huge supporter of mining, but I can see that we can't always rely on oil as the industry that pays our bills. I think we need to develop all of our resources. Maybe with a road we could better supervise mining operations. Maybe we could even build a hatchery on the big sue, or even little sue, to begin to rebuild the red and king salmon population while also providing more access for fishing areas to reduce pressure on other rivers. This would also provide more tourism activities, instead of taking visitors north or south maybe we could finally drive out west as well. I understand lodge and property owners in the proposed area fighting a new road. But we all have to deal with change and development, and Alaskan are a tough adaptable people. I am sure lodge owners and land owners could use the road to increase the value of their lands and business, reduced transportation costs, and more access could lead to a boom. I think the state should hear the land owners out, and if it does harm I think the state should be prepared to reimburse those land owners for proven losses caused by the road. I understand this is a dirt road out to mining area, but I would hope that we also have some foresight to develop more in the future. The road to McCarthy is a fun area to take visitors, and also allows for alaskans to access mining and hiking areas. And like this proposed road it began as a mining road to no where, but is now a fun place that many alaskans enjoy visiting.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

This road would be a waste of money and time. It would also provide access for businesses to lay waste to a rural part of Alaska.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I'm tired of our government providing corporate welfare to irresponsible business entities. I'm tired of our existing roads and recreation areas being neglected. This proposed project is just another Point McKenzie boondoggle to enrich a few at the expense of the many.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I'm not even sure how to quantify the impacts that this road and the proposed purpose of the road would have on this area. Having supported Iditarod and the Iditarod Trail Invitational through those regions, I understand why people work so hard to spend time in that part of the State. And to change it so irrevocably seems like an intensely selfish and greedy thing to do. I can't stress enough that the short term benefits to a few could not possibly ever justify the permanent negative impacts on this area.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

Yes, it would divert badly needed funds from one of the fastest growing areas of the state, and instead be used as a part of a corporate welfare package to build a private road for a foreign company.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The mining company can apply for permits, secure the ROW, and use its own money to build a road. No public funds should be used to benefit a private corporation— especially if there's no public access.

We live in the Point MacKenzie area and would very much enjoy the access that the new road would provide for fishing, hunting and general recreation opportunities. It would also reduce the pressure on the moose population in the Point Mac area.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The biggest concern is people that just don't want to see any new access for any reason. There is a very vocal (and litigious) minority in this state that wants to shut down anything that may lead to development activity.

This road does not benefit the public, rather it uses OUR (State residents) money to benefit a special interest foreign mining company. The people have not brought this plan forward, a back room deal must of been made. It has significant impact to andronomus fish habitat and wetlands that can't be compensated or mitigated. How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

Building a road is the most single damaging thing mankind can do to an environment. Crossing 150+ streams, the Susitna, and that terrain would have unimaginable consequences on anadromous fish populations. Further reduction of salmon numbers would be a catastrophic loss to my family's diet, lifestyle, and the reason that we live in Alaska.

The road would end the remoteness of an area where we purchased recreational, boat access, land to be off the road system.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

At this time with deficits and poorly managed resources I am not in favor of this expensive project. This would also be a poor decision regarding access. That may sound odd however everywhere a road opens areas up it's been torn up and made a mess of by people and negligence of them. If this road is out in I would propose it has a no motorized corridor to limit the Atv. Snowmachine access is not as destructive ans does not affect wildlife populations so much so it could be seasonal. The stability of wildlife is a big concern for me. I hunt and recreate out that way and it would be a shame to see this project happen increased road traffic, more noise, dust issues, reduced recreation quality, wildlife disturbance, YET ANOTHER COSTLY PROJECT WITHOUT PAYBACK (Delta Grain project, Port McKenzie dock that cannot hold a ship in wind, Anchorage Fish Processing plant).

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

This project cost is grossly under estimated. The amount of wetlands, stream crossing damage, enormous bridges required, the amount of material removed and relocated is enormous. Timber harvest has never provided economic benefit. We are closing coal mines all over the nation and the economic benefit of opening a new one is unfounded. A new gas pipeline project where there are already limited gas resources is another issue. This project will spend state funds without payback to the benefit solely for hardrock mining. Mining will never cover the cost of this road.

The proposed access road would drop our quality of life. The State of Alaska offers the wilderness that attracts and challenges us, which is unique to our state nowadays. The access road would not only destroy the habitat for wildlife, but also ruin the beauty of the state. Scars on the tundra by ATV are all over already. Adding a road to the current remote place is not just adding one road, but this road would increase the ATV traffic significantly like spider web.

This would be detrimental to fishing and hunting areas only accessible by plane, boat, or snowmachine. By building the road, residents that have exhausted resources to be able to access this area of the state will be in competition with a new group of people that could include non residents. Fishing and hunting pressure would most likely result in a decline of resources for the average resident and lead to regulation changes further limiting the opportunities. I would hope the borough considers not changing our wilderness that is so close to home for our families and our futures.

It is an area my family likes to recreate in whether its by boat, airplane or snowmachine. We also own property which we like to spend time at too. Like most people we spend time here to get away from people and traffic. Building a road is one step closer to turning this beautifile land into something many people want to get away from. Roads bring trash, noise, and people who dont belong out there. Coming from a lifelong alaskan, please leave it as it is. Besides, all this is, is about money, and someone wants to get there dirty hands on it.

Public road access is critically important to developing communities, developing land, and developing resources. I look forward to having more opportunities to access public land for recreational activity, small mining access, and road accessible public land for purchase.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I accept that large corporate interests may help fund projects such as these and be an economic driver, but this road should absolutely be a public road, either state or borough, and not prohibit access to private or public land. Currently, only the wealthy or dedicated with boats and planes have access to these areas and a road primarily on public land and built using public funds should be a public road.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

It would open up a remote region where I have property to the undesirable things that come along with road access. I have plans to build a cabin there this year for eventual relocation to, and after receiving this notice in the mail today am wondering if it is worth the time and effort anymore...

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I've spent a fair amount of time in the region that the proposed road will be cutting through over the years and just last year purchased a few remote acres for the purpose of building a place to get away from anywhere with road access and the people/tourists that come along with it. The parcel is on a small lake that keeps most of the guided flight services away from the immediate area due to its difficulty for landings/takeoffs. The proposed road almost cuts right through my parcel off of the north tip of Beluga mountain. This means that if the proposition goes through I've just wasted my money and time. Plainly put this road is a bad idea that will open up yet another area to further unneeded exploitation. While I know the remote matsu region gets a heavy amount of recreational services like guided hunting, fishing, etc..., the splendor of it to me and I think so many others is that the only ways to get into it were plane, boat, or snowmobile. Putting an access road through the heart of it ruins what makes it, and so much of the state of Alaska so great. Please don't allow this project to go through.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

As one of the only agricultural producers in the affected area west of the Susitna River it has the potential to have significant impact on my family and farm. It will most definitely have an impact on the lands identified by Div of Ag as suitable for agriculture west of the Susitna.

My family has lived here for 28 years. We have enjoyed the remoteness the region provides and we have seen continued efforts to exploit the many natural resources West Susitna holds. We knew that some day a serious push for development would take place. Maybe, this is that time.

The negative impact such a road will have evolves primarily around the loss of its remoteness. The impact on wildlife and private stake holders is the most pronounced of impacts. This is true where ever expanded access takes place in the State.

On a positive note it has the potential to not only develop a mining district, but create an agricultural district that could have direct access to a tidewater port and rail. Port MacKenzie and the unfinished rail spur need the West Susitna Access Road to inject sustainable life into both projects.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I am in favor of a detailed analysis of the proposed project. Potential resource development west of the Susitna will not stop by killing the road project. It will subside for a time, but attempt after attempt will continue so let's go thru the process and get it all out on the table for everyone to see and assess.

Since this is to be primarily a road for heavy industry I would like an analysis of a potential rail spur rather than a road to be part of the process. A rail spur may have less impact and be a potential compromise.

Little is being said about the road paralleling the proposed Donlin Gas Line Project. The gas line will potentially occupy the same right of way for over 50 miles. We are told the road and gas line have nothing to do with each other. I don't believe that for a minute. Nova Mineral has stated in the past it might be able to use gas coming from the pipeline for its purposes too. Let's get these relationship out in the open...we aren't stupid. Even if the road is not built a 50 mile plus corridor will still exist and continue on to the Kuskokwim. We are really talking about developing a 15 mile stretch from the Susitna River to the Donlin Gas Line.

The west Susitna region is sparsely populated and economically depressed. Let's get serious about the economic impact on stake holders along the road corridor. It will have a negative impact on some tourism based businesses. How can that be mitigated? What about employment for locals? It's the age old question of what does this project do for me?

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I do not frequent this area, so a West Susitna Access Road would not affect me directly; however, I do think it would negatively impact the state. Outdoor recreation is a much bigger segment of our economy, with more employees, than mining. And unlike mining, recreation does not have long-term negative impacts. We need to develop our recreation and tourism industry, which will benefit the state forever, over the short-term gains of foreign mining companies.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

It would shorten trail/ river miles by half to our property. With this, comes more people which can be good and bad. If the public is able to use the whole road I would be able to access more area for recreation.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

If the road does go, I would like to see improvements like a large parking area and boat launch at the Big Su. If the public is paying for it, it should be open to the public. I am all for progress but at what cost. For most people there is no benefit but yet they will pay for something they have no interest in. Who is going to maintain the road? The state, the Matsu Borough? If the state feels this in benefit to them they should cover those costs, not raise MSB taxes as they are already increasing at a severe rate. There needs to be incentives for people in the area.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

It would run a road close to our remote property that we own and are building on for the benefit of a foreign mine. Access is easy for those who want to be there. We do not want the road.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The idea that this road will create access is the tip of the spear for those in favor of this project. This is a terrible lead point given the fact that the access already exists. The residents and users of this area access it year round via boat, snowmobile, airplane, atv you name it. A boat to run that river can be had for substantially cheaper than the price of a new vehicle today. Access is there for users who want to be there, it is also there for industry. Many conduct business on that watershed myself included and have never needed the aid of a road.

Recreation is being sold as another driver for the project. Anyone who is remotely familiar with the area is well aware that the hunting and fishing recourses have been on the decline for some years now. Any user who thinks they will be walking into prime hunting and fishing areas will be gravely disappointed and the added pressure will only deplete these resources further. There have been expensive efforts to bring the fish runs back to what they once were especially at Alexander creek, what would building a road, with bridges and water crossings into that area say about the continued effort of salmon restoration in the area? Unavoidably, creating effortless access would increase poaching not only for fish, but wildlife also.

I have heard claims of the road being an avenue for land sales that the state would profit from. DNR already has land auctions annually in the area, they also have "over the counter" land sales throughout the basin. Some of the land that was sold off in the last year is very close to this proposed road route, land is already being sold there is my point.

As I sat through the Mat-Su borough assembly meeting on Dec. 21st, 2021 I listened to hours of testimony on the new Jonesville management plan. During that discussion they mentioned the years of work and extensive financial investment that went into improving the Jim Creek recreational area. These remote road areas have been a staple of illegal activity for years. There has been endless vandalism, illegal dumping, illegal shooting, drug and illegal use of alcohol, poaching and recklessness in these areas. They're now attempting to clean these areas up, yet want to push another remote road out to a secluded area, where do you think all of that type of activity will move to? It will waltz right into the Susitna River Basin and wreak havoc on the land and people who live, work and recreate in the area currently.

Expansion is another topic trying to be used to sell this road to the people. Expansion is already very easily and more feasibly possible. If you drive north on the Parks Highway once you get passed Willow the land is very available in the same capacity as the Basin and even further past Trapper Creek you'll find hardly any development until Cantwell. This area already has a major highway through it and would be substantially less expensive to develop.

This mining district they're wanting a road to already puts in a winter ice road from willow all the way to Whiskey Bravo. They're able to move any equipment or materials they desire via snowcat. There are plenty of businesses operating in the area without the road so I am really not sure why we would need to make an exception for this foreign mining company.

The Beluga natural gas fields and power plant have been in operation since at least the 1970s with no road tying them into the east side of cook inlet. I am baffled at why this mine is so inept and cannot figure a way to operate in a similar capacity.

Listening to testimony at the borough assembly, discussing this on public forums and through conversations with residents and users of the area and the Mat-Su borough it is abundantly clear that the people do not want this road. Once something like this is laid through that area it and its effects will be irreversible to an already fragile wilderness that Alaska is known for and the tourism industry thrives on. I am confused by the assembly's actions on pushing the agenda through after listening to the testimony through two lengthy meetings which included 59 testaments against the road and only 9 in favor.

For these reasons I am absolutely against building a road for a mining company not even based out of this country. It is big money who couldn't care less for our state or the people who live here coming in to line their pockets. As stated earlier I make a living off of development and industry but there are plenty of other ways to do it that don't negatively effect so many and so much of Alaska's wilderness. I am not willing to pay this price for the benefit of a foreign company. The mine does not need a road to operate, the people will not benefit from it the way they're trying to make the people believe they will and the land will only suffer.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I'm worried that building this road will affect people who have chose to live out their lives out of the way from most of the population. Having a road will create more people to have access to our hard work and would make is easier for theft to begin. This is why most people have chose to live so far out of the way. I'm worried it will affect our livelihood of fishing and hunting to provide food for our families. I think this road is only a positive for the gold mining out of staters. If we provide jobs for people that only live in Alaska it would be better but this will do nothing positive for us Alaskans. It is only a step up for out of state people. As Alaskans we should stick together on making Alaska better for ALASKANS.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I don't think this road will lead anywhere useful and it will only divide us as Alaskans and affect our wilderness & animals. Such as spawning salmon, moose ect.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

It would affect the State, my family and I all very greatly. It would in fact be very detrimental in my eyes. No one would benefit except the state through taxes as this Australian company wants to exploit our salmon beds, rivers, beaver, moose and many other critters all for a road that no resident would be able to use.

How in the hell has our government even considered this? All for money and blinded by greed you would fancy whoring our natural resources? Whatever building is done cannot be undone. We need to save these resources for the future of our great state.

Let's say these mother fuckers spill something in our river during summer. Killing an entire return of King, Sockeye, Chum, Pink and Silver salmon. Completely destroying a river. Killing trout, eagles, porcupines ect. They cannot guarantee a spill of horrendous proportions that would kill a number of fish we couldn't possibly comprehend.

Something like this would effect my family's ability, and my own to collect returning salmon to feed us year round. That would effect a tremendous amount of Alaskans. It would ruin us. No fish would ensure poverty in remote parts of Alaska. It would destroy a way of life for us, our children, and our childrens children.

Traffic on KGB with the amounts of machinery, material, trucks increasing traffic on an already dangerous road. All this traffic making commuting even more dangerous for my family and I at the expense of a foreign based company, just to profit from our States natural resources.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

Why would we build a road this long, with the known risks for any company in our State? Our state is very unique with considerable untouched wilderness that supports so much wildlife the risk is not worth it. With that much money they can helicopter anything they need.

Not allowing citizens to drive this road because of potential crime? If this were to happen because of corrupt politicians, this foreign company should sign a contract to fully fund an entire station of State Troopers for the next 150 years.

Anyone that tries to tell you something bad won't happen, just refer to the movie Don't Look Up on Netflix. Because one of the deciding members has already been paid off by means of wholesale, gold, cocaine and child pornography.

The state of Alaska can hardly afford to build and maintain existing key infrastructure. This is a waste of tax payer money so that a few people can make money off of our state. It sounds as if agricultural land will become available for farming. Alaska's food security problems have become all too evident during the recent shipping problems resulting in empty store shelves. Access to farmable land should be a priority of the project.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I believe that a lot of the adverse public comments related to potential over-use and abuse of the newly accessible land could be resolved if instead of a public road being built, the railroad was extended out this route. Whistle stop service could be provided to disperse hunters and fishers, without causing the problems of shot up vehicles found at places like Jim Creek.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

As a remote land owner that will be directly affected by the proposed road, I am 100% OPPOSED to this project. The idea of spending state money and Matsu borough tax money to build a road that primarily benefits foreign mining companies is not a wise use of funds. Further, spending public funds to build what will be functionally a private mining road really makes me mad. I and my property will suffer all the negative impacts of this road with no potential benefit. I suffer a loss of value of my property and loss of quality of life, just so a foreign mining company can profit.

I believe your cost estimates are overly optimistic and the ultimate build cost and maintenance will be unsustainable. The cost of the road will likely be in excess of 400 million dollars, with the ultimate goal of generating about 1500 jobs. The net investment then is over 1/4 million dollars for each job created. Your financial analyses paint a rosy picture of potential future tax incomes to the borough, but failed to include the annual costs for maintenance of this 100 miles of remote road. Further, your analysis fails to consider the LOSS OF JOBS in the tourism, fishing, guiding, flying industries that will result from the destruction of the remote character of this region. The jobs lost in this case are completely sustainable and do not deplete the resource. So in reality, your net gain in jobs will be way less than 1000 resulting in a much higher cost per job created. All in support of non-sustainable jobs with a relatively short time horizon. I think this represents a very poor return on the investment.

Lets spend our money on projects that have more direct, long-term sustainable, benefits for ALASKANS.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

Your survey does not allow me the option of noting that I am a landowner in the affected area even though I dont live there full time. I have a substantial investment in my property the will suffer negative consequences of this road.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

The WSAR will open up opportunities for access to more wildlands to the Alaska resident and Tourist to enjoy. The business will blossom also.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

Use the thought for future expansion of the road in the design phase of the WSAR route and bridges. Examples: Minimize narrow route crossings, design bridges for ease of expansion of road and utility supports (pipelines and electrical). This will open float trips from the Skwentna River to the Susitna River crossings. Ok, maybe a boat launch at the appropriate water crossings built into the project, such as the Little Susitna River, Big Susitna River, Alexander Creek, Skwentna River and Happy River crossings. Ask the State of Alaska about river crossing campgrounds being built at the same time WSAR is, this will help minimize duplicate construction costs.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

That area has many cabins and fishing/hunting opportunities that will suffer if a road is made. The proposed 150 or more water crossings is troublesome as our only frog species is threatened to become endangered. Land values will go up and taxes will go up to own these properties. The amount of traffic a gravel road would bring to the area will reduce air and water quality as well.

It would not. It is a waste of tax dollars.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I pay 500 dollars a month in property taxes to the borough to have graters block my driveway in with snow, constant congestion on KGB, Palmer-Wasilla, and Bogard, and potholes everywhere. There is infrastructure development that needs to happen, but not this. Not yet at least. There are immediate needs for infrastructure overhaul within the population centers that need to be addressed before putting in a 400 million dollar road that may or may not have public access so big mining companies can profit.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

My name is Dylan Jacobs. Born and raised in the Matanuska Valley, I love this land more with every sunset. I believe development of access to the Susitna Valley is in order. I support as much of the road as possible being public access. surely the development of something to enforce respect of our land is a navigable concern.

As far as the "devastating" concerns of wilderness lodge owners...with all due respect, acknowledging my lack of business ownership experience and that i speak broadly of an industry with which i am not familiar, there is a process called creative destruction as things move forward. it's the idea that some of the past needs to be let go of to create resources for the future (e.g. the astonishing volume of labor and money that is poured like an IV into the vegetative phone book business, knowing full well 90% of people throw them straight into the trash (and the rest keep them for kindling!) this is finances and labor not being used in areas that need laborers and is not being applied to moving forward, say in the tech sector, but is actually a dead weight on us. of course i'm not saying the lodges are dead weight but there is an opportunity to champion the move forward or to resist and delay the future). I do not believe a 100 mile dead-end road revokes your wilderness status, even if it does the demographic you serve might shift slightly but there will still be one! If navigated wisely and taken advantage of this could easily boost the success of these lodges, in my opinion.

As far as impact I see this project creating a brighter future with more options for our state and borough and for my family opening more recreation and increasing the area of our region we are able to explore and appreciate.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I do not think the borough needs to subsidize the development of a private road. at the very least we recoup all costs.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I am disappointed to see YET ANOTHER boondoggle come out of the MSB. My family loves to fish, hunt, boat, and recreate in the lower Susitna region, and this road would cause the loss of game, and over harvesting.

The MSB has an unfortunate history of promoting projects using fraudulent studies showing positive economic benefits. See Port MacKenzie, Point Mackenzie dairy farms, Knik Arm Bridge, etc.

The cost of crossing the Susitna River as far downriver as proposed will mean that the bridge will likely need costly protection or to be moved, due to the meandering river.

"Normal" spills from vehicles will cause pollution that will harm fish populations, not to mention the likelihood of larger spills from tankers, etc.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The state of Alaska should not use state money to benefit private corporations. If the mineral prospects are rich enough, the corporations should pay for the infrastructure that they need.

It would impact our families Alaska subsistence hunting/fishing abilities. the increasing valley population has already effected hunting and fishing in this area. This road proposed under false pretenses would decimate what remains.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

This proposed road is unnecessary and unwanted. There is already access provided through this area utilizing the river system, a traditional Alaskan mode of travel. The true reason for this road proposal is not for public access it is for mining interests

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

This access will effect this area that is currently provided to boats or aircraft and I think if state funds are used a boat launch and other access should be included. The literature I received states it will be public access, is this true, then access needs to be provided if state or Borough funds are used. What are the proposed river crossings going to be? Who will provide oversight, maintenance, and who pay for it? If state funding or any public funds are used it should benefit everyone that desire access.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I have accessed this area for my entire life, at great expense and any commercial access needs to provide safe, adequate access to all the area has to offer. If access is going to be restricted then it should not be allowed, it should be done only if it benefits all users.

I believe that the time and money set aside for this project would be much better utilized on a project already underway or in a direction more beneficial to the state and its citizens. My family, community and the State of Alaska will benefit from this proposed infrastructure development. The road alone will cause future generations to prosper. New resources and access will lead to increased self sustainability and economic resiliency. The cost of development will not be cheap. However, hundreds of jobs will be created and during uncertain economic times this is a good thing especially when factoring in the return on investment once minerals and resources begin to be produced.

This opportunity can partially pay for itself by operating in part as a toll route. The permitting and regulatory folks with USACE need to be engaged early in the process.

This is not a good plan. I strongly oppose. Just like the rail project, it will likely be a complete waste of taxpayer dollars and will be a road to nowhere. It seems also that it is being built in the interest of a mine simply to reduce their costs. They can pay for the road and the studies, permits surrounding it.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I am appalled, first of all, that the Mat-Su Borough approved to move forward with this project. Their constituents clearly did not want this project to move forward as evidenced by the outpouring of negative comments at both borough meetings where the vote for Phase III was being voted on. I am so disappointed in the public officials that we voted into office. They did not do their public duty, and this public outreach is pandering to AIDEA. Three months This is NOT adequate public outreach for a project costing Alaskans more than 350 million for a private road. We behave as if Alaska is endless. It is not. We learned that lesson from the rest of the west-- or we should have. AIDEA needs to stop acting recklessly and listen to Alaskans, tell the truth to Alaskans. Our elected representatives should represent us-- not pander to an unelected government agency with no oversight.

I fly over this area regularly and live west of the region where I live a subsistence lifestyle. First of all, the argument that there is no public access is absurd. We are Alaskans. Those that want to be out in the area already are. The area is crisscrossed with snow machine trails, airstrips, and ATV trails is already rampant. Do not destroy this area when those that want to be out there already are.

The Access Road would construct a road across undeveloped lands that include dozens of salmon streams and uninterrupted habitat. The road would introduce noise, industrial traffic, and dust pollution, as well as mining-related pollution, to a vast area. The vast wild lands in Alaska are increasingly rare in the world and far more valuable than short-term jobs and mineral royalties.

Thank you for providing this opportunity to comment on the proposed West Susitna Access Road. My name is Michael Stafford, I live and own a remote cabin along the Susitna River.

I am urging you to not continue with exploring the West Susitna Access Road project.

This is, and always has been, a natural remote wilderness area utilized by people who live here; the area is used for recreation by people from all over the state. This road will impact wild waters & land where fish & wildlife live. Please do not destroy our beautiful area with a road.

I think this project is bad for all Alaskans, and should not be continued.

Thank you for your time.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

We (Bryan and Laura Emerson) are full-time homesteaders at Trail Lake, near which the Susitna Access Road will likely pass if approved and we are concerned about how it might negatively affect our quality of life and that of the wildlife that lives in and migrates through this region.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

We are full-time residents of Trail Lake near the base of Mt. Little Susitna in Fish and Game Zone 16B. We have owned our property since 2007. We vote and we pay property taxes.

The West Susitna Access Road is expected to pass close to our quiet, remote property. We are concerned about a decrease in property values and the quietude, attractive views, and wild animal sightings for which we bought this property and spent over a decade developing it into a home where we forage, hunt, fish, and raise many of our foods and resources.

Based on the results of mining developments and roads in other remote parts of Alaska, we are logically alarmed by the possibility of increases in noise, erosion, pollution, invasive species, and road access for illegal human activities that have occurred elsewhere. For example, we hope that if this project starts or finishes, it will not repeat the polluting tailings of a mine on Jonesville Road, the murder victim dumping on Jim Creek, and the many, many neglected cleanups after a company moved on to the next, new parcel.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

It would affect me and me family negatively. We have a cabin in the area and are concerned that the access from the road will bring in more people. We are also very concerned about the environmental impact of building the roads, especially crossing the wetlands and rivers.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

We love the wildness of AK and don't like the idea of more and more people coming into our remote area. We see the project as short sighted. Copper would seem to be the most intriguing resource in the area. Coal is a dying/dirty fuel. Our world is changing fast and the amount of investment this road would take doesn't seem like it would be worth large investment it would take. I'd be shocked if the road doesn't cost much more than what they're thinking.

I think it could be good benefit to our economy. But this road needs to be public from beginning to end. If this road is public it brings a great and needed opportunity for the average Alaskan to access thousands and thousands of public land for recreation. This project of public will Open up new areas for me and my family to access and explore and recreate. If this road is not public I wouldn't support it

Build pull outs and boat launches at all the water crossings or at least the major ones. Camp grounds like off of the Denali highway could be great too. I envision this being a Denali highway kind of road here in the valley for residents to access and play

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

It would completely put us (Alaska's oldest hunting lodge est. 1937) out of business after 85 years. Businesses like ours bring outside money into the State, a foreign mining company will take their money out of country.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

This project will destroy what Alaska is all about, its culture, its way of life, the reason why people come to Alaska, it will start turning Alaska into the lower 48. Tourism is our 2nd largest industry and people come here because it's remote and wild. The Susitna Valley is very important to many lodges, fishing guides, charter services and recreators. A road through that area will have tremendous impact in a negative way to all those stakeholders. A 100 mile road with 156 river crossing and common 2-3' snow dumps will cost a fortune to maintain and it will ultimately be put on the backs of tax payers to pay for that. Hard rock mining is the only possible viable economic reason for this road but there are other ways to extract their minerals. There is currently only 1 exploration company in operation at the end of the road and they have never developed a mine, if they decide not to develop or sell out like all the other companies have done since the 1970's, then we have a huge economic burden with many long-standing businesses put out of work. This is a bad deal for Alaska and for Alaskans.

Possibly increase road maintenance costs.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

Who will pay to maintain the road? Other major road projects are needed in the valley that would benefit more residents of Alaska than a corporation would. Let corporation pay for the building and maintaining of the road. Is this a borough road or a state road? Where is the funding coming from?

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The proposed West Susitna Access Road project, if enacted, would open for development and urban-type usage a big portion, the most heavily used portion, of the now semi-wild part of the Susitna valley. The reason for going there, getting away from town and enjoying the land, would be gone forever. My family and I are totally against it.

The proposed West Susitna Access Road will negatively affect me and my family's recreational time and business. For decades we are going to our cabin by sled dogs in winter and boat in summer to enjoy the nature, going fishing and taking tourists to show pristine wilderness in Alaska. This project will destroy natural habitat and with it, our business.

I think it would make the next boom to our community. Open up land and access for common people. It's a great project that would help or improve life for a lot of Alaskans .

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I value the open, wild, untouched spaces in our special state. In recent years, the West-Su Road, the Donlin Pipeline, Susitna Valley Oil and Gas Development, colossal gravel needs for road construction and building pads in a predominately wetland area, weakened habitat protections, and removal of the Recreational Rivers habitat plan have all been proposed for this region of Alaska. These proposals are being looked at individually while the cumulative impacts of these projects need to be addressed as a whole. Individually, these projects will alter and impact the landscape, together they will exacerbate negative impacts from habitat loss, fragmentation, illegal harvest, vandalism, pollution including air, ground noise, and overwhelming change the face of the region forever.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I wonder why you are spending time and energy on this, when in the December public opposition was overwhelming and clearly illustrated that the public does not want this road to go through!

A huge value of our state is the amount of open wilderness. This area can and should remind untouched. I am concerned that interests of private corporations are valued more than those of citizens of the state, like me.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

The project has been fast-tracked and the timeline for permitting is much too rapid. One season of impact studies is not adequate to gain a comprehensive idea of environmental implications to economically valuable and environmentally important fish and wildlife habitat. In addition, utilizing environmental studies not specific to this area from projects such as Susitna-Watana Hydro Project or Donlin Natural Gas Pipeline studies is inadequate to gain a comprehensive idea of the effects of this specific project.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

As a property owner in the Mat-Su, I strongly urge the borough to reconsider advancing the West-Su road project. This road has the potential to significantly degrade the world-class fishing and recreation opportunities that draw people to the valley in the first place and contribute millions to the local economy. The potential economic benefits of the road have not been researched enough to rationalize the state spending over $350 million on project, let alone the vast ecological cost. As proposed, the road only stands to benefit foreign mining companies with little benefit to Alaskans and Mat-Su residents.

The West Susitna Access road is utilizing state money the would be better spent on more urgent needs. We don't need this road. We need to support education and spend money on the infrastructure that currently needs upgrading. The Borough and the State are in a fiscal crisis. AIDEA clearly doesn't have the state's best interest in mind. Defund AIDEA, bring back the PFD.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

After attending the first Mat-Su Borough open house, it was obvious that communications person knew nothing about the project and had been spoon-fed AIDEA lines. It was also clear AIDEA didn't have any good answers and actually deflected the good questions that were asked. AIDEA should have answers, and they are being disrespectful and dismissive of the Alaskan public. DEFUND AIDEA

It wouldn't. It would be so totally useless to us and everyone I know.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I can't even imagine the upkeep of such a road. Who's going to do that work? Who's going to repair those bridges? Where is that money coming from? If that mining district wants a road to their property, they need to foot the entire bill. Now if it was to go up the other side of the Yentna, somewhat closer to that river than this proposal, it might be of use, but I know better. Nobody I know, and I'm talking about lodge owners, would be able to afford to connect.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I believe it would negatively affect fish, and particularly for my friends and I, affect Fish Creek and the Little Su.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I love long, mostly empty roads. But these need to be few and far between in Alaska. We need to preserve areas where people have already carved out businesses that depend on remoteness and wildness -- there aren't many of these left in the US, and it cannot be re-created once paved over and divided into farms and suburbs.

We need to understand the habitat corridors that animals and birds will need as climate affects their current habitat, both up here and, for migratory species, in other parts of the world.

It would be better for roads to extend slowly, a dozen miles or so at a time and in ways that grow organically out of communities than to create grand long very expensive roads and bridges to projects known for volatility, like "potential" mines.

I am against this project because it is not coming organically out of community need, but out of a central government vision, which is frankly little different than the way some communist government would operate. I am also against this project because there are always negative impacts to wildlife and fish habitat, regardless of mitigation (and later, inevitable remediation) work. I am especially against this project if the road is to be a public road, with no control over the off-road vehicles that will then access the area.

Often, putting in new roads fragments fish and wildlife habitat. More moose will be killed with increased hunter access and vehicle collisions. More people will bring more pollution to the area from dumping, septic systems, and runoff. I really don't see the need for this project.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

This proposed road would degrade a pristine area that many Alaskans already use and access through a variety of means. Both powered and non-powered means of transportation can be used to access this wild area currently during the both the summer and winter.

The cost of building and maintaining this road appears to fall mostly on the public sector and as a resident of Alaska for 22 years, I do not need another bump in my property taxes to allow for even more “manly” Alaskans can have partial access to even more of Alaska to go drive their trucks, four wheelers, and snow machines all over the place from a more remote starting point just to shoot and trap things and generally run amok.

I see what may eventually happen to this area once, and if, full access is granted is that it will mirror the Petersville Road area or the Denali Highway area. While both these areas are still unique and retain a certain aspect of their wilderness, at times the year each is over run by thousands of motorized outdoor enthusiasts who trash the land. Many of these visitors harass, run off, or kill the wildlife for a variety of legal and non-legal reasons. The detritus and muddy, rutted trails they leave being further degrade the land and deeply extend their reach into the wilderness that make Alaska a special place.

While State income revenue will benefit to some degree from this road and the mineral extraction initially and there will be limited income brought into gas stations, grocery stores, and outdoor supply stores, I do not feel that the cost to the environment and to my pocket book related to increased taxes is worth the cost to the State and it's non-mineral resources. Please do not build this road...

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

It would greatly influence my opinions on how the State of Alaska, AIDEA and other proponents make their decisions. I think it would negatively impact the desirability of recreation in that area unless there are some PROVEN and ECONOMIC Benefits to Alaska and its people.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

When are we going to stop spending state money on boondoggle, pie in the sky unproven and failing projects instead of smaller practical and more current job making projects?

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

The development of this road is completely irresponsible, from start to finish. Not only would this construction disrupt an area with highly valuable recreation opportunities that boost the tourist economy within the state, but most importantly, the construction of this road and the resource development that would follow would be irreversibly damaging to a vast ecosystem that supports abundant terrestrial wildlife and all 5 species of Pacific salmon. Crossing more than 150 streams within the Susitna River watershed, the 15th largest river in the US, this development would disturb or destroy critical habitat for salmon, the lifeblood of Alaska and many of its ecosystems. Furthermore, the habitat disruption and widespread ecological change that would occur as a result of this project's development is NOT worth the resources extracted. At a time when our state is facing unprecedented and irreversible change due to a warming climate, it is incredibly irresponsible to continue pushing projects for oil and gas extraction that would contribute further to the climate crisis and ecological and infrastructural damage to our state.

Our remote property is centralized in that region for a reason. The potential impact from mining run off into local waterways, the increase in tourism and vehicular traffic presents challenges to environmental protections not yet faced in that region.

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

Don't build it. Find another way to extract it. Build a road to the river and barge it out...

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I believe that if we make this wild fish filled area of 167 streams into a road- that both biological fish and animal and plants of the area will be impacted dramatically. This road is not being put in as a boon to the people or access to the area but solely an industrial road that supports 1 business. Please do not approve the building of this road- allow the wilderness of this are to continue to exist and support the fish animals and ecosystems downstream of it. I was a State of Alaska Park Ranger in Hatcher Pass for 9 years- and feel strongly that this road would damage the area in a way that can never be put right.

I don't believe I nor my family would benefit from this project. It smells like a commercial subsidy for mining companies.

From the lack of transparency concerning public access one can only assume it will be severely limited.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

It would cost my family and all Alaskans a large sum of public money for a private project. No access is offered or guaranteed beyond the Susitna River. Water sheds, wildlife habitat, and fish habitat will all be adversely affected by this road system with no benefit for Alaskans, only the private user. This is not being a good steward of our Alaskan resources or good use of our Alaskan taxpayer dollars!

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

AIDEA has a laundry list of failed and abandoned projects. An independent economic analysis of the costs and benefits to the Mat-Su was recommended back in Phase I and it has not yet been completed. The assessment should be completed prior to any more investment in this project and utilization of our state's money to ensure that Alaskans and the Borough benefit from this project.

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

I am pro-responsible resource development in our state, but this is far from responsible. The construction and use of this road will decimate the fragile salmon run here. The moose and bear population will suffer when people begin using this area as easy hunting grounds. Everyone with remote cabins will be subject to the increased traffic and disruption from construction and the mine activity. The lodges will lose out on tourism income. This project is an all-around BAD idea that locals do NOT support.

Could potentially affect and bring greater unwanted traffic to our subsistence area.
Afraid the water crossings could impact the water levels and access to our family's homestead.

If the project develops it is vital for the states economy to benefit by keeping the contractors local and not bring them from out of Alaska. If you tax me give me the opportunity to earn back my tax dollars.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road

Comment survey

How would the proposed West Susitna Access Road project affect you, your family, and/or the State of Alaska?

Our family loves fishing and boating adventures on the Susitna River and its tributaries. We love how, with our small jet boat, we can get off the road system, fish on uncrowded river banks and experience (and share with our kids) all the things we love about living in Alaska (wildlife, beauty, and fairly easy access to the backcountry). We also use these trips to teach our kids about safety, fishing and hunting skills....key ingredients for living and enjoying life in Alaska. We also often catch fish that feed our family and have helped pack moose out with friends that has done the same. While we live in Anchorage -- we love to recreate in the West Susitna region. During these family outings, we typically spend money on groceries, food and gas and at other local businesses in Wasilla and Willow. If the West Susitna Road, an industrial corridor, crossed this region we would choose to spend our money elsewhere for an experience that doesn't involve dump truck noise and dust. Additionally, science has confirmed, repeatedly, that roads cut off access to important habitat for salmon and trout -- and if this project goes through we can reasonably expect continued salmon declines in the region. And if the fish don't come back - neither will the anglers and other visitors!

Other comments, concerns, or thoughts?

I am personally opposed to the West Susitna Road, and have heard the same from many other families. I urge you to reconsider the Borough's involvement in advancing the road. The Borough has an incredible asset in the remote, unroaded West Su already -- abundant fish and wildlife and the source of inspiration for many trips by visitors and residents alike. Like so many of our neighbors and friends, our family chooses to live in Alaska for the incredible abundance of wild places, fish and wildlife. You can find roads and struggling salmon runs all over the world -- Alaska is one of the few remaining places where salmon thrive and the land and rivers aren't bisected with roads. Let's recognize what an important asset we have and use it to our advantage -- but to do that we have to say no to projects that compromise what we have, creatively solve problems our communities are facing and stop pandering to companies that want to use Alaska's limited cash to help line their own pockets.

This project is just another in a long list of AIDEA boondoggles. The MSB and all involved parties should immediately walk away from this pie in the sky idea. If foreign owned mining companies want to develop mining districts in Susitna and pay almost no royalty fees to the state they can build their own road.

I grew up at the mouth of the Talachulitna River. I still visit the area and have family there. The Skwentna river bridge alone is going to be a maintenance nightmare. Then we can talk about the wetlands this road will cost. After that let's discuss that cutting over to Alexander Creek cuts out the whole Yetna River where it could actually help people who live there.

Our remote property on the river would be readily accessible by others who don't use the big Su or Yentna rivers regularly. We enjoy our wild lands and like using our boats/snow machines to get out there versus driving a car.

This road is unnecessary and would make a valuable wilderness area into something to be exploited by large corporations. The area should be left for current and future generations of Alaskans to enjoy for hunting, fishing, boating, snowmachining, flying, and other forms of recreation.

If you oppose the road, in ONE or TWO WORDS, what is the single biggest issue with the proposed road? (Examples: Access, wetland impacts, high cost, crime, etc.)

Industrializing Alaska's wilderness

Would you apply for work at one of the industrial or commercial businesses that could be developed as a result of the road?

- Yes
- No
- Maybe

Other comments?

Not just the road, but all development which inevitably follows will adversely affect Alaska's reputation as a premier ecotourism destination. The cost of this project is not worth the numerous risks to tourism and the environment. This road would destroy the Iditarod and put many businesses under and displace many people that will no longer be able to work and love in the west Susitna.

There are a myriad of studies worldwide that show how the addition of a road, whether public or private degrades an ecosystem and diminishes its biodiversity, usually leading to billions of already scarce dollars being wasted remediating problems that should not have been caused in the first place.

We have now realized how much biodiversity is needed to ensure our survival, and at a time when most of the world is trying to repair the damage caused by decades of overdevelopment, the degradation of an area like the remote matsi valley is the last thing that should be happening, especially for no other reason than needless greed. What that region holds is worth more than anything that will be extracted from the ground and the true financial cost of pursuing this road will be much higher than any short term monetary gains...

This is one of the last remote areas left in the state that people can still recreate in. It's not prohibitively remote, but remote enough that it is not crowded because you have to have a reason to go there. People don't just wake up and decide to venture out there. It takes planning and thought. That is what draws people to the that area, it's still wild! You can fish a stream that hasn't been fished in weeks or months, there isn't trash all over the place from people driving through. This road would destroy that part of the state all for a mine? And then if they start large scale mining, that area will never be the same. The salmon returns are already poor in that area, this will kill off those salmon runs!

From what I've seen so far, this process has not appropriately engaged the public, specifically those who live and work in the specific area. I am not confident in the process, the businesses with claims that they want to develop, or if the public will even be able to use the road. Ultimately this is a degradation of land, wetlands and water and likely comes with significant expense to the state and revenue generated will largely be lost and earned by businesses and investors outside of Alaska, so that certainly begs the question of whether or not it's worth it.

Proposed West Susitna Access Road - New Follow-Up Survey

Comment survey

Do you support the road?

- Yes
- Yes, but only if it has public access
- No
- Not enough information available to decide
- It doesn't matter to me if they build the road or not

If you support the road, in ONE or TWO WORDS, what is the single biggest positive that could result from the road? (Examples: Increased access, residential development, mining development, jobs, recreation, hunting/fishing, etc.)

Recreation access

If you oppose the road, in ONE or TWO WORDS, what is the single biggest issue with the proposed road? (Examples: Access, wetland impacts, high cost, crime, etc.)

Wilderness damage

Would you apply for work at one of the industrial or commercial businesses that could be developed as a result of the road?

Yes

No

Maybe

Other comments?

Hunting and fishing access would be positive for the masses, but we would need motorized access restrictions off the road so that the tundra and wetlands Wouldn't be obliterated along the route.

Alaska is still considered a resource extraction colony by many. We are one of the few remaining places in the world with a 19th Century environment. This is our most valuable renewable resource. Once it's gone, it is difficult and often impossible to restore.

What about other options like a rail spur? I want to hear from the potential industrial players like Nova Mineral and Donlin (they are a player). Has there been any consideration that killing the road only eliminates development of about 7 miles of the corridor west of the Susitna. Donlin's gas line will continue west from the base of Mt. Susitna anyway, if built. You are not asking the right questions! So far opinion is being based on emotion and that is not a good way to make a decision. If the road project is killed right now it doesn't die. It just fades from the public eye for a time and will return. Let's get this thing fleshed out now so our children don't have to deal with it.

Little has been presented to demonstrate that the benefits outweigh the costs. The State (AIDEA) and the Borough have a record of failed projects that have left the State and Borough holding the bag. Both an independent analysis of whether the benefits to the State and Borough outweigh the costs and a demonstration of whether the proposed private beneficiaries of the road can afford the cost, maintenance and monitoring of the road in profitable business plans should be required before any further steps are taken on the Project. To do otherwise is irresponsible use of State and Borough funds.

The project has been late and has failed to provide adequate public notice and opportunity to comment. The Project is now in Phase III and only now are land owners in the affected area being notified of the Project, land owners who and businesses that because of their location in the affected area have no ability to attend or connect due to lack of internet service within the Mat-Su Borough.

Alaskans are real pigs when it comes to wilderness, I used to fly out for remote fishing in the early 80's, anywhere I went all sorts of garbage from beer cans to sn8cker wrappers. Fast forward 40 years, nothing has changed. I grew up enjoying the Bob Marshall in Montana. At an early age my father always said," leave it like you found it".

This is not of value to Alaska. It is only of value to a large corporation that is from another country. They just say what they want with a local face to make a fortune off our land. We need to take care of our land and resources responsibly. No reason to rush this. They have been looking for ore in this valley since the 70's.

Economic harm - Loss of tourism/shutting businesses down, destroying Alaskans way of life and our culture.

Rather than applying for work I would actually be put out of business and have to fire our 18+ annual employees. Along with about 15 - 20 other lodges and operators. When someone finally does an economic analysis on this project they will see that this is a bad project for Alaska, culturally, historically, and economically. Fish and game populations would be drastically hurt by this road and the eventual access that would accompany it, that's why the Mat-Su fish and game AC is against it as well. The road would put animals on a drawing system which would close down non-resident hunting in the area and non-resident hunters pay for about 78% of fish and games budget. The road would ultimately cost Alaskans a lot of money to maintain with 156 river crossings and regular 2-3' snow dumps. This road would ruin the way many alaskans currently recreate in the area which is currently a remote wild area that is already accessible as it is close to many cities.

I am a professional wildlife biologist familiar with the area. This road is a disaster to the ecological integrity and health of the entire watershed. A private gravel road, funded with public money, to benefit mining corporations is unacceptable and reeks of corporate welfare funded by tax payers money. This road would be devastating to the area, its cultural and natural heritage. The impacts to streams, water quality, fish and wildlife resources and air quality would be exorbitant. The climate impacts of this project would be unmitigable. All in all this is an exceedingly bad idea, promoted by greedy corporations looking for welfare from the public. I am strongly opposed to this road and urge the Board to deny any permits for it.
